On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

REQUEST TO PASS BILL OVER

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker I ask unanimous consent to pass this bill over in its order.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its consent to pass this bill over in its order? Is there objections?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Monroe the purpose of having the bill passed over in order. As one of those who is very desirous to see the bill become a law, naturally I am opposed to any unnecessary delays in its consideration. Would the gentleman mind telling me the purpose of passing it over.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from McKean I might ask the question whether the gentleman from McKean, as the Republican floor leader, can assure me the support of the Republican delegation for this bill? If so, perhaps I can withdraw my request.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman does me a great honor. However, Mr. Turner will have to answer that question in regard to what the Republican floor leader will do. I am merely taking the floor here as the representative from McKean county and as a lawyer.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to apologize to the gentleman. I have apparently been misinformed as to the gentleman's standing.

In reply to the question I might state that there are a number of members of the House who are desirous of studying this bill further before it is brought to a vote, and in view of the fact that there will be another day of session, the gentleman will have the opportunity, I have no doubt, to vote on the bill.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Monroe, as the great objector in the House, whether or not he will consent to have this bill considered tomorrow if the House is in session.

REQUEST TO PASS BILL OVER WITHDRAWN

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will assist the gentleman from McKean considerably by permitting him to vote today on the bill. I will withdraw my request.

Mr. KANE. I thank the gentleman from Monroe.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain very briefly to the members of the House, who may not have had a chance to consider this bill, the origin of the measure and also how it affects them, because, while it might appear on the surface to be a highly academic piece of legislation—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I hate to interrupt my colleague, but I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his point of order.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understood that the objection of the gentleman from Monroe to the immediate consideration of the bill was withdrawn in order to give the gentleman from McKean an opportunity to vote on the bill. He said nothing about an opportunity to speak on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order of the gentleman from York is not well taken. The gentleman from McKean has the floor.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for a lawyer like Mr. Cohen, who is thoroughly familiar with this subject, to voice an objection to my further talking about it, is, of course, something I can understand very well. However, there may be members of the House who do not realize that this bill is an outgrowth of the famous trial of the Commonwealth versus Reilly in the courts of Somerset County, which many of you may remember. So that you won't think I am going to go into the legal aspects of it, I will refer any of the members of the House to the very elaborate brief in the Senate Journal of February 8th last by Senator Cavalcante of Fayette County, who was very much interested in the subject, and who did a masterful job on that occasion in explaining the law. There are some aspects to the situation that may have arisen since. Many of you know that up until the Somerset trial everyone assumed that a man had the right to be tried for an offense either in the county where the offense occurred or in the county in which the defendant lived. There have been a good many changes in the Commonwealth since that memorable trial. At that time Charles Margiotti, who was the Attorney General of the Democratic Administration, went out to Fayette County, and there he was dissatisfied with the fact that he thought that the defendant in the case might have some advantage over the Commonwealth in the trial, and he secured a change of venue from Fayette County over to Somerset County. How he convinced the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth that he had that right, I don't know, but as he is a very eloquent man and is able to convince a lot of people on different things, it is not hard to understand, and perhaps the members of the House on the Democratic side can appreciate that situation with greater force and effect than they would had this arisen six or eight months ago. The reason I mention this is because I think that this law, of all of the ones that we have considered since we have been in this session, deals with the most fundamental proposition involving human liberties that we have had before us since I have been in the legislature and since most of you have been here. Until that trial nobody assumed that a prosecutor had the right to take you as a possible defendant from your home and neighborhood and try you before a jury of strangers. We never heard of such a proposition before. Not only that, but going clear back to the time of the American Revolution, you will find that that was one of the things that the colonists revolted against in their war against England, and it is one of the things that Thomas Jefferson and George Washington, and many other statesmen, revered by both sides of the House, protested against because the colonists were transported from their homes beyond the seas to stand trial.

We have heard about the legal aspects of the case, and I want to talk to you about two practical things, two practical matters that might occur to any of us, when you are justly or unjustly accused of a crime. The first one is that a trial by jury means that you shall be tried by a jury in the vicinage or neighborhood in which you yourself reside. The Commonwealth has ample powers and ample funds to prosecute any and all of you that they may see fit to prosecute. It is a question of whether you as a private citizen can afford the elaborate preparation and vast expense that might be necessary, for instance, in case you lived over near the Ohio line and the Commonwealth forced a change of venue in your case to Philadelphia. To make the case more clear, I will take an exaggerated example. Suppose the Federal government were to advocate a similar power to that which the state of Pennsylvania has assumed since the Commonwealth versus Reilly case, and the Federal government were to presume to take a negro citizen of the state of Pennsylvania, who was accused of a crime, and to transport him to the state of Alabama, there to stand trial for his life or liberty. How many of you feel that that man would get the same kind of a break in Alabama that he would get in Pennsylvania, where people might know him, and where the people feel that a man is entitled to equal rights regardless of color. Take the situation as it exists in Europe today, how many of you feel that a Jewish citizen would receive the same treatment and the same rights in certain localities that he might receive in the neighborhood where he resides.

I want to point out to you, members of the Assembly, one of the most precious privileges which you have as a poor ordinary citizen on trial, where the penalty may be very severe, is that during your lifetime you have built up a character among the people who know you best and the people who live around your home. What you are entitled to under the Constitution is the fact that a reasonable doubt might arise in the minds of the jury by the testimony of your friends and neighbors who live around you and who know you as a decent, honorable and honest citizen. That might be the only defense that you can afford to raise, and that in itself might be sufficient to raise a reasonable doubt and might be sufficient to warrant the jury in freeing you.

I implore the members of the House to vote "aye" on this bill because the passage of this law will put us back in the same position and with the same rights that we always presumed we had before the case of Commonwealth versus Reilly. I feel that the Supreme Court made a mistake in that decision and that it is up to us as legislators to set it right, and I therefore ask my colleagues on both the Republican and Democratic sides of this House to vote "aye" on this bill, to re-establish the proper liberties of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DONOHOE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KANE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DONOHOE. Mr. Speaker, I desire, to ask the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, whether a man who is indicted in Schuylkill county, his residence being in Philadelphia, can make application to the court to have a change of venue and then be tried in Philadelphia county.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, my answer to that question is this: this bill in no way interferes with the right of a defendant to ask the court for a change of venue when he lays the proper grounds for his request. A defendant is still entitled to ask for a change of venue in order to have a fair trial. This bill merely takes away from the Commonwealth the right which they assume in the Somerset county case to have the right as prosecutor to take a man from one vicinity to another.

Mr. DONOHOE. Mr. Speaker, does this prevent the prosecutor and the Commonwealth from making that application for change of venue?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, this bill specifically denies to the Commonwealth the right to even apply for a change of venue. It would not, of course, deny anyone in the Commonwealth the right to apply, as a defendant for a change of venue or anything of that sort but merely deprives the prosecuting authority of the right to transport a defendant to a place other than that where he now stands trial.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from McKean used several examples to show how a change of venue might hurt some one. Some of us have a certain extraction, and I feel that perhaps it might be well to put us in also. For example, if a man be moved from the south to the north of Ireland for trial.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, as a legislator and of Irish extraction, which we are proud of, I think that the argument the gentleman puts forth is very strong and I will add Ireland to the list.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Extraordinary Session of 1938

Vol. 22 HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1938. No. 33.

SENATE

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1938.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. GEORGE WALKER BUCKNER, LL. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father, we invoke Thy blessing as we assemble tonight. Give us wisdom and grace, a will to do Thy will. Lead on Thy hosts, here and throughout the world, to the triumph of "The right against the wrong;

The weak against the strong."

We pray for an awakening of conscience; for revolt of justice against the horrors of persecution and hate and madness and tyranny. May Thy Spirit move mightily among the German people. Rescue them from the thrall of brutal despotism. Lead them back to the high standards of the German tradition. God forbid that the virus of racial hate, or the spirit of bigotry and intolerance shall ever find an abode in the American heart or life.

We rejoice and give thanks for the renewed lease of life given to Thy servant, that distinguished ecclesiastical statesman and humanitarian, the good and gifted Pontiff of the Catholic Church. Spare him yet many days to his people and to the peoples of the world.

May Try grace, mercy and peace rest upon us. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. RICE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

FAVORING THE ENACTMENT OF THE FIREWORKS BILL

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication from the Philadelphia Committee for Prevention of Blindness urging the immediate passage of House Bill No. 21 prohibiting the sale of fireworks.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the question of personal privilege is to deliver a slight farewell address to the departing Democrats. Whether the next Senate will be fifty-fifty, or to be accurate twenty-five twenty-five, is in the lap of the Gods. By the lap of the Gods I mean that some Democrats may see the light and become Republicans, some Democrats may see that the light of the New Deal is a mere will-of-the-wisp as compared with that beautiful little shining miner's lamp of Governor James. If the famous "round robin" is still alive when the clock strikes twelve on the first Tuesday of January, some Democrats may be missing. Whether it may be battle, murder and sudden death I do not know, but as a friend of all the Senators, especially of the Democrats who will be here January 3rd, I strongly advise insurance—casualty insurance. The New Deal has taught us that the end justifies the means and therefore I hope that all the Democrats to be here will lead and walk a straight and narrow path and watch their step until the gavel falls on that day.

Whatever happens, Mr. President, I have myself obtained a high office through no fault of my own and through no merit of my own, only by the grace of God and Father Time. I have become the Dean of the Senate. That is the reason I am making this farewell address. I have looked up the office of the Dean of the Senate in the Constitution and I did not find it and I did not find it in the rules of the Senate but I take it that the duty of the Dean of the Senate is to from time to time give fatherly advice and to admonish the Senators.

This is a solemn occasion. If for no other reason it is a solemn occasion when we are about to lose our presiding officer, our Lieutenant-Governor. It gives me a great pleasure to stand here and bear testimony to his fairness and dignity and courtesy. He has not only been fair to the favored ones around the middle aisle but he has been fair to those of us clinging to the brass rail. I am sure the Lieutenant-Governor will understand me when I say that one regret I have in his leaving is that he doesn't leave us sooner. I would suggest that he would leave us at 11:55 A. M. on Tuesday, January 3rd.

I regret the absence of our President Pro Tempore, the Senator from Monroe. I count him an old friend and I wish to say anything I can nice about Senator Huffman. I think perhaps the safest description is that the Senator from Monroe is a gentleman and a scholar. My only consolation in his case is that I am looking forward with some hope to occupying his desk and regaining a place on the middle aisle. I would like to say a word of commendation for our Secretary of the Senate, Mr. Morlock, who has also treated us here near the brass rail with due consideration and has not played any favorites and has been a most efficient and perhaps the best looking Secretary of the Senate we have ever had. I can quite understand that after January 3rd, Mr. Morlock may still be with us. These remarks then, applied to him, might be called an emergency appropriation. I also might have said when I talked about getting Senator Huffmans' desk that that will at least enable me to hear something of what the reading clerk reads. In every office there is some indispensable individual. In this office of Secretary of the Senate that individual is Miss Carroll. I would like at this time to commend very highly the services of Miss Carroll. Certainly she has performed a very important function and she has done it most intelligently.

Now coming to the brothers of the Senate I would like to quote Shakespeare, that "Parting is such sweet sorrow, that I could say farewell until the morrow"; that is a remark made by Romeo to his lady love Juliet. I looked over the other side of the aisle at the Democrats to see if I could select an outstanding Juliet, and I first thought of the Senator from Clarion, Dr. Kahle, but somehow he did not measure up to the requirements of Juliet. I then thought of my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Pytko, and the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, and the Senator from Mercer, whose name escapes me for the moment, our authority on constitutional law, Mr. Glen R. Law, but these Senators are all too virile and lack the clinging qualities of Juliet. I have however found an outstanding Senator on the Democratic side who will be my choice as Juliet. You can perhaps guess that he is the Senator, the very good looking Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Rupp. We shall all miss Senator Rupp. We all like him and we certainly wish him success in the practice of law in Allentown.

I would like to say also we shall miss very much the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rodgers, and I feel I shall never understand the complex workings of flood control in the absence of Mr. Rodgers. Last but not least is the Senator from Lycoming, Mr. Sones, whom I regret to say is detained by an automobile accident. He is one of the landmarks in the front row. Sometimes you see him smoking, always. I guess, you see him smoking, but the peculiar office of the Senator from Lycoming is to suspend Rule 38. I have never read Rule 38 but I have taken a strange dislike to it. I know there is something wrong with Rule 38 or the Senator from Lycoming would not be forever suspending it.

The Democrats have all done very well. I can almost hear Mr. Lawrence saying, "they seen their duty and they done it." They did not always see eye to eye with the Supreme Court. Whether the Supreme Court was cockeyed or whether the Democratic Senators were cockeyed is not for me to say.

I can express personal regret for the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, who has just lost out on his little NRA. Again the highest court must have erred. We did not all of us see eye to eye with the Senators on the other side nor did we always vote "Aye to Aye".

Some Democrats I love and some Democrats I like and some Democrats I have to get used to. Let the Democrats depart in peace and may their districts always vote Republican.

Now when it comes to our brothers on this side of the aisle, the Republican Senators, the Senate will never look the same without that Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus. The Senate will look exactly the same without that Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni. The Senate will look something the same in the absence of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Bean. We are about to say goodbye to Johnny Howell. We all regret that. Our hearts go out to the cherub Johnny Howell and our minds will be somewhat vague, because if you ever want the low-down on anything you can go to Johnny Howell and he always knows it. When I come to my superior officers sitting here, the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, we certainly will not be the same without him. I can only put my tribute in his own words, and referring to his departure I move that it be indefinitely postponed.

Now, I wish to bear testimony to the good fellowship of this Chamber. We strive mightily at the law but we can eat and drink as friends. That is saying a mouthful, and I think it is a hall-mark, one of the hall-marks certainly, of representative government. I read the other day, "the true value of anything is what it is at its best. The false value of anything is what it is at its worst." Sometimes we are at our best and sometimes we are at our worst. You may remember the nursery rhyme of the little girl that had a curl right in the middle of her forehead, and when she was good she was very, very good and when she was bad she was horrid; and that is something like the Senate.

I often picture representative government as a triangle. It was originally an equilateral triangle and through our own fault perhaps it has become a right-angle triangle with the long leg belonging to the executive department, and now that I am Dean of the Senate and the Republican caucus is expected to do anything that I tell them, one of my first admonitions will be, "Always thumb your nose at every executive." This triangle is now unfortunately what those who have studied geometry know as an isosceles triangle, which has two long legs, the executive and the judiciary, and the miserable stubby short leg at the bottom is the legislative department of the Government. On us rest the other two branches of the Government; they cannot do anything about us. It is like what the man said about a woman, "I can't get along with her and I can't get along without her." But I believe that the Republicans and Democrats and even New Dealers will admit that the best hope for representative government lies in this legislative department.

We never know how much power we have. We could picture it as a reservoir of power with the executives generally tapping it and syphoning off the power from us. Or you could picture it as the throne of Representative Government. Now I believe, in conclusion this is, that we are climbing painfully and slowly up toward the throne but we often slip back. In fact not only slip but we are dragged back by at least two dragons in politics, and one is waste and one is patronage. There are plenty of examples of waste, not only of Democratic waste but also of Republican waste, but of course the Democratic waste is the more recent. I do not want to catalogue all the waste but I do say that it is something of a waste to spend a half a million dollars advertising the beauties of Pennsylvania and the only tangible result we have is that Senator McGinnis has found his way to Hazleton, the home of the Lieutenant-Governor and found that it was not a dump. That is hardly worth a half million dollars. The printing bill in the last regular session was nearly a half million dollars, or to be accurate, just around $470,000. The worst example of waste in my opinion is to pay $77,000 to three men, practically three men, who do not live in Pennsylvania, but are receiving $1,000 a month, and I think it is generally well known that as I put it, "the bootleggers stole the coal and the anthracite Commission stole the report." Because it seems to be well authenticated that they copied the report written in 1914 by a professor of Harvard University. I think the Ruth Commission did a good job but I am not in favor of paying a lawyer from Kansas City a good deal of the $50,000 that went to the Ruth Commission.

When it comes to patronage, that is a very tender subject. But I can cite one example and that is the Department of Public Assistance. I have a little disappointment in this because when the Senator from Luzerne was chairman of that committee I put in a bill which got no consideration. That bill would have created a commission of five in each county and the Governor would have had only two of those appointments and the Courts would have had two, and the fifth would have been the President of the County Commissioners. But at present, I guess you know, the County Chairman hands these names into Harrisburg and the whole thing is on a political basis. I think a very good example of politics in relief could be found in Indiana County.

Now there is a third dragon, not so well known, and that is the disrespect of the public toward office-holders and politicians. We brought it on ourselves a good deal, and yet whenever we try to build a good-government house and invite the public to see that we are doing better, we immediately put the dragon of waste in the front yard and the dragon of patronage in the backyard and the public says, "Nothing doing, we will not come into your house."

So in conclusion, as Dean of the Senate (if anyone wants the job they can have it) I would like as a benediction to repeat that phrase again and ask you to remember it: "The true value of anything is what it is at its best and the false value of anything is what it is at its worst." Thank you very much.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, ordinarily at this late date in ones term I would not have the temerity to speak but the toast of the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward compels me to a response.

One of the most difficult operations that faces any Legislator today is to maneuver himself around the halls of this capitol building without being stopped by every Tom, Dick, and Harry that you run into and listen to his reason why the Democratic party lost the election. It is almost impossible for anyone to get anything done the last two weeks and still be courteous with the people he meets, as everyone seems to have his own particular hypothesis as to why the Democrats did not receive the majority of the votes on November 8.

I have been trying for a couple of weeks to get the situation sort of straightened out in my own mind with a view possibly of trying to learn a reason, for reference in future campaigns. There is no question but what a great variety of quantities entered into the outcome of this year's voting, but there are two facts which stand out as the result of this election which seem to me not to be subject to the slightest challenge.

The first fact is that the Republican party won this election. This fact is so well-evident and so far reaching in its effect that it needs little or no comment.

The second fact that stands out very clearly in the whole situation is that although the Republican party won this election, they don't owe the people of Pennsylvania anything in having done so. The election was bought and paid for and the Republican party will go into office in January with a sort of carte blanche authority from the people of this state.

Facts which have come to light since election day furnish a most interesting analysis of the factors which brought about a change in the political thinking of the people of this State. We had all believed that with the elections of 1932 and 1934 and 1936 that the electorate of this State had sort of been graduated out of the position where the expenditures of large sums of money would be an influencing factor in the determination of an election—perhaps this was not the controlling factor in this year's election but I think it is safe to say that probably in the history of this State there never has been an election where money was spent as freely as it was this year.

After elections people say things and do things which they would not say or do during the secrecy of a campaign and it has only been within the last two weeks that a lot of interesting sidelights of this year's voting have been revealed to the scrutiny of public opinion and that if what we learn is true, and there is no substantial ground for disbelief of what we learn, the expenditure of party funds on the part of the Republicans this year was one of the most cunning and prudent adventures politically that I have ever seen.

Let's go back to immediately following the primary election. I have represented two counties of this State during the last four years—Centre and Clearfield Counties—immediately after the primary election there were four people in each county placed upon the payroll of the Republican State Committee or one of its subordinate agencies at a salary of $250 a month. At least two of these people that I know left good paying jobs to take the assignment tendered them. These gentlemen did nothing during the summer and fall but effect political organizations and political strategy. Under them there were progressively influenced a host of Republican minor missionaries whose salaries ranged from $10 a week up.

These minor missionaries did nothing but spread the gospel of the damning effects of the New Deal and the millennium that would be forthcoming by the election of a Republican ticket. These people were cleverly chosen and stategetically placed.

I know of two people on WPA projects who, beginning the first of August went on the payroll at $15 a week to supplement their WPA income. A number of others received their $10 bill each Saturday afternoon slipped to them over the table in a quiet corner of a bar-room or a pool-room.

It is a safe estimate that in the two counties at least 200 people were employed as needlers on WPA projects and highway projects at an average rate of not less than $15 a week from August 1 to November 8 of this year.

My active interest in politics in my section of the State has extended back only over a period of 12 or 13 years but within those years I have only known of but one occasion in my two counties when there was anything approaching a real election scandal.

Some funds were expended imprudently this year. As an example of this let me cite the case of one gentleman who earned $140 a month as a general foreman on a WPA project. He was industrious and frugal and a good foreman, came of a respectable family, and commanded considerable public influence among his associates. He carried on a bank account in his modest way; never banking very much at any one time over a period of three or four years until the week before election. The bank ledger shows a deposit of $1000 and the gentleman's influence, although Democrat perennially, was turned toward the channels of Republican success.

And then there is the Democrat in Bellefonte who last year came within a few votes of being elected tax collector of that borough, who, the day before election received $150 for himself and $150 for expenditure among those people whose votes he could influence.

Then there is another Democrat in Sandy Township, outside of the city of DuBois, who, as his letters will show, was a loyal Democrat up until the Friday before election but who called me on the telephone Sunday and said he had been offered $250 to work for the Republican party and asked release from his Democratic promises. Being of a kind and generous disposition and knowing the man's necessities, he was promptly released from his promises and the economic exigencies of his family relieved.

One of the most interesting quantities in any election is 'election beer'. I read in books that beer and more particularly whiskey were stable factors in elections in this country as far back as a hundred years ago, and one of the most interesting things about any campaign to those of us who were plunged into the arena of politics as novices is to learn that for a period of about two weeks before an election we are all expected to play Santa Claus to that branch of the electorate whose thirst is always consuming.

In once precinct of Clearfield County, immediately adjoining the town in which I live, I had a couple of Democrats who guaranteed me that their thirst was unquenchable, keep track of the beer that the different Republican agencies placed in this precinct for the two weeks before election. Their report the day before election stated that they had attended no less than 14 missionary meetings, at each of which one barrel of Republican beer was the piece de resistance, garnished with competent Republican oratory.

It is interesting in connection with the experience of this precinct to note how little beverages really influence an election as this precinct went 3 to 1 for the entire Democratic ticket.

One of the most interesting incidents of the whole campaign was a big Sunday School picnic this summer. On the outskirts of this picnic, in the bushes hidden from view of the officiating clergyman, were two barrels of Republican beer where the thirsty Christians regaled themselves when the proceedings of the Sunday School picnic became a little too dry for endurance.

I would not want anybody to believe that the Republican party placed 14 barrels of beer in every precinct in my senatorial district for campaign purposes but I do think a fair average would be a little bit less than a third of that, say about four barrels to each of the 178 precincts which would involve the modest campaign expenditure of $9,968.00.

There is probably no political commentator but who would agree that the organization to get out the votes on the part of both parties this year was probably the most effective we have ever seen in Pennsylvania. In my own ward, for example, we have 377 registered Democrats of which 376 voted.

As Democrats we figured this year for election day expenses in my two counties the sum of $20 a precinct—the Republican party has always figured on the basis of $50 a precinct. I do not know whether it was more or less this year. I do know that in our judicial campaign in 1937 the Republican party had provided the sum of $75 a precinct for election day expenses, but basing their expenditures on their time-honored basis of $50 a precinct in the 178 precincts of Centre and Clearfield Counties we have an expenditure of $8900. This, of course, presumably would not include the precincts in the two counties—of which there were a number—where men stood at the polls and voluntarily, for the good of party principle, gave a $2.00 bill for each vote as it came from the polls and assured the donor that the elector had voted to "Save Our State."

Nor would this include the expenditure at precincts where $15.00 was paid to the owner or driver of a car for each car-load of voters that were brought to the polls.

Apart from the incidental expenses, I think it is a safe bet that in my two counties we had at a minimum a $74,000 election. My district is about the average in population over the State, containing a trifle under 150,000 people, or a little bit less than 1½% of the population of the State. If the balance of the State were as well nurtured financially as my own district, we can be proud this year of our $5,000,000 election in Pennsylvania.

When I think of this sum the shade of William S. Vare comes before my eyes and the fact that he was deprived of a seat in the United States Senate because his primary campaign expenditures exceeded $125,000 the maximum figure set by the Corrupt Practices Act.

Of course the Democrats can lay a lot of blame for their defeat to other factors beside the financial bounties of the Republican party.

To the eye of the voter, the Democratic party this year had become the conservative party while the Republican party was not only liberal with their money but liberal with their promises. I do not know of a single Democratic candidate who gave any help, aid, or assistance to the Townsend Plan and now we have the spectacle of a Republican conservative United States Senator going to Washington pledged to support the $200 a month pension which Dr. Townsend has made famous to say nothing of a host of Republican Congressmen throughout the length and breadth of this State. I do not mean that these Republican representatives mean to keep these promises—as I said in the beginning the Republican party really owes this State nothing as they bought and paid for this election.

As early as last summer I personally plead with the High Command of the Democratic party to liberalize our program at this election—our platform was as meaningless as the Republican party's platform.

One thing that I desired was that the Democratic party should pledge to the people of this State during the next four years the 100% improvement of all rural roads in Pennsylvania. This was not a myth but as a goal which is capable of realization during the next four years, not only by the Democratic party but can be realized by the Republican party if it so desires. At the rate rural roads have been built in my district for the past three years by the end of next year there will be no more numbered routes to improve if the program is maintained at its present rate.

The same procedure which has been followed in my two counties can be very nicely extended into every corner of the State, and once we would get our rural road system completed we can begin in an intelligent systematic way the building of trunk line, super-highways which will enable our vehicular traffic to keep apace with the needs of increasing speed and heavier traffic in transportation. Of course the railroads will oppose this but progress will go on just the same.

Not only is road improvement still a vital issue with people of this State but the matter of school building construction is just as great in this State today at it was a few weeks ago when I introduced into this Legislature a series of bills providing the legislative mechanics for what has become known as the Thompson School Building Plan.

As early as April of this year I plead with the leaders of our party and its candidates to take up intelligently and systematically this question of public school building construction with a view of bringing the facilities of this State up to a decent standard and to relieve a large part of the burden of this item from local real estate taxation. However, it was not until this Legislature convened in July that I received even half-hearted cooperation in the plan and even then little or no enthusiasm, and had the plan bog down a couple of weeks before the election in the hands of men who had lost their courage and their grip upon public matters.

Today the future of the plan is uncertain in view of the open hostility of the incoming administration to it during the campaign and the reluctance of the Federal Government to pledge its funds to an activity to which the appropriation of state funds by the incoming administration is uncertain.

Again as early as June of this year I plead with our brain trusters to adopt a positive stand with respect to a system of Old Age Pensions. The attitude of the people of Pennsylvania on the question of an Old Age Pension is obvious.

In 1937 the Democratic party gave to the people of Pennsylvania an amendment to the State Constitution which permits the enactment of an Old Age Pension law in this State as distinguished from the present existing unwholesome system of Old Age Assistance.

The Republican High Command was smart enough to see that the vast majority of the people of Pennsylvania are in favor of an outright Old Age Pension, and promised their support to the Townsend Pension Plan. In my own meager way I still think the Townsend Plan unworkable but we can pass in Pennsylvania an Old Age Pension law which will give to every person over the age of 65 a pension of $50 a month, with an additional increment of $25 a month where that person is married and has a dependent wife.

It certainly should not be difficult for the Republican party pledged to a $200 a month pension to enact next year a $75 a month pension. I hope the incoming administration does enact such legislation. I am confident that such legislation will have the support of many Democrats in this Senate. It is something that should be done in this State and I am confident that the great majority of people will say "Amen" to such legislation whether the legislators be Democrats or whether they be Republicans. However, I still go back to my original promise that the Republican party has bought and paid for this election, owes the people nothing, and will not keep their pledge.

For four years I have voiced the opinion that we should have a minimum wage rate in this State for employees of fifty cents an hour irrespective of the character of work these employees perform. The strategists of the Republican party likewise had some such idea when they promised the laborers upon our highway a minimum wage of $85.00 a month. This, likewise, is a wholesome measure with which I am sure the rank and file of the people would concur and I for one will gladly voice my approval of the Republicans establishing in accordance with their promises a minimum wage of $85.00 a month for highway workers.

Of course the Republicans made a lot of wild promises during this campaign—they promised WPA workers a minimum wage of $100 a month, and I know one Republican barber shop tenor in conversation with three or four WPA workers during the campaign saying, "My heart bleeds for you poor fellows who must labor so arduously for $52.80 per month."

Well, of course, a promise of this kind was a lot of hot air as I feel confident that the Republicans were intelligent enough to know that win, lose, or draw, they would have no influence on WPA employment or wage rates; but they promised, and it would not surprise me a bit if the incoming administration in order to keep this promise would provide $47.20 a month out of state funds to supplement the compensation of WPA workers.

Of course when I say they would do this, I must depart from my original promise that the Republican party has bought and paid for this election and owes nothing to the people of this State.

Well, we shall see what we shall see. There is no question but what the Democratic party lost a lot of votes at this last election because they would not promise the people of this State things that they knew were impossible of fulfillment. They would not even promise things that were possible of fulfillment where there was the slightest uncertainty of their ability to execute such promises.

As we said in the beginning, the Republican party owes the people of this State nothing—anything they give to the population of our State during the next four years will be gratuitous, but I am still for the Republican party taking care of the people of this State and anything they do along this line I am confident will be as much appreciated by the rank and file of the Democrats as it will be by the people of the State as a whole.

Right now the people of my district are having quite a fever of buying ear-muffs. Everybody is rushing to our stores to get protection for their ears against the noise of the factory whistles when they start blowing. You know the factory whistles were to begin to blow immediately after Republican success. I try to tell these people that they don't need to hurry into this—that steel production has slipped off every week since the election, but they are still buying ear-muffs. Some people are even talking about starting a whistle factory to take care of the needs of the new industries which are going to flock to Pennsylvania. Maybe this is so.

Let me state, however, that in my humble judgment the Democratic administration can still stand upon its record and to illustrate I will tell a little story.

When I was a youngster I had two very good boy-friends. One of them about a year older than I am and one of them a year younger. We played together continuously. They ate at my house and I ate at theirs. The mother of these two boys was a widow. The only source of income of the family was the slender pittance that the mother worked out by taking in washings and working out by the day. As I said, I often ate at their home. What do you suppose the steady diet was? Bread and black coffee three times a day. That was all this family could afford in the way of food. I do not recall ever having eaten a meal at this home where the diet was anything but the items mentioned above. Today, one of those boys is dead from tuberculosis. The other boy is almost a hopeless invalid from rheumatic trouble and I am convinced in my own mind that the first troubles of my two friends resulted entirely from the years of undernourishment when they were young.

During the last four years of the Democratic administration no family in the State of Pennsylvania has had to live as this family lived when we were youngsters. No family has starved in Pennsylvania during the last four years. There has been available to everybody the necessities of at least bare subsistence. Perhaps we did tax the corporations of this State 10% of their net revenues. Perhaps we did repeal the exemption manufacturing corporations enjoyed from the five mills capital stock tax—although the coal companies of my district had to pay it.

I am satisfied to stand upon record of those last four years when the Government of Pennsylvania has not only been a government by the people and of the people, but a governmnt for the people as well.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am somewhat surprised at the young and verdant Senator from Centre County, Mr. Thompson, who has now delivered his swan song and goes to join the alumni of the Senate of Pennsylvania known as "one-termers," and in view of the extemporaneous speech which he has just been prompted to give by the address of our colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, I now suggest without a formal motion that a vote of thanks be extended to Senator Thompson, and I now send to him this pair of crutches, to the lame-duck Senator from Centre.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, of course I can do nothing but thank the Senator from the bottom of my heart for his kindness, but I will say that while I may need crutches for my feet, I do not believe I need any crutches yet for my head.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I had not intended to speak this evening but fearing that at tomorrow's session we might be minus the presence of my beloved friend and colleague from Philadelphia, the distinguished doctor whose name escapes me at the moment, I would like to say a few words now in regard to the $500,000 appropriation which he has repeatedly referred to here as extravagant. I want to call attention to the fact that one of the large newspapers of the State today mentioned the fact that Pennsylvania this year ranked third in the tourist trade of America. And I want to say that the Republican Party in the next four years will be entitled to a great deal of credit if they are able to bring in new industries to the State in the same volume of business that has been attracted by the Publicity Commission of Pennsylvania in respect to the tourist trade. I might state another point in passing for the benefit of the Senator from Philadelphia, for among the things that he mentioned was patronage, and I might say that I believe that when the Republican Party has faced the patronage problem for four years as the Democratic Party has been doing it the last four, at a time when people throughout the country were really in need of jobs, that there is a very strong possibility that he will be able by that time, if he is back here in the 1943 session, to obtain his Civil Service Bill as an Act of the Legislature.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I desire at this time to present to the Senate the report to the General Assembly of the Commission to study devices and methods of disseminating information in the furtherance of gambling. This is the final report of the Commission and contains the recommendation of the Commission. The testimony that was taken before the Commission, and the exhibits, will be placed on file among the records of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be made a matter of record in the Appendix of the Journal.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Centre Mr. Thompson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Centre if this report contains the itemized expenses of the Commission and shows how they used or how much they have left of the $25,000 appropriation given to them by this legislature.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, this report does not contain anything with reference to the expenses of the Commission. We are working this week on the itemization of the expense account. We have quite a number of bills which are as yet unpaid. Those bills will be collected and gotten together this week and there will be filed with the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House an itemized statement of the expenses of this Commission.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, would the Senator even let us have some idea as to whether we can hope to have any of this money left or not?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I think I made the Senator from Bucks a sort of half a promise that we would do everything we could to have some of the money left. While I have not seen all of the bills as yet which the Commission has incurred, I am very optimistic that we will be able to turn back a balance to the State Treasury.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, would the Senator care to suggest any tentative amount that we might hope for?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I would not like to suggest any tentative amount at this time for the reason that there are certain expenditures like the compensation of counsel, expenditures of that nature which the Commission itself has not decided on as to what those figures should be, and until the Commission decides on what the figures of that sort should be, of course we will not know what will be the total amount of expenditures.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, of the Gambling Commission of six members I am the sole survivor, the only member who survived the election, and so I have been made a kind of custodian of any funds; and if anybody wants to known about them, they can come to me after December the first, as the sole survivor.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair observed some time ago that this commission had a chance to double the money and evidently they didn't do that.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES TO ACCELERATE CONSTRUCTION OF CANAL ACROSS THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, November 28, 1938.

Whereas, The Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association under the leadership of Honorable J. Hampton Moore had maintained for the last 31 years a non-political, patriotic status, constantly seeking to promote the country's welfare by the construction through all the Atlantic Seaboard States of an inside waterway free from the perils of the ocean, and,

Whereas, Such an inside system of waterways from Maine to the Gulf is destined to serve commerce in peace and will be capable of vital military service in the event of an attack or remote as it may be, of foreign blockade in time of war, and,

Whereas, All but one link of said Atlantic Intracoastal waterway approximately eighteen hundred miles long has been already constructed and permits a free movement of traffic along inland waters in many states of the Atlantic coast, and,

Whereas, All that is needed now to complete this gigantic artery of national defense is the construction of the long discussed canal across the State of New Jersey from Sayreville on the Raritan Bay to Bordentown on the Delaware River above Philadelphia, and,

Whereas, The construction of this 31 mile long canal across New Jersey will remove the last barrier that blocks the national waterway designed to afford a safe channel inside the hazardous Atlantic Coast from Florida to New England and thence to the Great Lakes, and,

Whereas, Such a canal across New Jersey will provide safe communications between the ports and Navy Yards at New York and Philadelphia and will make it unnecessary to circumnavigate the Atlantic coastal waters along the shores of New Jersey, and,

Whereas, The construction of such a canal will restore to the Port of Philadelphia its lost lustre and regain for it part of its former hegomony, and,

Whereas, Through the construction of this canal across New Jersey new vistas will become opened to Pennsylvania's industries generally and the coal industry especially by bringing closer to our State the Port of New York and the markets of New England and the Middle West, and,

Whereas, The delay in the construction of the canal across New Jersey—the so-called "missing link" of the Inland Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway has been caused by the hesitancy of the Army Engineers Corps, and,

Whereas, The construction of the canal across New Jersey is important to every national and commercial interest in the United States, now, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania shall and does hereby memorialize His Excellency, the President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to accelerate the construction of the above mentioned canal across New Jersey from Sayreville on the Raritan Bay to Bordentown on the Delaware River, and be it further

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Senate forward a copy of this resolution following its passage to His Excellency, the President of the United States of America.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration and ask that the resolution lie on the table until we have had a chance to digest it a little more fully.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the resolution lying on the table? The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION

EXTENDING SYMPATHY TO HONORABLE CHARLES W. SONES

Mr. RICE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 28, 1938.

Whereas, the Honorable Charles W. Sones, an esteemed member of the Senate of Pennsylvania, was injured Wednesday, November 23, 1938, in an automobile accident, and

Whereas, Senator Sones is highly respected for his unfailing courtesy, and is known for his faithful attendance to his duties as a member of this Senate, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania express to our colleague, Honorable Charles W. Sones its deep regret because of his injury and the confident hope for his early recovery, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to convey to the honored Senator a copy of this message.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a brief and final report at this time from a committee.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as the final report of the committee appointed to investigate the costs of functions of the City Government in Philadelphia, I desire to read a copy of a letter sent to the State Treasurer today. It reads as follows: "I enclose herewith my check as Chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee to investigate costs of City Government in Philadelphia, in the sum of $6,913.19, representing the balance of an appropriation of $25,000, appropriated to this committee by the Legislature."

This represents the balance from the last accounting submitted to this special session of the Legislature, which at that time was $6,938.19, and since that time for postage and incidental expenses the sum of $25.00 has been expended. I thought I ought to make this report at this time in view of the anxiety of the Senator from Bucks about the state of the treasury when the Republicans come in next year, and I thought that I could assure him now that $6,900. will be available to them.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I simply wish to say that this is a small contribution towards the expense of the two Common Pleas Courts that have been set up in Philadelphia.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 72, (House Bill No. 59), entitled:

An Act to ratify, confirm and make valid the commission to make a careful, thorough and impartial investigation of the general practice and procedure in the courts of oyer and terminer sessions of the peace, oyer and terminer and general jail delivery in the various counties of the Commonwealth and the Municipal Court in the City and County of Philadelphia appointed pursuant to the joint resolution, approved the ninth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 35), entitled "A joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a commission to make a fair and impartial investigation of the general practice and procedure in the courts of oyer and terminer, general jail delivery and quarter sessions of the peace, in the various counties of the Commonwealth, and the Municipal Court in the City and County of Philadelphia, with special reference to the prosecution, trial and disposition of all criminal cases and the probation and parole of persons guilty of crime; conferring upon the commission full power to issue subpoenas; requiring the commission, if possible, to make a report of its findings to the present session of the General Assembly, together with its recommendations as to such legislation as may be necessary or desirable, otherwise, to make such report and recommendations to the Governor; authorizing the commission to employ counsel and employes; and making an appropriation," and its amendments, together with its action, proceedings, expenses and expenditures.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 73. (House Bill No. 93), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for the expenses of the special committee appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives pursuant to House resolution No. 24, adopted by the House of Representatives on the eighteenth day of October, one thousand nine hundred thirty eight by authority of the act approved the thirtieth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (Act No. 2) entitled "An act defining the procedure for and regulating the investigation by the House of Representatives and its committees of charges of, or involving misdemeanor, in office on the part of civil officers liable to impeachment; authorizing the Speaker of the House to appoint a special committee for any such investigation; authorizing the presentation of evidence by the Attorney General and other counsel and the officers investigated; providing for the summoning of witnesses and for the punishment of persons refusing to appear, produce evidence or testify; and authorizing the employment and compensation of counsel and other assistants.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am advised by my colleague who made the request that Senate Bill No. 63 go over in order that his intent is that this bill go over until tomorrow. In my opinion this will have the effect of killing the bill, making impossible its final passage if the request is intended to be followed by amendments.

I therefore move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 63, (House Bill No. 21), on second reading entitled:

An Act to regulate the sale storage offering or exposing for sale of fireworks, defining fireworks, and providing for licensing and regulation of the manner of using fireworks and providing license fees and penalties.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe that the Senate has acted upon my request to have the bill go over in order.

The PRESIDENT. Well, that does not prevent it from being called up, especially when business intervenes.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I don't believe that having this bill go over in order will have the effect of killing the bill. It was my understanding that we will be here Wednesday and the bill can be passed on second reading tomorrow and passed finally Wednesday. I believe I showed my intentions in this Senate when I voted for a previous bill up in the Senate for the regulation of fireworks. No one in this Senate cares to see anybody maimed or injured and I am just as sincere as any man here, when I say that I for one want to vote for some sort of a fireworks bill, but I don't see how it is fair to say that we must vote for a bill without the opportunity to get into that bill certain features that are necessary. I just received an hour ago a memorandum on the bill which if true calls attention to certain facts that are dangerous in such a piece of legislation to be passed by this Senate. I only ask the courtesy of a chance to study the bill, and if necessary get the proper amendments ready. If the Senator from Philadelphia does not agree that that is necessary, that is his business.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, a reference to the History will show that this bill was introduced in the House on July 27th. It will also show that it was in the Committee on State Government in the Senate on October 17th. I am not asking anybody to vote any way or other on this bill, but I have made up my mind that I want an opportunity to vote on this bill, and I want that opportunity now. I don't think that there should be any more fooling with this proposition. Either we are for or against this bill and any other time I certainly would hesitate before refusing to extend a courtesy to a colleague, but when that courtesy involves a bill which is of vital importance to a great many people—it is within the Governor's call, it is one of the things that has been debated in public press, it is one of the things that has been agitated for many years, and it is not a new piece of legislation, nor is it a rush piece of legislation in this session. It has been up in many sessions. Each time it came up the manufacturers came here and said to us, we have a stock of merchandise on hand and now you come along in February, a month or two before the fireworks and want to prohibit the manufacture and sale, and as a result of that you are going to lose thousands of dollars for us." When this bill came up in this session suggestions were made to let it go until the next session, and if we did that, that same argument would be put up then against the bill. I am satisfied and I have no desire to influence any vote, but I do think that we owe it to the public to take a position on this bill. If this bill goes over tomorrow and is amended and then passes on Wednesday, and then goes to the House, and they don't agree with the amendments, we will have a conflict and we will have no time to appoint a committee of conference, and get the report of the conference committee approved. There has been plenty of time to amend this bill and therefore I insist on my request that this bill be acted upon.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the mere fact that this bill was introduced in the House at an early date and the fact also that it rested in committee in the Senate does not necessarily mean that every member of the Senate is acquainted with the contents of the legislation. I think that the Senator objects rather wildly here when he takes the attitude that this legislation is being killed. I do not believe any person here has had any closer contact with accidents that may occur and do occur with fireworks. I also know that the prohibition of any one thing does not always cure the evils that we are trying to cure. We had that experience with the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor. I think one of the most dangerous things on the Fourth of July or any day of celebration where fireworks are used is the home-made variety of fireworks. I do not believe that the Senator is being entirely fair when he says we have had an opportunity to amend the legislation when it is only on the calendar for second reading now. This is the first opportunity that I have had to have called to my attention by those interested in this legislation the evils that exist in this particular piece of legislation.

As I understand it there are something like twenty-five hundred people who are going to be thrown out of work immediately on the day that this bill is signed by the Governor and I think that sometimes—I am advised by my colleague Senator Lanius that there will be eight thousand people thrown out of work. I do not think that we can deliberately sit here and take a legal industry in Pennsylvania and say that all their investments, all their employment, should be deliberately set aside, that they cannot work, that they have to quit doing business in the State of Pennsylvania, because we say they must. I want an opportunity at least to study the angles of this thing and come before this Senate prepared to debate the question more thoroughly. If the Senator does not have that particular type of manufacturing in his district, it does not mean that those of us who do have are not interested in finding out what we can do to save it.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if it isn't a fact that this Senate unanimously passed a bill earlier in this session on this same subject, and that that bill has been held up for some reason in the House, and I would like to ask the Senator the reason for that.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I cannot tell what is in their minds except that they in all probability felt that the amendments subsequently inserted in the House met the situation more nearly than the bill sent from the Senate. I understand that Senator Law's bill was passed by the Senate and it is over in the House.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, unanimously passed, was it not?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not know—the record will show—but that is not the question before us now. I would be perfectly willing to vote for Senator Law's bill if it were before us but I certainly think we ought to vote one way or another on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair might impart a little information to the Senate to the effect that this discussion is all out of order.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is this bill before the Senate now for action?

The PRESIDENT. It is not. It can only come before the Senate when we dispense with going into Committee of the Whole. We cannot discuss the merits of the bill now.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 63, (House Bill No. 21), entitled:

An Act to regulate the sale storage offering or exposing for sale of fireworks, defining fireworks, and providing for licensing and regulation of the manner of using fireworks and providing license fees and penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Owlett and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—13

Buckman,	Ealy,	Howell,	Scarlett,
Chapman,	Haluska,	Mallery,	Wolfenden,
Deitrick,	Homsher,	Owlett,	Woodward,
Dent.

NAYS—28

Barthold.	Gilson,	McCreesh,	Rodgers,
Cavalcante,	Heyburn	McGinnis,	Rupp,
Dando,	Jaspan.	Mundy,	Ruth,
DiSilvestro,	Kilgallen,	Pytko,	Shapiro,
Eroe,	Kunkel,	Rankin,	Sipe.
Frey,	Lanius,	Reed,	Stiefel,
Gelder,	Law,	Rice,	Thompson,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do wish the Senator from Philadelphia and the Senator from Westmoreland would come together on this proposition. I seriously think that the bill ought to go over in order because it appears here that the bill ought to be amended. Here in Section 2, it says, "except as hereinafter provided it shall be unlawful," and then it lists a whole lot of things and among them is this, "balloons which require fire underneath to propel."

Now what in the name of common sense have balloons got to do with fireworks, balloons that you have got to light a fire under and send up with hot air in them? What has hot air got to do with fireworks?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, that is a perfectly proper provision. I do not believe that children should be permitted to fool with fire and children have been burned that way. I object to the bill going over in order.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if a vote is taken at this time and it passes second reading then it will appear on the third reading calendar tomorrow, is that right?

The PRESIDENT. That is right.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, then in order to consider it on second reading to-morrow the Senate must recede from its position taken today and vote to reconsider its vote, and place it back on second reading.

The PRESIDENT. Unanimous consent can accomplish the purpose or a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed second reading.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, well since the Democrats opposed any move to set this over I do not suppose it is possible to get unanimous consent. Is it possible to ask for a roll call for consideration of this bill at this time?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on second reading.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair might point out that if the amendments are strike-out amendments on third reading you can accomplish the purpose of passing the bill finally by the adoption of the amendments, provided they are strike-out amendments.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, before entering upon a roll call I want to say that while I consider this, in the language of a famous statesman, "A damn bad bill", it is better than none at all and I trust that those on the other side who are here together with the Democrats who will be back, and the new members, will make a good bill out of this in the next session.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Dent and were as follows, viz:

Yeas—26.

Barthold,	Heyburn,	McGinnis,	Rodgers,
Dando,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Rupp,
DiSilvestro,	Kahle,	Pytko,	Ruth,
Eroe,	Kilgallen,	Rankin,	Shapiro,
Frey,	Kunkel,	Reed,	Sipe,
Gelder,	Law.	Rice,	Stiefel,
Gilson.	McCreesh,

Nays—15.

Buckman,	Dent,	Howell,	Scarlett,
Cavalcante,	Ealy,	Lanius.	Wolfenden,
Chapman,	Haluska,	Mallery,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Homsher,	Owlett,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

RECESS

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SECRETARY

The Committee on Executive Nominations will meet during the recess in the office of the President Pro Tempore.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy), announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 63, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 465), entitled "Fire safety building regulation law" by changing the number of ways of egress required in the case of certain buildings.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, on Monday night, November 21, the Committee on Executive Nominations reported for confirmation by the Senate several appointments by the Governor which failed of confirmation because of the absence of some of the Senators and the unanimous opposition of the Republican Senators present. The Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations, being informed by the Republican Members that they could not be expected to vote for any confirmation except Justices of the Peace and Aldermen and since two of the Democratic Senators are absent on account of illness the Committee on Executive Nominations feels it would be of no avail to report any of the nominations submitted by the Governor now in committee.

CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES TO ACCELERATE THE CONSTRUCTION OF CANAL ACROSS THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, earlier in the evening at tonight's session, a resolution was introduced by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel to which I made temporary objection. I now desire to withdraw that objection, and move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution which was laid on the table.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, November 28, 1938.

Whereas, The Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association under the leadership of Honorable J. Hampton Moore had maintained for the last 31 years a non-political, patriotic, status, constantly seeking to promote the country's welfare by the construction through all the Atlantic Seaboard States of an inside waterway free from the perils of the ocean, and,

Whereas, Such an inside system of waterways from Maine to the Gulf is destined to serve commerce in peace and will be capable of vital military service in the event of an attack or remote as it may be, of a foreign blockade in time of war, and,

Whereas, All but one link of said Atlantic Intracoastal waterway approximately eighteen hundred miles long has been already constructed and permits a free movement to traffic along inland waters in many states of the Atlantic coast, and.

Whereas, All that is needed now to complete this gigantic artery of national defense is the construction of the long discussed canal across the State of New Jersey from Sayreville on the Raritan Bay to Bordentown on the Delaware River above Philadelphia, and,

Whereas, The construction of this 31 mile long canal across New Jersey will remove the last barrier that blocks the national waterway designed to afford a safe channel inside the hazardous Atlantic Coast from Florida to New England and thence to the Great Lakes, and,

Whereas, Such a canal across New Jersey will provide safe communications between the ports and Navy Yards at New York and Philadelphia and will make it unnecessary to circumnavigate the Atlantic coastal waters along the shores of New Jersey, and,

Whereas, The construction of such a canal will restore to the Port of Philadelphia its lost lustre and regain for it part of its former hegomony, and,

Whereas, Through the construction of this canal across New Jersey new vistas will become opened to Pennsylvania's industries generally and the coal industry especially by bringing closer to our State the Port of New York and the markets of New England and the Middle West, and,

Whereas, The delay in the construction of the canal across New Jersey—the so-called "missing link" of the Inland Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway has been caused by the hesitancy of the Army Engineers Corps, and,

Whereas, The construction of the canal across New Jersey is important to every national and commerical interest in the United States, now, be it,

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania shall and does hereby memorialize His Excellency, the President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to accelerate the construction of the above mentioned canal across New Jersey from Sayreville on the Raritan Bay to Bordentown on the Delaware River, and be it further.

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Senate forward a copy of this resolution following its passage to His Excellency, the President of the United States of America.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, November 29, 1938 at 1:00 o'clock P. M.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:45 o'clock P. M. until Tuesday, November 29, 1938 at 1:00 o'clock P. M.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 72

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, November 23, 1938.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 72, Printer's No. 84, entitled, "A Supplement to the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Appropriation Acts page seventy-four) entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven' making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the payment of certain expenses for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine and making an additional appropriation to the Legislative Department."

GEORGE H. EARLE.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HOLLAND. RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1938.

Whereas, Session after session bills are introduced into the General Assembly for the purpose of eliminating the present exemption of the real estate of utility companies from taxation by the counties. cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, school districts or institution districts where such public utility company operates and conducts its business; and

Whereas, This exemption of the real estate of public utility companies from taxation is the result of judicial decisions and not as a result of any statutory enactment; and

Whereas, The injustice of this form of tax exemption has shocked the consciousness of the citizens of this Commonwealth over a long period of time; nevertheless, for one reason or another bills introduced to correct this injustice have never been finally approved by the General Assembly, the principal reason of which is the lack of specific knowledge as to the extent of this exemption, together with the lack of information as to where most of this real estate is located; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of Internal Affairs is hereby requested to conduct a state-wide survey of the amount of real estate owned by public utilities which has been exempt from local real estate taxes, to list the value of such property by political subdivision, showing the tax rate imposed on adjacent real estate to that owned and controlled by any public utility company, and to secure all additional information pertinent to this subject and calculated to be helpful in drafting the legislation to terminate this gross injustice to the other real estate taxpayers of this State, and that the said Secretary of Internal Affairs shall file his report with the House of Representatives as soon as possible after the next regular session of the General Assembly shall have been convened.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, in moving that House Bill No. 67 be dropped from the calendar, I do so reluctantly, but due to the fact that I received an opinion from the Attorney General that House Bill No. 67 is not within the call and, therefore, even if passed would be unconstitutional, I move that it be dropped from the calendar. In doing so, I serve notice upon the members, particularly the minority members, who will be the majority members during the next session, that it is my intention to introduce a similar bill at the next session, and make sure that the Republican members fulfill their pledge to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by voting for such a bill in the session in 1939.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with an agreement made in the Committee on Judiciary Special last week, that Senate Bills Nos. 68 and 67 would be recommitted after second reading, I move that Senate Bills 68 and 67, House Bills Nos. 98 and 97, be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

I might say that even though the agreement which was made in the Judiciary Special Committee of the House last week was that the bills be reported out for two readings, and then, go back for consideration by the subcommittee, that was done with the understanding that unanimous consent would be given to read the bills last week. Even though that agreement was broken on the floor of the House, nevertheless, in keeping with our agreement, I move that the bills be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit House Bill No. 98, Senate Bill No. 68?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask for a division on this question. Is this in relation to Senate Bill No. 68 or Senate Bill No. 67, or both Senate Bills 68 and 67?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has divided the question. The House is now voting on Senate Bill No. 68.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

The request for a roll call was seconded by Messrs. MARINO and TRONZO.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with Mr. Moomaw's statement of an agreement in the Committee on Judiciary Special, I ask that the membership of this House support the motion to recommit.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, whether it was not the agreement in the Committee on Judiciary Special, when the bills were reported out, that they should be given first reading on the eve on which they were reported out. I am asking the gentleman from Delaware if that was not the agreement.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, that was the agreement in the committee, but we could not bind the House and we resolved to stand on our own agreement.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further inquire of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, since that was the agreement in the Committee on Judiciary Special, did the gentleman from Delaware object or in any way try to prevail upon the minority leader of the House, his colleague, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, when Mr. Turner objected to the giving of unanimous consent, so that the bill might be read the first time and so that the agreement in the committee could be carried out?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the question submitted by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, is out of order, as not bearing on the question before the House and as being a personal reflection upon a member of this House.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to answer the question of the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. The point of order raised by the gentleman from Dauphin is well taken. The Chair asks the gentleman to confine his remarks to the question before the House, which is the question to recommit.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the gentleman out of order because there is a question pending before the House. The gentleman will be recognized later if he so desires.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would just like to leave one thought with the membership on this question, and that is when a committee makes an agreement to return a bill I do not see how they can go back on that agreement. They certainly cannot make any agreement in the committee as to the action on the bill on the floor of the House, that would bind the entire House. There has never been in my recollection any time when a committee attempted to bind the action of the entire House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Monroe will state his point of order.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not debating or discussing the question on the motion before the House, and he has failed just as completely in falling away from the Speaker's decision and order, that the remarks be confined to the question before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order of the gentleman from Monroe is well taken. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion before the House.

CONSENT REQUESTED TO MAKE STATEMENT

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I just had a conversation with the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, and I ask unanimous consent of the House to make a statement in regard to it.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the gentleman from Delaware to make a statement at this time. Are there objections?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, is predicating his remarks on some consent which he said he received from Mr. Cohen. Mr. Cohen used to run this House but he doesn't run it any more.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent?

The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my request for unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER. The withdrawal came too late.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit House Bill No. 98, Senate Bill No. 68?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. O'BRIEN, MARINO and TRONZO and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. MOOMAW filed the following reasons for his vote: My only reason for supporting this motion is because I was Chairman of the Committee and was bound to make the motion to recommit in accordance with committee action.

I am personally opposed to recommitting the bill.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit House Bill No. 97, Senate Bill No. 67.

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MOOMAW asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Judiciary Special to meet during the session of the House.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, some of you recall some months ago in the discussion of certain legislation, certain references were made to editorials that appeared in the Manheim Sentinel. You may also recall that the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, at that time made a statement on the floor of the House that he was going to give a subscription to that widely read newspaper. I want to announce now and acknowledge a subscription from the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, through my circulation manager, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Weidemann. However, I was a bit disappointed in the fact that the gentleman from York only extended his subscription for a period of four months. I am not sure, but what I have assumed a personal obligation in that I may not be able to convert the gentleman from York into our Republican way of thinking in that length of time. I would like to say that if I do not succeed, I would be very glad to have an extension of the subscription so that eventually—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TUMELTY: Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I believe we have a rule of the House which says, "Peddling and soliciting on the floor of the House is not permitted".

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I did not mean to infer that I was soliciting subscriptions from anybody else. I simply wanted to acknowledge, Mr.

Speaker and members of the House, that the gentleman from York has carried out his promise made some months ago.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman on the question of personal privilege will be spread in full upon the Legislative Journal.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. OSTROFF, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, re-reported as amended, House Bill No. 97, (Senate Bill No. 67), entitled:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 90 (Senate Bill No. 60), entitled:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania November 28, 1938.

Whereas, The Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association under the leadership of Honorable J. Hampton Moore had maintained for the last 31 years a non-political, patriotic status, constantly seeking to promote the country's welfare by the construction through all the Atlantic Seaboard States of an inside waterway from the perils of the ocean, and,

Whereas, Such an inside system of waterways from Maine to the Gulf is destined to serve commerce in peace and will be capable of vital military service in the event of an attack or remote as it may be, of a foreign blockade in time of war, and,

Whereas, All but one link of said Atlantic Intercoastal waterway approximately eighteen hundred miles long has been already constructed and permits a free movement of traffic along inland waters in many states of the Atlantic coast, and,

Wheareas, All that is needed now to complete this gigantic artery of national defense is the construction of the long discussed canal across the State of New Jersey from Sayreville on the Raritan Bay to Bordentown on the Delaware River above Philadelphia, and,

Whereas, The construction of this 31 mile long canal across New Jersey will remove the last barrier that blocks the national waterway designed to afford a safe channel inside the hazardous Atlantic Coast from Florida to New England and thence to the Great Lakes, and,

Whereas, Such a canal across New Jersey will provide safe communications between the ports and Navy Yards at New York and Philadelphia and will make it unnecessary to circumnavigate the Atlantic coastal waters along the shores of New Jersey, and,

Whereas, The construction of such a canal will restore to the Port of Philadelphia its lost lustre and regain for it part of its former hegomony, and,

Whereas, Through the construction of this canal across New Jersey new vistas will become opened to Pennsylvania's industries generally and the coal industry especially by bringing closer to our State the Port of New York and the markets of New England and the Middle West, and,

Whereas, The delay in the construction of the canal across New Jersey—the so-called "missing link" of the Inland Atlantic Intercoastal Waterway has been caused by the hesitancy of the Army Engineers Corps, and,

Whereas, The construction of the canal across New Jersey is important to every national and commerical interest in the United States, now,

Be It Resolved (if the House concur) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania shall and does hereby memorialize His Excellency, the President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to accelerate the construction of the above mentioned canal across New Jersey from Sayreville on the Raritan Bay to Bordentown on the Delaware River, and be it, Further Resolved, That the clerk of the Senate forward a copy of this resolution following its passage to His Excellency, President of the United States of America.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Extraordinary Session of 1938

Vol. 22 HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1938. No. 34.

SENATE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1938.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy), in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. GEORGE WALKER BUCKNER LL.D., offered the following prayer:

O our God, Creator and Lord of all, for the multitude of Thy mercies, we would enter into Thy gates with thanksgiving, into Thy courts with praise.

Our Father, we are thinking today of one of our number, for many years an honored member of this honorable body, detained by serious and painful accident. Bestow Thy healing grace and restore him to his useful life. Our Father, we ask Thy blessing upon these Thy servants, and those associated with them. We thank Thee for the justification of our democracy, manifested in that gracious spirit of acquiescence and mutual good will. Unto the closing moments of this fellowship may Thy guiding spirit prevail. May we ever cherish and never relinquish the heritage of our peculiar freedom, limited only by the rights of others, and the inhibitions of just laws.

Bless our beloved Commonwealth, never least among the sisterhood of states; and may the stars of the ensign of our Republic ever shine to the pride of our hearts, to the glory of our "Sweet Land of Liberty." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. DI SILVESTRO, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication from Honorable Curtis Bok, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas No. 6 of the County of Philadelphia.

Judges' Chambers, Court of Common Pleas No. 6,
City Hall, Philadelphia, November 28, 1938.

Curtis Bok,
President Judge.

President of the Senate,
Capitol Building,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

My dear Mr. President:

I am enclosing with this letter a certified copy of the Twelfth Special Presentment made to me on November 25, 1938, by the October 1937 Grand Jury which is investigating into crime and corruption in this county. This presentment dealing with certain loans made to the Mayor of Philadelphia shows a situation which the Court cannot ignore. I therefore call it to your attention for such action as may be proper under the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth.

I am sending identic letters to the Speaker of the House and to the Governor. The House, Senate and the Governor are the removing and impeaching agencies provided by law.

Very truly yours,

CURTIS BOK.

The PRESIDENT, The Chair is in a quandary, and the only suggestion he has to offer to the Senate is that the findings of the Grand Jury be made a matter of record in the Appendix and noted in the Journal.

Are there any objections? The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

Mr. WOODWARD, Mr. President, What is the action?

The PRESIDENT. The letter and the report of the Grand Jury will be noted in the Journal and made a matter of record in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 69, entitled:

An Act validating certain proceedings and elections of counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts and other incorporated districts or municipalities, had and held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities, to provide for the redemption of the same, and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof," and the amendments and supplements thereof; and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such proceedings and elections.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy), announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 60, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act, approved the twelfth day of August, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight (Act No. 5), entitled "An act authorizing the appointment of a commission to make a thorough and impartial investigation into the operation of the oil industry in this Commonwealth with special reference to the adequate, efficient and economical supplying of lubricating oils and gasoline to the people of this Commonwealth; conferring upon the commission full power to issue subpoenas, and conferring upon the courts of common pleas power to enforce obedience to subpoenas so issued; requiring the commission to make a report of its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly or to the Governor; and authorizing the commission to employ counsel and employes, and making an appropriation," by changing the manner of appointment of the members of said commission.

SENATE BILL No. 69, entitled:

An Act validating certain proceedings and elections of counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts and other incorporated districts or municipalities, had and held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities, to provide for the redemption of the same, and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof," and the amendments and supplements thereof; and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such proceedings and elections.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy), in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

AUTHORIZING PRINTING OF MEMORIAL PROCEEDINGS IN HONOR OF THE LATE SENATOR JOHN G. HOMSHER

Mr JACOBS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, November 29, 1938.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That three hundred copies of the proceedings of the memorial service, held in honor of the late Honorable John G. Homsher, be printed for the use of the Senate.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 63 (House Bill No. 21), entitled:

An Act to regulate the sale storage offering or exposing for sale of fireworks, defining fireworks, and providing for licensing and regulation of the manner of using fireworks and providing license fees and penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments:

Amend, page 11, line 10, by striking out the following: "This Act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "This Act shall become effective the first Monday of September 1939"

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I object.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this is the famous fireworks bill, and I call the attention of the Senate to this very good propaganda which each one has received I imagine. These messages are made out as from the employes that this bill is going to throw out of work. All I have to say is that I understand this bill is a prohibitory bill and if the Senate wants to go along with any prohibitory bill which invites bootlegging, then of course this picture of the child setting off fireworks is a big argument for voting "No" on this bill. People are bound to shoot off fireworks as you have just witnessed, and they bootleg fireworks which are unsafe either under a regulatory or or prohibitory bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO GO INTO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for consideration of amendments.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, am I correct in understanding that if the Senate adopts this motion that automatically adopts the amendment?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not understand so.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think that matter therefore should be decided upon before we act on it. It has always been my impression, Mr. President, with all due respect to the Chair, and we have so I understand conducted ourselves here, that the adoption of the motion to go into Committee of the Whole carried with it the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. That is only in the case of special amendments.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, then I rise to a further question of parliamentary inquiry and ask whether or not the Chair considers this a special amendment?

The PRESIDENT. The motion just made by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, does not encompass any special amendments as I understand it unless he presents the amendments. But his motion does not order it. In other words the motion is a general motion.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, then I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, since there are no amendments to be considered in the motion suggested by the Senator from Westmoreland, therefore the Senate cannot go into Committee of the Whole. The motion should be out of order. I understand that the motion to go into Committee of the Whole can be only for the purpose of considering special amendments.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that perfectly well and the Chair has been trying to find out what the mover of the motion had in mind.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO GO INTO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE FOR SPECIAL AMENDMENT

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if it is mandatory that the amendments presented are special amendments then evidently the amendments I present are special amendments. I therefore withdraw my former motion and now move that the Senate resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment which will read as follows:

"Amend bill page 2, line 19, by adding after the word 'FIREWORKS" the following:

"Signals known as red fires or flares."

The purpose of this amendment is to also include in the bill other dangerous items sold by the dispensers of fireworks which were not mentioned by the proponents of the measure because they wanted to use them in political parades.

"Amend bill page 5, line 25, by striking out all of lines 25, 26, 27, 28, and 29."

Which read as follows: "For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act each County Treasurer is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint not more than one additional employe whose annual salary shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000)."

It seems inconsistent to say that a county as large as Philadelphia or Allegheny should have one man and a county as small as Sullivan, or my own county with 300,000 living souls, should have one also.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggests that the amendments simply be stated. Argument on them can be made later. You will confuse the record if you interject argument at this time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am explaining the amendments so that the members can see that they are of a special nature.

The PRESIDENT. It would be better just to read them, and argue afterwards.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President,

"Amend page 7, line 1, by removing all of lines 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"No smoking shall be allowed in any building where fireworks of an inflammable character are offered for sale. "No Smoking Allowed" signs shall be properly displayed."

"Amend bill page 7, line 13, by striking out all of lines 13 and 14."

"Amend bill page 7, line 22, by inserting after the word 'THEATRE' the words: "or hunters."

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The motion of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, is that the Senate resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering special amendments which have just been presented by the Senator from Westmoreland. The motion has been seconded by the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska. The adoption of this motion will carry with it the passage of the amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand that both the House and the Senate are going to adjourn tonight. I want to make the remark and call the attention of the Senators to the fact that any amendments to this bill at this time means the defeat of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. May the Chair point out in fairness to the Senate that the bill that is being considered has been amended by the Senate and requires concurrence by the House, without these amendments.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on an issue so important I do not believe the Senators and House members object to staying over a day in order to put through an intelligent piece of legislation rather than this haphazard thing before us now. I have stayed here before on measures that I thought were less important at the insistance of the leaders, way into the morning. I believe at the last session we stayed until early one Sunday morning, and I pretty nearly missed mass.

I think we can stay over tonight. Tomorrow is only Wednesday, the middle of the week.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, as has been suggested if these amendments are inserted in this bill at this time the bill will have to be re-printed and will take another legislative day for consideration. We have been here since the 25th of July, apparently without any real reason, and as far as I am concerned another day will not make much difference, but I cannot see that the bill will be much better after these amendments are in than it is now. I intend to vote against the bill and I intend to vote against these amendments at this time as I consider it a sheer waste of time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to make my position clear on this thing. I happen to have served on the Council in my local municipality and I introduced and had passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks with certain restrictions. I believe in regulation. I do not believe in strangulation. These amendments are only to clarify certain very obvious errors that are in the bill and I believe that there are sufficient votes ordered here today to pass the bill because I understand that somebody promised that we would, and I read in the Philadelphia Record that someone tried to stop the bill by the name of Dent last night—I do not know who he is or where he is from—and insinuated that it is a move to kill the bill to ban the sale of fireworks. I am not making any move on this Senate floor to kill any bill that bans the sale of fireworks that are injurious. I do believe in regulation.

If you will bear with me a few minutes I will explain these amendments that I have prepared. Now we will take for instance on page 5 where I said to strike out lines 25, 26, 27, 28, 29. Why do we arbitrarily sit here and add approximately $134,000 to the cost of administering an act of legislation that we are going to pass by allowing the county treasurer to put in a special employe to handle this when we go on further in the act and say that the only thing that can possibly be sold is cap pistols and not the pistols either but the caps themselves, and these caps can only be sold for a period of ten days in an entire year. During the period of an entire year you are allowed to sell these harmless little caps that people use when they play cowboy and Indians for only ten days. Out in the country they still play that.

I think that that amendment is necessary and ought to be inserted in this Act. I do not believe that my county treasurer another $2,000-a-year man and I say to you that when it says "not to exceed $2,000" that the salary will be $2,000 because history has proven that.

On page 7, read the act as it is. It says this: "No smoking shall be allowed in any building where fireworks are offered for sale. Within each such store and over each entrance to such a store a sign in large letters and clearly legible shall be displayed reading "Fireworks for sale. No smoking allowed."

Five-and-ten-cent stores sell these little caps. But you will not be allowed to smoke in the five-and-ten during the ten day period. I think this is a very poorly drawn and written bill. I amend it by saying that "No smoking shall be allowed in any building where fireworks of an inflammable character are offered for sale. 'No smoking allowed' signs shall be properly displayed." I think that covers the situation very well for the safety of the public.

Then we go on to page 7, line 13 where I amend it by striking out all of the lines 13 and 14 because I do not believe that if these caps are dangerous 355 days a year that they are any safer for the ten day period when they are allowed to be sold, so I take it that the proposers of this measure believe that these little caps are safe and so I therefore strike out the restrictive clause in there—June 25th to July 5th—and allow them to sell these caps all years around. That is regulatory rather than prohibitory.

On page 7, line 22 I amend it by inserting after the word "theatre," the words "or hunters". You ask why do I do that? Listen to this: "For the sale or use of blank cartridges for a show or theatre," and I add the two words, "or hunters." We who belong to the sporting fraternity have a sort of field code among us so that when we go hunting and we are using a magazine load of any kind we put two blanks in it. It is a sort of a sportsman's gamble. When you are out in the woods and you shoot at the rabbit and miss the rabbit you can always blame it on the blanks. I think hunters ought to be allowed to shoot blanks if they want to.

I want to say this to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that if he were interested in passing this legislation he would have allowed this bill to have gone over last night in order that I could have gotten these amendments ready and presented them to the Senate. Then the delay would not have been necessitated for holding this over for another day. I am sincere in saying that we want regulation. I do not hesitate to say that this Senate passed a fireworks bill. I do not believe in this system of taking it out of the hands of the Motor Police, who are more capable of saying when it is safe and where it is safe to put off display fireworks, and give it to a county treasurer who has no special qualifications for the job. I believe the Motor Police should be inserted in the bill again and they should supervise the display of fireworks.

There are many features in this act, many many features, that the gentlemen in this Senate have not read. I believe that you are all sincere when you say that you want some sort of a fireworks regulatory measure. I know I am sincere because in the past I have demonstrated that I want this type of legislation. However, I do not believe that just because we are in the last day of a legislative session that we should blindly do some things that are passed over to us and take this and swallow it and push it off on to the people of Pennsylvania just because it is a fireworks bill. Why, you could put almost any type of a bill in that bans fireworks and we would have to vote for it according to the theories of our friends who believe that you have to vote for a bill because it is the only bill before the Senate.

If the House were sincere they would have taken the bill of Senator Law—even if he will not be here next session he still should have the honor of having sponsored the fireworks legislation—and they could have cooperated with the Senate and asked us our opinion, and got them together with us on the matter. But no, they stifled this bill—the wishes of this Senate were disregarded by the House members and they say to us, "You have got to take our bill", and take the one we want to give you. We order you to take our bill."

God give me strength and life. I will be here next year. And if any further amendments are necessary, I will vote for them; and if there is anything necessary to strengthen the rules I will vote for them. I don't believe the House should handicap this to the point where we can't amend it if necessary. Furthermore, the amendment offered by Senator Haluska is an intelligent amendment. Many of these persons have built up stocks. They have them on their shelves, and according to this Act if we pass it, they must destroy that stock. As one here suggested last night, when we are back in January we can pass an amendment to take care of that, but under this Act a man is liable to fine and imprisonment if he keeps the stock. He can't hold it until January if, as I understand it under this Act, the county treasurer shall be authorized and empowered to call upon any "sheriff, police officer or constable within the Commonwealth directing him to seize, take or remove or cause t be removed at the expense of the owner all stocks of fireworks offered or exposed for sale, stored or held in violation of this Act, and hold the same subject to order of the Court." Why, a man would be a criminal; he wouldn't be allowed to hold this stuff.

You say that we have had ample opportunity to study this Act. I contend that we haven't had ample opportunity. This never appeared on the Calendar until Monday of this week, which was yesterday. As soon as it appeared those of us interested in intelligent legislation read it through. So I want to ask those of you in the Senate who are interested in regulatory as against prohibitory measures to give consideration to the vote that you are now going to pass upon the motion which I made.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I don't question the motives of my friend from Westmoreland nor any other Senator or question his right to present amendments, but I do reserve the right to myself to point out what the effect of those amendments is on the legislation. I am quite sure he is sincere in what he is saying, but I think I am equally certain in my analysis of this picture when I say that these amendments that are in the bill already require the concurrence of the House and since they came over here with the consent of the sponsors of the bill in the House and many of the members of the House who talked to me about it, I have very little fear of the acquiescence of the House in the amendments that are so far in the bill, but the amendments that are now offered must be printed and the bill must lie over, and that in effect in my opinion, from the information that is in the hands of every member of the Senate, means that this bill won't be passed.

I recall the statements in the newspapers of what happened last Fourth of July. I recall the editorials and the general consensus of public opinion that some sort of a preventive measure or even prohibitory measure should be passed. I recall that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania said that he thought the matter ought to be a subject in the Call. I remember that it was included in the Call and I know there were two bills introduced. I have no preference in any of the bills. When I recall what happened last July, I wonder whether it wouldn't have been just as well for these gentlemen who send this Christmas card out, if on the other side of this picture they had put some of the pictures of this same child or children like those who were injured, some of them blinded, most of them maimed by fireworks; then we would have had both sides of the question.

While my religion is somewhat different than those who celebrate Christmas, I have always enjoyed it and I think that universally Christmas takes on more than a religious attitude and it is rather a feeling of good cheer and brotherly love. And I am a little bit disappointed that the people whoever they were who sponsored this piece of propaganda should choose a Christmas card for their method of propaganda. It seems to me that if we want to have the cheer and we want to have the brotherly love and enjoy the love of our loved ones, we had better think not only of this Christmas, but of next Christmas and see to it that there should not be continued these unnecessary woundings of those whom we love. I do not say that for the purpose of influencing a vote. I do not care how the members of this Senate vote, but I have promised the people in my district that I would take a position on this matter, and I say and have said to the people who are rightfully interested, the people who are concerned, the men who employ these so-called eight thousand people and the men who own these businesses, that if upon mature deliberation they can point out to me anything in this bill which is unfair or unjust—at present I don't see it and I have read the bill thoroughly—if they can point it out to me, and I am not infallible, I shall be very glad to sponsor legislation which will correct the defects as one of the first things when I come back to this Senate, if I live.

Showing the danger of these rush amendments, I might call to the attention of my friend from Westmoreland, that he offers an amendment to permit sports not to be interfered with by this Act. I call his attention to page 7, of the bill in its present form. In that, nothing in this Act, Section 8, "shall be construed so as to prohibit any person, firm or co-partnership or corporation from storing for the purpose of selling at wholesale and selling at wholesale fireworks of any kind provided the same are to be shipped out of this State,"—that answers one of the objections about disposing of the property "for the use of fireworks by railroads and public transportation services for signal purposes or illumination, or the sale or use of blankcartridges for a show or theatre, or for signal or ceremonial purposes, athletic or sports, or for use by military organizations or for any lawful or commercial or industrial use."

Maybe that does not cover them entirely (I think it does) but I no not doubt that this business of amending the bill in a half-hour's time without any careful study of the bill isn't proper. All these amendments can be made before January the first if they are fair amendments and I am sure that those of us who are here and the incoming Senators will be reasonable in our attitude not to destroy a business, but I think we ought to make up our minds to treat this thing in the open and in a proper way. Either this thing ought to be regulated or it ought not to be. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, came here on Monday. I am sure he listened as I have listened to the people who complain against this bill. If he had offered these amendments last night and there was a possibility, if they were reasonable amendments and there was a possibility of passing them, I may not have objected. I am not objecting to these amendments at the present time, nor to Mr. Haluska's amendments, but doesn't it seem silly to stand up and argue that the sale of fireworks which may result and does result in injury to children is bad and therefore we will prohibit them after they are used, by making this act effective in September? That seems silly. It places the members of the Senate in a ridiculous position. You say the condition is dangerous but we will correct it after the harm is done. Even if it goes into effect on January the first, or tomorrow, or doesn't become effective until the time arrives for the sale and disposition of this merchandise and that is somewhere in February or March, if these gentlemen can show me where they will be hurt I will be glad to sponsor their cause. There is nothing in this Act which says that you have to pay $2,000 for clerical hire, and if you do there are license fees here which will probably make up most of it. All that provision was put in for was to prevent the expenditure if more than $2,000 by some county like Philadelphia engaging fifteen or twenty people to issue these licenses when they don't need them, and there is nothing in this Act to prevent anybody from storing his merchandise because he is given by the terms of this Act the right to sell the merchandise in certain cases. Therefore he will be permitted to sell under a license and he certainly is permitted to store. He can sell for ceremonial purposes or celebration, and the enumerated purposes in the Act, and therefore it seems to me that the cry of emergency on the part of a manufacturer is not a serious one and it seems to me that they will come in better grace with us and the rest of the members of the Senate, if they say, "Very well, you want to pass this bill now, so pass it, but we expect you to listen to our story when you come together again."

Maybe we have been wrong about it, that we didn't do something before this bill got to the stage where it is, and maybe we are wrong trying to pass it in a hurry, but in any event we can all be right about it after January without again dodging the issue. The issue before us is whether we meant what we said in the Call or whether we called this session for the purpose of having an investigation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in the first place I am not responsible for what was contained in the Call, and I don't assume any responsibility for it. In the second place, I believe that there is a danger that they can't store, because it says only 'wholesalers' in it. I want to call the attention of the Senate to a very important feature. Early in the days of airplane travel, every time an airplane cracked up and anybody was killed it was given big headlines by the newspapers, who in my opinion, having been a student of aviation in the early days, were trying to kill the advance of commercial transportation. They always took and ballyhooed any injuries or accidents and all deaths due to airplane travel. That is also true in the matter of fireworks. For some reason or other they take the number of deaths and multiply it by some unknown figure and give the people of Pennsylvania a terrible headache.

Here is the Associated Press data on Fourths of July—in 1934 there were 69 traffic deaths, 70 drowning deaths, 2 from fireworks, and 34 from other causes. Two out of the 175. In 1935, there were seven out of 216. In 1936, there were eight out of 241. In 1937, there were four out of 563 and in 1938, there were two out of 513. Now according to the Associated Press in 1938, two deaths were caused by the following reasons in the following places: First, at Bedford Pennsylvania, a fifteen-year-old boy put a stick of dynamite in a pipe to make a home-made canon, resulting in an explosion which was the cause of death. Number two was at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, where a boy attempted to make a bomb and used a wrist-pin for detonating the caps, and that resulted in death. Now as a kid I played with a group of boys of my age in the community and one day we had on the Fourth of July an accident that caused a death. We had an eighth-barrel of beer into which we were stuffing powder and running a piece of flame across it by handling a long broom stick with an oil soaked rag, and we caused an explosion by putting in an extra charge that blew the thing apart and killed a little colored boy. That was not caused by legitimate fireworks. I believe many states have tried this in their communities. In Ohio, particularly, they have gone in for a State act which is not prohibitory but is regulatory, and the Cleveland Plain Dealer which was one of the sponsors of the ban on the sale of fireworks, opposed it when it passed but after six years of operation the paper claims that it is an intelligent piece of legislation that has cut out entirely deaths due to fireworks.

I think that my child ought to have the right to shoot off a fire-cracker if I want it to. I do not think that a fire-cracker this small will kill anybody. There is such a thing as a safe and sane Fourth of July and an intelligent Fourth of July and it is easy to come in here and say that one or two persons were killed, yes, but I venture to say that the minute we write on to the books of Pennsylvania a law that is prohibitory, as is this one, we will increase the use of bootleg and home-contrived fireworks and the result will be more deaths and more injuries.

The bill can be defeated or it can be passed. It does not matter much probably to us as individuals. But we keep on ham-stringing liberty and a lot of other fundamental rights around here, whether it is the shooting off of fire-crackers or not, and pretty soon we will have Mr. Stalin and Mr. Hitler telling us we cannot sit in a chair because it may break.

Mr. HALUSKA. I had no intention of speaking upon my amendment but when the esteemed Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, pointed out that my amendments are silly amendments, naturally I must rise to defend those amendments. I offered those amendments because I thought of the manufacturer who has invested probably his life savings in this type of work. I know of men in this room this afternoon from my county who have invested their life savings as wholesalers and distributors, and as retailers, and surely such an amendment, making it possible for these men to get rid of their stock and making this bill effective next September, is not a silly amendment and if it is, I am happy to know that I have the ability to offer such a silly amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I have two boys, one of them is 12 years old and the other one is 10, and they have had cap pistols and have been shooting caps for quite a number of years, and it has been no annoyance to me, and I am not certain just where this bill might leave them. I am interested in them and I would appreciate it very much if the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro will state whether or not this bill will permit my two boys to buy caps for their cap pistols if it passes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am quite sure that the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante has read this bill. I am quite sure that he knows the answer, but I have no hesitancy in saying that in certain periods of the year they will not be permitted to use those caps.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I fully sympathize with the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, when he resents the statement of the Senator from Philadelphia that the amendment offered by the Senator from Cambria was silly. The only silly thing that I see in all of this matter before this Senate is the deception being used by the proponents of this bill in trying to affect its passage. Now I asked what I think is an honorable question and every member of this Senate, I think, ought to be sympathetic to that fact. I am interested in my two boys and as I said they have had those cap pistols of theirs for quite a number of years and they have not annoyed me or their mother and I would hesitate and I do hesitate at this time and will vote against this bill if it prohibits my two children from buying caps for their cap pistols. Now, my colleagues of this Senate, I want to read to you paragraph E, on page 7 of this bill which reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for anyone to sell fireworks of any kind at any time to children under the age of 14 years." That carries with it the sale of caps. My two boys will not be able to buy caps for their pistols under this bill if this bill is passed, and I intend to vote against it for that particular reason, although I am heartily in favor of the regulation of fireworks that are dangerous to human lives and property.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am not very fond of snakes but there is a snake in this bill. I would be very glad indeed to vote for a fireworks bill at this session. I did vote for one, but if you notice that has been pickled in the House. This bill was once in much better shape than it is now. As it was, the enforcement features were in the hands of our State Motor Police. I am proud of our Motor Police. They are already on the pay-roll, they are competent trained, men of ability and integrity, but we find this bill now amended so that it means patronage for somebody. Patronage to the extent, I am told, of $130,000 a year for enforcement of this bill. That is what it will cost this Commonwealth. Somebody wants to get some patronage from some county treasurer. Why did they not leave the Motor Police in it as it was? I do not know, but I am looking at the sponsors of the bill—Ostroff, Lewis and Brancato, from Philadelphia. May it not be that they want to get some appointments from the county treasurer of Philadelphia? That may very well be the motive for this.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, maybe there was a snake in that bill to which the Senator refers but I can tell him the answer to why it was in there. I do not suppose it is necessary to say that there will be very few jobs in Philadelphia gotten out of two thousand dollars a year but the reason for that was that the Republican members of the House felt that this matter ought to be in the hands of the county treasurers, and they used the home rule arguments, and since the amendment proposed would require the consent of the members of the House, those who were sponsoring this bill in the House felt that it would be wise to satisfy those members of the House and so at the request of the Republican members of the House in the committee and on the floor, and I think the records will sustain me, this amendment which is called the snake by the Senator from Bucks was put into the bill.

Now one thing I want to say and again I repeat it, is that I do not care whether the members of the Senate vote for or against the bill; I am not trying to influence any votes, but I would like to get the matter decided upon today. I shall vote for the bill but I am very much concerned about the statement of my friend Mr. Haluska. If anything I said reflected on him or his amendment I want to offer him a public apology because I did not mean it that way. What I said was that it would put us in a silly or ridiculous position before the public. It might do that if we take ourselves seriously enough and this bill seriously enough to say that this is a dangerous condition and ought to be corrected and then we do not make it effective until the damage has been done.

Answering the Senator from Fayette, the bill provides that children cannot use caps between the period dated June 25th & July 5th. Now, if their father buys the caps the children can use them at any time during that period so that I do not think that his children will be deprived of the use of those cap pistols. I can understand the reason for the accepted period because that is when children are probably more influenced by others who are celebrating at that time and they wanted to keep those children away from that influence. I think I have answered that question.

My two reasons for standing up were, first to correct the Senator from Bucks and let him know where the snake was, and second, I had no intention of reflecting on Senator Haluska's amendment because I know he had those amendments in mind two or three evenings ago and talked to me about them, and I gave some consideration to that, and were it not for the fact that it might make us look ridiculous I might be in favor of them.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia has not at all satisfied my objections to this bill. If I understand it well, if my reason is with me, I feel that the only persons that use cap pistols are little boys that are under the age of fourteen years. They are the only ones because when they get to be fourteen years old and upward they are thinking about rifles and guns and something more powerful than a little cap pistol. Yet this very act prohibits the sale of caps to the very children who use cap pistols, and I do not intend to be running down to the store every hour or two when my little boys want to buy a penny or five cents worth of caps for their pistols.

The PRESIDENT. The motion is that the Senate resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering special amendments which have been submitted to the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, do I understand that this carries both sets of amendments or only the amendments offered by Senator Dent?

The PRESIDENT. The amendments offered by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent. Objection was made to the original amendments made by Senator Haluska and they are not included in this motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—13.

Dent,	Heyburn,	Lanius,	Sipe,
Ealy,	Homsher,	Mallery,	Wolfenden,
Gelder,	Kahle,	Rankin,	Woodward,
Haluska,

NAYS—25.

Barthold,	Gilson,	Law,	Rodgers,
Buckman,	Howell,	McCreesh,	Rupp,
Cavalcante,	Jacobs,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
Dando,	Jaspan,	Pytko,	Shapiro,
Deitrick,	Kilgallen,	Reed,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro	Kunkel,	Rice,	Thompson,
Frey,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that it is just as reasonable to assume that in January when we come here we can put in a full new bill as it is to assume the attitude that we can pass this bad piece of legislation and later amend it. I therefore intend to vote "No" on the bill. I will not only vote for a regulatory measure in January or when we return but I will also introduce a regulatory measure. Those of you who feel the same as I do about this important matter, I ask to go along with me and vote "No".

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this bill because I believe that this whole subject should be covered by a regulatory measure. I believe that the time has come when we must get away from trying to prohibit everything by the passage of legislation. When I was a boy twelve years old my father permitted me to take down the old family shotgun and use it but before he did so he sat down with me and explained all the mechanism and how to use it. Now I believe that a lot of this regulation should come from the home. You cannot destroy the teachings of the home effectively by passing legislation. I believe that this subject should be taken care of by a good regulatory measure rather than a measure of this loose nature that we have on the calendar today.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24.

Barthold,	Heyburn,	Law,	Rodgers,
Dando,	Jacobs,	McCreesh,	Rupp,
Deitrick,	Jaspan,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
DiSilvestro,	Kahle,	Pytko,	Shapiro,
Frey,	Kilgallen,	Rankin,	Stiefel,
Gilson,	Kunkel,	Rice,	Thompson,

NAYS—13.

Buckman,	Haluska,	Lanius,	Sipe,
Cavalcante,	Homsher,	Mallery,	Wolfenden,
Dent,	Howell,	Reed,	Woodward,
Ealy,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the negative.

YEAS—26.

PRESENTMENT PHILADELPHIA GRAND JURY

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication and presentment which was read by the Clerk.

Judges' Chambers
Court of Common Pleas No. 6
City Hall,
Philadelphia

Curtis Bok
Presiding Judge

November 23, 1938.

Speaker of the House,
Capitol Building,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

My dear Mr. Speaker:

I am enclosing with this letter a certified copy of the Twelfth Special Presentment made to me on November 25, 1938, by the October, 1937 Grand Jury which is investigating into crime and corruption in this county. This presentment dealing with certain loans made to the Mayor of Philadelphia shows a situation which the Court cannot ignore. I therefore call it to your attention for such action as may be proper under the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth.

I am sending identic letters to the President of the Senate and to the Governor. The House, Senate and the Governor are the removing and impeaching agencies provided by law.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) CURTIS BOK

PETITION FOR IMPEACHMENT

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication and petition for impeachment which was read by the Clerk as follows:

HARRY HERSHEY
ACTING DIRECTOR

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU
HARRISBURG, PA.
NOVEMBER 21, 1938

Hon. Roy E. Furman,
Speaker, House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Furman:

I acknowledge receipt of the petition of Emerson P. Jennings for the impeachment of Charles J. Margiotti, and your question as to whether or not the House of Representatives has any jurisdiction in view of the fact that Charles J. Margiotti is no longer on officer of this Commonwealth.

Section 3 of Article VI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, provides that—"The Governor and all other civil officers shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office, but judgment in such cases shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of trust or profit under this Commonwealth.."

1. Black's Law Dictionary states that "an 'officer' is the incumbent of an office."

2. Webster's Dictionary states than an "'incumbent' is one who holds office."

3. Section 22 of our Constitution of 1776 provided that every officer shall be liable to impeachment by the General Assembly, either when in office, or after his resignation or removal therefrom. However, subsequent Constitutions of Pennsylvania changed this definite statement. It, therefore, may be accepted that this is positive proof that the only purpose of impeachment is for the removal of the incumbent officer and that the general laws of this Commonwealth provide for the punishment in cases where the person charged is no longer in office.

I am returning herewith the copies of the petition.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) HARRY HERSHEY
Acting Director

Communication and petition for impeachment referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. ROBINSON asked and obtained leave of absence for himself after today's session.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. ACHTERMAN from the Committee on Rules reported as amended House Resolution No. 29.

RESOLUTION

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I report from the Committee on Rules the sine die adjournment, which has been set for this evening at 10:00 o'clock.

I wish to call to the attention of the membership of the House that if the membership will return to the House promptly at the end of the recess, which I understand will be until 8:00 o'clock this evening, I feel sure we can expedite the work of the House that we will be able to adjourn sine die at 10:00 p. m.

I therefore offer the report of the Committee on Rules on sine die adjournment.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
November 29, 1938.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That this Special Session of the General Assembly adjourns sine die Tuesday November 29, 1938, at 10 P. M.

Signed by the Committee on Rules:

ROY E. FURMAN
LEO A. ACHTERMAN
JOSEPH A. SIMON
JOHN J. O'KEEFE
HERBERT B. COHEN
JOSEPH OMINSKY

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, just what is the procedure in acting on this resolution at this time? The only thing I can see on a sine die adjournment at 10:00 p. m. is that it inconveniences everybody in the House. There is a possibility of people getting out of here on a train leaving Harrisburg just before ten. Therefore, I think that the sine die adjournment should be moved up to give people a decent break.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

COMMITTEE REPORT ON MAGISTRATE JOHN J. O'MALLEY

Mr. HERING. Mr. Speaker, I offer a report from the special committee appointed by the House of Representatives pursuant to Resolution No. 24 of the extraordinary session of 1938, to inquire into alleged violations of Magistrate John J. O'Malley of Philadelphia of constitutional and statutory provisions of this Commonwealth regulating and prescribing the powers and duties of magistrates, and I ask that the conclusions be placed in the Legislative Journal.

The report was read by the Clerk.

The SPEAKER. The report will be noted in the Journals of the House and printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal; the testimony taken by the committee will be filed in the Chief Clerk's office.

COMMITTEE MEETING

The Committee on Judiciary General will meet this evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Chief Clerk's office.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will declare a recess until 8:00 o'clock this evening. The Chair hears none and declares a recess until 8:00 p. m.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER, (Roy E. Furman), in the Chair.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

RESOLUTION No. 28

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 28, Printer's No. 87.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 15, 1938.

Whereas, The Philadelphia Housing Authority, in conjunction with its slum-clearance program, is about to undertake the construction of a low cost housing project upon the old Glenwood Cemetery site; and

Whereas, Adjacent to the Glenwood Cemetery site is a large stable owned by the City of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The said stable building is not only unsightly in appearance, but presents a health menace to the community; and

Whereas, The Northwest Business Men's Association has for a period of many years endeavored to have the old Glenwood Cemetery removed and has advocated the use of the site for the building of modern homes; and

Whereas, the Northwest Business Men's Association in conjunction with the cemetery removal, urges the Philadelphia Housing Authority to condemn the Philadelphia City Stables located adjacent to this site; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby urges the Philadelphia Housing Authority to condemn the said city stables of the City of Philadelphia, located adjacent to the Glenwood Cemetery property at 27th and Glenwood Avenue; and be it further

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House shall send a copy of this resolution to the Hon. Frank Smith, Chairman of the Board of the Philadelphia Housing Authority at 658 City Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION No. 29

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 29, Printer's No. 88.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1938.

Whereas Session after session bills are introduced into the General Assembly for the purpose of eliminating the present exemption of the real estate of utility companies from taxation by the counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships school districts or institution districts where such public utility company operates and conducts its business and

Whereas This exemption of the real estate of public utility companies from taxation is the result of judicial decisions and not as a result of any statutory enactment and

Whereas The injustices of this form of tax exemption has shocked the consciousness of the citizens of this Commonwealth over a long period of time nevertheless for one reason or another bills introduced to correct this injustice have never been finally approved by the General Assembly the principal reason of which is the lack of specific knowledge as to the extent of this exemption together with the lack of information as to where most of this real estate is located therefore be it

Resolved That the Secretary of Internal Affairs is hereby requested to conduct a state-wide survey of the amount of real estate owned by public utilities which has been exempt from real estate taxes to list the value of such property by political subdivision showing the tax rate imposed on adjacent real estate to that owned and controlled by any public utility company and to secure all additional information pertinent to this subject and calculated to be helpful in drafting the legislation to terminate this gross injustice to the other real estate taxpayers of this State and that the said Secretary of Internal Affairs shall file his report with the House of Representatives as soon as possible after the next regular session of the General Assembly shall have been convened

On the question.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER declared the noes appeared to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, one hundred twelve members or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

RESOLUTION No. 2

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 2 for consideration by the House and ask that it be read.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, this resolution is still in committee.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank you. That is the reason I called it up.

STATEMENT BY MR. HINDMAN

Mr. HINDMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the statement which I am about to make will apply largely to the majority members of this House, but before beginning that statement I should like to pay my respects to the gentlemen on the opposite side of the House, for whom I have had the most profound respect. I have registered among their number many of the best of friends and associates which I have made since I have been here on Capitol Hill. I would like especially in passing to pay my respects to the memory of Mr. Baker, one of your members, who passed away during this two year session, a gentleman for whom I had the most profound respect and whom I regarded as one of the most outstanding gentlemen of this House I am also very sorry to inform the House and remind them of the very serious illness of Dr. Merrell, who also is a man of the highest type. I just learned with regret tonight that my good friend Charlie Stott of Coatesville is very ill at the present time. He also was a member of the 1935 session and was one of my best friends.

It is with a deep feeling of regret and profound sorrow that we are meeting with many of the members of this House for the last time. Many of those who are leaving, we have been associated with for four years. Others for only two years. I cannot permit this occasion to pass without paying tribute to those men and women, many of whom are representatives of the best type of citizenship which not only our State but which the nation has to offer. In this group, you will find many of the highest classed men and women with whom it has been our privilege to be associated. Those who are God fearing christian individuals, with a deep sense of responsibility as legislators. Those who are serious, conscientious, unselfish and with an eye single to work out legislative problems in the best interests of the greatest number of people in this great Commonwealth. The tragedy of the, may I say, wanton slaughter of this group of legislators, is (to those of us who have made an honest endeavor to secure the real facts without political prejudice and with sincere intent to secure the true picture, regardless of whose ox was being gored,) that the good citizens of this great State, beyond a reasonable question of doubt, believed that the majority of the members of this House were subservient to a Governor whom they believed was guilty of serious criminal offenses. It is and has been my sincere contention and belief, ever since I went into this matter at the beginning of this session, that Governor Earle was absolutely guiltless of anything criminal. This belief is strengthened by the statement of his arch accuser, Mr. Margiotti, in the beginning of his accusations that the Governor was absolutely guiltless. This is further corroborated by the testimony of the Governor himself. I cannot see how any fair observer who listened to the Governor's testimony before the House Committee could adjudge him as anything but innocent. In this connection, I should like to read an article from last Sunday's Pittsburgh Press by Mr. Kermit McFarland. I am sure that those of us from the Western end of the State have never accused the Press or Mr. McFarland of heretofore being in the Governor's corner.

The article reads as follows:

Harrisburg—"It may sound like propaganda to the political antagonists of the Earle Administration, but it is a fact that the thing worrying George H. Earle the most at this moment is neither his defeat at the recent election nor what may happen after the Dauphin County Grand Jury convenes Dec. 5.

He is most concerned about whether his Administration will go down in history as a landmark in liberal progress in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Earle's political foes and the citizens who have been swayed by the so-called graft investigation will treat this news as a joke. But it is a profoundly serious matter to the Governor. And those who best know Mr. Earle's strange personality and the peculiar mixture which makes up his background undertand.

The outgoing Governor is a zealot. When he tackles an an idea, he frequently becomes obsessed with it. And he is a man of intense family pride.

Mr. Earle went into office almost totally lacking in political equipment for a job which is about the toughest assignment any one man could be given. He had neither the experience nor the knack for politics.

This naivete in political affairs for a time was his best stock in trade. People were tired of the professional politicians who connived their way from office to office. They greeted this greenhorn with enthusiasm. His mistakes became his assets.

But now these same characteristics have helped to bring about the Governor's downfall. Because he is a zealot, because he is strong-willed, because he lacked practical political cunning, he could not understand how he could be accused of wrong-doing, how all the things he regarded as liberal and splendid could be forgotten in the confusion over the charges against his Administration, he waltzed into an amazing jam.

And like everybody else at some time or another he fouldered on the bewilderment which results from being plunged suddenly into a disagreeable plight, a plight he believed he, of all people, never woud be obliged to face.

Any man who faces a Grand Jury investigation, especially one he believes stacked against him, is a worried man. The Governor is no exception. But, being a zealot, he is so convinced he can clear himself this worry is secondary to his concern about what history may say of his Administration.

His main hope is that when the graft allegations have run their course and the whole record of his Administration, despite admitted mistakes, is recapitulated, it will be put down as a major step in the social progress of the State.

Most responsible for this attitude, undoubtedly, is the Governor's family pride.

The attitude of some of Mr. Earle's most political opponents has softened somewhat as a result of his appearance on the witness stand the other day.

Even Ellwood J. Turner, Republican member of the investigation committee and next Speaker of the House of Representatives, publicly complimented him on his conduct as a witness. Others who heard the testimony disclosed a modified notion of Mr. Earle's culpability in the present situation."

It cannot be denied that the Governor has made mistakes. Certainly his strategy at certain notable periods has, in our judgment, not been good, certainly not portending to his best personal interest or to the group with whom he is associated. Finally, it is our belief that when the clouds have cleared away and the chaos which has prevailed on Capitol Hill in the last few weeks has been dissipated and the true facts are known and appreciated, the world will realize that through selfish motives and with an unholy desire to discredit and crucify the present Administration at Harrisburg and the Democratic party in the State of Pennsylvania, a great injustice has been done to an Administration which, although it might not have been perfect, will go down in history as having enacted more good laws in the interest of the great masses of the people than any administration in the history of this Grand Old State.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread on the Legislative Journal.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, now that we have passed Senate Bill No. 67, House Bill No. 97, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether or not the Philadelphia Inquirer, after consultation with the Justices of the State Supreme Court, has determined whether or not the bill is constitutional.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman the question has not yet been decided.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL NON-CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has non-concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

MOTION TO RECEDE FROM AMENDMENTS

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the House recede from the amendments inserted by the House to Senate Bill No. 67.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, if he has any information as to why the Senate has failed to concur in the amendments inserted by the House in Senate Bill No. 67.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no information, but I have a very firm suspicion.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, that is all. I wish to thank the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Moomaw.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOOMAW. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Moomaw, who was the chairman of the investigating committee or one of the members responsible for these bills, whether or not he has any information as to why the Senate failed to concur in the House amendments inserted in Senate Bill No. 67.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker, I have nothing except what I saw with my eyes on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I know that the hour is late and we are ready to adjourn. At the same time it seems to me that before we agree to a motion such as the one made by the majority floor leader, that we ought to know why we are voting for that motion. If we are voting for it simply because the time is late and we are fearful that the bill may be lost, we ought to know that. If we are voting for the motion because the amendments that were inserted by the House are bad, we ought to know that. It does seem to me that we ought not to just recede from our amendments that were voted upon without some information as to why we are making such a concession.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that there is something about this bill that we still do not understand. The amendments inserted by the House were simply clarifying amendments. They simply explained the measure and the amendments which were inserted by the Senate. I call to the attention of the members of the House that Senate Bill No. 67 is a criminal act. It must be construed strictly by the courts. We ought to give the people good laws. This act was all right until it was amended by the Senate. This amendment inserted by the Senate giving the person the right to have temporary service for 48 hours without any contract absolutely kills the bill. Until somebody can tell me why it is that they object to a simple amendment which says that a private wire for temporary purposes, not to exceed 48 hours, is permissible, provided it is not in furtherance of gambling, as defined in this act; if anybody can tell me any good reason why any person says he is in favor of this act but who says he will not vote for the act because it has that amendment in, I am willing to vote to recede from our amendments, but until that time I think we ought to stand on our amendments. We ought to call their bluff, because their amendment absolutely nullifies the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had quite a lengthy discussion with the gentleman from Allegheny and I quite agree with the gentleman that the amendments clarify Senate Bill No. 67. However, I do not agree that the amendments are essential for a good, workable enactment. The amendments that the House is asked to recede from are the amendments that have been placed in the bill on page 4. The problem that is sought to be solved by those amendments is a very simple one. Section 2 of the bill makes it unlawful for any public utility to furnish any person any private wire for use or intended use in the dissemination of gambling or gambling information. However, when a private wire is installed for emergency purposes or temporary purposes, section 3 does not require the approval of the Public Utility Commission, provided that the service is not extended for longer than 48 hours. It is the contention of the author of the amendment that this would allow a violation of the law for 48 hours, and to that end the clarifying amendment of the gentleman from Allegheny was inserted. As I have stated, I agree that it clarifies the bill. On the other hand, I do not agree that any honest court in this Commonwealth would say, in view of section 2, which makes it emphatically a crime to disseminate gambling information, that any court would say, in view of section 2, that it is all right to disseminate gambling information for 48 hours. Nevertheless, in acquiescence to the committee that saw fit to insert those amendments the bill was passed by this House with those amendments in it. Now, we find that the Senate is reduced to about 28 votes, and if the gentleman from Allegheny wishes to find a reason for the defeat of this particular legislation, I refer the gentleman from Allegheny to the party affiliation of the individuals in the Senate who voted against concurrence.

Mr. JIROLANIO, Mr. Speaker—

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will not refer to the Senate again, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state his point of order.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not discussiong the bill at the present time.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if the gentleman from Allegheny desires any further information as to why the bill—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I again rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state the point of order.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker the gentleman is not speaking on the motion before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled and the Chair again asks the gentleman to confine his remarks to the motion before the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in asking the membership of this House to recede from the amendments, in view of my motion now under discussion, I am pleading with the membership of this House regardless of their party affiliation, regardless of their attachment to the individuals who are responsible for this particular type of legislation being enacted in Pennsylvania, I am asking the membership of this House, in an effort to give the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania real, honest to goodness legislation, to prevent a vice that has crept into this State just as it has crept into every other state of this Union; I am asking the membership of this House to recede from the amendments, so that it will be possible to give to your constituents the type of protection to which they are entitled. I feel sure, as I look over the list of the membership of this House. I feel sure when I look over those who are opposed to this bill, that they do not wish to return to their constituents, knowing that they have allowed the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be exposed to a festering cancer, to which it has been exposed, and for which this bill will provide the remedy. I am asking for this recession by the members of this House from the amendments for one reason: to save this bill, so that this General Assembly will not close this session without giving them the right to go back and tell their contituents that they have enacted honest legislation for the protection of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. A roll call is required under the Constitution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. OMINSKY, WALSH and LEWIS asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, November 29, 1938.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Chief Clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives be directed to have the copy of the Journals of the two Houses of this session prepared and placed in the hands of the Director of the Bureau of Publications within thirty days after the close of the session, and the Director of the Bureau of Publications is hereby directed to have said Journals printed, bound and delivered to the Chief Clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives within ninety days after the receipt of the copy therefor.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to report from the Committee on Judiciary General, two communications.

The first of these was submitted by Emerson Jennings in which he asks the House to bring future impeachment proceedings against Charles Margiotti. The petition of Mr. Emerson Jennings contains many charges and I feel that the importance of this petition, and the gravity of the charges should receive the consideration of the next House of Representatives.

The other petition was presented by Judge Curtis Bok, in which he requested that an investigation with possible impeachment proceedings be brought against Mayor Wilson of Philadelphia. This petition is based upon presentments made by the Grand Jury investigating conditions in Philadelphia and this should also receive consideration from the next Legislature.

In view of the shortness of the time which the Committee had to consider these petitions, the Committee recommends that the next House of Representatives take these matters up in January and pursue a thorough investigation of both cases in order to bring to justice those who are guilty or to find innocent the men charged with the crimes alleged.

I now return to the House these two communications which were referred to our Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Communications will be filed with the Chief Clerk.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES AGAINST CIVIL OFFICERS

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Special Committee created to inquire into the official conduct of civil officers named in the petition of the District Attorney of Dauphin County, pursuant to House Resolution Serial No. 13, I desire to submit to the House the majority report of the Committee and move its adoption.

The report was read by the Clerk.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the majority report?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire, on behalf of the minority members, to submit a report and move that it be substituted for the majority report. Should that not be done before action is taken on the majority report?

The SPEAKER. It is now in order for the gentleman to offer the minority report.

MINORITY REPORT PRESENTED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the gentleman from Blair and myself, I desire to submit the following minority report, ask that it be read by the Clerk and move that it be substituted for the majority report.

The report was read by the Clerk.

On the question,

Will the House agree to substitute the minority report for the majority report?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform the House that the testimony, together with certain statements admitted into the record, including exhibits that are not departmental records, will be filed with the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to be under his control and supervision.

STATEMENT BY MR. JOHN A. SMITH

Mr. JOHN A. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to read to the members of the House a communication from Hiram to Oswald, as follows:

Dear Oswald:

I had a little experience the other Sunday that I think I ought to tell you about. You see it was the Sunday after election and I had been stayin up late listenin to the radio a lot, even as late as half past ten sometimes before the election and then, after the election, I went to bed early but couldn't sleep none because of worrying about the country goin to the dogs. You see I have been listenin to the Republicans for six years moanin about the country goin to the dogs under Roosevelt that I got the habit now of doin the same thing just because I can't have my way about everything.

Well I got to worryin about how my great grandchildren was going to have to pay for the way the voters of Pennsylvania got mad at George Earle and elected Republicans again after all the warnin the Democrats give them so when I went to Church this first Sunday after election I needed sleep somethin powerful. Well sometimes I doze off a little when the preacher goes a little too long but this time I didn't wait for the preacher to get started. As soon as he got the openin prayer off his mind and got down to singing the first hymn I started to snooze and don't even mind hearin the text of the sermon.

Well this preacher of our goes something like our old leghorn rooster when he crows. When he gets to the end he gets pretty loud and high pitched. So when he got close to his wind up he yells out as loud as he could something like this: "The dog has returned to his vomit and the hog to wallowing in the mire." Well this woke me up and I yells out kinda loud "Now aint that the truth." You see I thought I was listenin to Joe Guffey makin another radio speech and since I was layin awake nights worryin about the country goin to the dogs I had the thing on my unconscious mind or whatever them institute speakers used to tell the school directors convention. Well the missus give me a punch in the side and the people all started to stare at me and laugh and the preacher got mad because he just got up to his clincher when I upset the applecart because he was preachin about the Armstice day and the way Europe has gone haywire again.

Now Oswald to get down to brass tacks, this aint right. Here us Democrats put up with you Republicans for forty years and was just gettin things in our hands nice after making all your mistakes good, including Pinchot, when we have to step right out in the cold again. We was plannin on makin the Governor the heir to the throne with Dave Lawrence as chief fan waver and Dick Beamish as chief soothsayer when you got to spreadin a lot of dirt around that Charlie Margiotti hatched up and now the voters has turned us out in the cold. Of course we know Charlie was like that because we got him to ride the old manure spreader back in our campaign again Schnader and we might have knowed he would have did the same thing to us if we didn't give his dear friend from Pittsburgh all the gravel business he wanted. My warnin to you is to be careful how far you go with Charlie this time because he sure likes that old manure spreader.

Well, Oswald, before election I didn't talk to nobody about how they was going to vote because I kept hearin on the radio that we was going to carry the state by sweepin majorities. Dave Lawrence and Joe Guffey kept tellin Farley out loud so every body could hear it that we was goin to carry the state by 250,000 majority so that I didn't think I would need to get out an work for the party, so I husk corn in the day time and listened to the radio in the evening till election day and then got myself all upset about it. Of course, I don't know if it would have did much good to have talked to these stubborn farmers up here because it seems now since I have been talkin about it that they had their mind made up pretty soon and the longer the thing went the madder they got and here is some of the things they got made about.

In the first place they got mad about Mr. Goodrich tellin us we had to get all the relief money together in one place so that one man would have to tell us how to spend it. We have had some pretty punk poor directors in our county in my time but every time any of them didn't do what we wanted them to do we elected Democrats to take their places at the next election. Now we never had no poor directors in our county that was as reckless at spendin our money as this fellow we had at Harrisburg with the funny name after we got rid of that Johnston. That fellow just though that he had to get rid of the money real quick so that he could get the Governor to call the Democrats together to raise some more dough. We seen some pretty rotten cases in the relief business when Eric Biddle and Johnson and the other fellow was the dictator. Now this fellow Howe is doin a fairly good job cuttin down on some of these fellows but I can see how he has a heck of a job on his hands with all the investigators he has to make out of a bunch of College Girls that never has had a scrub brush in their hands. What do they know about relief or poverty? There aint nothin lost us more votes than takin people off relief that them fellows put on and then cuttin down the checks because we was runnin out of money on account of them spendin too much when it was first give to them to spend. Poor directors aint as smart as these fellows but our farmers know they have more common sense and will take better care of our money than these college graduates without no experience. That mistake lost us votes two ways. We lost the farmers that got mad and we lost the reliefers that had their checks cut as the money was playin out. In many cases the Republican committeewoman followed the relief investigator around telling the reliefer what the Republicans was goin to do for them.

Now another thing that made the farmers mad was that with a grand jury trying to do something and a committee trying to do something that no one could be found guilty. People want to find someone guilty, they have it in their blood to catch crooks. They read the funny papers and see how the detectives find crooks and if they didn't find no crooks and put them to jail they would stop readin the funny paper. Them fellows just have to find some crooks to put in jail if they want to keep on drawin pictures. Well, our fellows couldn't find any crooks and the people got mad about it. They thought that out of all the people employed at Harrisburg they ought to be able to find one or two. Why they knowed that there was enough Republican hold overs down there to get a whole jail full of them because Margiotti had found them way back in 1934 and then never done anything about it when he got to be the chief lawyer of the State. If that committee could have got three or four crooks in the government the farmers would have been satisfied because they never was satisfied about the way these fellows hung on under the Democrats anyway and the Republicans would have been satisfied for them to go to jail because they was mad about them bein a bunch of suckers and hold on to their jobs. Nobody thought George Earle was a crook but they couldn't see how he could get all them thousands of employees together in four years without gettin some theives in the outfit and the public wanted to see somebody go to jail and they didn't care who it was.

Now another thing that made farmers mad was the way the Democrats put stuff in the farm papers to tell the farmer how prosperous they was.

The farmers might have listened to a story of how the price of 39 cents for wheat under Hoover was much worse than 60 cents under Roosevelt and that the price would be riding on the bottom again if the Government wouldn't be buyin millions of bushels for foreign countries right now to peg the price at 60 cents. This would have been a good time to sock the Supreme Court for the decision on the processing tax on flour, and wheat surplus control. I think I could have got some of my neighbors satisfied with things if I would have thought we was goin to lose If I would have peddled my tax receipts around for the last four years and showed that my farm tax was $15.00 lower than they was four years ago. If these fellows got to lookin up their old tax receipts they would have voted different.

Of course, we had a lot of WPA sagin us. One of the best Republican friends I have was with us four years ago and helped us a lot. He got me to go along and see Warren Van Dyke to get a road fixed past his farm and we told Warren that the Governor should not have to some to fish in the Big Spring over such a rough road and that it ought to be fixed. Well, Warren give it to the WPA to fix and the job held on too long to suit this farmer. He got mad at all this delay and at last some of the WPA fellows got to settin on his fence and broke it down and that settled him. This year he got right out and fought us the same as helped us four years ago.

Well now Oswald, you fellows have a heck of an order on your hands. You have got to give these reliefers more relief; you have got to put the poor directors back in office and you have got to keep these Republican relief investigators on the job. You have got to find these crooks the farmers want in jail and you will have to fire the suckers that managed to stay on under Democrats and keep your Republicans from gettin mad that got fired. You will have to get more money for the farmers milk and you will have to prove that you can raise the price of wheat and not raise the tax on farms. You will have to get $30 more money for the WPA and you will have to keep them from breaking farmers fences down—and then, the biggest order you will have to fill will be the appointment of 14 highway superintendents for each county and thirty caretakers for the highways of each township and, at the same time, give back to Cappy Thomson all the highways of the state for the Road Supervisors and equipment salesmen and then. when you have all this done, you will have to see to it that it don't cost nobody nothin.

Hopefully yours,

Hiram

Mr. SPEAKER. I would like to ask for a leave of absence for two years for my good friend Oswald.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1938

Vol. 22 HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1938. No. 35.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1938.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. GEORGE WALKER BUCKNER, LL.D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father, we thank Thee for the greeting light of day; the onward path, its guiding star.

With a duet of falling gavels, our session takes its place in history. Its glory is Thine—its mistakes are ours. In Thy wisdom, Thou wilt overrule our faults to the common weal.

So near to time and scene of its transactions, we cannot rightly adjudge its achievements, yet it is our hope that when the sun has driven away the mists, the forgotten shall find themselves remembered; the underprivileged may thank God and take heart; the aged, as the evening shadows fall, may find the waiting-room more comfortable, while they await their home-bound train.

We thank Thee for this Senate, for the amplitude of intelligence and courage—their devotion to the tasks in hand, for these Senators on the right or on the left before us as we stand with bowed and uncovered heads before Thee. Truly, they have maintained the high traditions of this body.

Initiative and advance, on the one hand, fair criticism and warning caution on the other, so worthily exemplified here, are the warp and woof of legislation. They form the fabric of true enactment and are the safeguard of our free institutions.

Officials have been efficient and courteous, custodians have been attentive, pages have been alert, representatives of the press have been faithful and fair. In the words of a prophet of old, "So we built the wall . . . . for the people had a mind to work." May Thy blessing ever attend them.

Wouldst Thou journey with u as we go our several ways, bearing in our hearts sweet memories of friendships which will abide and cheer when lesser things have been forgotten.

And now may Thy grace, mercy and peace rest upon our beloved Commonwealth and abide in our hearts forever. Amen.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, November 30, 1938.

Whereas, Our sense of shock and sorrow at the sudden death of our beloved President Pro Tempore, Honorable Harvey Huffman, is intensified by the realization that we must immediately make provision for the carrying on of those official duties which he so earnestly and creditably fulfilled, and

Whereas, In order that the work of the Senate may be continued, documents signed and other business transacted, it is unfortunately necessary that haste which otherwise would be unseemly be made in naming a successor to Honorable Harvey Huffman, Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate immediately proceed with the election of the President Pro Tempore, for the reasons hereinbefore set forth.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, it is a very painful duty to place in nomination the name of a gentleman as successor to the Honorable Harvey Huffman. We realize that etiquette would ordinarily call upon us to defer this selection until a later date, but we appreciate the necessity of having a President Pro Tempore of this Senate during the interim between now and the regular session in January. I think everyone appreciates the vast amount of business that is done by the President Pro Tempore's office, the number of people whose payroll vouchers must be signed by the President Pro Tempore so that they receive their compensation regularly, and a lot of duties that ordinarily people do not realize.

While it is with this extreme regret that we must nominate a successor to the late Honorable Harvey Huffman, it gives me pleasure at this time to place in nomination for that office a gentleman well qualified by personality, experience and in the conduct of affairs in this Senate, to succeed the Honorable Harvey Huffman. I place in nomination for the office of President Pro Tempore of this Senate the name of the Honorable John S. Rice of Adams County.

The PRESIDENT. The name of the Honorable John S. Rice of Adams County has been presented to the Senate for the Office of President Pro Tempore during the interim.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, the minority of this body have heard with a great deal of regret of the death of our esteemed President Pro Tempore. We have on many occasions received very courteous treatment from Senator Huffman and held him in the highest respect. We realize with the members of the majority that the work of the Commonwealth must go on, and that a President Pro Tempore must be elected at this time for the balance of the term for which he was elected.

We therefore join with our Democratic colleagues, and for the minority members of this body, I second the nomination of Senator Rice for the position of President Pro Tempore.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of President Pro Tempore be closed.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved and seconded that the nominations for President Pro Tempore of the Senate for the interim be closed.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President Pro Tempore the Chief Clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called and was as follows:

For Mr. RICE—27.

Barthold,	Haluska,	Law,	Ruth,
Cavalcante,	Homsher,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Dando,	Howell,	McGinnis,	Sipe,
Dent,	Jacobs,	Mundy,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	Kilgallen,	Pytko,	Thompson,
Frey,	Kunkel,	Reed,	Woodward,
Gelder,	Lanius,	Rice,

NAYS—0

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable John S. Rice having received twenty-seven votes, I declare that he has been duly elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate for the interim.

The oath of office was accordingly administered by the PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy).

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to rise to a question of personal privilege for about three minutes.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I apologize for intruding in personal affairs in a meeting like this and I will be very brief. The late President Pro Tempore Mr. Huffman honored me with an appointment to the commission to investigate gambling information in the State and I served on that commission and I then signed the report. When I signed the report I felt myself obligated to vote for the bill that was recommended in the report. That has come down now to one bill, namely Senate Bill No. 67. Incidentally these bills were passed in the Senate with only one dissenting vote. Last evening when I came into the Senate late I was occupied with writing resolutions of regret for Senator Buckman's leaving the Senate, and I was not aware of the nature of the amendments to Senate Bill No. 67 which came over from the House, and as I have done under similar circumstances, I decided that I would vote against any amendments since I was not pledged in any way to support any amendments. But I rise now for fear that the commission which I served may think I was guilty of double crossing them in voting against these amendments, and I want to make my record clear in that respect. If I had known what the amendments were I would have voted for the amendments last night as I have always been ready to vote for the bill.

I would like to say also that I understand that in the House the reading clerk reads the amendments from the desk. I understand that we may have a rule or may not have a rule to that effect but I want to emphasize the unfortunate fact that last night the amendments from the House were not read by the clerk and I was not conversant with their nature and I think if there is no rule I shall certainly introduce a rule at the next session that all amendments coming from the House shall be read by the clerk.

The PRESIDENT. May the Chair point out that the policy of the Senate is to not read the amendments.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, well I think it is bad.

The PRESIDENT. It is supposed to be on the desks of the Senators. I suppose that those who made up the rules assumed that all of the Senators could read.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Bituminous Coal Study Commission set up by virtue of legislation passed in the 1937 session I have taken upon myself the duties of going further into the matter of the advisability of the State Highway Department purchasing bituminous and anthracite coal ash for highway purposes, and also of the advisability of purchasing coal, bituminous and anthracite, rather than buying stone and sand for highway purposes. And I am about to introduce a resolution asking the highway department to make inexpensive experimental tests and to present their findings to the next Assembly as to the advisability of using coal and ash for the highway program, fit to use throughout the winter months of our season.

REQUESTING DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO MAKE SURVEY RELATIVE TO MATERIALS USED ON ROADS DURING WINTER MONTHS AND MAKING REPORT TO NEXT GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HALUSKA, offered the following resolution which was twice read, as follows:

In the Senate, November 30, 1938.

Whereas, it is known that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the past several years advocated a Safety Highway Program and it is generally known that the Highway Department of this Commonwealth has expended huge sums of money to make our Highways safe for driving twelve months in a year and it is further generally known the Highway Department finds it difficult to obtain sufficient materials to be scattered over the highways throughout the winter months and it is said the highway department is now purchasing cinders, sand and stone to be used for this purpose, Therefore, Be It

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That the highway department be requested to make an inexpensive investigation and gather what data be necessary and present same to the next regular session of the General Assembly, as to the advisability of purchasing all Bituminous and Anthracite coal ash and the advisability of using Bituminous and Anthracite slack coal to be used for highway purposes in time of sleet and snow.

Mr. HALUSKA: Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate Committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, that resolution is a joint resolution. Is it possible that the resolution might pass at this session?

The PRESIDENT. Well, we have passed it now and the House can probably pass it before they adjourn.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will it take three legislative days?

The PRESIDENT. No.

MEMBERSHIP OF SENATE TO ACT AS HONORARY PALL-BEARERS

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the entire membership of the Senate be appointed as a Committee to act as honorary pall-bearers at the funeral of the late Honorable Harvey Huffman.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would suggest that the Officers of the Senate be authorized to complete the necessary arrangements to carry out the purpose of the motion. If there is no objection it will be so entered on the records.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Nominations for Notaries Public, sent to the Senate, November 30, 1938, by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent, a motion was made by Mr. LAW and Mr. McCREESH That Rule 38. which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. LAW and Mr. McCREESH That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—34

Barthold,	Haluska,	Law,	Rupp,
Cavalcante,	Heyburn,	Mallery,	Ruth,
Dando,	Homsher,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REQUESTING DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO MAKE SURVEY RELATIVE TO MATERIALS USED ON ROADS DURING WINTER MONTHS AND MAKING REPORT TO NEXT GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, November 30, 1938.

Whereas, it is known that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the past several years advocated a Safety Highway Program and it is generally known that the Highway Department of this Commonwealth has expended huge sums of money to make our Highways safe for driving twelve months in a year and it is further generally known the Highway Department finds it difficult to obtain sufficient materials to be scattered over the highways throughout the winter months and it is said that the highway department is now purchasing cinders, sand and stone to be used for this purpose, Therefore, Be It

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That the highway department be requested to make an inexpensive investigation and gather what data be necessary and present same to the next regular session of the General Assembly, as to the advisability of purchasing all Bituminous and Anthracite coal ash and the advisability of using Bituminous and Anthracite slack coal to be used for highway purposes in time of sleet and snow.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO TRANSFER OF LEGISLATION REFERENCE BUREAU OFFICES TO CAPITOL BUILDING

Mr. LAW from the Committee on Rules to which was referred on September 20, 1938 the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

In the House of Representatives, August 16,1938.

Whereas, The space in the Capitol building at present occupied by the legislative branch of government is less than was originally allocated to that branch when the Capitol was first occupied thirty-four years ago and

Whereas. The volume of bills introduced and the variety of subjects requiring consideration by the General Assembly have multiplied many times during the last thirty-four years and

Whereas, The functions under the supervision of the Secretary of the Senate the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House are located on various floors of the Capitol not contiguous to the executive responsible for their administration thus making it impossible for the efficient and economical discharge of the duties of these officials and

Whereas, The rooms at present available for the use of the Senate and House committees are inadequate both in number and equipment making it necessary to assign several committees to each room restricting the time each committee may occupy the room and thereby preventing orderly and adequate consideration of bills which have been referred to the committee resulting in the reporting out of bills in such form that amendments on the floor are necessary to a far greater degree than would have been had proper facilities been available to the various committees and

Whereas, The Legislative Reference Bureau created to serve the Members of the Senate and House to aid in drafting legislation and the preparation of amendments to bills introduced to serve department heads in connection with legislation affecting their respective departments etc. is located outside the Capitol building thus substantially reducing its ability to perform its present functions and making it quite impossible for it to discharge the added responsibility of assuring the accuracy of legislative bills, Therefore, Be It

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That so much of the space in the basement of the Capitol building now occupied by the Treasury Department on the first floor, now occupied by the Treasury Department, the Department of the Auditor General and the Pennsylvania Motor Police; on the entrosole, now occupied by the Bureau of Standards and other agencies of the Department of Internal Affairs on the third floor now occupied by the Department of Revenue as is indicated on the accompanying schedule be set aside for the use of the legislative branch of our government and its related agencies as soon as the Finance Building is available for occupancy by the departments which are to be housed therein and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Property and Supplies be authorized to have removed the vault now in Room 140 to have made such minor alterations as are essential to the purposes for which this room will be used to properly equip upon requisition from the proper officers this and other rooms for the purposes for which they are to be used and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislative Reference Bureau be moved to and established in the Capitol building in quarters adequate to the performance of its present and added responsibilities

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

The PRESIDENT. This being the hour fixed by concurrent resolution for the final adjournment, and the hour of 5:00 o'clock, P. M. having arrived, I hereby declare the Extraordinary Session of 1938 of the Senate of Pennsylvania adjourned sine die.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1938.

The House met at 2:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER, (Roy E. Furman), in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EPHRAIM Z. GALLAHER, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, we invoke Thy blessing upon us today. On this closing day of the Extraordinary Session we call Thy special attention to the arduous labor of the Press workers. They, who have given their best to serve fairly and justly, deserve not only our commendation but Thy blessing also. More and more do we realize that the pen is not only mightier than the sword but it is an instrument which will continue to bless mankind and promote human happiness when the sword is discarded as a relic of destruction. Therefore we offer a word of praise unto those who have thus labored in this session.

In His name we ask it. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. ROTHENBERGER, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Mr. ACHTERMAN offered a resolution which was twice read considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 30, 1938.

It is the course of destiny that men highest in the councils of a Commonwealth may remain but a brief space of time, and then depart, leaving a void in a service theretofore well performed, and a dull and heavy pain in the hearts of his associates.

And so it has seemed fit to the Almighty to take, from the service of this Commonwealth, and from his countless friends and associates, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania, the Honorable Harvey Huffman, who died during last night at his Monroe County home, after an illness extending over a period of several months.

Resolved, therefore, by the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, that its members do now pause in their deliberations of the final business of this extraordinary session, to give mute tribute and veneration in memory of a great man who has gone beyond, and to give recognition to his outstanding character and ability, both in public and private life, and to commend him to the unknown eternity as truly deserving the rewards of a long and useful life well spent.

Resolved, further, That a committee of seven Members of this House, to be appointed by the Speaker, be designated to represent the House of Representatives at the funeral of the Honorable Harvey Huffman.

Resolved, also, That a copy of these resolutions, properly certified, be transmitted to the members of the family of the deceased.

STATEMENT BY MR. HERBERT B. COHEN

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I cannot allow this occasion to pass without extending to the Democratic members of the House in particular the sincere appreciation of myself, and as well, I am sure, of the great masses of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for their efforts in the past and previous legislative sessions. We came here in December of 1936 freshly elected, adhering to a platform of liberalization in government, a platform of great humanitarian aspects and a platform which the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania asked us as democrats to enact into law. How well we have so done is amply indicated by the legislation of the past two years. I feel sure that an unbiased, unemotional analysis of our accomplishments will leave a lasting memento to the efforts of the Democratic Party, efforts to which each and every member of the House contributed his share. I feel that we, upon the eve of our departure, can look upon our accomplishments with a great deal of satisfaction. In the four years of this Administration, we have enacted into law each and every single promise that we made to the electors of this great Commonwealth, on two particular occasions. In four years we have advanced the concept of "Am I my brother's keeper" to the extent that it had never been advanced by any of the previous legislatures. While we pass out to assume a new role, as the minority, I say to the majority who will be back next session, that we, who will return, will still continue to subscribe to those ideals. Our minority will not be an obstructionist minority, our minority will be conducted with the one sole idea, the best for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the best for the greatest number in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The problems that will be cast upon the majority at the next session are not insurmountable, difficult as they might be. To the solution of those problems, we in the minority will extend our sincere efforts as representatives of the people, to the end that the people of the Commonwealth and the people of the nation might find the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a better place in which to live.

To all the members of this House, I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation, as well as the sincere thanks and appreciation of the Administration, that, for four years, has led this Commonwealth in its legislative activities.

I also wish to thank the Speaker of this House, who has dominated the affairs and business proceedings of this House in a manner which is a fitting example to those Speakers who are to come in the future, and, I am sure, adheres to the high ideals which have characterized the men who have sat on the Speaker's rostrum.

I also wish to interject a personal note, because with the adjournment of this session passes from these legislative halls my own colleague and personal friend, Jacob M. Flinchbaugh, who, with the exception of one session, has conscientiously served the constituents in the Third Legislative District of York County, and he has, by his consistent adherence to good legislation, served the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but, as they say, "Time marches on." We will be back, as I have indicated before, subscribing as we have in the past, to the highest ideals of government.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread on the Legislative Journal.

The Chair personally wishes to thank the majority floor leader for the very complimentary remarks concerning the Speaker.

STATEMENT BY MR. FLINCHBAUGH

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, from today on, I am taking an enforced leave of absence for at least two years. In my situation I share the grief of a great many others. As my friend and colleague, the worthy floor leader. Herbert Cohen stated, I am the oldest Democrat in the House of Representatives in point of service. I came here in 1923, and I think, besides myself, there is only one other member of the present House of Representatives who was a representative in that body in 1923. When I was first elected to the Legislature, Democrats occupied a small group to my left and strung out along the rear back seats. I think I served in one session of the Legislature when there were only fourteen Democrats present. I served under a number of Speakers, all of distinguished ability, all of great ability and fairness, but time takes its toll, the grim reaper comes along and calls us, one by one. The Speakers under whom I have served, C. Jay Goodnough, Mr. Talbot and Mr. Sarig, have passed to the great beyond.

I hope the members of this General Assembly live long to enjoy the privilege of sitting in this House enacting legislation for the benefit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. For myself, I have no regrets. I feel that I have done the best that I could for my constituents and for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at large, especially do I feel a great deal of personal satisfaction in the acomplishments of the General Assembly of 1937. There were at least a dozen measures of great importance enacted during that session, each one of which would be sufficient glory for any Administration. Take for instance, the school legislation. I do not think that any session of the General Assembly has done so much for the cause of education as the session of 1937. Take the legislation that we passed for the benefit of the investors of this Commonwealth and for those who were compelled to go to the pawnbroker's and the small loan companies in time of distress. We have done a great service for that class of people. We have taken care of the underdog.

I feel that this Administration will go down in history as one of the greatest administrations in the whole history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as we go forward and look backward with a calm and clear judgment of the enactment of this legislation.

The several departments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have functioned very satisfactorily. I have been here during a great many administrations and I can truthfully say that the several departments under the Executive Branch of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have functioned as well or better than under any previous administration.

In my swan song I want to say to the members of the General Asembly, I wish you godspeed and a Merry Christmas and a long and happy life.

To our Speaker, I want to extend the best wishes of myself for the courteous manner in which he has proceeded in the deliberations of this body and for his great efficiency.

I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from York will be spread on the Legislative Journal.

The Chair personally wishes to thank the gentleman from York for his kind remarks.

STATEMENT BY MR. SHUGARTS

Mr. SHUGARTS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in singing my swan song I am not in the same position as some of the other members of the House, because, with me it was the same as it was with Calvin Coolidge, "I did not choose to run."

I am leaving the House with a great deal of regret, not because I am not to be a member of the House, but the regret that I will not see many of the faces that I am used to seeing, and I say honestly and sincerely that the friendships I have made in this House, both in the minority and majority memberships, will live long.

I wish you all the best that life can hold for you, and while Mr. Flinchbaugh was speaking, I believe I received the answer as to what happened at the last election. He said many of them were attempting to go forward and look backward. If you just think for a minute you cannot look backward and go forward because you are bound to stub your toe on something.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread on the Legislative Journal.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House reconsider the vote by which it refused to recede from its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 74.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny vote?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the negative.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia vote.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the negative.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRIES

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to parliamentary inquiries.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiries.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the vote on this motion carry with it a recession from the amendments inserted by the House and non-concurred in by the Senate?

The SPEAKER. It does not.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the question require a constitutional majority?

The SPEAKER. It does not. This is only reconsideration of a vote and a majority vote determines the question.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I further understand that in order to finally recede from the amendments inserted by the House and non-concurred in by the Senate, that it will be necessary to take another vote which will require a constitutional majority?

The SPEAKER. That is correct; there will be a roll call vote.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if this motion is passed, what is the status of the bill?

The SPEAKER. In answer to the parliamentary inquiry of the gentleman from Dauphin, if this motion is carried, the bill will then be before the House for consideration and the question will recur on the motion as to whether the House will recede from its amendments to the Senate Bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House recede from its amendments nonconcurred in by the Senate?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRIES

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to parliamentary inquiries.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiries.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this vote requires a constitutional majority in order to agree to the motion.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if the motion prevails with 105 votes, the bill is passed finally and goes to the Governor for signature?

The SPEAKER. No, it will go to the Senate for signature through the regular procedure.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the Senate will not take any further action on this bill?

The SPEAKER. No further action except the presiding officer of the Senate will be required to sign the bill.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if the motion is defeated, the bill will be defeated and will no longer be before the House?

The SPEAKER. If the motion is defeated, the bill will go back to the Senate and there is possibility of further action which might require a conference committee of both Houses.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRIES

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to parliamentary inquiries.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiries.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, following out the question asked by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, wherein he stated, if this motion to recede should pass with a constitutional majority, as I understood it the Chair stated that the bill then would pass without the amendments, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that the House then would never have had before it a printed bill without the amendments in it?

The SPEAKER. The House has in its file, Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 71.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, yes, but without any strike outs in it at all.

The SPEAKER. That is the complete text of the bill.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, it is, but as I understand the Constitution, the House cannot vote on a bill unless it has before it the full text of the bill that we desire to vote upon.

The SPEAKER. The House does have before it the complete text of the bill and all amendments; the amendments inserted by the Senate, and the amendments inserted by the House committee.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, if the House should vote to recede by a Constitutional majority, then the bill would not be before the House in its proper form, as far as the printing is concerned?

The SPEAKER. The interpretation of the Constitution permits the passage of bills finally with strike outs, and we do have the complete text of the bill before the House.

Mr. JIROLANIO. May I ask the Speaker what provision of the Constitution provides that strike outs can be acted upon by the House without being printed.

The SPEAKER. In reply to the gentleman from Northampton, the Constitution, Article 3, Section 4 provides that "all amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken on the bill." The effect is, if this motion prevails, the bill will be passed without amendments, and we then are considering Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 71, which is on file and which does not include the amendments made by the House.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 71 is not on the calendar and that we have never voted on it on third reading?

The SPEAKER. There is no calendar today. The communication from the Senate places the bill before the House for concurrence.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, did this House ever pass Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 71 on third reading?

The SPEAKER. The bill before the House is Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 74 for consideration. If the House recedes from the amendments, then the same bill with another Printer's No. will be found in the Senate file.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 71, did it ever pass third reading by this House?

The SPEAKER. The full text of Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 71, with the amendments inserted by the House Committee, has already passed the House. Therefore, if the House recedes from House Committee amendments, we still have the full text of Printer's No. 71.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I want to know if I am correct in my assumption that a bill up for final passage is necessary to be on the desks of the members and on the calendar before it can be acted upon, with proper Printer's No. as required by the Constitution.

The SPEAKER. The answer is, no.

On the question recurring,

Will the House recede from its amendments nonconcurred in by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, that the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. ELPERN filed the following reasons for his vote:

I desire to be recorded as voting "aye" on Senate Bill 67 due to the fact that the gambling fraternity and the press claim to have purchased or influenced the House members to vote against this bill and in my entire term in this House I have never been influenced on any bill and I always have had the reputation of my family at stake and would not want to place a blot against their name in the closing hour of the session.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, November 30, 1938.

Whereas, It is known that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the past several years advocated a Safety Highway Program and it is generally known that the Highway Department of this Commonwealth has expended huge sums of money to make our Highways safe for driving twelve months in a year and it is further generally known the Highway Department finds it difficult to obtain sufficient materials to be scattered over the highway throughout the winter months and it is said that the Highway Department is now purchasing cinders, sand and stone to be used for this purpose, therefore be it

Resolved, If the Senate and the House concur, the Highway Department be requested to make an inexpensive investigation and gather what data be necessary and present same to the next regular session of the General Assembly, as to the advisibility of purchasing all Bituminous and Anthracite coal ash and the advisibility of using Bituminous and Anthracite slack coal to be used for highway purposes in time of sleet and snow.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly?

STATEMENT BY MR MOOMAW

Mr. MOOMAW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hesitate considerably to take up the time of the membership here in the closing hours, and it is only because we are awaiting communications from the Senate that I ask the indulgence of the membership.

I want to say that in the passage of the piece of legislation, Senate Bill No. 67, which this House has just passed, the Legislature of Pennsylvania is placing upon the books the first step toward the elimination of the greatest gambling evil ever to come within the boundaries of this great Commonwealth. I was a member of the commission which conducted those hearings, and I was also very much interested, not only in the passage of Senate Bill No. 67, but also in the passage of Senate Bill No. 68, and I trust that the next General Assembly will take further steps in tightening the lines regarding illegal gambling wire service, which is fostering and promoting this gambling evil in Pennsylvania.

I want to say also, that never before in my life have I seen such brazen action by so-called lobbyists upon the floor of this House, and upon the floor of the Senate, as has taken place during the past week in an effort to defeat this anti-gambling legislation. I saw and you people have seen men who have heretofore posed as newspaper reporters, acting in the capacity of lobbyists of the most brazen character, both in the House and in the Senate. These men happen to be upon the payroll of the man who would be the chief beneficiary by the failure of this legislation. I refer to Moe Annenberg, the publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, who used all legal means to avoid appearing before this commission. The evidence of the Gambling Commission brought out that Mr. Moe Annenberg, the same gentleman who avoided these subpoenaes, while in Florida posed as a Democrat and backed an individual for Governor to the tune of $15,000 in cash and support of his Miami Tribune Newspaper. This man in Florida, running for Governor, had to promise Annenberg that he would put through legislation legalizing casinos and bookie gambling dives. I think it is up to the present minority membership of this House, who will be the majority in the next session to prove to the people of Pennsylvania that the gift of Moe Annenberg of $25,000, towards Governor James' primary campaign, plus what we will later learn he contributed in the general election campaign, plus the support of the Philadelphia Inquirer, a much larger newspaper than the Florida paper, that Judge James and the Republican party have made no promises to further the gambling interests or not take steps to stop it in Pennsylvania. They can do that best probably by passing legislation which would have for its purpose what was contained in Senate Bill No. 68. I repeat in closing, it is on the shoulders of the Republican majority of the next Legislature and Governor James to show the people of Pennsylvania, by sponsoring and passing that legislation, that they are not submitting to the will of the leader of the greatest gambling racket in America.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread in full in the Legislative Journal.

NOTIFICATION THAT SENATE IS READY TO ADJOURN SINE DIE

The Committee on the part of the Senate being introduced, informed the House that the Senate is ready to adjourn sine die at 5:00 p. m. this day.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the Committee on the part of the Senate.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August, 1938.

Whereas, The space in the Capitol building at present occupied by the legislative branch of government is less than was originally allocated to that branch when the Capitol was first occupied thirty-four years ago and

Whereas, The volume of bills introduced and the variety of subjects requiring consideration by the General Assembly have multiplied many times during the last thirty-four years and

Whereas, The functions under the supervision of the Secretary of the Senate the Chief Clerk of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House are located on various floors of the Capitol not contiguous to the executive responsible for their administration thus making it impossible for the efficient and economical discharge of the duties of these officials and

Whereas, The rooms at present available for the use of the Senate and House committees are inadequate both in number and equipment making it necessary to assign several committees to each room restricting the time each committee may occupy the room and thereby preventing orderly and adequate consideration of bills which have been referred to the committee resulting in the reporting out of bills in such form that amendments on the floor are necessary to a far greater degree than would have been had proper facilities been available to the various committees and

Whereas, The Legislative Reference Bureau created to serve the Members of the Senate and House to aid in drafting legislation and the preparation of amendments to bills introduced to serve department heads in connection with legislation affecting their respective departments etc. is located outside the Capitol building thus substantially reducing its ability to perform its present functions and making it quite impossible for it to discharge the added responsibility of assuring the accuracy of legislative bills therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That so much of the space of the Capitol building now occupied by the Treasury Department on the first floor and in the basement now occupied by the Treasury Department the Department of the Auditor General and the Pennsylvania Motor Police on the entrosole now occupied by the Bureau of Standards and other agencies of the Department of Internal Affairs on the third floor now occupied by the Department of Revenue as is indicated on the accompanying schedule be set aside for the use of the legislative branch of our government and its related agencies as soon as the Finance Building is available for occupancy by the departments which are to be housed therein and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Property and Supplies be authorized to have removed the vault now in Room 140 to have made such minor alterations as are essential to the purposes for which this room will be used to properly equip upon requisition from the proper officers this and other rooms for the purposes for which they are to be used and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislative Reference Bureau be moved to and established in the Capitol building in quarters adequate to the performance of its present and added responsibilities

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION OF 1938

REASONS FOR PARDONS GRANTED BY THE GOVERNOR FROM JANUARY 5, 1937 TO JULY 25, 1938.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisurg, July 25, 1938.

To the Honorable, The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons granted by me from January 5, 1937 to date.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John A. Grant, No. 51A, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 168 and No. 169 of John A. Grant, convicted of conspiracy and extortion (2) and unlawfully carrying firearms, Bills 167, 168, 169, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on March 24, 1933, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 168, a maximum of 3 years to 2 years, expiring March 24, 1937 and (2) Bill No. 169, a minimum of 1½ years to 1 day, expiring March 25, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Elvin Preston, B-1908, No. 52A, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 65 and No. 66, of Elvin Preston, convicted of felonious assault and battery (2), Bills No. 65, and No. 66, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on March 14, 1930, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 65, a maximum of 7 years to a maximum of 6 years 10 months and 29 days, and (2) Bill No. 66, a minimum of 3 years to 1 day, expiring February 14, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Golumbus, B-2501, No. 53A, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 67, No. 68, and No. 71 of John Golumbus, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, larceny (4), Bills 67, 68, 71, 65, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County on February 28, 1931, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 67, a maximum of 6 years to 3 years; (2) Bill No. 68, a maximum of 2 years to 1 year maximum; (3) Bill No. 71, 2 year maximum to 1 year maximum, expiring February 28, 1936, and on (4) Bill No. 65, 1-2 years, the minimum expiring on February 28, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul Peter Chobot, C-9382, No. 54A, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the sentence of imprisonment in Bill 625, of Paul Peter Chobot convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon and larceny from person, Bills No. 356 and No. 625, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on December 15, 1933, be commuted from Bill No. 625, a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring on March 15, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words. a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible

Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Sutton, C-9324, alias Walter Lee, No. 55A, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 147, of Walter Sutton, convicted of aggravated assault and battery (2), Bills No. 146 and No. 147, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on December 7, 1933, be commuted from Bill No. 147, a minimum of one and one-half years to 1 day, expiring on March 7, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph McGill, C-5512, No. 514, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum —life sentence of Joseph McGill, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on March 5, 1913 be commuted from life to 23 years 11 months expiring on February 13, 19[illegible], and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the first degree in 1913, and was sentenced to be hanged. This sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on October 14, 1913.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "His (the applicant's) physical and mental condition shows no evidence of deterioration. Since he has made a definite effort to change his attitude and in light of the long time served, we recommend a favorable consideration of his case."

The trial judge tells us: ". . . The information given in letters accompanying his application for commutation, and other facts told me at that time, led me to believe that a fully developed defense along the line of his drinking and its effect upon him, with testimony as to good reputation, would very likely have resulted in a second degree verdict . . ."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant was never involved in any other serious trouble. He has been incarcerated for over 24 years.

We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole for the remainder of his life. Employment has been provided for him upon his release.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Kinnes, No. 962, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Kinnes, convicted of assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 4, 1931 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1931, the applicant was convicted of assault and battery. A new trial was granted. He was again convicted and was sentenced to serve a term of 1 year in the Philadelphia County Prison. The assault was committed while the applicant was a police officer.

After having served a little over one-half of his sentence he was released on parole. He was never involved in any other trouble and the crime for which he was convicted was committed while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The applicant has conducted himself in an exemplary manner since his release and at the present time is enlisted in the United States Army and is stationed at Panama. He served in the United States Army during the World War and was cited for bravery after having been wounded twice in action.

If pardoned he intends to marry and will return to Philadelphia to make his home. Under the circumstances we feel that the applicant is entitled to have his record cleared.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime and will improve his chances of securing employment.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry H. Hoffman, No. 1706, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Harry H. Hoffman, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County, on November 3, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the second degree in 1928. He was sentence to serve a term of from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

In 1935, the minimum sentence was commuted, on our recommendation, to 6 years and 7 months, and the applicant was released on parole. Since then he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner.

Because of the conviction the applicant is unable to follow his profession as a physician. Seventeen members of the medical society, of which the applicant was a member, recommend a pardon in order that the applicant could be reinstated.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session was not opposed to the granting of the pardon. The Board of Trustees of the Penitentiary in which the applicant was incarcerated states: ". . . If this man is permitted again to practice medicine there is no question that it would be a great aid to his readjustment.

We are in sympathy with this case but feel that the recommendation for further clemency should be made by the Supervisor of Paroles."

The Supervisor of Paroles recommends a pardon.

A pardon will enable the applicant to apply for reinstatement as a doctor and will be of material assistance in his rehabilitation.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James M. McDonald, B-3308, No. 2543, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum sentence of James M. McDonald, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford County on August 1, 1932 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years 7 months expiring on March 1, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to several charges of breaking and entering and larceny in 1932. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary. He was never involved in any other trouble.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first arrest (2) cooperative and dependable inmate (3) excellent employment record as clerk at Rockview (4) good economic history."

The District Attorney did not oppose the application.

The applicant has served over four-fifths of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1942.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Powell, C-9308, No. 2721, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 16, of John Powell, convicted of larceny (2), Bills No. 15 and No. 16, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Session of Philadelphia County, on December 5, 1933, be commuted from Bill No. 16, a minimum of 1½ years to 1 day, expiring December 6, 1936.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William C. Roth, No. 2765, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William C. Roth, convicted of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 2, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1926 and 1928, the applicant plead guilty to charges of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor. In 1932 he was guilty of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery.

The District Attorney's office conducted an investigation of these cases and found that on the charges of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor, the applicant assumed the responsibility for his father who was in very poor health and who had several heart attacks. The applicant took the blame and suffered the punishment.

On the charge of maintaining an illegal lottery the applicant was advised by counsel, since disbarred, to plead guilty although he always maintained his innocence. He was placed on probation on this charge for two years.

We feel that the applicant has been the victim of circumstances. The District Attorney said that a pardon may be well granted for these offenses.

For the past four years the applicant has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. He has taken civil service examinations in the city of Philadelphia for a position as a patrolman or fireman. Unless a pardon is granted he cannot be appointed. We feel that the applicant should have his record cleared to further his chances for employment.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

In re application of Dominic Serubo, C-9917, No. 2903, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Dominic Serubo, convicted of sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 29, 1934 be commuted from 5 years to 2 years 6 months expiring on February 28, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was sentenced to serve a term of from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary in 1934 for sodomy.

The District Attorney's office of Philadelphia County conducted an investigation of this case and the District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that the facts warranted leaving the case in the hands of the Board without any recommendation. It appears to us that the applicant was the victim of perjured testimony but on the advice of counsel, pleaded nolo contendere.

The parole agent who investigated the case stated that the applicant's wife admitted that the testimony against the applicant was perjured.

The applicant had a very good reputation. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are saitsfied that he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1944. An excellent home has been provided him and employment has been assured.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Connell Golden, B-3111, No. 3000, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 78 and No. 79 of Connell Golden, convicted of assault and battery with intent to commit rape (2) Bills No. 78 and No. 79, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Cambria County on February 15, 1932, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 78, a maximum of 5 years to 2½ years, expiring August 15, 1934 and on (2) Bill No. 79, 2½-5 years, the minimum expiring February 15, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In re application of Richard Modesta, No. 3084, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Richard Modesta, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 4, 1936 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of robbery in 1936. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The prosecutor in the case stated at the applicant's trial that he could not identify the applicant. The prosecutor was arrested for perjury but was acquitted. The court commended the prosecutor on his refusal to identify the applicant when he was not certain about the identification. Upon the prosecutor's acquittal the applicant's attorney attempted to file an appeal with the Superior Court. However, the time for appeal having passed the court could not consider the appeal.

The District Attorney's representative appeared before us at open session and stated that a pardon should be granted to the applicant because of the uncertainty of his guilt.

The applicant had never been convicted of any other crime.

After a careful examination of all the facts of the case we feel a pardon should be granted because of the serious doubt about the applicant's guilt.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of John Imiola, B-5042, D-1112, No. 3156, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Imiola, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 30, 1936 be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year 1 month expiring on February 28, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of robbery in 1936. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two and one-half to five years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative appeared before us stated that there was sufficient doubt about the applicant's guilt, that he should be given the benefit of the doubt.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states that there appears to be some merit in the applicant's contention of innocence and if substantiated he should be granted clemency.

After a careful examination of all the facts in the case we are in accord with the District Attorney's views. The applicant was never involved in any other trouble before. We are confident he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1941.

In re application of Walter C. Zuest, No. 3182, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Walter C. Zuest, convicted of operating automobile while under the influence of liquor and operating a motor vehicle without consent of the owner, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on December 3, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1928, the applicant was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. However, the prosecutor admitted that the applicant had permission to drive the car. The applicant was sentenced to serve a term of 30 days in the Philadelphia County Prison, but this sentence was reconsidered and made 18 days from the time of commitment in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The District Attorney's representative appeared before us at the open session of the Board stated that he was not opposed to the granting of a pardon.

Applicant was never convicted of any other crime. He has a wife and four children who are dependent upon him for support.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime, and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of William S. Grier, C-9590, No. 3192, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 331 and No. 332 of William S. Grier, convicted of fraudulently making a written instrument (2) on March 15, 1934 on Bills No. 331 and No. 332 in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 331, a maximum of 5 years to 3 years, expiring March 15, 1937; and (2) No. 332, a minimum of 1½ years to 1 day, expiring March 16, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant pleaded guilty to robbery in 1934. He was sentenced to serve a term of from eight to sixteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. At the time of the conviction of the crime he was only sixteen years of age.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary stated: ". . . Since his (the applicant's) incarceration he has made a very earnest effort to improve himself by attending school. He has taken work from Pennsylvania State College in poultry raising and is now studying that subject in regular school.

"His institutional record is excellent and he spends his free time in cell study. . . ." The Board of Trustees have no objection to commutation in this case.

The applicant will be on parole until 1950. Employment has been assured and a satisfactory home has been provided. Mrs. Hattie Cressman of Allentown, Pennsylvania, has agreed to act as sponsor.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1935, the applicant plead guilty to felonious breaking and entering and larceny. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Western State Penitentiary. He has served over one and one-half years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first imprisonment (2) excellent institutional record."

The Trial Judge told us that he had no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has a wife and three children who are in urgent need of his support. Employment has been assured him if he is released.

The sentence of an accomplice was commuted on our recommendation in December 1936.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the second degree in 1928. He was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative appeared before us stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency. The applicant was never involved in any other trouble. In re application of Morris Gordon, No. 3201, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Morris Gordon, convicted of negligence in performing duties as an election officer in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on May 7, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolo contendere to a charge of negligence in performing duties as an election officer. He was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars and was placed on probation for one year. The mistakes made by the election board of which the applicant was judge were not serious and were the result of carelessness and inexperience.

The applicant had never been actively engaged in politics and had no experience as an election officer. The applicant is a member of a number of civic organizations in Pittsburgh and enjoys an excellent reputation in the community in which he resides. He is a member of the firm of B. Gordon Company for the past fifteen years.

The trial judge states, "I have examined this petition and it sets forth in substance the charge against him. This was one of a batch of cases we had at the time where a number of election boards were indicted, and on investigation we were of the opinion in this case it was not a wilful violation of the law but more one of ignorance or negligence.

As stated in the application, he was paroled for a year and to pay a fine of $50.00. He has complied with the conditions of his parole and was discharged on May 21, 1929. We offer no objection to favorable consideration."

The District Attorney's representative appeared before us in open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the pardon.

The pardon will in part remove the stigma of the offense and will enable the applicant to participate more freely in civic affairs.

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Milton Cooperman, convicted of forcible entry and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on November 25, 1931 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1931, the applicant was convicted of forcible entry and larceny. He was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars and placed on probation for two years. The crime consisted of the applicant's attempt to secure his property which had been levied upon on a landlord's warrant.

The applicant had never been in any other trouble and has an excellent reputation. For the past fifteen years he has been employed by the Cooperman Furniture Company, Pittsburgh. A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family.

The District Attorney's representative appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of a pardon and the trial judge told us, "he (the applicant) has complied with the conditions of parole and we have no objection to favorable consideration.

In re application of Franklin Labold, D-666, No. 3207, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Franklin Labold, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northampton County on June 10, 1935 to begin May 11, 1935 be commuted from 4 years to 1 year 10 months expiring March 11, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to burglary in 1935. He was sentenced to serve from four to eight years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The officials of the penitentiary have told us the applicant is suffering with chronic encephalitis and that there are no prospects of recovery. This disease renders the applicant unsuitable for ordinary prison care.

Arrangements have been made with the Federal authorities at Bath, New York, for the applicant's hospitalization.

We recommend the commutation of sentence solely because of this man's mental and physical condition and for his permanent institutionalization in a place suitable for his condition.

In re application of Charles Thomas Ransom, D-670, No. 3213, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentence of Charles Thomas Ransom, convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 13, 1935

be commuted from (1) minimum of 2 years, (2) maximum of 4 years to (1) 1 year 8 months, (2) 3 years expiring on (1) February 13, 1937, (2) June 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolo contendere to a charge of aggravated assault and battery in June, 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The sentencing judge erred in the sentence as the maximum sentence for aggravated assault and battery is three years and the applicant should have been eligible for release on parole at the expiration of one and one-half years. Accordingly, we recommend a commutation from a minimum term of two years to a minimum term of one and one-half years and from a maximum term of four years to a term of three years.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session agreed that this was the proper sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Joe Cavka, No. 3221, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joe Cavka, convicted of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Beaver County, on August 12, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor in 1933. The liquor which he had in his home was for his own consumption. He was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars and placed on probation for three years. He was never involved in any other trouble.

The applicant has been employed for the past nine years by the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Company. He has an excellent reputation in the community in which he resides.

The District Attorney stated that we would be justified in honoring the application.

It is the applicant's desire to become a citizen and a pardon will permit him to take out his papers. The pardon also will in part remove the stigma of the crime and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles R. Betchtle, No. 3224, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles R. Bechtle, convicted of fraudulent conversion and larceny by servant in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County, on January 10, 1930 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of fraudulent conversion and larceny by servant in 1929. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 2 to 5 years in the Montgomery County Prison.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and since his release has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. He enjoys an excellent reputation.

At the present time he holds a position as Sergeant in charge of the guards at the Philco Plant in Philadelphia.

The trial judge states: ". . . Let me say that Mr. Bechtle has kept in touch with me, at intervals, ever since his parole, and has given every indication of being truly penitent and anxious to make good.

"From my knowledge of the case, and of Mr. Bechtle's conduct since his release from prison, I gladly recommend that a pardon be granted."

The District Attorney tells us: ". . . This office would not stand in the way of the application for a pardon of this defendant in your Board feels that under the circumstances such action is proper. It is probably the only way that the applicant can completely rehabilitate himself."

The applicant has a wife and three children. A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Clarence Williams, B-4453, No. 4004, January Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 137, of Clarence Williams, convicted of felonious assault and battery and larceny Bills No. 137 and No. 167, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on February 13, 1935, be commuted from Bill 137, a maximum of 3 years to 1½ years, expiring August 13, 1936, and on Bill 167, 6 months to 2 years, the minimum expiring on February 13, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of J. Orville Barnes, No. 219, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that J. Orville Barnes, convicted of setting up and establishing gambling devices, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Franklin County, on January 16, 1937 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to felonious entry and larceny in 1929. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 4 to 8 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was released on parole in 1933 and since then has been operating a gasoline station near Greencastle. The Supervisor of Paroles reports that he has complied in every respect with the rules of parole and has been working steadily.

On January 13 of this year he was arrested by a State Policeman for setting up and establishing gambling devices. These gambling devices consisted of four punch boards, prizes on which were candy and cigarettes. He plead guilty to the charge and was fined $50.00 and costs. Because of his conviction it will be necessary to return him to the penitentiary unless a pardon is granted. We believe it would be most unjust to return a parolee who has conducted himself in an exemplary manner for three and one-half years because he had a few punch boards in his place of business.

The District Attorney has no objections to a pardon and the trial judge says: "It seems to me that where the crime he committed was of such a minor nature that the court who heard it did not think a jail sentence was a proper thing, it would be working a great hardship and a great wrong if he had to be returned to the penitentiary to serve four years because of this one false step. For these reasons I am writing this to say to the Board of Pardons that I would join in asking them to commute this man's sentence so that he did not need to be returned to the penitentiary because of what has happened here in connection with this charge of gambling."

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Samuel Hallman, C-2416, No. 252, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Robert Samuel Hallman, convicted of entering to commit a felony, carrying concealed deadly weapons and robbery, Bills No. 1024, 1022, 1020, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 11, 1924 be commuted from (1) maximum of 20 years, (2) maximum of 20 years, (3) minimum of 5 years to 1 day, (1) maximum 12 years 11 months, (2) maximum of 1 day (3) minimum of 1 day, expiring on (1) March 11, 1937, (2) March 12, 1937, (3) March 13, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of a number of charges of entering to commit a felony, carrying concealed deadly weapons and robbery in 1924. He was sentenced to serve a term of from twenty-five to sixty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us stated that the applicant has served as long or longer than anyone else on similar charges and if his record in the institution is good he should be given consideration.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "He has a good conduct record and an exceptional employment record. He knew little about weaving when he entered the institution. During his incarceration he has learned all branches of the textile trade. He has been employed in the weave shop for approximately 10 years and at the present time is head clerk. He goes out of his way to do a thorough job, and is one of the hardest working men in the shop. The only record of infraction of rules were of minor nature which occurred four years ago and they are not to be considered at this time. Because of the length of time served and his unusual effort toward self-improvement commutation is recommended in this case."

An excellent sponsor has been provided for the applicant and employment has been assured him upon his release. The applicant will be on parole until 1957.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Saverio Flori, No. 667, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Saverio Flori, convicted of pandering, receiving earnings of one engaged in prostitution, and transportation for purposes of prostitution in 1926 in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Schuylkill County, on June 24, 1926 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of pandering, receiving earnings of one engaged in prostitution, and transportation for purposes of prostitution in 1926. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 8 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. This sentence was commuted by Governor Pinchot on the recommendation of the then Board of Pardons in 1932 to a minimum term of 5 years and 8 months, and the applicant was released on parole. Since that time he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner.

He was never involved in any other trouble, and has established himself in business in New York City. Unless a pardon is granted the applicant will be deported. He has an honorable discharge from the United States Army and all his relatives and friends live in this country.

A pardon will permit him to remain in this country and will clear the way to his becoming a citizen.

Dr. Bowman, Restoration Director at the Eastern State Penitentiary, strongly urged the granting of a pardon.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Pete Hinton, B-813, No. 1277, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Pete Hinton, convicted of breaking and escaping penitentiary, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County, on May 28, 1928, be commuted from 4 years to 2 months expiring on March 3, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in 1927. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 4 to 9 years in the Western State Penitentiary. He was transferred to the Rockview Farm Prison and escaped in 1928. He was captured shortly thereafter and was returned to the penitentiary. On the escape charge he received an additional term of from 4 to 9 years.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble. He has served over nine years in the penitentiary.

The trial judge has no objections to the granting of clemency if the officials of the institution approve. The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole; maximum of original sentence expired January 3, 1937."

The applicant intends to go to Youngstown, Ohio. Our recommendation is contingent upon his removal to that State and his remaining out of this State.

The applicant will be on parole until 1945.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Irwin Barber, C-1367, No. 1920, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Irwin Barber, convicted of larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County, on February 18, 1922, be commuted from 10 years to a maximum of 5 years, 2 months, expiring on March 23, 1937; and the minimum sentence of Irwin Barber, convicted of escape, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 10, 1933, be commuted from 5 years to 1 day, expiring on March 24, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

With the exception of the last two and one-half years the applicant has spent the last twenty-four years of his life in jail. The sentences were for thefts of automobiles and escapes from prison.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: ". . . Since his return, his institutional record has been excellent. He is employed in the woodworking division and has saved approximately $420. During the disturbances in 1933 he did everything in his power to co-operate with the authorities. The details of his escape from the Eastern Penitentiary lead us to believe that this man was a tool in the hands of desperate criminals. Because of the unusual circumstances in this case, we suggest that serious consideration be given his plea."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he did not oppose the application.

The applicant will be on parole for over ten years and we feel that if he make good at any time that now is the time to give him a chance.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Adam Regimon, B-3099, No. 1403, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the sentences of Adam Regimon, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny, Bills No. 206, No. 205, No. 223 to run consecutively and Bills No. 203, 212, 213, 221, 222, 225, 226, 227, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233 to run concurrent with the above consecutive sentences, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland County on February 6, 1932 be commuted from (1) Bill No. 206, a maximum of 6 years to 5 years, 1 month, expiring on March 6, 1937; (2) Bill No. 205, a maximum of 6 years to maximum of 1 day, expiring on March 7, 1937; (3) Bill No. 223, from a minimum of 3 years to 1 day, expiring March 8, 1937, and on (4) Bill No. 208, (Bills No. 203, 212, 213, 221, 222, 225, 226, 227, 229, 230, 231, 232, and 233 concurrent) a maximum of 2 years to maximum of 1 day, expiring March 9, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The appicant plead guilty to a number of charges of breaking and entering and larceny in 1932. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 10 to 20 years in the Western State Penitentiary. He has served over five years of his minimum sentence. A deportation warrant is on file at the penitentiary and he will be deported immediately upon his release.

The District Attorney has no objections to the granting of clemency if he is deported.

The applicant has a wife and three children living in Czechoslovakia.

Our recommendation is for the purposes of and contingent upon his deportation to and remaining in Czechoslovakia.

Respectfully submitted.

In re application of Joseph Rominski, D-1006, No. 3186, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the minimum sentence of Joseph Rominski, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on September 6, 1935 be commuted from 8 years to 1 year 6 months expiring on March 26, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of robbery in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 8 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The assistant District Attorney, Honorable J. Harold Flannery, who tried the case, now a member of Congress, appeared before us and stated that there was more than a reasonable doubt about the applicant's guilt. He told us that after the conviction he discussed the matter with the attorneys who represened the applicant and suggested that they ask for a new trial. However, shortly thereafter his services as assistant District Attorney were discontinued and he did not follow the case. He learned later that a motion for a new trial was not made and the applicant received the aforementioned sentence. When Mr. Flannery learned this he urged a member of the bar of Luzerne County to present an application to us.

The District Attorney of Luzerne County, after being informed of Mr. Flannery's statements, stated he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The applicant has a criminal record and we would not recommend clemency except for the grave doubt about his guilt.

The applicant will be on parole until 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

In re application of Rudolph C. Bender, No. 3240, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rudolph C. Bender, convicted of conspiracy to cheat and defraud in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 6, 1925, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolo contendere to a number of bills charging him with conspiracy to cheat and defraud. He was sentenced to serve a term of one year in the Philadelphia County Prison. After serving ten months he was released on parole. Since then he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner and has a good reputation.

He was never involved in any other trouble. He is now employed on a WPA project in Delaware County.

A pardon is necessary in order that he may secure bonds for better positions.

The trial judge states: ". . . I feel that Bender paid his debt to society by serving his year in jail and I have no objection to your granting him a pardon if you see fit."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of a pardon.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime attached to the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of Walter Szymansky, C-8549, No. 3241, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

on January 5, 1933 be commuted from ten years to 4 years 2 months expiring on March 5, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons in 1933. He was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. An accomplice who received the same sentence had his minimum sentence commuted on our recommendation in November, 1936.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

Reverend Kenney, one of the spiritual advisors at Graterford, stated that the applicant and his accomplice were the two most trusted inmates in the penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary tells us that the applicant's institutional record is unusual, that his conduct is above reproach and that he associates with only the best type of men.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1953. Employment has been assured and a home has been provided for him upon his release.

Respectfully submitted.

In re application of John Donaghy, C-7118, No. 3254, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Donaghy, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on May 29, 1931 be commuted from a maximum of 6 years to a minimum of 3 years 6 months on March 23, 1937, and maximum of 6 years, expiring September 23, 1939.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolo contendere to robbery in 1931. He was sentenced to serve a term of from three to six years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was released on parole in 1934. In July, 1936, he was sentenced to serve a term of three months in the Philadelphia County Prison for assault and battery. After serving the three months in the prison he was transferred to the Eastern State Penitentiary because of the parole violation.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he had no objections to the granting of clemency in this case because the parole violation consisted only of a fight.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "He is attempting to improve himself by taking International Correspondence School course in Stationery Engineering through the institutional school. His conduct on the block is above reproach and he has never had any misconducts while in the institution.

This man was released on parole on May 29, 1934. He served 2 years 3 months and 24 days while on parole. According to his statement he was frequently persecuted by an individual who took delight in informing people that he was an ex-convict. He was finally provoked into a fight for which he was sentenced to 3 months in the county jail. Upon his release he was returned to the institution as a parole violator.

It is our feeling that this man has been sufficiently punished for the crime that he committed and we recommend favorable consideration of his plea."

Father Farley, chaplain, and Mr. Tucker, senior parole officer of the Eastern State Penitentiary, have agreed to look after the applicant's interests if he is released.

In re application of Charles F. Zoll, No. 3256, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles F. Zoll, convicted of (1) larceny (2) robbery in the Court of (1) Oyer and Terminer (2) Oyer and Terminer of (1) Philadelphia (2) Delaware County, on (1) August 18, 1921 (2) March 22, 1929 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In August, 1921, the applicant was convicted of larceny. He was sentenced to serve a term of nine months in the Philadelphia County Prison. In 1929 he was sentenced to Delaware County to serve a term of from five to fifteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for robbery. The minimum sentence was commuted in 1931 to a term of 1 year and 9 months. He was released on parole February 21, 1931. He has been on parole for six years. The Supervisor of Paroles tells us that he has complied faithfully in every respect with the rules of parole. He has an excellent home and is employed as a surveyor on a WPA project.

The District Attorneys of Philadelphia County and Delaware County told us through their representatives that they were in favor of granting a pardon. The trial judge of the case in Delaware County said that it was his opinion that a pardon would be in order at this time.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime attached to the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re appication of Gertrude Galletti, C-5161, No. 3262, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

County on February 1, 1929 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years 5 months expiring on March 9, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the second degree in 1928. She was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. She was confined in the Philadelphia County Prison for over three years and since then has incarcerated at the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary reporting on this case after having consulted the authorities of the Industrial Home State: "She has served eight years. This was her first offense and was caused by her victim entering her home and forcing his attentions upon her. Her husband has remained loyal to her and is willing to give her a home and live with her. She has been very good to his daughter and has taken her small prison wages to buy clothing for this child. I believe she is sincere in her desire to live a good life."

In addition to this they tell us that the applicant is a paralytic but that this condition does not interfere with her daily routine, that she is a steady worker and very cooperative.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that his office was not opposed to the application.

The applicant will return to her husband who is regularly employed.

The applicant has served over four-fifths of her minimum sentence. We believe that she has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied that she is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole unutil 1948.

In re application of James Francis Gray, D-108, No. 3267, February Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members bersof the Board of Pardons recommend that James Francis Gray, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, on October 29, 1934 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery in 1934. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two and one-half to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The officials of that institution tell us that he is seriously ill with tuberculosis and has only a short time to live.

We recommend a pardon in this case only to save the applicant and his family from the ignomy of having him die in the penitentiary.

The trial judge and the District Attorney have no objections to the granting of clemency. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary recommends clemency.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 38, No. 39, No. 40 of Robert Clark, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny (5) and larceny, Bills 32, 36, 38, 39, 40, 42, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Huntingdon County on April 18, 1932, be commuted on Bill 38 from a maximum of 2 years to a maximum of 11 months and 28 days, expiring April 16, 1937; (2) Bill No. 39, a maximum of 2 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring April 17, 1937, and (3) Bill 40, a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring April 18, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence..

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In re application of Edward Haines, C-8071, No. 58A, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In re application of John Carmello, C-4920, No. 1074, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 115 of John Carmello, convicted of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, bringing stolen goods into State, and attempted burglary, Bills No. 114, No. 113, No. 115, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Berks County on November 3, 1928, be commuted from Bill No. 115, a minimum of 3½ years to 1 day, expiring on May 4, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. In re application of Mark Lester, B-727, No. 1307, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences of imprisonment on Bills No. 3 and No. 4 of Mark Lester, convicted of robbery, Bills No. 3 and No. 4, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 12, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 3 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 8 years, 11 months and 29 days, expiring on April 11, 1937; and on Bill No. 4, from a minimum of 5 years to 1 day, expiring on April 12, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of John Kelley, C-7019, No. 1771, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Kelley, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Cumberland County on April 18, 1931 be commuted from seven years to six years, expiring on April 18, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1931, the applicant plead guilty to murder of the second degree. He was sentenced to serve a term of from seven to fourteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The trial judge tells us that he has no objections to the granting of clemency if we feel, under the circumstances, the applicant is ready for rehabilitation.

The applicant has been confined in the Cumberland County Jail since 1932. Ex-Sheriff Bender, who was in charge of that jail from 1932 to 1934, states: ". . . In my opinion Kelley is sorry for any part he had in this crime. If released, I believe that he will conduct himself as a law abiding citizen."

Sheriff Lindsey, under whose charge the applicant has been since 1934, states: ". . . He has been himself if he is released.

I am glad to be able to recommend to the Board that he be granted a pardon."

The parole agent who investigated the case states that the applicant enjoyed a good reputation.

By the time the applicant can be released he will have served six years of his minimum sentence.

We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1945. An excellent home has been provided for him and employment has been assured him upon his release.

In re application of Edward R. Hansen, B-3024, No. 2065, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences of imprisonment on Bills No. 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 of Edward R. Hansen, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Somerset County on December 28, 1931 be commuted from Bill No. 6, a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 year 4 months, expiring on April 28, 1937; Bill No. 7, a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on April 29, 1937; Bill No. 8, a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on April 30, 1937; Bill No. 9, a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on May 1, 1937; and on Bill No. 10 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on May 2, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1931, the applicant plead guilty to a number of charges of breaking and entering and larceny. He was sentenced to serve six consecutive terms of imprisonment of from two to four years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably conditionally recommend him for parole subject to deportation to Denmark (1) good institutional record (2) deportation warrant has been issued by U. S. Department of Labor directing the applicant's return to his native land."

The trial judge and District Attorney have no objections to a commutation of sentence for deportation.

An accomplice was released on parole after a commutation of sentences in 1936.

Our recommendation is contingent upon the applicant's deportation to Denmark.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mary Kovack, No. 3264, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences of imprisonment on Bills 69 and 70 of Mary Kovack, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on April 8, 1931, be commuted from Bill No. 69, a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 6 years, expiring April 8, 1937; and Bill No. 70, from maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring April 9, 1937; and that the minimum sentence of imprisonment of Mary Kovack, convicted of escape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lycoming County on April 18, 1932, be commuted from 20 years to 1 day, expiring on April 10, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant, when only seventeen years of age was implicated in several robberies with a number of older men. She plead guilty and was sentenced to serve a term of from twenty to forty years in the State Industrial Home for Women. About a year later she escaped. On the escape charge she was sentenced to serve an additional term of from twenty to forty years.

Miss Franklin R. Wilson, Superintendent of the Industrial Home, states: ". . . Mary has served nearly six years. She had difficulty adjusting during the first couple of years but she settled down and has shown marked improvement since then. She has tried to improve herself intellectually and has learned to control her emotional temperament. We consider her a mature, dependable girl now, and if she is granted a commutation, I believe she can be trusted to become a good citizen."

Dr. Jackson, Superintendent of the Danville State Hospital, made an examination of the applicant in 1936. After the examination he reported to Miss Wilson: "The general make up of this girl indicates that she had not been an organizer or a leader of the group but rather a temporary tool in the hands of the others. She was an adolescent girl who in a moment of despair became the victim of circumstances. She is fundamentally a moral person temporarily strayed from the social and moral code. There is no evidence of a psychosis at this time . . . The Medical Staff of this hospital are unanimous in the opinion that this girl is a normal girl mentally, that she possesses good ability to adjust to the demands of life under average conditions and further regard her as one worthy of consideration by the Board of Pardons."

The trial judge told us that he has no objections to the extending of clemency when the authorities at the Industrial Home feel that she has been sufficiently punished or corrected.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session concurred in the views of the trial judge.

The applicant will be on parole for a long period of time. A satisfactory home will be provided for her if she is released.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Domenico Peraro, No. 3270, March Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Domenico Peraro, convicted of false pretenses in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 4, 1936, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to false pretenses in 1936. He was sentenced to imprisonment for three years in the Philadelphia County Prison and at the same term of court this sentence was reduced to one year. He was released from the Philadelphia County Prison at the expiration of ten months because of his good behavior and was remanded to the custody of the immigration authorities. At present he is confined in the Camden County Jail awaiting deportation.

If a pardon is granted for this crime the applicant will not be deported.

The applicant has a a wife of Irish descent, who was born in Philadelphia in 1899, and a thirteen year old child who was also born in this country.

Birth certificates are on file for both the wife and child.

The applicant has neither friends nor relatives in Italy, the country to which he will be deported, as he was brought to this country when he was only ten years of age.

The applicant has been frequently involved in trouble but never in crimes of violence.

We believe that deportation would be a cruel and unnecessarily harsh punishment because it would either break up the family, leaving the wife and child without any support, or it would necessitate the deportation of the wife and child with the applicant to a foreign country, where none of them have either friends or relatives. This is our only reason for recommending a pardon.

In re application of Robert Hand, C-9745, No. 59A, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 15 of Robert Hand, convicted of Bill No. 15, assault to commit sodomy; and Bill No. 15, larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawana County on June 2, 1934, be commuted from Bill No. 15, a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring on June 2, 1937.

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Fred Lantz, C-8462, No. 60A, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 9 of Fred Lantz, convicted of Bill No. 14, breaking and entering; and Bill No. 9, receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Carbon County on December 3, 1932, be commuted from Bill No. 9, a minimum of 1½ years to 1 day, expiring on June 4, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Shannon, B-3487, No. 61A, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 67 (b) and No. 67 (c) of William Shannon, convicted of breaking, entering and larceny; felonious entry; larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County at Clearfield on November 28, 1932, be commuted from (1) Bill No. 67(b), a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 1 year 5 months and 29 days, expiring on May 27, 1937; and (2) Bill No. 67(c), a minimum of 1½ years to 1 day, expiring May 28, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of Lawrence Gregoire, B-4075, No. 292, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Lawrence Gregoire, convicted of entering a building and larceny, Bills No. 421 and No. 422, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on December 20, 1929, be commuted from a maximum on Bill No. 422 of 4 years to 3 years, expiring on May 24, 1937, and convicted of entering a building in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 24, 1934, be commuted from 1½ years to one day, expiring on May 25, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1929, the applicant was convicted of entering a building and was sentenced to serve a term of from four to eight years in the Western State Penitentiary. He was released on parole in 1933 and in 1934 he was sentenced to serve a term of from 1½ to 3 years in the Western State Penitentiary for breaking and entering, to begin at expiration of unexpired portion of original sentence.

The applicant is a native of French Guinea. We recommend clemency in this case for the sole purpose of having the applicant deported to his native country.

THOMAS KENNEDY,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Beard, C-3855, No. 838, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William Beard, convicted of (1) robbery (2) escape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Berks County on (1) February 26, 1927 (2) October 6, 1933 be commuted from (1) maximum of 15 years to 10 years expiring on May 31, 1937, and a maximum of 15 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery in 1927. He was sentenced to serve a term of from seven and one-half to fifteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was transferred to the Berks County Prison in 1933 and escaped from the prison shortly thereafter. He was apprehended four months later and was sentenced to serve a term of 1 year for the breaking and escape charge, to run concurrently with the original sentence.

Judge Schaffer states: ". . . I had always thought that the sentence Beard received was unduly severe . . ."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session said there was a great miscarriage of justice and strongly recommended clemency.

The applicant will be on parole until 1942. Empoyment has been assured for him in Vermont and our recommendation is contingent upon his going to and remaining in that state.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Daniel Harvey Sykes, No. 1624, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Daniel Harvey Sykes, convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 5, 1915; convicted of extortion by taking illegal fees in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on January 11, 1922, and convicted of conspiracy, extortion, bribery, illegal possession and manufacture of liquor and malfeasance in office in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on January 16, 1931, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1915, the applicant was convicted of aggravated assault and battery and sentence was suspended. In 1922 he was convicted of extortion by taking illegal fees and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100. and costs. In 1931 he was convicted of conspiracy, extortion, bribery, illegal possession and manufacture of liquor and malfeasance in office, and was sentenced to serve a term of six years in the Delaware County Prison and pay a fine of $2100.00. After having served approximately three years in the prison he was released on parole.

Chet A. Keyes, Special Assistant to the Attorney General of the United States in 1931, when the Federal Government was prosecuting a number of prominent citizens of Delaware County for conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act, stated in a letter dated December 6, 1933, ". . . There can be no doubt but what a public service was rendered by this man in assisting the government to clean up a very bad situation in Delaware County . . ." In a letter dated April 9, 1937, Mr. Keyes told us that he was reliably informed that the applicant has conducted himself in a favorable and lawful manner since his parole, and that, in his opinion, the applicant was entitled to consideration.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his obtaining and keeping employment.

In re application of William Cunningham, B-5949, No. 1736, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of William Cunningham, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 20, 1911 be commuted from life imprisonment to 25 years 6 months expiring on May 20, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In June, 1910, the applicant killed another colored man with a razor after a dispute over a dog. The applicant was convicted of murder of the first degree and was sentenced to be hanged. This sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant has been continuously confined for almost twenty-seven years. Judge McDevitt said that he hopes that the action will be favorable.

The applicant's institutional record has been excellent. He has sent five hundred dollars to his relatives and has saved, in addition to this amount, three hundred and fifty dollars..

The Board of Trustees states: ". . . Due to this unusual institutional record and the length of time served we feel that this man deserves clemency."

The applicant was never involved in any other serious trouble. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

In re application of Martin Dunlap, B-2043, No. 1861, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences of imprisonment on Bill No. 28 and Bill No. 21 of Martin Dunlap, convicted of robbery, Bills No. 28 and No. 29, and larceny. Bill No. 21, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 16, 1930, be commuted from Bill No. 28, a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 11 months and 29 days, expiring on May 15, 1937, and on Bill No. 21, from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on May 16, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to attempted robbery in 1931. He was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of that institution states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative inmate."

The trial judge said that he had no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1951. Empoyment has been assured. He has a wife and three chidren who are in urgent need of his support.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery and receiving stolen goods in 1933. He was sentenced to serve two consecutive terms of imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary of from two and one-half years to five years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably conditionaly recommend him for parole subject to proper sponsor and definite assurance of employment; excellent institutional record."

The trial judge said that he fells that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

The sentence of an accomplice was commuted on our recommendation in March, 1936.

In re application of Herbert T. Schultz, C-5978, No. 3243 April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Herbert T. Schultz, convicted of robbery, burglary, larceny, breaking and entering, and carrying concealed deadly weapons, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on February 21, 1930, be commuted from a maximum of 40 years to a maximum of 20 years and a minimum of 15 years to 7 years 3 months, expiring on May 21, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant and an accomplice plead guilty to a number of charges of burglary and larceny in 1930. Both received sentences of from fifteen to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant was never involved in any other serious trouble. He has been incarcerated for over seven years.

The sentence of the accomplice was commuted, on our recommendation, in September, 1936, from a maximum of forty years to a maximum of twenty years and a minimum of fifteen years to six years eight months.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states that there are no apparent differences in the crimes committed by th accomplice and the applicant.

The applicant has an excellent institutional record and has attempted to improve himself by learning theoretic electricity.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency. The trial judge said that this case should be treated the same as the accomplice's.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

In re application of Nick Gjindjich, B-4789, No. 3279, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nock Gjindjich, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny Counuty on October 31, 1935 be commuted from 4 years to 1 year 7 months expiring on May 31, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of robbery in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four to eight years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The report of the penitentiary indicates that the applicant was convicted because of an unscrupulous drunken man. The report of our parole agent confirms this.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session recommended clemency because of the substantial doubt about the applicant's guilt.

The trial judge tells us: ". . . I believe the defendant will adjust himself under arrangements made for his employment and future good conduct."

The applicant will be on parole until 1943. Employment has been assured.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1932, the applicant plead guilty to robbery, larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced to serve a term of from eight to sixteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees states that he has no previous criminal record and has attempted to improve himself by attending school, and is considered a good parole risk.

Neither the trial judge nor District Attorney opposed the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served a little over one-half of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied that he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant has a wife and two children who are in urgent need of his support. An excellent home has been provided for him and employment has been assured.

In re application of Russell Hitchner, No. 3296, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Russell Hitchner, convicted of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 5, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1936, the applicant, a police officer in the city of Philadelphia, was convicted of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was sentenced to serve a term of six months in the Philadelphia County Prison. Because of the conviction he was discharged from the police force and has been unable to obtain employment since his release from prison.

The trial judge stated: "....If this man seeks a pardon solely for the purpose of being an automobile driver again, I am opposed to it, for his previous driving record was exceedingly bad. If he wants a pardon for the sake of clearing his record, I have no objection to it." We are in accord with the judge's views and recommend the granting of a pardon only in order that the applicant may secure employment.

The applicant was never convicted of any other crime and since his release from the prison he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences on Bills No. 700 and No. 702 of Alexander Simonitus, convicted of burglary, breaking and larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on August 25, 1933, be commuted from Bill No. 700, a minimum of 5 years to 3 years 9 months, expiring on May 25, 1937; and on Bill No. 702, from a minimum of 5 years to 1 day, expiring on May 26, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to several charges of burglary and breaking and entering in 1933. He was sentenced to serve two consecutive terms of from five to ten years each in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

At the time of the commission of the crimes the applicant was only eighteen years of age.

The applicant has an excellent institutional record. We believe he has been sufficiently punished.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session recommended clemency.

In re application of James A. Hawley, D-1031, No. 3309, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James A. Hawley, convicted of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Bucks County on December 9, 1935 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year 5 months expiring on May 9, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendre to felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: ". . . . Applicant was one of the initial correctors in the agricultural work when the correspondence school was started. A good institutional record along with the fact that the petition states the convicting authorities would not object to clemency leads us to believe that this case merits favorable consideration.

Since this man had only one previous arrest and has a good employment record on the outside, we feel that his release would not jeopardize society."

The trial judge and the District Attorney have no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has a wife and eight children who are in urgent need of his support. Employment has been assured.

The applicant will be on parole until 1945.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Isadore Levitt, No. 3310, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Isadore Levitt, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on September 11, 1916, and convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 19, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In in 1916, the applicant was sentenced to serve a term of six months in the Allegheny County Jail for picking pockets. In 1917 he was sentenced to serve a term of from twelve months to twenty-one months in the Eastern State Penitentiary for larceny and receiving stolen goods.

For the past fifteen years the applicant has lived and conducted himself in an exemplary manner. He has made a very satisfactory adjustment and enjoys an excellent reputation in Lakewood, New Jersey, where he resides. He is a highly respected citizen in that community and is interested in many of the community projects

Judge McDevitt said: "....I am satisfied this man is trying to lead a decent, honest life."

We have a number of letters on file, testifying to the good character of the applicant.

We are satisfied that the applicant has reformed. A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family, and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Emil Brandley, C-7166, No. 3315, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 245 and 411 of Emil Brandley, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 20, 1930, be commuted from Bill No. 245 a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 5 years and 11 months, expiring May 14, 1937, and on Bill No. 411, from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on May 15, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1931, the applicant plead guilty to one charge and was convicted of another charge of robbery. He was sentenced to serve two consecutive terms of imprisonment of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant was the victim, in his youth, of an indifferent and cruel stepfather. He was sent to the Illinois State Reformatory on two occasions. He went to Philadelphia, and in 1922 was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of from six to eight years for robbery. At the time of this conviction he had been steadily employed and was earning excellent wages. This conviction was an improper one and the applicant was bitter, having been successful after a very poor start in life. He was released on parole in 1928 and was returned to the penitentiary shortly thereafter, because of violation of parole. An investigation of that charge revealed an error of conviction and the applicant was again paroled in 1930. Disappointed and disgusted with life, he admittedly committed another crime to which he plead guilty, but he was also convicted on a second change of robbery.

The trial judge states: "I am satisfied that this man was framed on the second bill of indictment to which he pleaded not guilty....In spite of his previous record, I think that Brandley has been rehabilitated by his confinement in the penitentiary and that if he isn't fit to return to civilization at this time, he never will be.

"If his application appeals to you, I have no objection to a pardon, as I have watched this man carefully and his transformation is apparent to everybody."

Dr. Linn Bowman, Restoration Director of the Eastern State Penitentiary, stated that in his opinion the applicant is completely rehablitated. Dr. Goddard, one of the members of the Board of Trustees of the penitentiary also recommends clemency in this case.

One of us went to the penitentiary and talked to the applicant and was convinced of the applicant's desire to lead a decent and honest life.

No attorney was paid any fee to present this application, it being presented to the Board by the Senior Parole Officer of the penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees tells us that the applicant's attitude, conduct, associations and apparent determination to change his manner of living is worthy of some consideration and that his apparent honest desire to change his life entitled him to an opportunity to prove his sincerity.

With the exception of a short period of time, the applicant has been almost continuously confined since 1922. We feel that if this applicant is ever to be given a chance, this is the time. He will be on parole until 1957. Employment and an excellent home will be provided for him if he is released.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Emmett Delaney, B-4705, No. 4037, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Emmett Delaney, convicted of arson, firing chattels to defraud insurer in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler County on September 21, 1935, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year 8 months expiring on May 21, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of arson and firing chattels with intent to defraud, in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very reliable inmate (operates steam shovel in the mountain)."

Neither the trial judge nor the District Attorney have any objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant was never involved in any other serious trouble. He has served over two-thirds of his minimum sentence. We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1939.

Respectfully submitted.

THOMAS KENNEDY.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Carolyn Hart, No. 4074, April Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Carolyn Hart, convicted of rioting and inciting to riot in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on January 8, 1936, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1934, the applicant, a young girl only twenty-two years of age, and a number of other young people belonging to the Young Communist League of McKeesport, arranged to have a meeting in McKeesport at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Locust Street. A request for permission to have the meeting at this corner was refused by the city officials of McKeesport. Notwithstanding this, the meeting was announced by circulars and at 8 o'clock on the evening of September 1, the applicant and a young boy chained themselves to posts and began speaking. The police of McKeesport broke the chains holding the applicant to the post and arrested her, and a number of others. The applicant and two others were convicted of rioting and inciting to riot. The convictions were affirmed by the Superior Court. On January 8, 1936, the applicant was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term of imprisonment in the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, and has been incarcerated since October 5, 1936.

An application was filed with us for the October session of the Board and a lengthly hearing was held. Subsequent to the hearing an investigation was conducted by us and we have been holding this case under advisement.

The accomplice who was chained to one of the posts was sentenced to the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, and was released on parole on April 29, 1937.

The third person convicted of rioting and inciting to riot was sentenced to the Allegheny County Work House for a period of three months. He was released in December, 1936.

The applicant has been incarcerated almost seven months and is the only one of the original three persons sentenced to imprisonment who is still serving time.

We are satisfied that this young women has been sufficiently punished for the part she played in the happenings on the evening of September 1, 1934, at McKeesport. We believe that further imprisonment would serve no good purpose.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble. Many responsible persons have written to us urging us to recommend a pardon.

We recommend a pardon rather than a commutation of sentence because the applicant is serving an indeterminate term, as the law prohibits the fixing or limiting the duration of sentences to the State Industrial Home for Women of women under twenty-five years of age.

Respectfully submitted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lewis Mersington, C-6326, No. 62A, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bills No. 112 and No. 114 of Lewis Mersington, convicted of burglary, felonious entry and burglarly Bills No. 110, 112, and 114, in a Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of York County on July 28, 1930, be commuted from Bill No. 112 a minimum of one year to one day and on Bill No. 114 from a minimum of one year to one day, expiring on July 30, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release

on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of Frank Manandes, C-9217, No. 63A, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 317 of Frank Manandes convicted of carrying concealed deadly weapons, aggravated assault and battery and escape from prison in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on January 4, 1932, be commuted from Bill No. 317, a minimum of two years to a minimum of one day, expiring on July 5, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 860 of Charles Otten, convicted of robbery, Bills Nos. 859 and 860, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 31, 1930, (as corrected by the Superior Court), be commuted from Bill No. 860 a minimum of two and one-half years, to a minimum of two years, expiring on March 31, 1937.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank William Wall, C-6025, No. 68A, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence on Bill No. 355 of Frank William Wall, convicted of larceny of auto, Bills No. 178 and No. 355, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions in the County of Philadelphia on March 10, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 355 from a minimum of two years to a minimum of one day, expiring on September 11, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stephen Stansbury, C-6072, No. 69A, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence on Bill No. 116 of Stephen Stansbury, convicted of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 21, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 116 from a minimum of three and one-half years to a minimum of one day, expiring on September 22, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

He has served over five years of his minimum sentence. A deportation warrant is on file at the penitentiary and he will be deported immediately upon his release.

The District Attorney has no objections to the granting of clemency if he is deported.

The applicant has a wife living in Czechoslovakia.

Our recommendation is for the purpose of and contingent upon his deportation to and remaining in Czechoslovakia.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard Joseph Hennessey, C-5106, No. 1862, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences on Bills Nos. 1686, 1688, 1689, 1690 of Richard Joseph Hennessey, convicted of robbery, being armed, assault and battery with intent to kill, assault with intent to kill in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 30, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 1686, from a minimum of ten years to eight years five months, expiring on June 30, 1937; and on Bill No. 1688 from a maximum of seven years to a maximum of one day, expiring July 1, 1937; and on Bill No. 1689 from a maximum of seven years to a maximum of one day, expiring on July 2, 1937; and on Bill No. 1690 from a maximum of six years to a maximum of one day, expiring July 3, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1929, the applicant was convicted of four charges of robbery and assault and battery with intent to kill. He was sentenced to serve from twenty to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

Father Kenny, the Chaplain at the New Eastern State Penitentiary at Graterford, appeared before us and said that in his opinion this was a most meritorious case.

Mr. Albert A. McAvoy of Philadelphia, who has been interested in the Big Brother Movement, appeared in the applicant's behalf and said that he would personally supervise the applicant after his release.

The applicant has been incarcerated for eight years. He is employed as a clerk in the library of the penitentiary and associates with the better class of inmates.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished. He will be on parole until 1948.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Morgan Brillinger, C-3249, No. 1921, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Walter Morgan Brillinger, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of York County on January 16, 1926, be commuted from life imprisonment to 11 years 5 months, expiring on June 16, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the first degree in 1926. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was never involved in any other trouble and enjoyed an excellent reputation. His institutional record is excellent.

The trial judge states: "....I write to urge very sincerely the propriety of releasing the above named convict ....I feel quite sure that only good will come to the public as well as the defendant by such action."

The District Attorney stated that he had no objections to the application and the trial district attorney said: "Walter M. Brillinger's application for clemency deserves your favorabe consideration.

Before the crime Brillinger's record was good. My information is that his penitentiary behavior has been very good.

Brillinger killed his wife in a state of jealousy. Twenty-five years as a criminal lawyer has not changed my mind from the belief that long confinement is intended for those who are or reasonably appear to be a menace to society, and clemency is intended for those whose very conduct shows no inclination toward breaking the laws...."

Dr. Allan Meck appeared before us in the applicant's behalf and other responsible citizens wrote to us urging us to recommend clemency.

In view of these recommendations and because the applicant has been incarcerated for eleven and one-half years, and is fifty-three years of age, we believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole for life. Arrangements have been made for his employment.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John C. Bucher, C-9036, No. 2043, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences on Bills No. 65 and No. 73 of John C. Bucher, convicted of forgery, uttering forged instrument in writing knowing it to be false, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lebanon County on June 19, 1933 be commuted on Bill No. 65 from a maximum of 6 years to a maximum of 4 years, expiring on June 19, 1937, and on Bill No. 73, from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 20, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a number of charges of forgery and uttering forged instruments in writing in 1933. He was sentenced to serve a term of from six to twelve years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was never involved in any other trouble and had an excellent reputation prior to the commission of the crime.

The trial District Attorney stated that the applicant has paid his debt to society. The present District Attorney stated that the application merits favorable consideration and the trial judge had no objections to the granting of clemency.

We have many character letters on file. The Board of Trustees states: "....He is employed as a clerk in the Storehouse and his work there has been of value. He has made every effort to profitably utilize his time. From an institution standpoint, his application probably would be considered meritorious...."

The applicant has served over two-thirds of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal. Employment has been assured and an excellent home has been provided for him upon his release.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Robinson, convicted of making and concurring in making false entries in books of accounts of a Trust Company in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 20, 1933, to begin February 28, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 485, 1st count, from a maximum of 6 years to a maximum of 4 years, 3 months, 5 days, expiring June 3, 1937; on Bill No. 485, 2nd count, from a maximum of 6 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring June 4, 1937; and on Bill No. 485, 3rd count, from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 5, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was sentenced to serve a term of from nine to eighteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for making and concurring in making false entries in books of accounts of a Trust Company. He had never been involved in any other trouble and did not profit personally by his acts. He is sixty-three years of age and had an excellent reputation. He is employed in a position of trust at the penitentiary.

In re application of Frank Ernest Cobb, C-8797, No. 2345, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Frank Ernest Cobb, convicted of embezzlement, Bill No. 105-3, 3 counts, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions in Montgomery County on March 24, 1933, be commuted on Bill 105-3, from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, and on Bill 105-3 from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 26, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences on Bills No. 105-3 and 105-3 of Howard F. Grander, convicted of embezzlement in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on March 24, 1933, be commuted on Bill 105-3 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, and on Bill 105-3, from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 26, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leroy Lynch, C-8196, No. 2609, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 208 of Leroy Lynch convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, Bills No. 205 and No. 208, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 26, 1932, be commuted from Bill No. 208, a minimum of 3 years to 1 day, expiring on August 27, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release

on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul A. Muschick, B-3194, No. 2631, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul A. Muschick, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 27, 1932 be commuted from 10 years to 5 years 2 months expiring on June 27, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to murder of the second degree in 1932. He was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session of the Board said that there was merit in the case and was not opposed to the granting of clemency, as the applicant had served over five years of his minimum sentence.

The trial judge does not oppose the granting of clemency.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and enjoyed an excellent reputation.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) very good institutional record."

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1952.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Wilcox, No. 2658, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that George Wilcox, convicted of embezzlement by officer of corporation in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County, on February 3, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of embezzlement by officer of a corporation in 1933. He was sentenced to serve a term of from three to six years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, fined $1,000, ordered to make restitution in the sum of $12,000.00 and pay the costs of prosecution.

In 1935, the applicant's minimum sentence was commuted on our recommendation from three years to 1 year and 4 months and he was released on parole.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and his conduct since he has been on parole has been exemplary. The Supervisor of Paroles recommends the granting of a pardon.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session of the Board said that he was not opposed to the granting of a pardon.

The applicant is fifty-four years of age and is married. He was a former manager of the settlement department of the Land Title and Trust Company and his life work has been handling real estate. Because of the conviction he is unable to secure a real estate brokers license. He is employed now in a real estate development business and if he is able to secure his license he will be promoted to the position of general superintendent.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement and progress in the business world.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Charles Gorden, B-4569, No. 2976, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 17 and Bill No. 33 of Charles Gorden, convicted of burglary, Bills No. 17 and 33, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 12, 1935, be commuted from Bill No. 17, a maximum of two years to a maximum of one year 11 months and 29 days, expiring on June 11, 1937, and on Bill No. 33 from a minimum of one year to a minimum of one day, expiring on June 12, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lester E. Humphrey, C-9834, No. 3138, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment on Bill No. 1036 of Lester E. Humphrey, convicted of embezzlement by employee of corporation and embezzlement, Bills Nos. 1033, 1034, and 1036, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 17, 1934, be commuted from Bill No. 1036 a minimum of one year to one day, expiring on July 18, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Adam Milo, C-5390, No. 3175, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences on Bills No. 7, 9 and 13 of Adam Milo, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Columbia County on May 20, 1929 be commuted on Bill No. 7 from a maximum of ten years to a maximum of eight years one month, expiring June 20, 1937; on Bill No. 9 from a maximum of ten years to a maximum of one day, expiring June 21, 1937; and on Bill No. 13 from a minimum of five years to a minimum of one day, expiring June 22, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant, when only seventeen years of age, plead guilty to a number of charges of robbery. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 15 to 30 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary reports that if the merits of his petition were to be decided upon institution performance alone, favorable consideration would be warranted, and that if definite employment and strict supervision are obtained, this man may be able to adjust himself and no doubt will be as good a risk now as at any other time.

Because of the youth of the applicant at the time of the conviction, the long period of incarceration and his especially good institutional record, we believe he has been sufficiently punished.

The trial judge stated that under the circumstances it would be charitable to grant clemency.

The applicant will be on parole until 1947. Father Skrosky of Berwick, Pennsylvania, stated that he would personally supervise and employ the applicant.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of John P. Moroney, No. 3311, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John P. Moroney, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on October 2, 1913 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in 1913. The commission of the crime arose out of a fight. He was sentenced to the Pennsylvania Industrial School, where he served two years and was released on parole. At the time of the commission of the crime he was only nineteen years of age.

For the past nineteen years the applicant has been employed as a fireman by the City of Pittsburgh. He enjoys an excellent reputation in the community in which he resides.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session did not oppose the granting of a pardon.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Campanaro, D-1302, No. 3322, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Louis Campanaro, convicted of statutory rape and enticing a minor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 12, 1936 be commuted from three years to one year one month, expiring on June 12, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to statutory rape and enticing a minor in 1936. He was sentenced to serve a term of from three to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The facts of the case are, briefly, as follows: The applicant a twenty year old boy living in New York, and a girl he had known for several months decided to get married by eloping to Elkton, Maryland. On arriving at Philadelphia, accompanied by another couple, their funds were depleted and they stopped at a hotel over night, wiring to New York for money. The applicant and the girl were arrested and the girl was returned to New York City. The applicant plead guilty to statutory rape, as the girl was only thirteen years of age.

The girl and her parents, and the parents of the applicant, appeared before us and urged us to recommend clemency in order that the applicant and the girl could get married. The girl, who is only fourteen years of age, appeared to be a much older person, as she was fully grown and developed.

The applicant, as a juvenile, was in considerable trouble. We feel, however, that this is not a true rape case and that the best interests of society will be served if the applicant is released and marries the girl.

The applicant's institutional record has been satisfactory. He will be on parole until 1946.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward C. Trinneer, No. 3323, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Edward C. Trinneer, convicted of carrying a firearm without a license in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 25, 1935, be commuted from three years to two years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1935, the applicant, when only sixteen years of age, plead guilty, with three others, to carrying a firearm without a license. Each was sentenced to serve a term of three years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session said that the case deserves serious consideration, and did not oppose the granting of clemency.

The applicant was never convicted of any other crime and his institutional record is excellent. The Deputy Warden of the Philadelphia County Prison said: "I am sure that he (the applicant) will try to do right if given another chance and placed under the care of someone who will take enough interest in him to keep him out of trouble."

The Honorable Francis Fisher Kane recommended clemency.

Mr. A. Lincoln Goldbacher of Philadelphia who is interested in social work, appeared before us and urged the granting of clemency.

The applicant is one of eight children. The Police Department of the city of New York reports that the family enjoys an excellent reputation and are considered honest and hard-working people.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal. We recommend a commutation of sentence to two years. The applicant will be allowed five months from this sentence for good behavior and can be released during the month of June.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Josephine Loring, C-5079, No. 3326, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Josephine Loring, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Wayne County on January 16, 1929 be commuted from ten years to eight years five months, expiring on June 16, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the second degree in 1929. She was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. At present she is confined in the Wayne County Prison. She is sixty-seven years of age and was never involved in any other trouble.

The Sheriff of Wayne County states that in his opinion she has been sufficiently punished. The Board of Trustees states: "(1) If eligible for parole, this woman would probably receive favorable consideration, because she is a first offender. (2) According to the Warden of the Wayne County Prison, she is considered a model prisoner. She is employed in preparing vegetables and ironing. The decision in this case would probably be affected by the report of the applicant's institutional record and also the amount of time served. (3) Since this woman has no previous record and her behavior in the institution is exceptional, it is doubtful if her release would jeopardize society."

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished as she has served over four-fifths of her minimum sentence.

The applicant will be on parole until 1949. Arrangements have been made for a home and employment has been assured if she is released.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Joseph Sweet, Phila. Co. Prison, C-3529, No. 3332, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Joseph Sweet, convicted of embezzlement, conspiracy and false pretenses in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 14, 1935. be commuted from four years to two years seven months.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to embezzlement, conspiracy and false pretenses in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of four years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and enjoyed an excellent reputation. Many responsible citizens have written to us urging us to recommend clemency.

The trial judge said that the applicant bore an excellent reputation up to the time of his arrest, and that he is satisfied with any action we take.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal. We recommend a commutation of sentence from four years to two years and seven months as the applicant will be allowed seven months and ten days off of his sentence for good behavior, permitting him to be released in June.

In re application of Frank Brzezicki, 46017, No. 3344. May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Brzezicki, convicted of robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on January 5, 1933 be commuted from 10 years to 4 years 9 months expiring on June 24, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons in 1932. He was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Delaware County Prison. The sentences of two accomplices, who received sentences of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, were commuted on our recommendation.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and his institutional record is good.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the opening session said that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency. The Executive Secretary of the Mothers' Assistance Fund of Delaware County told us that if mercy is shown in this case it will not be misplaced, and gave us a report on the family conditions.

The applicant has an excellent home to which he can go and employment has been assured if he is released. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied that he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1953.

In re application of Stanley Mackeravage, D-307, No. 3336, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences on Bills No. 1A, No. 5 and No. 5A of Stanley Mackeravage, convicted of entering a building with intent to steal in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Schuylkill County on January 15, 1935, to begin October 29, 1934, be commuted on Bill No. 1A from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 2 years 8 months, expiring June 29, 1937; on Bill No. 5 from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring June 30, 1937; and on Bill No. 5A from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring July 1, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was sentenced to serve a term of from four to eight years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on several charges of entering a building with intent to steal.

The Board of Trustees of the Penitentiary states: "(1) If eligible for parole would probably receive favorable consideration because he is a first offender. (2) Authorities at Rockview state a good institutional record on this man. While in the Graterford institution, he attempted to improve himself by attending school for five months where he made good progress. In this case there is no criminal record, therefore, the merit of the application will, no doubt, be based on individual progress and prison performance.... (3) Since this man does not have a previous criminal record, his release would probably not jeopardize society."

The trial judge states that he has no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served over two and one-half years of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1940.

Jones, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on June 5, 1935 be commuted from four years to two years expiring on June 5, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of statutory rape in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that the application had merit and that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The trial judge said he had no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that the applicant's release would probably not jeopardize society.

The applicant's wife and three children are in urgent need of his support. We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

In re application of Foster Britton, B-4143, No. 3354, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Foster Britton, convicted of assault and battery with intent to kill in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford County on May 28, 1934, be commuted from three and one-half years to three years 1 month, expiring on June 28, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to assault and battery with intent to kill in 1934. He was sentenced to serve a term of from three and one-half to seven years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first imprisonment (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative inmate."

The District attorney states: "The defendant was the victim of many unfortunate circumstances in his earlier life. All of his family lost their lives through some accident—I believe they were burned up—and he was thrown out upon the outside world without the home training that he should have had.

"He had been having trouble with his wife, and, by hearsay, it has been reported that she was going about with other men and he became very jealous and in a fit of passion shot at her.

"We submit that so far as the defendant's record here is concerned, he is entitled to a pardon provided the authorities of the Penitentiary can give him a good record during his time of incarceration."

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1941. Empoyment has been assured and arrangements have been made for a satisfactory home.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Archie Thrasher, D-1014, No. 3362, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences on Bills No. 29 and No. 30 of Archie Thrasher convicted of breaking. entering and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Sullivan County on November 19, 1935, be commuted on Bill No. 29 from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 year 7 months, expiring on June 19, 1937, and on Bill No. 30, from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring June 20, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to breaking and entering and larceny in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four to thirteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was never involved in any other trouble and his institutional record is satisfactory.

The District Attorney appeared before us and told us that in his opinion the applicant had been sufficiently punished.

The trial judge stated: "....On inquiry of dependable citizens of Sullivan County I am informed that this young man had not been deemed bad, but rather as weak and easily led. They think he has been sufficiently punished, and I am of the opinion that there is merit in the application.

The applicant will be on parole until 1945. Employment has been assured.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Shepelski, C-3378, No. 3366, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Joseph Shepelski, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on April 10, 1926, be commuted from life imprisonment to 11 years 2 months, expiring on June 10, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to murder of the first degree and was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1926. Judge Hoban, who represented the applicant, in a letter to the Restoration Director of the Eastern State Penitentiary, stated that the technical requirements for a finding of murder of the first degree were present but the crime resulted from a continual harrassment by the victim which had built up a fear in the mind of the applicant.

The parole agent who investigated the case said that the deceased was a former chief of police in Old Forge, Pennsylvania, who had been transporting prostitutes between New York and Scranton. The victim became intimate with the applicant's sister-in-law and the applicant threatened to tell her husband. Out of these circumstances a quarrel ensued and the crime resulted.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the opening session said that a finding of murder of the second degree would have been a proper finding. The applicant has served one year more than the highest possible minimum sentence that could have been imposed for murder of the second degree.

The applicant had never been involved in any other trouble. The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states that the applicant has made an honest attempt to improve himself by attending school and by learning the bakery trade, that his present attitude, prison performance and apparent honest effort to adjust himself are reasonable ground to believe his will be a fair parole risk.

The appicant has a wife and two children who are in need of his support. Employment has been assured.

The applicant had a good reputation prior to the commission of the crime. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole for life.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,

In re application of Mae B. Lee, No. 3370, May Session 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Mae B. Lee, convicted of larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Monroe County on December 21, 1935 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of larceny in 1935. She was sentenced to serve a term of from one to three years in the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy. She was released on parole at the expiration of one year under the supervision of a parole officer of that institution in Philadelphia.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble. The trial judge is not opposed to the granting of a pardon.

Senator Law appeared in behalf of the applicant and urged the granting of a pardon.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and her family and will enable her to rejoin her daughter.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to breaking and entering and larceny in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The applicant has a wife and three children who are in urgent need of his support. The only support his wife is receiving is an order of sixteen dollars ($16.00) a month from the Poor Board.

The penitentiary states that the applicant has rendered exceptional services as a teacher in the school.

The applicant will have served over one and one-half years by the time he can be released. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal. Employment has been assured and an excellent home has been provided for him.

The applicant will be on parole until 1945.

In re application of Peter William Huster, No. 3373, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Peter William Huster, convicted of embezzlement by a member of a corporation and aiding and abetting misapplication of funds in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 8, 1934 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of embezzlement by a member of a corporation and aiding and abetting misapplication of funds in 1934. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to five years in the Philadelphia County Prison. He was released on parole after having served a little over one year of his sentence.

At present the applicant is employed by Mrs. John H. McClatchy in Philadelphia. Mr. McClatchy appeared in behalf of the applicant and strongly urged the granting of clemency. The applicant enjoys an excellent reputation in the community in which he resides.

The applicant did not profit personally from the crimes for which he was convicted. He is fifty-two years of age, married and has two children.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Vernon Beattes, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Bucks County on July 3, 1933 be commuted from eight years to three years 11 months, expiring on June 3, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1931, the applicant was convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to six years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. At the expiration of the two year term he was taken to Bucks County and received a sentence of from eight to sixteen years on a charge of robbery, which offense was committed about the same time of the commission of the original crime.

The applicant has been incarcerated for over six years. He was never involved in any other trouble and his institutional record is above reproach. The trial judge and trial District Attorney stated they had no objections to the granting of clemency.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states that the applicant is attempting to improve himself and that his institutional record is above reproach.

The Honorable Eugene J. Haggerty appeared in behalf of the applicant and stated that he would employ the applicant if he is released.

We believe that applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

In re application of George Grimm, B-4308, No. 4092, May Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to charges of breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods in 1934. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four to ten years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first imprisonment (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge told us that he had no objections to the granting of clemency if restitution is made. The District Attorney expressed the same belief and added that he had received letters from the persons from whom property was stolen, to the effect that they were not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served over two-thirds of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

In re application of Martha Dettner Colvin, C-6641, No. 1971, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Martha Dettner Colvin, convicted of murder of the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County, on December 8, 1930 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 7 months, expiring July 8, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to murder of the second degree in 1930. She was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. She was never involved in any other trouble.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "If eligible this woman would probably be given a favorable recommendation.

Since this woman has never been incarcerated in the Eastern State Penitentiary the only facts we have are those reported by the Warden of Luzerne County Prison. He states that she is an honor girl in the women's section of the institution. He feels that through her institutional behaviour she has earned commutation.

According to Warden Healey, he would consider her an excellent parole risk."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he approved the application.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in 1927. He was sentenced to serve consecutive terms of imprisonment, totalling thirteen to twenty-six years. He was never involved in any other trouble.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states: "If eligible for parole soon, applicant would probably receive favorable consideration because he has no previous criminal record.

His institutional record has been satisfactory during the past four years. He has been employed two years as a teacher in the institutional school where his services have been of value. Applicant has made an attempt to improve himself by cell study....."

In re application of Charles Robert Egan, No. 2492, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles Robert Egan, convicted of larceny of auto, assault and battery with intent to kill in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on September 13, 1929 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1929, the applicant, when only seventeen years of age, plead guilty to larceny of an automobile and assault and battery with intent to kill. He was sentenced to serve a term of from eight to sixteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

In 1936, his minimum sentence was commuted on our recommendation and he was released on parole. Unusual sponsorship was provided for him in New York and the applicant has been making a remarkable readjustment. At the present time he is acting as secretary to Mr. Holton Luther, of Long Island, New York, an investment broker.

Mr. Luther is convinced that the applicant has been completely rehabilitated and appeared before us and urged the granting of a pardon in order that the applicant may advance himself in the business and social world.

The Supervisor of Paroles recommended the granting of a pardon.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of Albert Rymsza, C-8925, No. 2501, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Albert Rymsza, convicted of breaking and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on May 3, 1933, be commuted from a maximum of ten years to a minimum of 2 years and 8 months, expiring on June 21, 1937, and a maximum of ten years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1933, the applicant was convicted of breaking and entering and larceny. He was sentenced to serve a term of from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitntiary. In 1935, his sentence was commuted, on our recommendation, and the applicant was released on parole. In January of this year he was convicted of assault and battery and was sentenced to serve a term of from three to six months in the Luzerne County Prison, sentence was suspended and the applicant was placed on parole.

Because of the conviction while on parole, it was necessary to return the applicant to the penitentiary to serve the remainder of the unexpired portion of the original sentence. We believe it would be unjust to keep the applicant incarcerated for a minor parole violation for which the trial court did not see fit to have the applicant incarcerated.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of breaking, entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from three to six years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative and trusted inmate."

The trial judge states: "He (the applicant) has no previous criminal record, and I would recommend that his sentence be commuted or he be placed on parole. During the trial it was intimated that he may have a weak mental condition and probably should not be longer confined in the Western Penitentiary. I concur in this application."

In re application of John Nardo. B-4718, No. 2817, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Nardo, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 25, 1935 be commuted from four years to two years five months, expiring on June 13, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the second degree in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four to fifteen years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant is over seventy years of age. He has served over two and one-half years of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1950.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Carl Pierro, C-6930, B-4780, No. 2834, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Carl Pierro, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 26, 1931 be commuted from seven and one-half years to six years five months, expiring on June 26, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was sentenced to serve a term of from seven and one-half to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary in 1931 for robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon.

One accomplice received a sentence of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, but this sentence was set aside and a sentence of from seven to twenty years in the Philadelphia County Prison was imposed. In December 1934, this accomplice was paroled by the trial court.

Another accomplice received a sentence of from two and one half to five years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session said that because of the unequal sentences he would neither oppose nor recommend clemency.

The applicant will be on parole until 1951.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

The applicant has served over one-half of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session said that he had no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant will be on parole until 1945.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Stanley Wawsczyk, A-1841, No. 2934, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stanley Wawsczyk, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Erie County on November 14, 1934 be commuted from 4 years, 6 months to 2 years, 7 months expiring on June 14, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1934, the applicant, when only sixteen years of age, plead guilty to robbery. He was sentenced to serve four and one-half to nine years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "This inmate was transferred, on January 16, 1935, to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon, to enable him to take advantage of the trade training there, which had been his principle lack in the past. In view of their favorable report in regard to his progress, if eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend.

A representative of the Pennsylvania Industrial School appeared before us and recommended the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served over one-half of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished.

The applicant will be on parole until 1943.

Respectfully submitted,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery in 1933. He was sentenced to serve a term of from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If eligible for parole would probably receive favorable consideration.

According to the authorities of Rockview, applicant's institutional record is satisfactory.

Since this man does not have a previous record, his release would probably not jeopardize society."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session said that he did not oppose the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served over four years of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The trial judge said there is no reason to oppose the application.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) good institutional record.

The sentence of an accomplice was commuted in December, 1936.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum of sentence of John Daniel McAfee, convicted of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County on April 6, 1934 be commuted from 4 years to 3 years, 3 months, expiring on July 6, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of felonious entry and larceny. He was sentenced to serve a term of from four to eight years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If eligible for parole would probably receive favorable recommendation.

According to the report from the Rockview authorities, this man has a satisfactory record in that institution."

The trial judge had no objections to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served over three-fourths of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished.

The applicant will be on parole until 1942.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Fred J. Sperling, No. 3060, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Fred J. Sperling, convicted of abortion in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on May 29, 1930, and convicted of abortion in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on September 24, 1932, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

On two occasions the applicant was convicted of abortion and was sentenced to serve two terms of imprisonment in the Luzerne County Prison. Since his second incarceration he has been free for almost four years.

Judge Jones states: "I presided at his second trial and sentenced him to jail and he remained there until I was fully satisfied that he had been sufficiently punished to warrant a parole, and on August 7, 1933, I paroled him. Since that time he has lived in the community and I have been in a position to observe his conduct and feel quite satisfied that he has conducted himself as a decent, honorable citizen.

I join in recommending a reinstatement of his license in order that he may practice his honorable profession and rehabilitate himself in the community. I am satisfied he can and will do it."

Judge Valentine says: "As trial judge who presided when Dr. Sperling was convicted, I am of the opinion that he has been sufficiently punished and that his application should be granted. I believe that the granting of his application will have a tendency to permit him to rehabilitate himself."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session recommended the granting of a pardon.

We have a number of petitions on file containing names of approximately two hundred physicians recommending a pardon in order that the applicant may be reinstated in his profession.

The Luzerne County Homeopathic Medical Society recommended a full pardon in order that the applicant's medical license could be restored to him.

The chief cause of the applicant's becoming involved in crime was the excessive use of intoxicating liquors. We have been reliably informed that he is now a total abstainer. We believe that the applicant is entitled to another chance to practice in his chosen field.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from three to twelve years in the Western State Penitentiary. He was never involved in any other trouble and is fifty-nine years of age.

The Board of Trustees of the Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole, (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record," and add that he has a sense of social responsibility and is of good repute.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that the computation should be granted.

The applicant has served approximately two-thirds of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1947. Employment has been assured.

In re application of Ira Moore, B-4845. No. 3246, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ira Moore, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Bedford County on December 2, 1935 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 7 months expiring on July 2, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to arson in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The trial judge states: "We are convinced that the defendant has been sufficiently punished. We have further concluded that in view of his opportunities for adjustment in this County, the future welfare of himself and our citizens will not be injured by his parole. The citizens of his community are willing to take him back, help him and treat him as one of its ordinary honest citizens."

The District Attorney and the probation officer concur in the trial judge's opinion.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) very cooperative inmate.

The applicant will be on parole until 1939. Employment has been assured. He has a wife and four children who are dependent upon him for support.

In re application of Nelson Hicks, D-1871, No. 3381, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nelson Hicks, convicted of fraudulently making and publishing a written instrument in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 7, 1937 be commuted from 1 year to 6 months expiring on July 7, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to fraudulently making and publishing a written instrument in January, 1937. He was sentenced to serve a term of from one to two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was never involved in any other trouble.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: ". . . Applicant's record in the institution is satisfactory. He is employed as a clerk in the education department, associates with the better type of inmates and has attempted to improve himself by learning the duties of his present position. The fact that applicant has no previous record and restitution was made on the present charge would probably be the important factors in deciding this case. Judging from the constructive type of behaviour of this man in the institution and also his previous record outside, we feel that his release would probably not jeopardize society."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has served over one-half of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1939. Employment has been assured if the prisoner is released.

In re application of Harry Weinberg, No. 3390, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Harry Weinberg, convicted of perjury in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on May 9, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1933, the applicant plead guilty to perjury. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Philadelphia County Prison. Five days later he was released on parole.

The trial judge stated: "This was a rather badly mixed up affair and while Weinberg was technically guilty of perjury, I did not feel that he deserved much of a jail sentence. The lawyer involved at the time was suspended and we always felt that the lawyer was entirely to blame for everything that was done. I have no objection to a pardon, if his application has merit in your opinion."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session recommended a pardon.

The applicant has an outstanding reputation in the community in which he resides. He has a wife, four children and a mother who are dependent upon him for support.

The applicant is engaged in the advertising business and selling various merchandise. It is necessary to obtain mercantile licenses and on a number of occasions he has been refused because of his criminal record.

The applicant served over twenty-two months in the U. S. Army during the World War and received an honorable discharge.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to securing employment.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods in 1936. He was sentenced to serve a term of from one to five years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "His institutional record is satisfactory. He has made some effort toward self-improvement by school attendance. This man has been recommended for parole."

Reverend Walters and Reverend Kenny recommended the granting of clemency.

Reverend Walters stated that Judge Keller, who is now ill, told him that he would recommend clemency after the applicant had served six months of his sentence.

The applicant enjoys an excellent reputation. A good home has been provided for him if he is released.

The applicant will be on parole until 1941.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery in 1936. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to ten years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond J. Pyle, B-2079, Philadelphia County Prison, No. 3402, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Raymond J. Pyle, convicted of attempt to escape from prison in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 27, 1927 be commuted from 10 years to 5 months, expiring June 27, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1927, the applicant was sentenced to serve two consecutive terms of imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison of from five to twenty and five to ten years. In the County Prison he was apprehended sawing the bars of his cell and was sentenced on a charge of attempt to escape to serve a term of from ten to thirty years, beginning January of this year.

The trial judge states: "I have no objection to this application for pardon. He has served his sentence and so far as the additional term for attempting to escape is concerned, perhaps if you and I had been in the prison under the conditions that existed at that time, we would have attempted the same."

The District Attorney's office reported to us: ". . . According to information obtained by the District Attorney's office, it is true that this petitioner was treated inhumanly by former employees of the prison, but the present officals used different methods. The petitioner was given work and encouragement, which served to bring out latent qualities in him, and he is now described as "A model prisoner", and the district attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session recommended the granting of clemency.

The applicant has been incarcerated for over ten years. He has never been involved in any other trouble. We believe he has been sufficiently punished.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of Hyman Rosen, No. 3407, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Hyman Rosen, convicted of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on January 17, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was adjudged guilty of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery in 1933. He was sentenced to serve a term of sixty days in the Philadelphia County Prison but was released on parole after serving approximately twenty-three days. The crime consisted of having in his possession a few number books. He was never convicted of any other crime and enjoys an excellent reputation in the community in which he resides.

The applicant intends to get married and does not wish to be handicapped with a criminal record.

The applicant's excellent reputation and because the crime committed was not a serious one are facts which we believe entitle the applicant to a pardon.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that the application had merit.

THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of Henry Thomas Bagley, C-567, No. 3410, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Henry Thomas Bagley, convicted of robbery, assault and battery with intent to kill in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 20, 1920, be commuted from a maximum of 17 years to a minimum of 11 years and 1 month, expiring on June 11, 1937, and a maximum of 17 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery and assault and battery with intent to kill in 1920. He was sentenced to serve a term of from sixteen to seventeen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

By reason of the Ludlow Act he was released on parole in 1931. In November, 1936, he was sentenced to serve a term of three months in the Philadelphia County Prison. In February of this year he was returned to the penitentiary because of the parole violation.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that there is merit in the application.

The trial judge states: ". . . I think it is a bit unreasonable to expect this man to do all his back time because of the assault and battery by automobile upon Mrs. Vickery. I had no choice but to send him to jail in view of the evidence, but I thought three months about covered the seriousness of his crime."

The applicant will be on parole until 1943.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John McSorley, convicted of operating auto without consent of owner in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 21, 1927 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1927, the applicant plead guilty to operating an auto without consent of the owner. At the time of the commission of the crime the applicant was only nineteen years of age. He was placed on probation for one year. He was never convicted of any other crime and enjoys an excellent reputation in the community in which he resides.

Judge McDevitt said: "I have made inquiry concerning this case and it appears that it was really operating an automobile without the owner's consent instead of larceny. Judge Ferguson was inclined to give most lawbreakers at least a short sentence and I am satisfied from the record and his sentence that if he were available, he would recommend giving this man a new start."

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session said that a pardon could well be granted.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to burglary in 1936. He was sentenced to serve a term of from two to four years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The District Attorney's representative who appeared before us at the open session stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The trial judge stated: ". . . However, I would not be opposed to commutation of sentence or a pardon if the prison authorities are reasonably satisfied that this prisoner's attitude is a correct one and to be followed by reasonably close supervision for a number of years in the future. I do not think that this man is essentially a bad character. I am rather of the opinion that he was led into trouble and that he engaged in these rather desperate enterprises in order to earn money to help support his father and the rest of his family."

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: ". . . Applicant's record in the institution is satisfactory and he attempted to improve himself by attending school where he made good progress in all subjects."

The applicant will be on parole until 1940. Employment and a home will be provided for him if he is released.

In re appication of Harry Boone, No. 3435, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Boone, convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Berks County on March 25, 1937, be commuted from one year to six months, expiring on September 25, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant and five others attacked a police officer in the Borough of West Reading. The attack indirectly arose out of the strike at the Berkshire Knitting Mills. All the participants in the attack were arrested and charged with a number of different crimes. An arrangement was made with the district attorney's office to enter pleas of guilty to charges of aggravated assault and battery. One accomplice also plead guilty to carrying concealed deadly weapons. Different statements were made with regard to what sentences would satisfy the district attorney's office if pleas were entered. The applicant's attorney understood that the applicant would receive a sentence of from one year to two years was imposed on the applicant.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and has a good institutional record. While there was no real justification for the assault the fact can not be overlooked that it occurred when feeling between the strikers and the police officers was high and everyone was tense with the excitement.

The applicant and his accomplices are not criminally minded. We feel that if the applicant serves a minimum sentence of six months he will have been sufficiently punished.

The victim of the assault expended approximately $325.00 for medical care as the result of the injuries incurred. The defendants have deposited with the Probation Department of Berks County this amount but the victim has started a civil suit for damages.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Irvin Gerber, No. 3436, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Irvin Gerber, convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Berks County on March 25, 1937, be commuted from nine months to four months, expiring on July 25, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant and five others attacked a police officer in the Borough of West Reading. The attack indirectly arose out of the strike at the Berkshire Knitting Mills. All the participants in the attack were arrested and charged with a number of different crimes. The applicant's attorney understood that the applicant would receive a sentence of four months. However, the court knew nothing of any understanding with the District Attorney's office and the court advised us he never accepted pleas with conditions. A sentence of from nine months to two years was imposed on the applicant.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and has a good institutional record. In re application of Francis A. Dwyer, B-5024, No. 4052, June Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Francis A. Dwyer, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Carbon County on September 12, 1935, be commuted from three years to one year eleven months, expiring on August 12, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery in 1935. He was sentenced to serve a term of from 3 to 6 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

It appears that the applicant, an officer of the B. P. O. E., was attending a convention at Hazleton. During a period of 4 days he was continually under the influence of intoxicants. He apparently spent all his money and attempted to get some at a gas station in order that he could return home. At the time of the commission of the crime he was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

He was never involved in any other trouble and had an excellent reputation. Many character letters were mailed to the sentencing judge, copies of which are on file, attesting to the good character of the applicant. These letters were from judges, priests, city officials, doctors, lawyers and business men.

The District Attorney of Carbon County states: ". . . I believe this is a meritorious application and this office has no objection to enter against the said Francis A. Dwyer."

Mr. W. K. Nichol, Chief Clerk of the Baltimore and Ohio, presented the application and recommended clemency.

The applicant has taken a pledge to abstain from intoxicating liquors for the period of his parole.

An excellent home has been provided.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal. He will be on parole until 1941.

THOMAS KENNEDY,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Toliver, B-1585, No. 472, September Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill 56 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 57 of Louis Toliver, convicted of entering a building, larceny, and receiving stolen goods, Bills 56 and 57, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on September 18, 1929 be commuted on Bill No. 56 from a maximum of 8 years to a maximum of 7 years 11 months 29 days, expiring on September 17, 1937, and on Bill No. 57 from a minimum of 4 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on September 18, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1930 the applicant plead nolle contendere to a charge of robbery and receiving stolen goods. He was found guilty and sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole if eligible "(1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leonard Sinkiewicz, B-5016, No. 3467, September Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Leonard Sinkiewicz, convicted of robbery with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on November 25, 1935 be commuted from five years to 1 year 11 months, expiring on October 25, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in 1935 and was sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary have no personal knowledge of the conduct of the prisoner as he was transferred to Rockview on the twenty-third day of May, 1935. The authorities of that institution state that his conduct record there is good.

The assistant District Attorney, Mr. Dando, of Luzerne County stated that he had no objections to the granting of the application.

Employment for the applicant has been assured and responsible sponsors have appeared for him. He has made full restitution of the money that he stole.

The applicant has served one year and eleven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the control of the parole board until November 25, 1945.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank P. Murphy, No. 3469, September Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Frank P. Murphy, convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 13, 1934 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to a charge of aggravated assault and battery and was sentenced to five years on probation.

The investigation of the parole officer disclosed that the applicant is president of the Keystone Dyeing Company and lives in very excellent environment. His business reputation is quite excellent.

The Honorable Harry S. McDevitt was opposed to the granting of a pardon, while the assistant District Attorney, Tracey, saw no objection to the application.

The applicant conducts his own business in Philadelphia, being a hosiery dyer, and employs some twenty people in his plant. His business and home conditions are excellent and his business reputation is very good.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his business career.

In re application of Thomas Bryan Speight, C-7175, No. 3471, September Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thomas Bryan Speight, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Berks County on April 8, 1931 be commuted from seven years, six months to six years, six months, expiring on October 8, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of robbery in 1931 and was sentenced to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from seven and one-half to fifteen years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has an excellent institutional record and would probably make satisfactory adjustment upon release.

The trial judge did not reply to our letter of inquiry but the present District Attorney gave us no recommendation and left the matter entirely to the discretion of the Board.

The applicant has served six years and six months of his minimum sentence and we believe he has been sufficiently punished. He will be under the control of the Parole Board until April 8, 1946.

Employment has been assured and his brother is now here in the State ready to take him to his home in New Mexico.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1933, the applicant was sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from one to two years. He was released on parole on the twenty-ninth day of November, 1934, and was discharged from parole on the twenty-ninth day of November, 1935.

The Supervisor of Paroles offered no objections to the granting of this pardon as the applicant's parole history has been satisfactory.

The trial judge, the Honorable Benjamin R. Jones stated that the application is a meritorious one. The former District Attorney, Thomas M. Lewis, stated that he had no objection to the granting of this application and " . . . I believe the applicant will merit any consideration extended to him by the Board."

Many letters have been filed from prominent citizens in Wilkes-Barre testifying as to the exemplary habits and steady employment of Mr. Blumenthal since his release.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement in business.

Respectfully submitted,

BOAR OF PARDONS

In re application of Mike Jaba, C-4289, No. 73A, October Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 456 of Mike Jaba, convicted of breaking and larceny, Bills No. 457 and 456, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on December 27, 1927, be commuted on Bill No. 456 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on December 28, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

The applicant has served two years and three months of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished. He will be under the Supervision of the parole board until December of 1952.

In re application of Jane Mackenzie, No. 3483, Octobe Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth o Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon du public notice, in open session, the undersigned member of the Board of Pardons recommend that Jane Macken zie, convicted of keeping a bawdy house in the Court o Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on January 1 1937, be pardoned.

The applicant is 58 years old and is a registere trained nurse, practicing her profession in Alleghen County and vicinity.

The Honorable Joseph A. Richardson of Alleghen County states: "This women — well into middle age - is not, and never was, a criminal. The granting of pardon would, under the circumstances, be an act o mercy and the means of preventing terrible disaster t her."

The probation officer in charge of women of Alleghen County, Mrs. Florine Koegler, states that "she has ha fairly regular work due to the fact that she has established herself with several reputable physicians of this community."

The United States Department of Labor, Immigration Bureau, has a deportation order lodged for the reason that the applicant, born in Scotland and unnaturalized, may be deported for the crime of which she was convicted.

The Board of Pardons believes that a woman who has established herself in her profession and has a recommendation from reputable physicians in Allegheny County, such as Dr. Harry Ellis Canter, Dr. J. B. Gold, Dr. H. A. Foreman, and others, should not be returned to her native land at her time of life to face the problem of existence in a strange country after residing in the United States for many years.

The Board believes that a grave injustice would be done in permitting her deportation.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in her business career.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leon Kuhn, C-6983, No. 78A, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences on Bills No. 21, 23, 26, 27, 28 of Leon Kuhn, convicted of felonious entry and larceny, Bills No. 42, 21, 23, 27, 26, 28, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Cumberland County on January 26, 1931, be commuted on Bills No. 21, 23, 26, 27 and 28 from minimums of 1 year to minimums of 1 day, expiring on February 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Charles Gray, C-4293, No. 79A, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 11 of Charles Gray, convicted of arson, Bills No. 9 and 11, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Bucks County on January 3, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 11 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on January 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of James Mascara, B-557, No. 1512, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences on Bills No. 114 and 115 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 118 of James Mascara, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on December 24, 1927, be commuted on Bill No. 114 from a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 4 years, 11 months, 28 days, expiring December 22, 1937; and on Bill No. 115 from a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring December 23, 1937; and on Bill No. 118 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day (Bills Nos. 110, 111, 112, 116, 117, 131, 132 concurrent) expiring December 24, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. In re application of Basilio Emma, No. 1762, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Basilio Emma, convicted of (1) Solicitation to commit sodomy, (2) indecent exposure in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on (1) September 27, 1929 (2) July 25, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of solicitation to commit sodomy. He was found guilty and on September 27, 1929, by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County, was sentenced to pay a fine of three hundred dollars and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to four years. He was discharged at the expiration of his minimum sentence on September 27, 1931.

In 1933, the applicant plead not guilty to the crime of indecent exposure and was sentenced by the Philadelphia County Court to one year in the Philadelphia County Prison, and was released at the expiration of his sentence on the twenty-fifth day of July, 1934.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun states as follows: "This is a matter on which I, as one of the trial judges in one of the cases, do not deem it within the scope of my functions, to express an opinion. The judicial processes relating to the cases mentioned have been completed. Whether the State of Pennsylvania will lend itself to the proposal made is a question of policy which must be determined by the Board of Pardons as part of the Executive Branch of the State Government."

The District Attorney's office permitted the matter to rest with the decision of the Board.

The applicant is frankly requesting a pardon to avoid deportation. The applicant is now employed as a stone mason and is earning about twenty dollars a week. His home is in Philadelphia and is very good. His reputation is fair. He has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner since his release from prison and wishes to reside in this country because of his family relationship, having a wife and son.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement and to the prevention of his deportation.

In re application of Edmund Lawler, C-7526, No. 2077, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edmund Lawler, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 23, 1931 be commuted from ten years to 6 years, 1 month, expiring on December 23, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 23rd day of November, 1931.

The Board of Trustees report that the applicant has a good institution record, which includes a constructive effort of self-improvement. This indicates a desire to earn a living in a manner acceptable to society. He has been employed in the printing department of the penitentiary and has learned to work as a pressman.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "I do feel, however, that the applicant has benefited and there has been considerable rehabilitation effected."

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to the granting but states he would have no objection if the prisoner had rehabilitated himself while in the institution.

The applicant is assured of employment with the Strafford Laundry Company, 3508 Haverford Ave., Phila., where he will be employed as a salesman. His past record with that business house has been good and he was considered a valued employee. He will reside with his uncle in Philadelphia upon his release.

The applicant will have served six years and one month of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until November, 1951.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of William T. Ramsey, C-8306, No. 2141, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William T. Ramsey, convicted of embezzlement in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on September 30, 1932 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of embezzlement in 1932, and was sentenced to serve a term of from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. An application to the Board of Pardons for commutation of his sentence was granted on the thirteenth day of December, 1935.

The applicant was never involved in any other crime and since his release on parole he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. He enjoys an excellent reputation.

At the present time his health is in a precarious condition, having a cancerous growth on the face above the right eye, and from the opinion of his attending physician, Dr. J. G. Cohen, of Philadelphia, his life is despaired. His illness is a mortal one.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Roger Franefield, writes us, under date of November 13, that he is not opposed to the pardoning of Ramsey.

The applicant has a wife and son, and this pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant so that his closing hours on earth may be free from the stigma of his offense.

The District Attorney offered no objection to the pardon and, indeed, joined with the applicant in the plea for pardon.

In re application of Vincenzo Moschillo, B-3669, No. 2459, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Vincenzo Moschillo, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 21, 1933 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 8 months expiring on December 21, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from six to twelve years on April 21, 1933, by the Allegheny County Court of Oyer and Terminer.

The trial judge, the Honorable Norman T. Boose, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merit of the application. However, the assistant District Attorney, Adams, of Allegheny County, believed that there was merit in the application. James F. Haggerty, assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County, states: "I personally felt that the ends of justice will be satisfied if the applicant is released so that the little boy can be reunited with his father. The mother, I understand, has been dead for some time."

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states that they would recommend him for parole for the reason that this was his first conviction, having no prior criminal record, second, that he had a very good institutional record.

The applicant is assured of employment with a contracting concern in Wilmerding, Pennsylvania, and will reside with one, Mrs. Rosa Alfieri and her husband, of Wilmerding, Pennsylvania. He has dependent upon him a son, age 14.

The applicant has served 4 years and 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the parole board until April 21, 1945.

In re application of Walter Joyce, C-8374, No. 2574, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter Joyce, convicted of rape, larceny and receiving in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on October 15, 1932, and convicted of driving while intoxicated in the Court of Criminal Court of Bradford County on April 19, 1936, be commuted from a maximum of 15 years on Bill No. 60 to a minimum of 4 years 5 months and 20 days, expiring December 23, 1937, and a maximum of 15 years; and on Bill No. 944 from a maximum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 24, 1937, and a maximum of 3 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of rape, larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lackawanna County from nine to eighteen years in October of 1932. His sentence was commuted on the 30th day of October, 1935, to a new minimum of 3 years and 1 month, expiring on the 15th day of November, 1935, and he was paroled on the 6th day of December, 1935.

While on parole, the applicant was found guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated and was sentenced on the 19th day of April, 1936, to a term of ninety days in the Bradford County Jail and was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary to serve the unexpired term of his sentence on the 24th day of August, 1936.

Both the present judge, the Honorable Will H. Leach, and the Honorable E. C. Culver, did not reply to our inquiry requesting their opinion as to the merit of his application. Nor did the District Attorneys of Lackawanna and Bradford counties indicate their position on this application.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James McKendree, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of McKean County on October 1, 1934 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 2 months expiring on December 1, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

On October 1, 1934, the applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of McKean County to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and serve from five to ten years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles G. Hubbard, of McKean County, states as follows: ". . . In view of the fact that this applicant did not have a very bad record previous to the time of the offense for which he was sentenced, I feel that it will be just for him to be paroled at this time. The two other defendants who were implicated with McKendree have both been free for some time."

The District Attorney, the Honorable Claude W. Shattuck, in a telephone conversation on the twelfth day of November, 1937, withdrew any objection that he might have to the granting of this application.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would recommend him for parole, first, because this is his first imprisonment and second, because of his excellent institutional record.

The applicant is assured of employment by his father and will reside with his parents in Kane, Pennsylvania. He will have served three years and two months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until the first of October, 1944.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Zalick, B-3924, No. 2820, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 71 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 42 (with six concurrent bills) of George Zalick, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, felonious attempt to kill and murder, Bills Nos. 71 and 42 (Bills Nos. 43, 44, 48, 51, 55, 69 concurrent with No. 42) in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County of December 21, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 71 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 3 years 11 months 29 days expiring December 20, 1937; and on Bill No. 42 (with 6 concurrent bills) from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 21, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.

In re application of Frank Coleman, No. 3532, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Frank Coleman, convicted of assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on December 7, 1933, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of assault and battery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to one year in the Philadelphia County Prison on December 7, 1933. He was discharged on the second day of March, 1934, for the remainder of his sentence, being placed on parole for eight months.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states as follows: "I have no objection to this man's pardon, for I paroled him shortly after I sentenced him because his family needed his help. So far as I can ascertain, he has been in no difficulty since that time."

Assistant District Attorney James W. Tracey, Jr., of Philadelphia County, offered no objection to the granting of a pardon.

The applicant is now employed, and he has been since January, 1935, with the Home Life Insurance Company. He has a family consisting of a wife and three children, ages 13 years, 8 years, and 6 months. His home conditions are very good and the reputation of the applicant is excellent.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Felice Russo, convicted of aggravated assault and battery to kill, carrying concealed deadly weapons, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of York County, on August 25, 1925, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to aggravated assault and battery to kill, carrying concealed deadly weapons, etc., and was sentenced by the York County Court of Oyer and Terminer to pay a fine of one dollar and to serve from three and one-half to seven years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 25th day of August, 1925.

The applicant served his minimum sentence and was paroled on February 26, 1929, and was under the supervision of the parole board until August of 1932, when he was finally discharged.

The District Attorney of York County, the Honorable Walter I. Anderson, has no objection to the pardoning of the applicant.

The trial judge, the Honorable Nevin N. Wanner, was non-commital as to the merits of the application and stated as follows: ". . . I can not give you any judicial opinion on the merits of his application as presented to the Board, because I have not heard the evidence offered or seen any copy of it, and it is upon that that your decision must be based . . ."

During the time that the applicant has been on parole he has conducted himself quite satisfactorily. He desires to become a United States citizen and if this pardon is not granted he will be deported. He has dependent upon him a wife and a small son, age three years. At present he is the proprietor of a barber shop in Philadelphia and earns approximately twenty-five hundred dollars a year.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of John Sweitzer, B-5365, No. 3534, November Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Sweitzer, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Somerset County on January 15, 1937 be commuted from one and one-half years to 11 months expiring on December 15, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of breaking and entering and larceny and was sentenced by the Courts of Somerset County to the Western State Penitentiary for from one and one-half to three years on the fifteenth day of January, 1937. The applicant was found guilty on circumstantial evidence that he had stolen three hams from one, Jacob Glessner.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary recommend the applicant for parole subject to employment and a sponsor, as his institutional record has been excellent and his attitude has been cooperative.

The Honorable Norman T. Boose, trial judge, states that if Mr. Sweitzer makes an application for parole he will not oppose it. The District Attorney, the Honorable Archibald W. Mathews, however, opposed the application.

Employment has been assured the applicant by Mr. J. Walker of Berlin, Pennsylvania, and his sponsor is Mr. Ray Snyder of Markleton, Pennsylvania. He will reside with his family, consisting of his wife and little boy, who need his support very much as they are now dependent on public charity.

The Honorable Will Leach, president judge of Lackawanna County, states as follows: "This man was a valuable witness in the conviction of a professional fire bug. The sentence was mandatory under the law or it would not have been imposed."

The District Attorney, Michael J. Egan, of Lackawanna County, offered no objection or opposition to the granting of the application for the commutation of sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that his conduct record is satisfactory. That he has been neat and clean about his person and has been very cooperative and has no previous criminal record.

In re application of Hugh McCafferty, No. 841, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Hugh McCafferty, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on August 9, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the charge of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon and larceny of an automobile and was sentenced in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 9th day of August, 1928, to from fifteen to thirty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. This minimum sentence was commuted to seven years in June, 1935, expiring on August 9, 1935.

An investigation by the parole officer discloses that the applicant's behavior is excellent and that he is now employed and has been for the past two years as a truck driver for the Branch Storage Company and has proved to be a loyal and efficient employee.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edwin O. Lewis, directed Mr. E. M. Hackney, Chief Probation Officer of Philadelphia County, to advise the Board that "the court has no further recommendation or comment to make and leaves the matter to the discretion of your Honorable Board after a diligent inquiry and investigation of the case has been made."

Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that he was satisfied to recommend a pardon for the applicant.

The applicant requests a pardon in order to be eligible for a bond that is necessary in the conduct of his business.

Investigation discloses that the applicant's home conditions and environment are excellent and that his sponsor is of excellent character.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Shoaf, B-3088, No. 1254, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 298 and the maximum sentences on Bills No. 233 and 297, of Charles Shoaf, convicted of felonious breaking and entering and larceny (12), in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on January 23, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 233 from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 2 years 11 months 28 days, expiring January 21, 1938; and on Bill No. 297 from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring January 22, 1938; and on Bill No. 298 from a minimum of 1½ years (with 3 concurrent bills) to a minimum of 1 day, expiring January 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of C. Gilbert Crawford, C-6295, No. 1315, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences on Bills No. 633 and 635 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 634 of C. Gilbert Crawford, convicted of rape, taking female under 16 for sexual intercourse, soliciting to commit sodomy, seduction under promise of marriage, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 2, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 633 from a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 4 years 5 months 15 days, expiring December 17, 1937, on Bill No. 635 from a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on December 18, 1937; and on Bill No. 634 from a minimum of 7½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 19, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of rape, taking a female child under sixteen for sexual intercourse, solicitation to commit sodomy, seduction under promise of marriage and was sentenced by the Philadelphia County Courts to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from fourteen to twenty-eight years on the 2d day of July, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his institutional record is satisfactory and, further, that absence of any suspicion concerning his moral conduct, together with the fact that he has no previous criminal record makes him eligible for their recommedation for a parole.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states that "he is a dangerous man and his present address should not be changed at this time." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., believes that seven and one-half years confined in the Eastern State Penitentiary is sufficient penalty for these crimes.

The testimony which was divulged upon investigation by the parole department and made in conjunction with County Detective James McColgan of Philadelphia County, raised the doubt as to whether the applicant was actually guilty of rape, sodomy and solicitation to commit sodomy. There is no question that he was guilty of fornication.

The applicant is a detective by profession and from the signed statements of numerous individuals who employed his services prior to his conviction, attested to his ability in that profession. He materially assisted the District Attorney's office of Delaware County in the famous Dalton murder case. The first assistant District Attorney, Wm. J. MacCarter, Jr., states that he was honest, truthful and conscientious and the best detective he had ever known.

Employment is assured in his profession and the applicant will reside with his relatives and his three children, the wife having died, in Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served over seven years and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the control of the parole board until 1953.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Henry Kramer, B-2828, No. 1545, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences on Bills No. 1166 and No. 1167 and the minimum on Bill No. 1168 of George Henry Kramer, convicted of forgery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on August 27, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 1166 from a maximum of 4 years to a minimum of 2 years 3 months 15 days, expiring December 12, 1937; on Bill No. 1167 from a maximum of 4 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 13, 1937, and a maximum of 4 years, and on Bill No. 1168, from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring December 14, 1937 and a maximum of 4 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of forgery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County to from eight to sixteen years in the Western State Penitentiary on the twenty-seventh day of August, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary on the twenty-seventh day of August, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that he has been an exceptional inmate and has been very cooperative and now holds a position in the penitentiary as a trusted hospital nurse.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner, did not reply to our letter of inquiry but the assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant is assured of employment in the Allegheny County Home under the direction and sponsorship of Dr. G. P. Hammill, resident physician.

The applicant will have served six years and four months of his minimum sentence and he will be under the supervision of the parole board until the twenty-seventh day of August, 1947.

In re application of Glenn Warren, C-7814, No. 1995, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 3 of Glenn Warren, convicted of burglary, Bills No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions in the County of Franklin on February 27, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 3 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on February 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Skrocki, B-2342, No. 2626, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 27 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 28 of John Skrocki, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on November 24, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 27 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 7 years, expiring on November 24, 1937; and on Bill No. 28 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring November 25, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of robbery and was sentenced by the Allegheny County Court to from twenty to forty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 24th day of November, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would recommend him for parole as this was his first conviction, second, a youth of 18 at the time of the conviction and of his general satisfactory prison conduct.

Of the six accomplices in the crimes, four of them have been paroled and two are still confined in the penitentiary. The applicant was not the ring leader in this group of boys in the series of crimes that they committed.

The trial judge, the Honorable George V. Moore, states that "at this time I think there is merit in this application." Likewise, the assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, entered no opposition to the application and believed that it was merited.

Employment is assured the applicant at Roschie's Print Shop, 319 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and he will reside at the home of his parents in Pittsburgh, under the sponsorship of his mother.

The applicant has served seven years and one month of his minimum sentence and we believe he has been sufficiently punished.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Russell Ranert, C-8145, No. 2729, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Russell Ranert, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on July 21, 1932, to begin June 2, 1932 be commuted from ten years to 5 years, 6 months expiring on December 2, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In 1932, the applicant was sentenced to serve a term of from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for robbery. The applicant has served almost one-half of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "This man would probably be recommended for parole."

The applicant has exceptional institutional record. He is employed as a barber and during the disturbance in the institution he performed his duties even though he was criticized by the other inmates. He has always attempted to live up to the rules and regulations irrespective of the difficulties of the situation. In light of this unusual record, we feel that he merits consideration.

He has apparently made definite effort to adjust his manner of living and his entire record in the institution will lead us to believe he has an honest intention to live a law abiding life. We feel that his release would not jeopardize society.

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished. He will be on parole until 1952. He has sufficient money saved to established himself in the barber business.

In re application of Louis Catlin, B-3215, No. 2756, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Louis Catlin, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County, on April 30, 1032, be commuted from 9 years to 5 years, 7 months, expiring on November 30, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to murder of the second degree in 1932. He was sentenced to serve a term of from nine to eighteen years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record." and add "The crime was an emotional one resulting from the prisoner's fright at the threats of the victim."

The parole agent who investigated the case also reported that the crime resulted because of the applicant's fear of the deceased.

The applicant was never involved in any other trouble and had a good reputation. He has served over five years of his minimum sentence. We believe he has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant will be on parole until 1950.

In re application of Silas Freelan Preston, B-2258, No. 2797, December Session, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of entering with intent to commit a felony and was sentenced by the Allegheny County Court to the Western State Penitentiary for from six to twelve years on the seventh day of November, 1929, and for escape from prison he was sentenced on the sixteenth day of October, 1930, to from one to two years, sentence to begin at the expiration of the original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that he has an excellent institutional record. His escape from the Western State Penitentiary was a technical one, as he was recaptured in the front yard of the prison within the walls.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable H. H. Rowand, and the Honorable George V. Moore, did not reply to our letters of inquiry.

The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, was not opposed to the application for the commutation of his sentence.

The applicant is assured of employment by his uncle, Mr. J. T. Richardson of Rocky Gap, Virginia. He will reside at his home in Virginia, and according to the investigation of the parole agent it is a satisfactory home.

The applicant has no previous criminal record and his crime was committed without the use of offensive weapons. He has displayed a good institutional attitude and is quiet and of clean habits. The boy was eighteen years of age at the commission of this crime, with a record of no previous arrests.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth o Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon du public notice, in open session, the undersigned member of the Board of Pardons recommend that Edward J. Mc Gonigle, convicted of fornication and bastardy in th Court of Municipal Court of Philadelphia County, on Jun 1, 1936 be pardoned, conditioned upon payment of th lying in expenses of $64.00 at rate of fifty cents a wee and $3.50 per week for sixteen years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are a follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of fornica tion and bastardy and was sentenced to pay $64.00 lyin in expenses at the rate of fifty cents a week and $3.5 a week for the support of the child for sixteen years b the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County on the first day of June, 1936.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Theodore Rosen, did not reply to our inquiry, but the assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., has no objection to the petition provided he continued to pay the order of the Court for the support of the child.

The applicant is now employed in the maintenance department of the Board of Education of Philadelphia and has filed an application for employment with the Fire Department of Philadelphia, and upon the Civil Service Examination he ranked among the leaders with every chance of his being appointed at the Fire Department on the first of the year.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Z. Bradfield, No. 3544, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Z. Bradfield, convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on July 9, 1937, be pardoned..

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of involuntary manslaughter and was sentenced on the 9th day of July, 1937, to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and undergo imprisonment in the Lancaster County Prison for one year.

The investigation of the parole agent discloses that the applicant is a railroad engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and has been in the service of the railroad company for 49 years. He, at present, ranks No. 3 on the seniority list. If the pardon is not granted he will lose his seniority position and likewise endanger his retirement pension under the Federal Pension plan.

The applicant has led an exemplary life for many years and is held in high esteem in his home, Havre de Grace, Maryland. His character, reputation and work record with the Pennsylvania Railroad has been attested to by the Honorable Millard E. Tydings, U. S. Senator from Maryland, the Honorable Howard W. Jackson, Mayor of Baltimore, the Honorable G. Arnold Pfaffenback, House of Delegates, Maryland, and many other prominent citizens of the State of Maryland.

The trial judge, the Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, states that the facts are before the Board and he does not care to intrude his judgment upon the deliberations of the Board.

The District Attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, opposed the application and requested that a pardon be denied.

The applicant will return to his position as a locomotive engineer with the Pennsylvania Railroad and will reside at his home in Havre de Grace, Maryland, which is excellent.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will assure him the benefits of being pensioned from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company with whom he has been associated for nearly fifty years, and without the pardon he would lose the efforts of a life time of service.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Telech, D-1410, No. 3546, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Michael Telech, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Sullivan County on June 12, 1936 be commuted from 5 years to 1 year, 6 months expiring on December 12, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of arson and was sentenced by the courts of Sullivan County to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the twelfth day of June, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this applicant's institutional record is excellent and that he has shown definite habits of industry and attempts at self-improvement. It is felt that there are favorable possibilities for his rehabilitation when released to society.

The Honorable Edward B. Farr, trial judge states that he has no objection to granting the petition of the applicant for the commutation of his sentence. Associate Justice, Don E. Hughes, states that the year and one-half that he has already spent in prison is sufficient punishment.

The District Attorney of Sullivan County, the Honorable T. F. Kernan, did not express himself in relation to the application.

Many citizens of Sullivan County signed a petition requesting that Michael Telech be released.

The applicant is assured of employment in the city of Lopez, Pennsylvania, and will reside with his aged mother in Lopez. The applicant will have served more than one year and six months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the parole board until June 12, 1946.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:
GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

In re application of Edward Wilson McCartney, Jr., B-5179, No. 3548, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Wilson McCartney, Jr. convicted of larceny of automobiles and driving without owner's consent in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 9, 1936 be commuted from 5 years to 1 year, 8 months expiring on December 9, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of larceny of automobiles and driving without the owner's consent and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to from five to ten years imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary, on the ninth day of April, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that he has an excellent institutional record, is very cooperative, associates with the better class of inmates and has improved himself by attending school. They believe that this man would probably readjust himself if released to society.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states that the applicant took the automobiles for joy riding and not for sale and that he gave him a comparatively ligh sentence in view of this crime. Assistant District At torney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he took thes cars only for joy rides and not for sale and believes tha the sentence imposed was a "stiff" one.

The applicant has served one year and eight month of his minimum sentence and we believe he has been suffi ciently punished. Employment has been assured and h will live with his father, who provides an excellent hom

The applicant will be on parole until 1946.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are a follows:

The applicant plead guilty in the Quarter Sessions Cou of Allegheny County to a charge of defrauding a board ing house keeper and was placed on probation for si months.

The investigation of the parole officer disclosed tha the applicant would be required to return to the Wester State Penitentiary for a period of eight years because o this offense, and the Board believed that an 8 year sentenc for a minor offense was too severe in view of the fac that the applicant has been on parole since 1931, a perio of over six years, and maintained a very excellent recor while on parole.

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Gray, recom mends that the applicant should be paroled. Likewis assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, expressed h agreement in granting the application.

The applicant will be under the supervision of th parole board until March of 1939.

The applicant conducts an Infants and Childrens Wear Store at 2856 Kensington Avenue, Philadelphia. His busiess and home conditions are excellent and he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner since his arrest.

The applicant had no prior criminal record. A pardon vill in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business career.

In re application of Pasquale de Rogatis, No. 3569, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Pasquale de Rogatis, convicted of (1) unlawful possession of liquor (2) unlawful possession and sale of liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on (1) September 18, 1925 (2) October 23, 1925 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor and guilty to a charge of unlawful possession and sale of intoxicating liquor, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County in September and October 1925 to a fine of $100.00 and one year probation on the unlawful possession charge and found guilty with sentence suspended on the charge of possession and sale.

An investigation by our parole officer disclosed that the petitioner has conducted himself in an exemplary manner and he has been entirely free of any law violations since his arrest, and his conduct on all occasions has been of the very best. At present he is employed in the office of the Coroner of Philadelphia County as a Deputy.

The Honorable Howard A. Davis directed the Chief Probation Officer, Mr. E. M. Hackney of Philadelphia County, to advise the Board that the defendant was not sentenced by him and therefore he has no recommendation to make, being of the opinion that it is a matter for the pardon board to determine after a thorough investigation has been made of the defendant and his prior history. The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., offered no objection to the granting of a pardon and believes that clemency should be extended.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his career.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Ben Wells, C-8878, No. 3574, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ben Wells, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 20, 1933 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, 8 months expiring on December 20, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to a charge of assault and battery with intent to rob and was sentenced by the Courts of Philadelphia County to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 20th day of April, 1933.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has a good institutional record and that there is every possibility of his rehabilitating himself when released.

The trial judge, the Honorable Frank Smith, did not reply to our letter of inquiry but the assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that if his institutional record has been satisfactory there is no reason that the application should not be granted.

There was some question as to the guilt of the aplicant involving a street fight between white boys and colored boys in the neighborhood and some of the boys who were sent to the Pennsylvania Industrial School have been released. In a sworn statement by one of the boys convicted of this robbery the applicant was not in the group that were accused of the robbery.

The applicant has served four years and eight months of his minimum sentence and he will be under the supervision of the parole board until the 20th day of April, 1943.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Willard A. Hay, D-2125, No. 3578, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Willard A. Hay, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Monroe County on April 5, 1937 be commuted from 2 years to 8 months expiring on December 5, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to a charge of arson and was sentenced to imprisonment on the fifth day of April, 1937, in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to four years.

The Board of Trustees of the institution state that his institutional record is satisfactory and he has no previous criminal record.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Samuel E. Shull, states that he has no facts concerning the applicant which are not disclosed by the record or which would be of any assistance to the Board of Pardons in disposing of the case. The District Attorney, the Honorable George G. Shafer, states that in his opinion the application is meritorious.

Well over three hundred citizens of Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap have petitioned the Board in favor of granting clemency for the applicant. Letters in behalf of the applicant are on file from many of the leading citizens of Delaware Water Gap, Pennsylvania, and East Stroudsburg, attesting to the character of Willard A. Hay.

The applicant has served eight and one-half months of his minimum sentence of two years and we believe he has been sufficiently punished.

The applicant has no previous record. Employment has been assured and he will be under proper sponsorship in his home town of Delaware Water Gap, Pennsylvania. He will be under the supervision of the pardon board until the fifth day of April, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Angelo Litz, No. 3581, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Angelo Litz, convicted of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County, on June 5, 1937 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to larceny of an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary on the 15th day of June, 1935, for from one to two years. He was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on the 27th day of June, 1936. On the 5th day of June, 1937, the applicant was arrested for driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and sentenced to pay a fine of $200.00 and costs.

Because of this conviction it will be necessary to return the applicant to the Western State Penitentiary to serve the unexpired term of his maximum sentence unless a pardon is granted.

The applicant's family is totally dependent upon the applicant and his wife is now seriously ill with impetigo, which makes it impossible for her to attend to her household duties and to take care of the children, aged two and four years.

The Honorable John H. Wilson of Butler County concurs in the recommendation for clemency for the applicant. Likewise, the District Attorney, the Honorable Lee C. McCandless, states that he does not hesitate to recommend that the application for clemency be granted.

The applicant is employed as a painter for the City of Butler and he will reside at his home, which is quite satisfactory. A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will avoid the necessity of his return to the penitentiary.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Bartley V. Coffey, No. 3583, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Bartley V. Coffey, convicted of (1) larceny (2) robbery, Bills No. 10 and No. 11 in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on (1) January 30, 1937, (2) March 11, 1932 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nole contendere in the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County to a charge of larceny and was sentenced on the 30th day of January, 1897, to spend 30 days in the Allegheny County Work House. The applicant further plead not guilty to the charge of robbery and was sentenced by the Allegheny County Courts on March 11, 1902, and modified by the Court on May 21, 1902, to undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County Work House for two years.

Since his release the applicant has led an exemplary life. He has been connected with the office of the Sheriff of Allegheny County for a period of thirty-five years and is now a Chief Deputy Sheriff of Allegheny County. During all this period of time he has never been arrested nor has there been any suspicion of misconduct on his part.

The Honorable Ambrose V. Reid states: "The applicant bears an excellent reputation for honesty and integrity and I have no hesitation in recommending a pardon in his case." Likewise, the Superintendent of the Allegheny County Work House, Mr. Robert H. Braun, joins with the applicant in his petition for clemency.

The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, was not opposed and joins in the petition for clemency.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his career.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Katz, D-2314, No. 3593, December Session, 1937.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Katz, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 12, 1937 be commuted from 1 year on Bill No. 182 to 6 months expiring on January 12, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the charge of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was sentenced on the seventh day of July, 1937, to from one to two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of that institution state that this man has a good conduct record and has attempted to improve himself since he has been in the institution.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward B. Farr, states that he is not opposed to parole provided arrangements are made to pay the balance due the Reading Railroad Company for the goods stolen and also the fine and costs of the trial. The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., Esquire, offered no objection to the application.

The Board of Pardons has been assured that $298.00 has been paid in restitution towards the amount of $798.00 which was ordered by the Court to be repaid and Mr. Milton Lundy, of 532 North Second Street, Philadelphia has guaranteed to reduce the $500.00 balance by payments of ten dollars per week over a period of fifty weeks.

The Board recommends that the commutation of the applicant's sentence be granted subject to the payment of the balance of the amount due the Reading Railroad Company and the fine of $50.00 and costs of the trial.

The applicant will have served six months of his minimum sentence and we believe he has been sufficiently punished. Employment has been assured and he will be under the control of the Board of Pardons until the twelfth day of July, 1939.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas J. McCue, C-3965, No. 79, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 1162 and the minimum sentences on Bills No. 1163, 1165, 1166, 1168, of Thomas J. McCue, convicted of rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Philadelphia County on May 26, 1927, be commuted on Bill No. 1162 from a maximum of 15 years to a maximum of 10 years 9 months, expiring February 26, 1938; on Bill No. 1163, from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 27, 1938; on Bill No. 1164, from a minimum of 7½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 28, 1938; on Bill No. 1165, from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 1, 1938; on Bill No. 1166 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 2, 1938; and on Bill No. 1168 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of rape in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from twenty-five to fifty years on the 28th day of May, 1927.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary are unable to predict the applicant's future behavior but during his confinement there has not been any suspicion of perversion or unusual interest in sexual matter since he has been in the institution. His prior criminal record consists only of one arrest for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

The applicant is 61 years of age and was accused of having intercourse with girls under sixteen years of age.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states that he believes that time has cured the criminal instincts of this applicant and he has no objection to any action we take.

The assistant District Attorney, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he believed that the applicant has served enough for this crime. Likewise, the Senior Parole Officer of the Eastern State Penitentiary, Mr. Frank P. Tucker, believes that clemency should be extended and the Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary, Father Bernard C. Farley, likewise expressed the opinion that clemency could properly be extended in this case.

The investigation of the Board of Pardons reveals that he will be provided a home with his neice in Philadelphia. This home is commodious and well located. The employment of this man is questionable because of his advanced years. The applicant will have served 10 years and 8 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 26, 1973.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ira Embrey, C-6335, No. 83A January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 41 of Ira Embrey, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to steal, Bills No. 40 and No. 41, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Tioga County on July 31, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 41 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring August 31, 1937.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Parole Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,

In re application of Francis R. Lewis, C-5064, No. 506, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Francis R. Lewis, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County, on December 3, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of arson and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County on the third day of December, 1928, to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary to from five to twenty years. The applicant was released at the expiration of his minimum sentence on or about the third day of December, 1933.

The applicant is 29 years of age and is a trained acrobat and is conected with a "trapeze troupe" under the direction of John H. Cowden, Tampa, Florida.

The applicant has conducted himself in an exemplary manner during the period of his parole, and the Supervisor of Paroles states that "we have had no complaints about his conduct and from all indications he has been leading a suitable law-abiding life."

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his behavior was excellent and he has no previous criminal record.

The District Attorney's office of Delaware County offers no objections to granting this pardon.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his business career.

In re application of George Eisenhart, B-612, No. 1182, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences on Bills No. 3 and No. 4 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 5 of George Eisenhart, convicted of felonious entry, larceny and forcible entry, larceny, Bills No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 4, and No. 5, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Mifflin County, on February 4, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 3 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 year 11 months 28 days, expiring February 2, 1938; on Bill No. 4 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring February 3, 1938; and on Bill No. 5 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 4, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Gugliardo Leonardi, C-7791, No. 1543, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Gugliardo Leonardi, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County, on February 15, 1932 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of statutory rape in the Quarter Sessions Court of Luzerne County on the 15th day of February, 1932, and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to fifteen years and to pay a fine of three hundred dollars and costs. The applicant was released by the Board of Pardons on September 14, 1933, by the granting of his petition for a commutation of his sentence.

The applicant has no known previous record and his behavior during the time he was in the penitentiary was excellent. Since his release the applicant has been employed by the Sindaco Coal Company, Plains Township, Pennsylvania, and he has worked very steadily since his release. The applicant holds a responsible position and his services have been very satisfactory with the coal company. The applicant lives with his wife and family in Plains Township and the home is a very satisfactory one.

During the time he has been on parole he has reported regularly to the parole officer and his conduct has been noted as exceptionally good. There have been no complaints received and the applicant has worked every day possible in the mines. He has provided for his family in a satisfactory manner and all persons contacted have spoken well in behalf of the applicant.

The district attorney of Luzerne County approved of the application and stated that he is leading a fine life, married and settled down. The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of the application for a pardon believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to his place in society and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herbert Rose, C-4440, No. 2317, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 220 of Herbert Rose, convicted of being armed with an offensive weapon to rob, Bills No. 218 and No. 220, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 16, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 220 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 17, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Dearer, C-5094, No. 2608, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Charles Deaner, convicted of felonious entry, larceny, robbery, Bills No. 156 to 169 Inc. and 11-12, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on January 18, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 160 from a maximum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 year, 1 month, expiring February 18, 1938; on Bill No. 161 from a minimum of 1 year to 1 day, expiring February 19, 1938; on Bill No. 162, from minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 20, 1938; on Bill No. 163, from minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 21, 1938; on Bill No. 164, from a minimum of 1 year to minimum of 1 day, expiring February 22, 1938; on Bill No. 165, from minimum of 1 year to minimum of 1 day, expiring February 23, 1938; on Bill No. 166, from minimum of 1 year to minimum of 1 day, expiring February 24, 1938; on Bill No. 167, from minimum of 1 year to minimum of 1 day, expiring February 25, 1938; on Bill No. 168, from minimum of 1 year to minimum of 1 day, expiring February 26, 1938; on Bill No. 169 from inimum of 1 year to minimum of 1 day, expiring February 27, 1938; and on Bill No. 11-12, from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious entry, larceny and robbery and was sentenced by the Dauphin County Court on the 18th day of January, 1929, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from sixteen and one-half to thirty-three years. The crime involved a series of thefts in and about Harrisburg and Dauphin County.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary stated "Judging solely on the basis of this man's institutional record and behavior, it is felt that he probably has an honest desire to become a respected citizen when released."

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, stated that if the Board of Pardons is convinced that he has reformed he (Wickersham) sees no objection to granting him a commutation. The District Attorney's office of Dauphin County stated that they would be satisfied with whatever action may be taken by the Board on this application.

The five accomplices of the petitioner in these series of robberies have all been released. An investigation indicates that the applicant was not the ring leader but received by far the heaviest sentence.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant has rehabilitated himself and is capable of leading a law-abiding life. He will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1962.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Meredith, B-3323, No. 2846, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of William Meredith, convicted of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill and murder, robbery, receiving stolen goods, violation of the Fire Arms Act and obstructing legal process, Bills No. 21-134-1-5, 21-134-2-5, 21-134-3-5, 21-134-4-5, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Fayette County on August 26, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 21-134 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 5 years 6 months, expiring February 26, 1938; on Bill No. 21-134-1-5 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 27, 1938; on Bill No. 21-134-2-5 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 28, 1938; on Bill No. 21-134-3-5 from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 1, 1938; and on Bill No. 21-134-4-5 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 2 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crimes of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill and murder, robbery, receiving stolen goods, violation of the Fire Arms Act, obstructing legal process, before the Court of Quarter Sessions of Fayette County and was sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary for from twenty to forty years on August 26, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would recommend him for parole "(1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas H. Hudson, states that he thought the sentence from twenty to forty years was a very severe one and longer than the boy should serve. "Yet I doubt very much if five years is severe enough penalty for the crimes which were committed." The District Attorney's office believes that there is no merit to the application.

The Honorable Horatio S. Dumbauld of Fayette County states that he is much impressed by the outstanding character of the boy's parents and "taking into consideration the fact that this was his first time that the applicant exhibited any symptoms of a crime complex I am sure that the state and society can depend, with implicit confidence, upon his parents to aid in his reformation."

The Board of Pardons investigated the case and found that the applicant never had any criminal record, that employment is assured for the applicant with the Duquesne Light Company. The applicant's parents are very loyal to him and will assist in every way possible. The applicant's home environment will be of great help in his rehabilitation.

The applicant was lead into this series of crimes by older associates.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant, if released, will merit the confidence of the Board, and friends and family, and will lead a law-abiding life.

The applicant will have served 5 years and 6 months of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until 1952.

THOMAS KENNEDY,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ambrose Zuchowski, B-5573, D-1303, No. 3119, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ambrose Zuchowski, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Tioga County on May 11, 1936 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year 9 months, expiring on February 11, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Tioga County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to ten years on the 11th day of May, 1936.

The board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has no known previous criminal record and since this is his first offense and that "he has shown evidence of constructive behavior, we feel that he would probably readjust seuccessfully if returned to society."

The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas A. Crichton, stated that he would have no objection to his release and suggests that the granting of the application would be justified.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons revealed that the employment of the applicant is assured with the Annas Coal Mines, Antrim, Pennsylvania, and that his home conditions are satisfactory.

He will be under the sponsorship of Mr. William Howell of Antrim, Pennsylvania. Our investigation further revealed that it is the belief of the Tioga County officials and many other citizens interviewed by our agent that the applicant's sentence was too severe.

The applicant will have served one year and nine months of his minimum term and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until May 11, 1946.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Doleman, C-3332, No. 3253, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of William Doleman, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of York County on February 25, 1926, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 12 years, expiring February 25, 1938, and a maximum of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of York County. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 25th day of February, 1926.

The trial judge, the Honorable Henry C. Niles, states: "I believe that if adequate supervision is had for this defendant clemency may well be extended." The District Attorney of York County states he has no objections to the granting of clemency. The trial District Attorney told us: "My recommendation to the Board of Pardons of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is that in view of the evidence and in consideration of his good conduct in the penitentiary Doleman's sentence should be commuted."

There is a certificate on file from Leamon Harris, dated October 27, 1937, who was convicted with William Doleman, which states under oath that William Doleman at no time, "before or after, had any part in the shooting of Paul Davis, and his reasons for changing his plea from not guilty to guilty was on the advice of council to save me from the electric chair."

Aftre careful review of all the facts in the case we are inclined to believe that the applicant was not guilty of murder of the first degree. He was only nineteen years of age at the time of the commission of the crime. He has been incarcerated for twelve years.

The Board of Trustees of the penitentiary state: "His (the applicant's) institutional record has been satisfactory. He has improved himself by learning the tailoring trade and at the present time is employed as a tailor. He has saved approximately $1100. He associates with the better type of inmates and he does not have any record of misconducts during the entire period of his incarceration."

We believe the applicant has been sufficiently punished and are satisfied that he is not an habitual criminal.

The applicant intends to return to his relatives in Virginia. Our recommendation is contingent upon his returning to and remaining in that State. He will be on parole for life.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Liberi, C-6373, No. 3424, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the charge of robbery being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two and one-half to ten years on August 29, 1930. He was paroled on the 23rd day of May, 1938, and was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 17th day of March, 1937, for violation of his parole. He was charged with violation of the Mann Act and was sentenced to the United States Northeastern Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, for 9 months and 18 days and at the expiration of his sentence he was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary on the date stated above.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary stated that they are not able to express their opinion as to his future behavior.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, was not in favor of granting a commutation. The assistant District Attorney, Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that in his opinion the matter of granting the application should be left to the discretion of the Board of Pardons.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons disclosed that the violation of the Mann Act involved the transportation of a girl from Camden to Philadelphia and revealed that there was no commercial aspect in the removal of this girl from one state to another.

The Board of Pardons recommends that this applicant be commuted, having served three years and eight months of his maximum sentence and having served on the charge of the violation of the Mann Act one year and eight months, both in the Federal Prison and the Eastern State Penitentiary. He will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until January 23, 1944.

In re application of Anthony D. Mongello, B-5253, No. 3431, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Anthony Mongello, convicted of larceny from person in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford County on September 28, 1936, be commuted from a minimum of two and one-half years to a minimum of 1 year 5 months on Bill No. 101, expiring February 28, 1938; and on Bill No. 102 from a minimum of two and one-half years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of larceny from the person in the Quarter Sessions Court of Crawford County and was sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary for from five to ten years and to pay a fine of fifty dollars on the 28th day of September, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary, under date of February 1, 1938, stated: "Because of the fact that at this time the applicant has been imprisoned for eighteen months, if he were eligible for parole, this Board would probably conditionally recommend subject to assurance of a proper sponsor and legitimate employment: (1) first imprisonment in a penal institution; (2) excellent conduct and work records."

Investigation of the Board of Pardons indicated that there was some question as to the proper identification of the applicant as the person who picked the pockets of people attending a huge political rally held on August 24, 1936, in Conneautville, Pennsylvania, at which time the presidential nominee, Governor Landon, was making an address.

The trial judge, the Honorable O. Clair Kent, stated that he had no recommendations, one way or another, while the District Attorney, the Honorable Herbert A. Mook, expressed his opposition to a commutation, under date of May 28, 1937.

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has served a sufficient time for the punishment of this crime, in view of the fact that there has been some question as to identification of the applicant as the actual perperator of the crime.

Our investigation shows that he will be employed and that his home conditions will be satisfactory. The applicant will have served one year and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 1, 1943.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Stelma, No. 3447, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the death sentence of Frank Stelma, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northumberland County on March 15, 1937, be commuted from death to imprisonment for life, expiring on

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was convicted of murder of the first degree and was sentenced to death by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northumberland County on the 15th day of March, A. D., 1937. The applicant attacked one, Joseph Boyle by striking him with his fist and knocking him to the ground and then picking up a rock and striking him on the head, causing wounds to the scalp and a fractured skull. The applicant had been drinking for several hours prior to meeting Boyle, and there being no witnesses to encounter, as the hour was about 1:30 in the morning it could not be learned who was the aggressor. The applicant after attacking Boyle went to his home and went to bed. An investigation conducted by the Board with the cooperation of the District Attorney's office of Northumberland County revealed that the applicant was drinking heavily the night of the crime and appeared to be drunk. No motive or reason for the attack could be discovered as both the applicant and deceased were casual acquaintances and no disagreement or unpleasantness existed between them prior to this fatal encounter. The applicant on the night of the encounter was so intoxicated that he fell. The Board felt that the intoxication of the applicant was of such a degree, that he was incapable of conceiving any intent which expresses itself in deliberation and premeditation. The District Attorney and the trial judge, Honorable H. W. Cummings expressed their opinion that the trial of the applicant was a fair one, and the jury in their opinion brought in a proper verdict. However, in our opinion it would be unjust under the circumstances, to permit the applicant to be executed, notwithstanding the applicant's guilt, when the facts of his intoxication on the night of the crime was to such a degree, that it is questionable if he could form a deliberate intent bearing the elements of deliberation and premeditation. We, therefore, recommend that the sentence of death be commuted to life imprisonment.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul L. Hamilton, D-2214, No. 3473, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul L. Hamilton, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 2, 1937, be commuted from 1 year to 10 months, expiring on February 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions

Court of Philadelphia County for from one to six years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 2nd day of April, 1937.

The applicant was accused of the death of one, James Payne, after an overnight drinking party. The deceased died from a severed jugular vein but there was no direct testimony by anybody as to the manner of the attack or who made the attack, upon the deceased. It developed that there was a possibility that the deceased fell on the pavement in front of the Club upon some broken glass.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has not been in the institution a sufficient time for them to judge as to his possible future behavior.

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states "If the Board shall see fit to consider the application favorably I shall have no complaint." The assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia County, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., Esquire, stated that there was nothing in the testimony to show the weapon used and that the application can well be granted.

The applicant is assured of employment with the J. J. Pocock Company, Philadelphia, and his sponsor will be Mr. Joseph A. Hamilton, a brother, Superintendent of the Big Brothers Association of Philadelphia. The home to which the applicant will return is an excellent one.

The applicant will have served ten months of his minimum sentence of twelve months and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 2, 1943.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rubin Greenfield, B-4543, No. 3498, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Rubin Greenfield, convicted of entering a dwelling house to commit a felony, larceny, receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 16, 1935 be commuted from 4 years to 2 years 9 months, expiring on February 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of entering a dwelling house to commit a felony, larceny and receiving stolen goods, and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on the 16th day of May, 1935, to the Western State Penitentiary for from four to eight years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary believe that the applicant would probably be a fit subject for parole as this was his first imprisonment and he enjoys a very good institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Frank J. Graff, states that he "would be satisfied with what seems best to the Board to do in this case." The assistant District Attorney, the Honorable Russell Adams, stated that the applicant was properly convicted.

The Board of Pardons on their investigation found that the applicant held a Government License to buy and sell old gold and the ring which was found in his possession could well have been purchased and not stolen.

The applicant is assured of employment with the Refrigeration Surplus Jobbers, Cleveland, Ohio, and his home conditions and sponsorship are of the very best.

The applicant will have served two years and nine months of his minimum term and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until May, of 1939.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stanley Mentus, No. 3582, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stanley Mentus, convicted of larceny of an automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northampton County on March 16, 1936, be commuted from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 year 11 months, expiring February 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and was sentenced by the Court of Northampton County to imprisonment in the Northampton County Prison for from two to four years and the payment of one hundred dollars fine on the 16th day of March, 1936.

The Board of Pardons investigation disclosed that the owner of the automobile, Paul Koskey, was eager to have the applicant released as his automobile had been returned to him, and, further, that the applicant had already served 9 months in the State of New Jersey for the theft of this car and a detainer from Pennsylvania committed him to Northampton County Prison for from two to four years for the same offense. In fact, therefore, the applicant has served two years and eight months for this crime.

The trial judge, the Honorable R. C. Stewart, stated that the sentence was a proper one. The District Attorney's office of Northampton County, however, stated that the action of the Board would meet with his approval.

The applicant is assured of employment with the Richmond Radiator Company, Uniontown, Pennsylvania, and he will be under the sponsorship of his father, a respected citizen of Uniontown, Fayette County.

The Board therefore recommends a commutation of his sentence in view of his long confinement for this offense, both in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The applicant will have served for this offense in Pennsylvania one year and eleven months and will be under the supervision of the probation officer of Northampton County until the 16th day of March, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward R. Franc, No. 3587, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Edward R. Franc, convicted of conspiracy to commit robbery and violation of the Fire Arms Act in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on December 17, 1935 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy to commit robbery and violating the Fire Arms Act. He was found guilty in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County and was sentenced on the 17 day of December, 1935, for a period of from one to two years in the Allegheny County Jail. He was paroled by the trial judge on the 25th day of May, 1936.

The applicant has conducted himself in a very excellent manner since his release. His home conditions are above the average and his reputation in his community is excellent.

The applicant conducts his own business and operates the Neon Service Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He employs from six to twelve persons and from all appearances is operating a successful business.

The applicant is about 28 years of age, married and has a small daughter.

The District Attorney's office of Allegheny County offers no objection to the granting of a pardon and the Board of Pardons believes that his rehabilitation and self improvement has been very marked.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance in his business career.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Philip Cain, C-7750, No. 3598, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum and minimum sentences of Philip Cain, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Monroe County on February 9, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 11 from a maximum of 10 years to a maximum of 6 years, expiring February 9, 1938; and on Bill No. 11A from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 10, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and larceny and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Monroe County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years, on the 9th day of February, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state "Judging on the basis of this man's attitude and behavior while he has been in the institution, it is felt that there is a favorable possibility of his readjustment when released."

The Honorable Samuel E. Schull stated that the application was meritorious and that the defendant has been sufficiently punished and that the balance of his sentence should be commuted, providing the applicant's prison conduct has been satisfactory.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that his prison conduct has been excellent.

He will reside in Philadelphia with friends who have undertaken his sponsorship. This home is very satisfactory and in a good neighborhood and environment.

The applicant will have served six years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Gerson, No. 3601, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Louis J. Gerson, convicted of aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Municipal Court of Philadelphia County, on May 21, 1931, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of aggravated assault and battery in the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to six months imprisonment in the Philadelphia County Prison on the 21st day of May, 1931. He was paroled by the Municipal Court thirty-seven days after commitment and placed on one year's probation. The applicant has no previous criminal record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene Bonniwell was non-committal as to the merits of the application.

The applicant has conducted himself properly during the period of probation and is now anxious to qualify as a patrolman with the Police Force of the city of Philadelphia, being No. 128 out of a list of seven thousand. The Board believes that a grave injustice would be done this young man in withholding a pardon that would prevent his acceptance of a better position in life.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business career.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of H. N. Kline, B-1610, No. 3611, January Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of H. N. Kline, convicted of robbery, Bills No. 1 and No. 2, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clinton County on September 26, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 1 from a minimum of ten years to a minimum of 8 years, 5 months, expiring February 26, 1938; and on Bill No. 2 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring February 27, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to robbery and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clinton County to from twenty to forty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 26th day of September, 1929. The crime involved the robbery of the Beech Creek National Bank of the sum of approximately twelve thousand dollars.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would recommend him for parole "(1) first major conviction, (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene H. Baird, as the result of a thorough investigation on his part stated "under all the circumstances I recommend that his application for clemency be granted. He has already served more than eight years of his term and in my judgment has been sufficiently punished." The District Attorney, the Honorable B. L. Haag, was opposed to clemency at this time.

The applicant is assured of a home with his daughter in Brookville, Pennsylvania, where he will be received and maintained until he can find employment.

The Board of Pardons, on an investigation by their parole officer, believes that the man has rehabilitated himself and purposes to lead a law-abiding life. A sponsor has been provided and a good home is open for him upon his release.

The applicant will have served 8 years and 5 months of his minimum term, and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 26th day of February, 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Roy C. Lantz, B-2585, No. 84A, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences of Roy C. Lantz, convicted of larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Blair County on March 30, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 22 from a maximum of 2 years to a maximum of 11 months, 27 days, expiring March 27, 1938; on Bill No. 23 from a maximum of 2 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring on March 28, 1938; on Bill No. 24 from a maximum of 2 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring March 29, 1938; and on Bill No. 25 from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 30, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony W. Spehar, A-14087, No. 872, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 5, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder of the second degree and of larceny of an automobile and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of McKean County in May and June of 1925, to a term of from thirteen to twenty-six years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary stated that they would recommend him for parole for several reasons; first, first conviction with no prior criminal record; second, a youth at the time of the conviction, being 19 years of age; third, excellent institutional record; fourth, has served 12½ years of his sentence, and fifth, has learned to become a motion picture operator and holds a license to operate a motion picture machine.

The Honorable Charles G. Hubbard, trial judge, stated that clemency should only be granted if the applicant was in a serious condition from tuberculosis. The District Attorney of McKean County, the Honorable C. W. Shattuck, was not in favor of granting the application.

The applicant is in poor health and is suffering with tuberculosis. The medical report, as of November, 1937, indicated that the bones of his left hip joint were decalcified and the guinea pig innoculation was positive for tubercule bacilli. The prognosis as to the cure of this affliction is poor. The examining physician stated that the proper treatment in his opinion would be a complete bed rest supported by recognized tuberculosis therapy, which could be provided either by hospitalization or a private practitioner.

Employment for the applicant will be impossible at present, as he requires hospital attention for the tubercular condition of his hip. He is now able to walk only with the aid of crutches and there is little hope of effecting a permanent cure. Arrangements are being made for medical care, in cooperation with Ira C. McCloskey, Director of the Bureau of Corrections, Department of Welfare, and his father Mr. Mike Spehar.

Dr. William J. Schwartz, Resident Physician at Rockview Farm Prison, under date of January 5, 1938, states: "Anthony Spehar was first admitted to the hospital on December 13th, 1935, afflicted to a tuberculosis abscess of his left thigh, near the hip joint, at which time the abscess was drained and culture of such was positive for tubercle bacilli.

"Since that time he has had adequate bed rest with supportive treatment. His condition, however, is typical by its chronicity. At this present time, Anthony has two draining sinus on his thigh. They are small and cause him no acute pain, permitting him to be up and about. Otherwise his physical condition is fair, he is underweight and walks with a limp due to his diseased leg being two inches longer than the other one.

"Because of the chronicity of this case, it is difficult to give an estimate of the hospitalization that will be necessary. At the present time I feel that he could remain at home and go to the hospital for treatment, if no future activation of the disease begins to manifest itself."

The applicant has served 12 years and 10 months of his minimum term of 13 years. We believe the application for commutation of his sentence should be granted because he has been sufficiently punished and, further, that he is suffering from tuberculosis in advanced stage. He will be under the control of the parole board until March 5, 1948.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond Albert, B-3320, No. 1142, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 275 and minimum on Bill No. 276 of Raymond Albert, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County on August 23, 1932, be commuted from Bill No. 275 a maximum of 8 years to a maximum of 5 years 7 months, expiring March 23, 1938; and on Bill No. 276 from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 24, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Washington County to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from seven to fourteen years on the 23rd day of August, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that "they would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) youth at time of conviction (3) good institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable E. Cummins, is deceased, but his widow writes that in conversation with him before his death the judge stated that he had given this defendant and another fellow a stiff sentence, but he did not intend that they should serve the minimum. He said "the sentences such as this one may make other fellows stop and think before they act."

The present District Attorney, the Honorable James C. Bane, objects to clemency.

Investigation of the Board of Pardons reveals that his home will be most satisfactory and that he is assured of employment with the Sigmund Transportation Company McKeesport, Pennsylvania. The applicant is unmarried. He has had no prior criminal record and the Chief of Police of McKeesport states that the applicant bore a good reputation in that district.

Business men, professional men, county officials and others have written strong letters to the Board in behalf of Mr. Albert, recommending that the Board extend clemency in his behalf. Unquestionably his famliy stands very high in the community.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served five years and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until March 24, 1944.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Giuseppe Costanzo, B-471, No. 1155, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Guiseppe Costanzo, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on June 19, 1926, and convicted of Violation of the United States Revenue Law and possession of stills and manufacture of liquor in the United States Court at Scranton on November 12, 1935, be commuted from a maximum of ten years to a minimum of 7 years 3 months, expiring March 29, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery on the 9th day of June, 1926, and was sentenced to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County. He was released on parole on the 19th day of June, 1931, and was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary for violation of his parole on the 29th day of December, 1935, for a minor infraction of the liquor laws.

The Honorable William S. McLean, Jr., trial judge, states that he has no opinion to express, one way or the other as to the merits of this application .

The assistant District Attorney, John H. Dando, Esquire, stated that he had no objection to the granting of the petition.

The Board of Pardons believes that the violation of the liquor laws which caused the return to the penitentiary was so minor that the period that he has already spent in the penitentiary has been sufficient punishment for the infraction.

The applicant is assured of employment as the operator of his own barber shop and will reside in his home in Moconaqua.

The applicant will have served two years and three months for this parole violation and he will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 29th day of December, 1940.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Antonio Dimaio, B-2915, No. 1432, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Antonio Dimaio, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of McKean County on November 7, 1931, be commuted from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of six years and four months expiring on March 7, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of McKean County on the 7th day of November, 1931, to from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary for murder of the second degree.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole because of his first conviction and excellent institutional record. .

The District Attorney, the Honorable Claude W. Shattuck, is opposed to his release. The Board of Pardons, upon their investigation, disclosed that the deceased was one Al Richie, a notorious gangster operating in northern Pennsylvania and New York State.

The Honorable Kent Kane, member of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly stated before the Board: "The applicant performed a real public service in ridding the Commonwealth of one of the worst men in northwestern Pennsylvania and, further, that since the death of this gangster, the city of Bradford and surrounding community have been free from gangster murders."

The Board of Pardons are persuaded that the deceased threatened the applicant with death and he avoided the deceased by moving to another section of the community. Unfortunately, the applicant crossed the pathway of the deceased and as the deceased was pulling his gun the applicant shot him, and caused his death.

The applicant is assured of employment in a bakery shop at Bradford, Pa., and his employer, Gaetano Colella, will supervise his parole period.

The applicant will have served six years and four months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 7th day of November, 1951.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 24th day of November, 1930.

The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, Esquire, was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first major conviction; (2) excellent conduct and work records (3) has now served 7 years 3 months.

The Board of Pardons investigation reveals that he will probably have employment in the meat store of Mr. I. Cohen, Pittsburgh. He will reside with his brother-in-law in Pittsburgh, which home is located in a good location and is clean and comfortable.

The accomplices of this boy, five in all, have all been paroled or commuted except one, the ring leader.

The applicant was only 17 years of age at the time of the commission of these offenses and under the influence of older men and during the time of industrial depression he was led into committing these series of hold-ups.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 24, 1950.

In re application of Jacob Chinnic, C-5068, No. 1525, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 526 and minimum on Bill No. 572, of Jacob Chinnic, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on January 15, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 526 from a maximum of 16 years to a maximum of 9 years 2 months, expiring March 15, 1938; and on Bill No. 572 from a minimum of 7 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 15th day of January, 1929, on two bills, totaling a sentence of fifteen to thirty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Definite improvement in attitude and habits have been observed in this man. He has attempted to improve himself by attending school where he has made satisfactory progress."

The trial judge, the Honorable D. U. Arird of Warren County specially sitting, did not reply to our inquiry.

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objections to granting clemency as he believes he has served a sufficient length of time for the crime.

Investigation of the Board of Pardons reveals that this man will reside at home, which is in a good neighborhood and the home is comfortable and clean. He has been assured of employment.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Daniel Joseph Collins, C-8444, No. 2642, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Daniel Joseph Collins, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on November 30, 1932; and convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Delaware County on January 5, 1933, be commuted from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 4 months, expiring March 30, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 30th day of November, 1932. On the fifth day of January, 1933, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County he was sentenced to from two and one-half to five years for burglary, to commence at the expiration of the Philadelphia County sentence.

For the Philadelphia County offense the applicant served his minimum sentence, expiring November 30, 1937. He is now in the Eastern State Penitentiary serving the sentence on the Delaware County charge.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging from this man's behaviour while in the institution, his attempted self-improvement, and the manner in which he has performed his duties, which are of a responsible type, it is felt that he has possibilities of successfully readjusting in society when released."

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles C. Creer, specially sitting, was unable to recommend clemency. The District Attorney of Delaware County, the Honorable William B. McClenachan advise us that he has no objection to a commutation in this case.

Investigations by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant will probably have employment and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. William McGinnis of Philadelphia.

The applicant will have served four months of his minimum sentence on the Delaware County sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1942.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

GEORGE H. EARLE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph McManus, C-2851, No. 2767, February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Joseph McManus, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on May 29, 1924, and commuted to life imprisonment on February 25, 1925, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 13 years, 1 month, expiring March 25, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder of the first degree in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to death on the 29th day of May, 1924. His sentence was commuted by the Board of Pardons to life imprisonment on the 25th day of February, 1925.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Judging from the constructive behavior and attitude that this man has manifested while in the institution, also the sense of social responsibility he has shown by assisting with the support of his family, we feel that he has an honest desire to live a law abiding life. At present the applicant is employed in the hospital block as an expert technician and he is an operator of the X-ray and physiotherapy equipment."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "I think the attitude of McManus towards society at this time is a good one. If you see fit to pardon him I have no objection to it."

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to clemency.

Investigation of the case by the Board of Pardons reveals that the accomplices in the crime, four of them, one was electrocuted, one died in prison and two were paroled, although one of the parolees subsequently broke his parole.

The Chaplain of the penitentiary, Reverend Bernard C. Farley, states that he has been rehabilitated and that the inmates, prison authorities and judge all feel that the applicant has been sufficiently punished.

It was stated before the Board that this applicant is one of the exceptional cases in prison rehabilitation and ranks as No. 1 example in all our penal system.

The applicant is assured of a position as a laboratory technician in the Saint Joseph's Hospital in Philadelphia.

The Board of Pardons, upon their investigation, were led to believe that the guilt of this man did not rise higher than second degree murder and for such he should have been sentenced.

The applicant will reside with his aunt in Philadelphia and will be under the care and direction of his sponsor, the Reverend Bernard C. Farley, Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant will have served 13 years and 1 month of his sentence and will be on parole for the rest of his natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

The Board of Pardons commuted the sentence on the 15th day of April, 1936.

The trial judge, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille, states that "the Board will have the advantage of a full report of his prison life and I shall be satisfied with its judgment in the matter."

Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to the granting of this pardon.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that he has been employed since his release from prison and he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner.

The applicant is married and has one son. At present he is employed by the Shaeffer Motor Freight Company of Philadelphia and in order to continue his employment as a truck driver he requires a bond, in order to comply with the regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Butler Windle states that he relies upon the Board for the disposition without making any recommendation. The District Attorney, the Honorable Raymond B. Reid, states that he is "of the opinion that the application of Ciccarone is meritorious. I, therefore, do not oppose his application."

The applicant is assured of employment with his brother in Wilmington, Delaware, and will be under proper sponsorship during the period of his parole.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, is opposed to clemency.

The Board of Pardons, upon their investigation, indicates that the applicant was convicted upon the testimony of a girl; that the crime was committed in a public garage in the presence of several other people; at the time of the alleged offense she made no outcry. She was sent next day to a hospital for attempted suicide by poisoning and while under the doctor's care did not make any allegation of mistreatment by the applicant. The examination of the girl at the hospital indicated that there were no superficial bruises that might be the result of an assault. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Freda Trost, B-6935, No. 3486 February Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Freda Trost, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on December 14, 1912, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 24 years, 3 months, expiring on March 29, 1938, and a maximum of life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 14th day of December, 1912, to be hanged. The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on the 29th day of December, 1913, and the applicant was committed to the Eastern State Penitentiary, later transferred to the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy.

The applicant is 55 years of age and was found guilty of poisoning her husband with arsenic. All the evidence at the trial was not presented as strong inferences were brought out that she had poisoned her first husband. The inference had a bearing upon the verdict of the jury and should have been refuted by facts then in the possession of the district attorney's office of Philadelphia County.

The Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was not opposed to this application.

The superintendent of the Industrial Home for Women, Miss Franklin R. Wilson, states as follows: "I am sincere in my desire to see Freda released. She has given the best years of her life for the crime she committed. It was the only offense she ever committed and I do not believe she will ever give anyone any trouble if she is granted a commutation.

The prospective home of the applicant is to be with Mrs. Birr in Philadelphia and the environment of this home is very favorable.

The applicant will be employed as a cook, as she is now a very excellent cook at the State home.

The Board of Pardons believes that this woman, now well up in years, who has conducted herself so excellently during her confinement, has expiated her crime and recommends that her sentence be commuted.

She has served 24 years and 3 months of her sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of her natural life.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of gambling and keeping a gambling house and was placed on probation for one year on the 14th day of June, 1935. The trial judge, the Honorable George C. Corson, states as follows: "Let me say that I am always inclined to be sympathetic in a case where a man has reformed and wishes to have his past record wiped out. If the evidence convinces your board that this is the situation in the present case, I will join in the present application."

The Assistant District Attorney, Arthur W. Bean, states: "Whatever your board sees fit to do in this case will be entirely satisfactory to this office."

The investigation of the board reveals that for the past two and one-half years the applicant was engaged in the practice of dentistry at his office at 846 Wharton Street, Philadelphia, Pa. He is married and has a family of three children residing in a well kept home. Since his sentence by the Montgomery County Court, the applicant has kept away from gambling and has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner. The applicant was released, on petition to the trial judge for a parole, on the 18th day of June, 1923, after serving one year of his sentence.

The Honorable Harold G. Knight states that he has no objection to the granting of a pardon as it would seem to be a case where such action was warranted. The private prosecutor of the applicant, Aaron S. Swartz Jr., Esquire, states: "I am personally satisfied that Harold Bolen is entitled to a full pardon.

The District Attorney, the Honorable Fred B. Smillie, states: "I know of no reason why this application should be opposed by the Commonwealth."

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Johnson, C-8919, No. 86A, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 83 of Joseph Johnson, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on May 5, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 83, from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring May 6, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In re application of James Colburne Howard, B-1386, No. 89A, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 10 of James Colburne Howard, convicted of robbery, felonious assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Beaver County on April 3, 1929, be commuted on Bill No. 10 from a minimum of 3½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring April 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. In re application of William Stotts, A-14635, No. 730, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 63 and minimum on Bill No. 13 of William Stotts, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 23, 1926, be commuted on Bill No. 63 from a maximum of 12 years to a maximum of 11 years 9 months, 29 days, expiring April 22, 1938; and on Bill No. 13 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring April 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis A. Flanagan, No. 1083, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Francis A. Flanagan, convicted of operating auto while intoxicated in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on July 28, 1930, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of operating an automobile while intoxicated in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 28th day of July, 1930. The sentence was suspended and the costs placed on the county.

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to granting this application for pardon.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant's conduct since his release has been excellent and his record has been unblemished by any act of wrong doing. He has been employed by the Philco Radio Company of Philadelphia since 1930 and he resides in his own home located in an excellent residential section of the city with his wife and son, age 9 years. His reputation among his neighbors and business associates is of the very best. He has on record testimonials from his employer and from the Rector of his church.

The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of this pardon, believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to his place in society and the pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business career.

In re application of John Joseph Duford, C.4423, No. 1343. March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 1244 and minimum on Bill No. 1245 of John Joseph Duford, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on March 2, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 1244 from a maximum of 15 years to a maximum of 10 years, 1 month, expiring April 2, 1938; and on Bill No. 1245 from a minimum of 7½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring April 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the charge of armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from fifteen to thirty years on the second day of March, 1928.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that although this man's previous criminal record included five arrests, he was never convicted and discharged on all these arrests. Judging solely on the basis of this man's attitude and his attempt at self-improvement and employment he is entitled to consideration.

The trial judge, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille, states: "If his release will not prove a menace to society I will be satisfied with the decision of the Board in this matter."

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was not opposed to this application if the Board felt that the applicant had been rehabilitated.

The Board of Pardons considered carefully the opinion of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary in their opinion that this man had rehabilitated himself.

The applicant will be employed by one, John Ador, in Philadelphia and will reside with his mother on Spring Garden Street, Philadelphia. His sponsor is Reverend Bernard C. Parley, Chaplain of the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant will have served ten years and one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 3, 1953.

In re application of William T. Kline, No. 2127, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William T. Kline, convicted of accepting a bribe, Bill No. 61, unlawfully setting up a gambling device, Bills No. 62, No. 63, No. 64 and No. 65 in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County on March 24, 1934; and convicted of false pretense in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County on October 20, 1934, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of accepting bribe money and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lancaster County to from one to two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and to pay a fine of five hundred dollars on the 24th day of March, 1934, and to pay a fine of one hundred dollars on each of four indictments for setting up gambling device.

Likewise, the applicant was found guilty of false pretense and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County to nine months in the Lancaster County prison and to pay a fine of five hundred dollars, plus costs of prosecution, on the 20th day of October, 1934, to begin at the expiration of sentence in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The trial judge, the Honorable Henry C. Niles, states: "As far as I am concerned I have no objection to consideration of his application on its merits." The District Attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, writes: "I believe that since his liberation, his conduct has been such that a pardon ought to be granted."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was an alderman in the city of Lancaster during his term of office and was convicted of the crime of accepting a bribe. Since his release on parole he has been engaged in an advertising business in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and is making a valiant effort to support his wife and seven children. He submitted a statement that if a pardon is granted to him that "I will at no time in the future attempt to hold any public office of any nature whatsoever, both elective and appointive."

The applicant has been released from parole and during the time he was under the supervision of the Board of Pardons his conduct was excellent. The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of the application for a pardon, believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to his place in society and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance in his advancement.

In re application of James King, B-1117, No. 3107, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 73 and the minimum sentence on Bill No. 5 of James King, convicted of voluntary manslaughter and rape, Bills No. 73 and No. 5, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on November 21, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 73 from a maximum of 12 years, to a maximum of 9 years 4 months, expiring March 21, 1938; and on Bill No. 5 from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring March 22, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Jacobs, C-7564, No. 3181, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Jacobs, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 1, 1931, be commuted from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 6 years 4 months, expiring April 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of assault to rob, larceny of automobile and operating without consent of owner in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to from ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the first day of December, 1931, for robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant's previous record consists of one larceny of automobile, for which he was placed on probation, and that "since he has been at the institution he has apparently learned definite habits of industry and thrift. If he would continue the same habits when released he would probably successfully adjust."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "If such a thing as cure can be effected in a penal institution I think Jacobs is as near now as he will ever be."

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., believes that if the man has been actually rehabilitated he has no objection to granting the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that this man has endeavored to learn the principles of thrift, industry and good behavior, looking forward to release from the penitentiary.

He has been assured of employment with the Just Right Laundry in Philadelphia and will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs in a good section of the city. He will be under the sponsorship of Reverend Adams of the Bethlehem Baptist Church. The applicant will have served 6 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until Dec. 1, 1951.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Innocenzo Ferrero, No. 3330, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Innocenzo Ferrero, convicted of arson in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 22, 1936, be commuted from 3 years to 1 year, 10 months, expiring on April 22, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of arson in the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to from three to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 22nd day of June, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his previous record consists of one arrest only for the unlawful possession of liquor and that the applicant has demonstrated during his confinement definite evidences of industry and self-improvement. "He has had an honest desire to rehabilitate successfully in life and we feel that his release would not jeopardize society."

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states as follows: "He has now served nearly two years of his three year term and in view of his age and what I learn of his reputation, aside from this case, as a honest and substantial citizen, I should be well satisfied if his application should be given favorable consideration."

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was not in favor of granting the application.

Numerous business and social acquaintances in all walks of life are on record favoring the early release of the applicant. These letters of recommendation are a cross section of some of the leading business houses of Philadelphia.

The Board of Pardons investigation discloses that the facts of the crime raise some doubt as to whether or not the applicant was the guilty person. So complicated was the manner in which the fire was arranged that there is serious questions as to the probabilities of the applicant being involved. Further, the damage caused by the fire was actually less than one hundred dollars.

The applicant's background prior to this arrest is well known, having been for five or six years, manager of the old Continental Hotel and for years he conducted a number of Italian restaurants in all parts of Philadelphia. He was the genial host to thousands and thousands of citizens of every walk of life. His wife is in a serious state of health and needs the comfort and care of her husband. The ends of justice have certainly been met, guilty or not guilty, by the time already spent in prison.

This man will reenter the restaurant business, to which he has given so many years of his life. He will reside at his home in Bucks County. The applicant will have served one year and 10 months of his minimum term and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June, 1946.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Boarrd of Pardons recommend that Shirley O'Brien, convicted of malfeasance in office and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County, on March 31, 1933, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crimes of malfeasance in office, blackmail, extortion, bribery and misbehavior in office and was found guilty in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County and sentenced on the 31st day of March, 1933, to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and to serve from one to two years in the county jail on conspiracy and one hundred dollars fine and one year in the county jail at the expiration of the previous sentence on malfeasance in office. The applicant was released on parole on the 28th day of July, 1933.

The trial judge, the Honorable Norman T. Boose, specially sitting, states: "Inasmuch as these men have already been paroled I know of no reason why they should not be eligible for a pardon at this time."

The assistant District Attorney, Honorable Louis A. Bloom, stated that he had no objections to the granting of a pardon as the applicant has been paroled by the Delaware County Court.

Since his parole, the applicant has been employed as a machinist for the Westinghouse Electric Company and lives in Delaware County, where his reputation among his neighbors is satisfactory.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has paid the penalty for his misbehavior and that a pardon will materially assist him in his business career and will remove in part the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Rocco Demasi, No. 3620, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rocco Demasi, convicted of manufacture and possession of liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Fayette County, on September 27, 1929, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of manufacture and possession of liquor in the Courts of Quarter Session and Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on the 27th day of September, 1929, and was sentenced to the Allegheny County Workhouse for two and one-half years and to pay a fine of twenty-five hundred dollars. The applicant was released from the Allegheny County Workhouse in June, 1931.

The applicant had no previous record and his behaviour during confinement was satisfactory.

The trial judge, the Honorable S. John Morrow, expressed no opinion as to the merits of this application. The District Attorney, the Honorable James A. Reilly, stated that he would rely on the Board and would be satisfied with their decision.

Since the applicant's release he has lead a law abiding life and has been employed in various types of labor or the past five or six years. He is at present living at Jackson Heights, Long Island, and is employed with the Long Island Floorcraft Corporation. His employer states that he is capable, efficient and industrious.

The applicant is unmarried and has no one dependent on him except his mother residing in Italy.

The Board of Pardons recommends a granting of this application for pardon, believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to a place in society and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Decicco, D-1980, No. 3645, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Decicco, convicted of assault and battery to ravish and rape and taking minor female for immoral purpose in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 26, 1937, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year, 2 months, expiring April 26, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of assault and battery with intent to ravish, attempted rape, rape and taking female child under 16 for immoral purposes in the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County and was sentenced to from one and one-half to three years, in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 26th day of February, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has no known previous criminal record and that during the time that he has been under their control he has conducted himself satisfactorily and that they would probably recommend him for parole.

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states as follows: "From what I have learned since the sentence was imposed, I believe the plea of guilty was ill-advised and that the boy was probably guilty of nothing more than fornication and that I would favor a pardon."

Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was not opposed to the application and stated that he would be satisfied with the decision of the Board.

The Board of Pardons made an exhaustive investigation of the crime for which this applicant was involved and believe that this applicant was not guilty of the charges made by the two girls whose conduct and credibility are admittedly very poor. The parents of one of the girls state that she is a confirmed liar and at the hearing before the magistrate and in the Court of Quarter Sessions she would shift the blame for the crime from one group to another.

Employment is assured for the applicant with a barber located in North Philadelphia and he will be offered a home with his mother in a satisfactory location under good environment.

The applicant will have served one year and two months of his minimum of one year and six months and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 26, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ernest Alvin Coe, No. 3650, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Ernest Alvin Coe, convicted of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on December 21, 1929, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County and was sentenced to from one to two years in the Lancaster Cuonty Jail on each of six bills and to pay a fine of fifty dollars on each bill on the 21st day of December, 1929. After one year he was paroled and since that time he has refrained from any violation of the law. The Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, writing in behalf of the trial judge, the Honorable John Groff, now deceased, states that he has no opinion in the matter, one way or the other. The District Attorney, Honorable Charles W. Eaby, writes: "I see no reason why a pardon should not be granted to this man and therefore, I offer no objection."

The former District Attorney, S. V. Hosterman, Esq., who represented the Commonwealth at the trial, writes: "I am absolutely of the opinion and conviction that his application merits, indeed, favorable action by the Board."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man has conducted himself in an exemplary manner since his release and has enjoyed the respect and confidence of the citizens of his community. He is engaged in the furniture business at Mt. Hope Ohio, and has operated this business throughout the depression in a satisfactory and profitable manner. He has married since his release and likewise he is a Canadian citizen and will be deported unless this pardon is granted.

The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of this pardon, believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to a place in society and that his business and social standing in his home is of such high character that it would work much harm to have him deported, and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business advancement.

In re application of Edward Krasnopolski, No. 3651, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Edward Krasnopolski, convicted of attempted entering to steal, having burglar tools in possession in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 2, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of attempted entering to steal and possession of burglary tools in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 2nd day of October, 1935, and was placed on probation for seven years.

The applicant had no prior criminal record and as far as the police records would indicate had never been arrested. Since his arrest he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner in every way.

Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the Board recommending a pardon.

The applicant is at present residing at the home of his parents in Philadelphia, located in a good section of the city. At present he has made application for enlistment in the United States Marine Corps and he will be accepted as a recruit provided he receives a pardon for this offense committed several years ago.

The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of the application for pardon, believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to his place in society and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Blake W. Warman, B-5247, No. 3657, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 138, 1st and 2d counts (No. 138, 3rd and 4th counts concurrent) of Blake W. Warman, convicted of robbery from person, felonious assault, aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Indiana County on September 14, 1936, be commuted from a minmum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 year 7 months, expiring on April 14, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery from the person, felonious assault, aggravated assault and battery and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Indiana County to the Western State Penitentiary for from three to six years on the 14th day of September, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend him for parole (1) first major conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable E. E. Creps. and the District Attorney, the Honorable E. M. Clark, did not reply to our letters of inquiry as to the merit of the application.

The representative of the applicant, former Judge M. Ward Fleming of Centre County, personally assured the Board that the applicant would lead an upright life if released, having investigated this applicant very carefully.

The applicant will live with his mother in State College, and will be employed by his step-father, Mr. John E. Bechtel, State College, Pennsylvania. The applicant will have served one year and seven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1942.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Dominick Divalerio, D-1970, No. 3662, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Dominick Divalerio, convicted of conspiracy to commit sodomy and attempted rape, Bill No. 1086 and No. 875 concurrent, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on February 18, 1937, be commuted on Bill No. 875 from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 year 2 months, expiring on April 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy to commit sodomy and guilty to the crime of attempted rape and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 1 to 2 years for conspiracy to commit sodomy and for 3 to 6 years for attempted rape, sentence concurrent with sentence on Bill No. 1086.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has no known previous criminal record and has conducted himself very satisfactorily in the institution. The applicant has attempted to improve himself by studying paper hanging and painting and has made good progress.

The trial judge, the Honorable J. M. Barnett, states that he should serve his minimum sentence. Likewise, the assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was not in favor of the application.

The Board of Pardons investigated this case very carefully and the facts arising. The applicant was accused on the testimony of one, Catherine Highland, and although this girl accused this man, along with eight or nine others, she has under date of March 10, 1938, stated that the applicant had nothing to do with her. Our investigator states in his honest opinion that the story of these girls during the hearings before the magistrate and at the court trials were so inconsistent that they simply identified anyone they saw so as to make their case complete. However, since then they have begun to see their mistakes and are now telling the truth. Neither of these girls, and particularly Catherine Highland, accuses the petitioner. The accuser, Catherine Highland, was examined by Dr. Boyer shortly after the alleged commission of this offense and the medical examination discloses that she had not been raped.

The applicant is assured of employment with a Mr. Schafer, a furniture repairman, and the applicant will reside at the home of his parents, which is a well furnished home located in the residential section of Philadelphia.

The petitioner has enjoyed a good reputation and during his school days he was regular in attendance and a good church member.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant was unjustly accused of this offense and was ill-advised to plead guilty to the attempted rape charge. We therefore recommend that his sentence be commuted.

The applicant will have served one year and two months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until February 18, 1943.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
CHARLES J. MARGIOTTI,

In re application of Henry Cianfiani, No. 3667, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Henry Cianfiani, convicted of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 20, 1929, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County and was placed on probation for two years, dating from the 20th day of November, 1929.

The applicant, prior to his conviction on this charge, had been arrested but never found guilty of any crime or misdemeanor except on a disorderly conduct charge in 1926.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, states as follows: "I am informed from other sources that he has ben gainfully occupied and his general conduct is commendable." Assistant District Attorney James W. Tracey, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of this application and will be satisfied with the decision of the Board.

The Board of Pardons investigation reveals that since his release the applicant has conducted himself in an excellent manner and bears a splendid reputation in the community. He is active in the social life and he has done much to promote social welfare in his community.

At present the applicant is employed in the Department of Revenue, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, resides in a splendid home in Philadelphia with his wife and two sons. The Board of Pardons recommends the granting of this application for a pardon, believing that the applicant has fully adjusted himself to his place in society and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance in his advancement.

In re application of Harry Bayne, B-4065, No. 4044, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Bayne, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 11, 1934, to begin January 23, 1934 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, 3 months expiring on April 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of statutory rape and was sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary for from five to ten years on the 13th day of March, 1934, sentence to be effective as of January 23, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if this inmate were eligible for parole, "we would probably recommend him, (1) first conviction, (2) a very good institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable Norman T. Boose, states: "In view of the fact that he has already served over four years of his minimum sentence and he has no previous criminal record, I think his application is eligible for favorable consideration by the Board and I would join in the recommendation that he be paroled at this time."

Assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, was not opposed to the granting of this application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant will be given employment with the Goodwill Industries in Pittsburgh and he will reside with his mother in Pittsburgh.

The applicant will have served four years and three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until January 23, 1944.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Conn, B-4513, No. 4091-A, March Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 7/18, and minimum on Bill No. 55/170, of Edward Conn, convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, larceny, receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on April 2, 1935, be commuted on Bill No. 7/18 from a maximum of 3 years to a maximum of 2 years 11 months, 29 days, expiring April 1, 1938; and on Bill No. 55/170, from a minimum of 1½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring April 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

In re application of James Daniel Stafford, B-809, No. 90A, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence on Bill No. 5 of James Daniel Stafford convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County on May 14, 1928, be commuted on Bill No. 5 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on May 14, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Prescott, B-3745, No. 91A, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Prescott, convicted of larceny of an automobile and larceny by bailee in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on June 15, 1933, be commuted from a minimum of 1 year on Bill No. 84 to a minimum of 1 day, expiring May 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Stolofsky, B-3539, No. 1593, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Samuel Stolofsky, convicted of arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on December 23, 1932, be commuted from 6 years to 5 years, 5 months, expiring on May 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of arson and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for from six to twelve years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 23rd day of December, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that if the applicant were eligible for parole they would recommend him, (1) an excellent institutional record, (2) trustworthy inmate, (3) has served five years and four months, (4) has assurance of employment.

The trial judge, the Honorable Robert R. Lewis, states "if his conduct in the penitentiary has been such that the prison authorities feel that the parole is indicated I have no objection, although he does not have a savory record."

The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, states that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that he has served all but seven months of his minimum sentence and that he has been assured of employment with the Golomb Hardware Company in Pittsburgh at an adequate weekly wage. The applicant is an expert glazier. He will reside with his uncle in Pittsburgh under good home conditions. His family will be reunited, as his children are now in an orphanage.

The applicant will have served five years and five months of his minimum sentence of six years and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 23rd of December, 1944.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Elmer Defogie, B-3019, No. 1821, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Elmer Defogie, convicted of murder of the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler County on December 28, 1931, be commuted from ten years to 6 years, 5 months, expiring on May 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler County to from ten to twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary on the 28th day of December, 1931. The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that they would probably recommend him for parole, (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record and conduct record.

The trial judge, the Honorable James A. Chambers, states "if the Board is impressed by the matters presented, the Court would not object to clemency considering the fact that the defendant has not served practiclaly one-half of his minimum sentence."

The trial District Attorney of Butler County, the Honorable Charles A. Miller, did not reply to our inquiry.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the position of the applicant as set forth in his position has some basis of fact as the investigator stated that on the testimony of one of the Commonwealth's witnesses, which appears now to have been untrue, the applicant might not have been convicted. The witness, Marco Pinazzo and wife, have made affidavit which conflict with their court testimony.

The applicant is assured of employment with the Cleveland Dairy Products Company at a satisfactory weekly wage. He will reside with his aged mother in Cleveland, Ohio, and will be under the sponsorship of Frank DiSanto, Esquire, Cleveland, Ohio.

The applicant will have served six years and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until December 28, 1951.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Widdos, C-6970, No. 2649, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert Widdos, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 6, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 70 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 7 years, 1 month, expiring May 6, 1938; and on Bill No. 71 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring May 7, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to from twenty to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 8th day of April, 1931.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that since this man is a first offender and has shown exceptional habits of industry and trustworthiness, "we feel that he will make a sincere effort to adjust upon release."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "If you think he has been sufficiently punished, I have no objection to any action you take, or if you see fit to reduce his sentence to a minimum of ten years which has my approval." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to granting of the application.

The applicant was represented by William G. Steltz, President of the Supplee-Biddle Hardware Company, Philadelphia, Pa. He agreed to act as his sponsor and to personally see that he is employed.

The applicant is a butcher by trade and employment is guaranteed at a satisfactory weekly wage by Paul's Meat Market, 1131 Callowhill Street, Philadelphia. His home conditions are satisfactory and he will be surrounded with wholesome influences in every way.

During the prison riots at Graterford the applicant loyally cooperated with the authorities in the prevention of destruction of the penitentiary property. The Board of Pardons believes that he has been sufficiently punished and that if released he will become a useful citizen and, threfore, recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 6, 1951.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and entering a building and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to the Western State Penitentiary for from twenty-one to forty-two years on the 15th day of January, 1930.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary stated that they would parole him subject to the proper sponsor, home and employment, and that his mental condition would be satisfactory.

The trial judge, the Honorable H. Rowand, did not reply to our inquiry, although the assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, Esquire, expressed opposition to the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was involved in a series of crimes with two accomplices, namely John Brodhead and Morris Cohen. They received almost similar sentences as the applicant but both have been released on parole. These accomplices were older men, the applicant being twenty-two years of age at the time of his arrest.

The report of the psychiatrist indicates that he is not psychotic but is of an unstable personality and expresses an opinion that the applicant "will have no trouble in making a go of it when he is released."

The applicant is assured of employment at a satisfactory weekly wage and his home and environment and sponsorship have been investigated and found to be excellent. The investigation of the parole agent for the Board states that the applicant was the unfortunate member of the trio, being twenty-two years of age, while the other men were thirty-four and thirty-eight years of age.

The Board believes that the release on parole of the accomplices some years ago, it is only fair and deserving that the unfortunate member of this group should be commuted.

The applicant will have served 8 years and 4 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 15th of January, 1972.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stella Sydlosky, C-7598, No. 2931, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stella Sydlosky, convicted of murder in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna County on July 13, 1931, be commuted from 9 years to 6 years 10 months, expiring on May 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna County to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 9 to 18 years on the 13th day of July, 1931.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that Stella was an accomplice in this crime. Sella Sydlosky maintains her innocence and repeatedly has stated that the baby was handed to her by Mary Lezinsky after its death and that she only took the child to a lonely spot in Lackawanna County. Investigation by the Dective Division of the Pennsylvania Motor Police coincides with our own investigation insofar as the facts surrounding this crime have been revealed. The two participants, namely Mary Lezinsky and Stella Sydlosky, each maintain their innocence but refuse to implicate their two men companions, namely Joseph Scogla and Leo Ragnosky. The opinion of the investigator of the Board is that the child was dead when delivered to Stella Sydlosky and that the amputation of the hands and feet of the child was not performed by Stella, although it is entirely likely that she knew who performed this mutilation.

The applicant is now an inmate of the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, Pennsylvania, and the Superintendent of that institution states: "From my work with her, and my observation of her, I find her to be dependable and conscientious—her confinement has had a steadying influence on her and I doubt if she would ever again come into contact with the law."

The trial judge, the Honorable William R. Lewis, writes as follows: "While it is true that she was found guilty of an atrocious crime I believe that she was largely influenced in her desire to shield a friend. She is comparatively young and may yet be valuable to society. I believe she has been sufficiently punished and if her conduct since incarceration has been exemplary I see no reason why her plea should not be granted."

The District Attorney, the Honorable Michael J. Egan, stated that he had no objection to the granting of her application. The Board of Pardons believes that this woman has been sufficiently punished and that she has indicated by her work and behavior at the State Industrial Home that she has rehabilitated herself sufficiently to be restored to her place in society, and that she will never again come into conflict with the criminal laws of this Commonwealth.

The applicant has no previous criminal record and the conduct of her life prior to becoming involved in this crime was satisfactory. She will reside with her father and mother in Harford, R. D. 1, Pennsylvania, and will be under the sponsorship of the Reverend J. S. Witucki, of Scranton, Pennsylvania. She will be employed on the farm of her parents under satisfactory home and living conditions.

The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that her sentence be commuted. She will have served 6 years and 10 months of her minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 13th day of July, 1949.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Rausch, B-3926, No. 3004, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Walter Rausch, convicted of breaking and ntering a building with intent to commit a felony, in the ourt of Quarter Sessions of Lawrence County on De- mber 21, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 55 (Bills No. , 44, 48 and 51 and 69 concurrent) from a minimum of years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as llows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release n parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme ourt in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. homas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western tate Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held iat unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences im- osed to run consecutively, was recommended and ap- roved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum ntence, he would be serving the maximum of that sen- nce, and if no recommendation for parole was made at e expiration of the second and subsequent minimum sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner ould be serving the maximum of the second and subse- ient sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an determinate sentence is not automatically paroled at e expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible r parole at that time, and if not favorably considered y the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the fficials of both the Eastern and Western State Peniten- aries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of rustees would only make recommendations for release on arole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the otal of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, ie applicant and others, whose cases were not considered or parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, irough no fault of their own, will have to serve a much nger period of time than contemplated by the sentencing idge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the neces- ary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the inimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not ll, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison fficials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recom- endations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of very consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout ie state have uniformly believed and taken into consider- tion in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that onsecutive sentences would be lumped making a total inimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and iat it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incar- erated for a longer period of time than recommended by ie Board of Trustees of the institution in which the pplicant is confined.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Roy Gilliland, B-3740, No. 3010, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Roy Gilliland, convicted of robbery, receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 21, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 7 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 21, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Fox, D-1460, No. 3234, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Fox, convicted of fraudulenlty making a written instrument, uttering and publishing same, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 9, 1936, be commuted from 5 years to 1 year, 10 months, expiring on May 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of fraudulently making a written instrument, uttering and publishing and conspiracy, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 9th day of June, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant's conduct has been satisfactory while in the institution.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "His conduct is good but I am afraid he is suffering from a superiority complex, having lived by his wits." Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., expressed his opposition to the granting of this application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant, together with three other accomplices, was indicted for these various offenses and that Michael Warren, one of the accomplices, was the ring leader in these crimes. Michael Warren received a three to seven years sentence, while the applicant received a 5 to 10 year sentence.

The Board believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that upon his release he has been assured of a job with Samuel Baker, 2022 Orthodox Street, Philadelphia, at an adequate weekly wage. His home conditions are satisfactory and he will be able to support his wife and son, who are now dependent.

The Board, therefore, recommends that the commutation of his sentence be granted. The applicant will have served one year and 10 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until July 9, 1941.

In re application of Harry Rotz, C-9356, No. 3339, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Rotz, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods, robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lehigh County on December 12, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 133 from a minimum of 1 year to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 13, 1938, and on Bill No. 137 from a minimum of 6 months to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 14, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward S. Sabol, No. 3442, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Edward S. Sabol, convicted of fornication and bastardy in the Court of Municipal Court of Philadelphia County, on October 4, 1934, be pardoned, conditioned upon payment of the lying in expenses of $94.00 and $3.50 per week for sixteen years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of fornication and bastardy and was sentenced to pay ninety-four dollars lying in expenses and three dollars and fifty cents per week for sixteen years for the support of the child by the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County on the 4th day of October, 1934.

The trial judge, the Honorable John E. Walsh, expressed originally his opposition to the granting of a pardon, but in his letter to the Board, dated April 22, 1938, he expressed his agreement with the Board's action in granting a pardon provided it be conditioned upon the payment of the lying in expenses and support order.

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no opposition to the granting of the application for a pardon if the support order for the child is paid.

The applicant is now employed by the WPA cleaning the City Hall in Philadelphia and resides with his parents and members of his family on Passayunk Avenue, in a very comfortable and cleanly kept home.

Our investigation further indicates that the reputation of this applicant is very good. The applicant has made application to the city of Philadelphia for a position as Hoseman with the Bureau of Fire and ranks No. 79 on the list of eligibles. He cannot be appointed without having his record clear.

The applicant has no previous criminal record of arrests or convictions. The Board believes that a pardon should be granted subject to the payment of the Court order of ninety-four dollars lying-in expenses and three dollars and fifty cents per week for sixteen years, dating from October, 1934.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business career.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frederick Plantier, Jr., B-5733, D-764, No. 3351, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frederick Plantier, Jr., convicted of robbery being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 5, 1935, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, expiring on August 5, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of assault, armed with an offensive weapon and robbery. He was sentenced to from five to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on the 5th day of August, 1935.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant's institutional record is satisfactory and that he has made some attempts at self-improvement.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states: "I don't feel that this prisoner received an excessive sentence and I don't think his sentence should be distrurbed." Assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would rely on the Board and would be satisfied with their decision.

An investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the victim of the hold-up in which the applicant was associated with three accomplices, stated under oath that Plantier had nothing to do with holding him up and that he protested against it. To quote the words of the victim, "He really did his best to prevent it and I really think that young Plantier was an innocent victim of the circumstances."

The applicant has born a fair reputation. His home to which he will return is an excellent one and he is assured of employment with the Commonwealth Automobile Association at a weekly salary that is satisfactory.

The Board of Pardons further believes that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and will not return to a career of crime. It, therefore, recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted. The applicant will have served 3 years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until August 5, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William E. Stine, No. 3492, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William E. Stine, convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northampton County on August 2, 1937, be commuted from 1 year 3 months to 9 months, expiring May 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of involuntary manslaughter. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Northampton County on August 2, 1937 to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and to undergo imprisonment in the Northampton County prison for from one year and three months to two years and six months, to be computed from the 2nd day of August, 1937.

The District Attorney, the Honorable William A. Frack, states: "I believe that Mr. Stine, upon release from prison, would be a law-abiding citizen." The trial judge, the Honorable Frank P. McCluskey, states: "I find the facts set forth therein (petition) are true. As to the merits of the case I have no comments to make."

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant struck a Mrs. Zussy with his automobile on the evening of December 24, 1936. He was found guilty by the jury but received their recommendations for leniency. The applicant has never been involved in any criminal act and has conducted himself always as a law-abiding citizen, being employed for many years by the Taylor-Wharton Company of Easton. He has been assured by the Superintendent of the Taylor-Wharton Company of his old position which will average him thirty-five dollars a week.

The applicant's home, which he will occupy with his wife, age 54 years, is comfortably furnished in a very respectable neighborhood. His reputation has been outstanding and he has always been considered a high class citizen. In the Civil Suit brought by the husband of the deceased the petitioner was exonerated.

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and will not become involved in any crimes or misdeameanors in the future and therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 9 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Probation Office of Northampton County until February 2, 1940.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mary Lezinsky, C-7280, No. 3614, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Mary Lezinsky, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna County on July 13, 1931, be commuted from 9 years to 6 years, 10 months, expiring on May 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lackawanna County to the Eastern State Penitentiary from 9 to 18 years on the 13th day of July, 1931.

The applicant was guilty of the murder of an illegitimate child to which she gave birth on the 10th of March, 1931, in the Hahnemann hospital in Scranton. The applicant, together with her friend and room-mate, Stella Sydlosky, planned and arranged for the death of this child. The investigation conducted by the Board of Pardons would indicate the child was dead at the time it was handed over to Stella Sydlosky. Stella then took the child to a lonely spot in Lackawanna County, after amputating the hands and feet, and disposed of the body. Involved in this crime were two men, John Scogla and Leo Ragnosky. The investigation of the Board was directed towards implicating these two men in the crime. However, both girls stated that these men were innocent, despite the suspicion of the authorities. Likewise, Mary Lezinsky, the mother of the child, under repeated examinations maintains that the child was alive when she handed it to Stella Sydlosky. Stella stated, on the other hand, that the child was dead when she came into possession of it. Mary Lezinsky is now confined at the State Industrial Home for Women, at Muncy, Pennsylvania.

The Superintendent states: "She has served 6½ years and has improved in conduct, is a trained worker, and has learned all we can teach her—we feel she is ready for parole." The woman has no known previous criminal record.

The trial judge, the Honorable William R. Lewis, states: "I am, therefore, of the opinion that she has been sufficiently punished and that her application should meet with the approval of the Board.

The District Attorney's office did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The Detective Division of the Pennsylvania Motor Police likewise conducted an investigation of this crime and they too arrived at the same conclusion as our own investigator. Each participant in this crime maintains her innocence, despite interviews separately and together.

The Board of Pardons believes that due to the rehabilitation effected in the case of Mary Lezinsky, and having no previous criminal record and the cloud of doubt which surrounds the entire crime, that she has been sufficintly punished and will not revert to a career of crime.

The applicant will reside with her parents at Hop oBttom, Pennsylvania, and the Postmaster of that village will act as her sponsor. She will live at home on the farm of her parents and will find employment there.

The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted in her case. The applicant will have served 6 years and 10 months of her minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 13th day of July, 1949.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank W. Christie, B-5428, No. 3628, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank W. Christie, convicted of embezzlement by a bank officer in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County on March 13, 1937, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year, 2 months, expiring on May 13, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty in a Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Butler County to the crime of embezzlement by a bank officer, and was sentenced to not less than 2½ nor more than 5 years in the Western State Penitentiary and to make restitution to the Butler Savings and Trust Company on the 13th day of March, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "We would probably recommend the applicant for parole, (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record, (3) very cooperative inmate.

The trial judge, the Honorable John H. Wilson, states: "I will have no objection to his being released on parole at such time as the members of the Board think the circumstances warrant." The District Attorney, the Honorable Leo C. McCandless, was non-committal in his reply to our inquiry.

The President of the Butler Savings and Trust Company, Mr. William B. Purvis, states that upon the authority of the Board of Directors of that institution he is authorized to notify the Board of Pardons that they (Board of Directors) have no objection to Frank W. Christie's early release.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man embezzled a sum of money to the amount of fifteen thousand dollars from the Butler Trust Company and destroyed, therefore, his reputation for honesty and reliability, and likewise, bringing uncalled-for grief to his wife and small daughter.

In event of his release his wife and daughter, who have remained loyal to him, will accompany the applicant to Miami, Florida, where he is assured of employment in a hotel. The law firm of McKay, Dixon and DeJarnette, Miami, Florida, assured our agent that they will act as his sponsor and assure him of employment.

The Board of Pardons believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and that any further imprisonment will not benefit either the prisoner or society. It therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted. He will have served 1 year and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 15th day of March, 1942.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Le Roy Kugle, C-1867, No. 3653, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Le Roy Kugle, convicted of felonious entry and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County on November 21, 1922, be commuted from a maximum of 10 years on Bill No. 1 to a minimum of 8 years, 2 months, expiring May 23, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years; on Bill No. 2 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring May 24, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years; on Bill No. 3 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring May 25, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years; and on Bill No. 4 from a maximum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring May 26, 1938, and a maximum of 10 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of felonious entry and larceny and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer Court of Lancaster County to from four to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary and a fine of ten dollars on the 21st day of November, 1922. The applicant was paroled on the first day of December, 1926, and while on parole violated his parole agreement, being sentenced to the Indiana State Prison. He was returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 23rd day of March, 1934.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he is a printer by trade and because of his advanced age, namely forty-five years, there is a fair possibility that he would adjust if released.

The Honorable Benjamin C. Atlee, states that the trial judge, the late Charles I. Landis, imposed the sentence and therefore he knows nothing about the case. The District Attorney, the Honorable Charles W. Eaby, states that he would rely upon the Board and has no objection to their decision.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that on the charge on which the applicant was convicted in Pennsylvania he has completed almost eight years and because of his age and trade they believe that he will not return to a life of crime. He has sufficient money from his soldiers bonus to set himself up as a printer in the city of Lancaster. His home will be with his parents under a very satisfactory environment.

The Board, therefore, recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served 8 years and 2 months and 10 days of his maximum sentence and will be under the control of the Board of Pardons until March 13, 1970.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Charles Eldred, No. 3672, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Charles Eldred, convicted of larceny by shop-lifting in the Court of Municipal Court of Philadelphia County, on September 7, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and was placed on six months probation by the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County on the 8th day of September, 1937.

The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas Bluett states: "Personally I would have no hesitancy in recommending him for your favorable consideration." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., recommended that his application be granted.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that he had no prior criminal record, that his home, where he resides with his aged father, is satisfactory and that he is now employed by the Railroad Express Agency in Philadelphia. In order for him to gain advancement in the employe of the Express Agency it is necessary for him to be bonded and a pardon is therefore necessary to acquire the bond.

Since his arrest he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. Our investigation indicates that his reputation is excellent. The Board of Pardons feels that a pardon is entirely fitting for this man and that it will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Joseph P. Kelly, No. 3673, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph P. Kelly, convicted of larceny of automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 13, 1927, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and was placed on probation for three years by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 13th day of October, 1927.

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states: "I have no objection to the application." Assistant District Attorney James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objections to granting the application for pardon.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that he has been employed by M. J. Callaghan, a florist, in Philadelphia, until a recent date when a strike called out employes. Since his arrest the applicant has not been involved in any criminal practices and he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner.

He resides with his parents in Philadelphia and the home is locater in a better than average residential section.

The Board of Pardons recommends that a pardon be granted for this offense, for a pardon, in part, removes the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William J. Falls, No. 3674, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William J. Falls, convicted of extortion, bribery, malfeasance, misfeasance, nonfeasance in office and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on January 16, 1931 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of extortion, bribery, malfeasance, misfeasance, nonfeasance in office and conspiracy, and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County to five years imprisonment in the Delaware County Prison and to pay a fine of two thousand dollars on the 16th day of January, 1931. He was released on parole on the 28th day of July, 1933.

The applicant was twenty-nine years of age at the time of his conviction and was involved in the violation of the Liquor Act, arising out of the famous trial of William J. McClure. The trial judge, the Honorable A. D. MacDade, states that he has no objection to the granting of the application as the applicant has been endeavoring to keep within the law, and only requests that the fine, now amounting to a balance of $1570.00, be paid. The assistant District Attorney, the Honorable Guy J. DeFuria, stated that he was not opposed to granting the application.

The prosecutor of the liquor cases in the Federal Court, the Honorable Chet A. Keyes, states that Mr. Falls was an important Government witness in the case of the Commonwealth vs. McClure, et al, and rendered valuable assitance in law enforcement. Likewise, a letter recommending a pardon was received from the Honorable A. S. Harsenstein, who was connected with the prosecution in the case of United States vs. McClure, et al.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the accomplice, one Daniel A. Sykes, was granted a pardon in May, 1937. The applicant is now employed as a restaurant keeper at Twin Oaks, Delaware County, and has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner since his release. He will reside at his home in Twin Oaks with his wife and one child. The Board believes that a pardon is deserving in this case and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of assistance in his business career.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Crescitelli, B-5752, D-2251, No. 3694, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Crescitelli, convicted of rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 10, 1937, to begin April 22, 1937 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year 1 month, expiring on May 22, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of rape and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to four years on the 10th day of June, 1937, sentence to begin April 22, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that his institutional record is satisfactory. The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas Finletter, was non-committal in his reply to our inquiry. The assistant District Attorney, the Honorable James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he would rely on the Board, having no objection to whatever decision they reached.

The applicant has no prior criminal record. The investigation of the Board discloses that he was guilty of the crime, although the victim had led him to believe that she was older than sixteen years of age. The applicant is married and has one son, age 4 years. He will live at home in a neighborhood made up of people of Italian extraction. He is assured of employment by James Colinni, a barber, and will be paid a small salary for his work.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant, who was 26 years of age at the time of the crime, has been sufficiently punished. The applicant is not of a criminal type and his previous record as a citizen and husband has been very satisfactory. His wife, Mrs. Philomina Crescitelli, appeared before the Board and stated that her husband had always been considerate and law-abiding.

The applicant will have served one year and one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 22, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Howard James Feist, B-5211, D-1399, No. 3695, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Howard James Feist, convicted of burglary, breaking and larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on June 9, 1936 be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year, 11 months, expiring on May 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary, breaking and entering and larceny. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 2½ to 5 years and to pay a fine of two dollars on the 9th day of June, 1936.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that because of his minor previous criminal record, satisfactory institutional record, attempt at self-improvement, as reported by the Rockview authorities, they would probably recommend favorable.

The trial judge, the Honorable Clarence D. Coughlin, states "It is my opinion that he has been sufficiently punished. I believe that he will refrain from violating the law in the future." The assistant District Attorney Dando, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant had no previous criminal record and that his present crime of burglary was in the company of one, Frank Taylor, while under the influence of liquor. He has been assured of employment by his brother at Oxon Hill, Maryland, with whom he will likewise reside. The home and sponsorship are satisfactory and the parole investigation indicates that this young man will be stepping into an ideal home where he will receive both guidance and affection. The Board of Pardons therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served one year and eleven months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 9, 1941.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Tom White, D-2656, No. 3703, April Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Tom White, convicted of entering with intent to steal, larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Tioga County on November 29, 1937, be commuted from 1 year to six months, expiring on May 29, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of entering with intent to steal and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Tioga County. He was sentenced to from one to two years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on the 29th day of October, 1937.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "This man is an illiterate, rural type of individual who is greatly confused by the life in the institution. Judging from his behavior and attitude it is felt that his release would not jeopardize society."

The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas A. Chrichton, states: "I, therefore, do not oppose clemency, although I do not suggest it."

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was involved in a series of thefts of farm products with an accomplice, who has since been released from the Tioga county jail.

The applicant will be given employment on his own farm of one hundred and forty acres near Wellsboro, Pennsylvania. The farm is now being operated by his wife and three children and they are greatly in need of the assistance of the applicant. The home conditions are excellent and he will be under the sponsorship of Mr. Bennett, President of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Wellsboro.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for this crime and that he will return to society and prove to be a useful citizen. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation of his sentence be granted.

The applicant will have served six months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 29th day of November, 1939.

Respectfully submitted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Delmas Clair Hartman, B-1704, No. 22, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Delmas Clair Hartman, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Indiana County on April 8, 1929, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 9 years and 2 months and a maximum of life, expiring on June 8, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Indiana County on the 8th day of April, 1929, to pay the costs of prosecution, undergo imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for and during the period of his natural life.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction (2) very good institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable J. N. Langham, writes: "I am heartily in favor of this application being granted. I am convinced that Hartman, Mardis and Campbell have all been sufficiently punished to guarantee that they will not hereafter be a menace to society along any line."

The Sheriff's office of Indiana County signed by the Sheriff of Indiana, the County Detective and the Deputy Sheriff, all in office at the time the crime was committed, stated that they are satisfied that he should have a commutation for the reason "that we think he has been sufficiently punished for his part in the crime."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that Hartman, together with two accomplices, entered the premises of one, Frank Carney, the victim, and hit him over the head with a blackjack, robbed him of his money. The victim later succumbed from the beating. The applicant, although with this group, did not participate in the assault upon the victim. The group had been drinking and the suggestion was made that they visit the victim in order to get more illicit liquor. The applicant was on the other side of the barn, out of view and sight of his accomplices, when they assaulted the victim. The applicant states that their visit, as he understood it, was for the sole purpose of purchasing moonshine liquor and there was no suggestion that a robbery was intended. It is felt that the applicant is a victim of circumstances arising from liquor and bad companions. The Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished, having had no previous criminal record and no tendencies of a criminal nature.

The applicant is assured of employment by the Commercial Coal Mining Company, Twin Rocks, Pa., and will reside with his mother at Nantyglo.

The applicant will have served 9 years and 2 months of his sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons for the rest of his natural life.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Peter Klefsic, B-4433, No. 92A, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Peter Klefsic, convicted of entering a railroad car with intent to commit a felony, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on January 16, 1935, be commuted on Bill No. 63 from 1½ years to 6 months, (Bill No. 64 concurrent) expiring on July 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

In re application of John Harwitz, C-6859, No. 96A, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Harwitz, convicted of feloniously stealing a motor vehicle and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on February 27, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 5 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on August 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Henry D. Whittingham, C-1414, No. 1101, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the life sentence of Henry D. Whittingham, convicted of murder of the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on January 3, 1922, and commuted to life imprisonment on February 28, 1922, be commuted from life imprisonment to a minimum of 16 years and 4 months, and a maximum of life imprisonment, expiring on June 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 3rd day of January, 1922, to death. The said sentence was commuted by Governor Sproul on the 28th day of February, 1922, to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that "judging on the basis of this man's record in the institution, and his attitude towards his sister, it is our thought that due to his age the best possible solution would be his deportation to Jamaica, British West Indies.

The Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, states as follows: "I am sure that he has benefited from his sixteen year stay and as far as I can ascertain there is no objection here to his being deported." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that the crime was one of impulse and that he would be satisfied to rely upon the Board for any action they might recommend.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was born in Jamaica and came to the United States in 1919 but was never naturalized. This crime in killing one, Dora Miller, was that of impulse and not of premeditation. The applicant is now 61 years of age and there is lodged with the penitentiary authorities his deportation warrant to Jamaica.

The Board of Pardons recommend that the applicant be commuted, subject to his immediate deportation and that the Immigration authorities of the U. S. Dept. of Labor be notified of the action of the Commonwealth in this case. He will have served 16 years and 4 months of his sentence.

In re application of Eli Logan, B-1965, No. 1246, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Eli Logan, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Blair County on April 7, 1930 be commuted from 9½ years to 8 years 2 months expiring on June 7, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Blair County to pay a fine of fifty dollars, costs of prosecution and iprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from 9½ to 19 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Peniteniary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole, we would probably recommend him, (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record, (3) cooperative inmate (4) has served over 8 years of his sentence."

The trial judge, the Honorable Marion D. Patterson, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. The trial District Attorney, Richard H. Gilbert writes: "I have no objections to your release."

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the shooting of Mrs. Logan, his wife, was a crime springing from jealousy as it was a current rumor at the time of the trial that Mrs. Logan was friendly with men other than her husband. This rumor was confirmed by the Pastor, Rev. Pait, who stated that as soon as he came to Altoona he learned that one George Francis and F. Anderson, both colored, were lovers of Mrs. Logan.

The applicant had enjoyed a good reputation prior to his arrest and was found to be a steady and reliable employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Close neighbors advised that he appeared to be attentive and loyal to his wife. However, there was an apparent difference of between ten and fifteen yars in the ages of Mr. and Mrs. Logan. The applicant is not assured of employment upon his release, although he may secure a job as a laborer. His sponsor is the Rev. J. G. Johnson, Sharon, Pennsylvania, and the applicant intends to reside in Sharon.

The Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of the applicant be commuted. He will have served 8 years and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 7, 1949.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Fowler, B-3081, No. 1868, May Sessions, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Fowler, convicted of entering a building and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on January 18, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 28 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on July 18, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Alfonso William Puskuing, C-7472, No. 2123, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardsons recommend that Alfonso William Puskuing, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on October 29, 1931, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years on the 29th day of October, 1931. He was released on parole by the commutation of his sentence on the 29th day of March, 1935, and he has been under the supervision of the Board of Pardons since that date.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant has no known previous criminal record and the Supervisor of Paroles states that the applicant is residing with his parents in Philadelphia in a good home envronment and has been employed in the Linton Restaurant Company for the past several years. He has steadily advanced himself in his employment to where he is now earning a weekly wage of twenty-six dollars. His parole record has been excellent and he has shown a marked adherence to the rules and regulations of the Board of Pardons. His splendid employment record, his loyalty to his family, an his engagement to a young lady of splendid character are all indications of his determination to live a law-abiding life.

The applicant is in line for a managership of one of the restaurants owned by the Linton Restaurant Company and he will require a bond in order to qualify for the advanced position.

The Board of Pardons feels that this young man is deserving of this encouragement and has no hesitation in recommending that a pardon be granted.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of Elmer Charles Winters, B-2046, No. 2547, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences on Bills 9, 10, 12 and 13, and minimum sentence on Bill 16, of Elmer Charles Winters, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 16, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 9 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 month, expiring June 16, 1938; on Bill No. 10 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring June 17, 1938; on Bill No. 12 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring June 18, 1938; on Bill No. 13 from a maximum of 4 years to a maximum of 1 day, expiring June 19, 1938; and on Bill No. 16 from a minimum of 2 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County to the Western State Penitentiary for a term of from fourteen to thirty-four years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) he has served 8 years, (2) excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry Rowand, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, stated that the application merits consideration and that he does not oppose it.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant had a previous criminal record of a minor nature and that he became involved in a series of burglaries, with six accomplices, involving about 29 charges of robbery and 7 charges of larceny. These burglaries were perpetrated upon business establishments located in Allegheny and Westmoreland Counties. The applicant was the youngest member of this gang and the other members, except one, have all been released on parole.

Employment is assured the applicant by Mr. John A. Stackhouse, Pittsburgh, as a parking lot attendant. He will reside with his parents in East Liberty, Pittsburgh, Pa. The Board recommends that a commutation be granted this applicant. He will have served 8 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until June 20, 1948.

Respectfully submitted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Carmen Flocco, C-6220, No. 2827, May Sessions, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum on Bill No. 423 and minimum on Bills No. 424 and No. 425 of Charles Carmen Flocco, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 10, 1930, be commuted on Bill No. 423 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 8 years, expiring June 10, 1938; on Bill No. 424 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 11, 1938; and on Bill No. 425 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 12, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 10th day of June, 1930, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from ten to thirty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Improvement in the attitude along with a good work record should be considered with his previous criminal record when deciding this case. He is employed as a barber for the past six years and has sent home practically all of his earnings to his mother."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, writes: "If rehabilitation is possible among such characters he has enjoyed it." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that if in the opinion of the Board of Pardons and the Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary the applicant has been rehabilitated he would not be opposed to the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was involved in a series of larcenies prior to his present incarceration and that his previous record was not enviable. However, he was only twenty years of age when sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary and it is felt that the eight years he has spent in that institution, where he has learned a trade, and has saved a sufficient amount of money to open a barber shop when released, indicates that he has made an effort to rehabilitate himself. He will reside with his mother and sister in Philadelphia and has made arrangements to open a barber shop, having $400.00 in bank.

The applicant will have served eight years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 10, 1943.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as llows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release ı parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme ourt in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. ıomas Lynch v. Stanley P. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Milaccio, C-8144, No. 2962, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Milaccio, convicted of robbery and conspiracy to rob in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 21, 1932, to begin 6-2-32 be commuted from ten years to 6 years, 1 month, expiring on July 2, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 21st day of July, 1932.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has a good conduct record and employment record, although no exceptional factors can be found to base a prediction on.

The trial judge, the Honorable Forrest R. Shanaman, Jr., stated that he would be content with the determination of the Board in this application. The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., states that if the applicant was rehabilitated he would not oppose the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant had been arrested in five previous occasions for minor offenses but never convicted. However, for the crime for which he is now serving a sentence, he, with two accomplices, robbed a barber shop at the point of a gun. One of his accomplices was Russell Raneri, who received a sentence of ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. Raneri's sentence was commuted on the 20th of December, 1937. The facts would indicate that the applicant's participation in the crime was similar to that of Raneri, namely ransacking the barber shop, while the third accomplice held the gun.

The Board of Pardons believes that the applicant is not of a criminal type and that by his efforts at self-improvement he has indicated his intention to live a law-abiding life upon his release. The applicant is unmarried and will reside with his parents in Philadelphia. He will be employed by Mr. Anthony Grassi, Philadelphia in the garage and automobile repair business. Mr. Grassi will act as his guide and counselor and the Reverend Eugenio Cassago will be his sponsor.

The applicant will have served six years and one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 2, 1952.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Claude Haas, C-6980, No. 3018, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence on Bill No. 23 and minimum on Bill No. 24 of Claude Haas, convicted of robbery and burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Berks County on April 8, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 23 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 7 years 2 months, expiring on June 8, 1938; and on Bill No. 24 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 9, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and burglary and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Berks County on the 8th day of April, 1931, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 15 to 30 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The exceptional institutional record, industrial stability, unusual employment record, should react in his favor." However, his previous criminal record causes them to hesitate in predicting his future, unless he is guaranteed steady employment and strict sponsorship.

The trial judge, the Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, states: "If Haas' present attitude warrants confidence in his future conduct, I see nothing in his past record to definitely require that he be subject to further imprisonment at this time."

The District Attorney, Honorable Thomas F. Marx, recommends that the application be approved.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that although this man has had four arrests and three convictions, which would indicate that he was an incorrigible youth, since imprisonment he has made definite improvement and has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. His two accomplices, Thomas Speight and Theodore Miller, have had their sentences commuted.

The applicant will live with his sister in Reading, Pa., and will be under the sponsorship of Mr. James G. Fenstermacher, Reading, Pa. He has been assured of employment by Wm. B. Sheidy, general contractor, as a truck mechanic at a weekly wage of approximately twenty-five dollars.

The Board recommends that this applicant's application for a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served 7 years and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 9, 1958.

In re application of Michael Tellip, C-5323, No. 3019, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Michael Tellip, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on May 25, 1935, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 month, expiring on June 25, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny of an automobile and was sentenced on April 9, 1929, by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County to pay a fine of one dollar, costs of prosecution and imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 3 to 6 years. The applicant was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on April 9, 1932. On May 25, 1935, he was sentenced for the crime of breaking and entering and larceny by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna County to pay the costs of prosecution and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 1½ to 3 years, to begin at the expiration of the original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant's record in the institution is satisfactory. He is employed as a carpenter outside the walls and also cares for the poultry as part of his duties. He obtained a diploma from the Pennsylvania State College and the International Correspondence School in Agriculture and he is teaching these subjects in the prison school. The trial judge, the Honorable Will Leach, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application.

The District Attorney, the Honorable Michael J. Eagen, writes: "The application is recommended for serious consideration. Our investigation of the case would indicate that he has a chance to redeem himself and we would help him in any way we can to this end."

Investigation by the Supervisor of Paroles indicates that this applicant has served the full maximum sentence of his original imprisonment and done a few days on the new sentence. The crime for which he was returned to the penitentiary as a parole violator was for stealing one game rooster valued at fifty dollars.

The Board believes that this young man, during his present imprisonment has made a serious attempt to rehabilitate himself by studying for a useful life in the community. The Board therefore recommends a commutation of his sentence.

The applicant is assured of employment on his farm in Scott Township, Lackawanna County, and will reside with his wife and children on the farm.

The applicant will have served one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until May 25, 1941.

In re application of Joseph Vargo, B-3713, No. 3078, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentences of Joseph Vargo, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 19, 1934, be commuted on Bill No. 76 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 month, expiring June 19, 1938; and on Bill No. 77 from a minimum of 5 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 20, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County on the 19th day of May, 1933, to the Western State Penitentiary for a term of from 15 to 30 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence, we would probably recommend him for parole, (1) first conviction, (2) excellent institutional record, (3) sentence of accomplice has been commuted.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The investigation of the Board of Pardons reveals that due to the pressure of economic conditions he stole food both for himself and his hungry brothers and sisters. His accomplice, one John Tomasic, was likewise living on the borderline of starvation. They participated in a series of robberies that resulted finally in their arrest and imprisonment.

The applicant had no previous criminal record and his accomplice John Tomasic, who received a similar sentence as the applicant, was paroled by commutation of his sentence on August 1, 1936. The applicant, if released, will reside with his father in Homestead, Pa., and has been assured of employment by one, John Chalfa, who conducts a barber shop in Homestead.

The applicant will have served five years and one month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 20, 1948.

In re application of Frank Calello, B-5054, No. 3133, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Calello, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyed and Terminer of Luzerne County on January 28, 1936, be commuted from five years to two years and five months, expiring June 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County on the 28th day of January, 1936, for from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this man has a good institutional record and has demonstrated definite habits of industry. The applicant's previous criminal record consists of two arrests for suspicion. He was discharged on both arrests. According to the officials of the institution, he is neat and clean about his person and cooperates with the officials.

The trial judge, the Honorable John S. Fine, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of the application. The assistant District Attorney, John H. Dando, stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application.

The investigation of the Board of Pardons reveals that this co-defendant, one Sam Stramaro, was tried in Schuylkill County on the same charges and was paroled. The applicant is assured of employment by one, Peter Albano, Hazleton, Pa., as a laborer with the Dick Construction Company. The applicant will reside with his wife and two children in Drifton, Pennsylvania.

The Board recommends that a commutation be granted to the applicant. He will have served two years and five months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until January 28, 1946.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Benjamin Cohen, No. 3282, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of Benjamin Cohen, convicted of conspiracy and false pretenses in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 14, 1935, be commuted from 2 years on Bill No. 287 to 1 day, expiring June 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to two indictments for conspiracy and false pretenses and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County to the Philadelphia County Prison for a term of five years, on June 14, 1935.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, expresses the opinion that his sentence was too short. Likewise, the assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was opposed to the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with a group of nine accomplices, was sentenced to various terms in the Philadelphia County Prison. The alleged ring leader, one Joseph Sweet, received a sentence of four years in the Philadelphia County Prison, while Benjamin Cohen, an accomplice, received a greater sentence. Joseph Sweet was an Insurance Adjuster who conceived and carried through the plan of presenting fake insurance claims. The Board is of the opinion that one of the accomplices, namely the applicant, should not serve a longer term than the originator and ring leader of the crime.

The applicant is married, has two children, and resides in a comfortably furnished home in Southwest Philadelphia. He is assured of employment upon his release with his brother, who is a sheet metal worker and will be employed at a weekly wage of twenty-five dollars.

The applicant will have served three years of his minimum sentence of five years and will be under the supervision of the probation officer of Philadelphia County until June 14, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Gilbert Trent, B-211, No. 3417, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter Gilbert Trent, convicted of murder of the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland County on June 14, 1927, be commuted to a minimum of 11 years, expiring June 14, 1938, and a maximum of 20 years; and that the minimum sentence of Walter Gilbert Trent, convicted of attempted escape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Center County on Sept. 8, 1930, be commuted from 1 year to 1 day, expiring June 15, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced to the Western State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Westmoreland County on the 14th day of June, 1927, to from ten to twenty years.

On the 8th day of September, 1930, he was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Center County for the crime of attempted escape, for from 1 to 20 years to begin at the expiration of his original sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him, (1) he has now served one year over his ten year minimum of his original sentence, (2) excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Ward M. Fleming, who sentenced him on the escape charge writes that he was not opposed to this application provided the prison authorities are of the opinion that the granting of the same will not affect the morale of their prison. The District Attorney, Honorable Charles D. Copeland, states that "in view of the fact that the applicant has served his minimum sentence of ten years for the offense committed in this county, we therefore have no reason to comment on that sentence which has already been served."

The investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the escape which arose from the fact that when the prison roll call was made the applicant was missing, and they found him a little later asleep under a wood pile. His escape was purely technical, as he was never outside the prison walls.

The Board of Pardons believes that in view of the fact that he has served one year over his minimum sentence that he should receive a commutation. The applicant will have served 11 years of his maximum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until 1958.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Saverio Beninato, C-4586, No. 3505, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Saverio Beninato, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on April 18, 1928 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County on the 18th day of April, 1928, to pay a fine of one thousand dollars and costs of prosecution and to undergo imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from six to twelve years. The applicant was released on parole on the 18th day of April, 1934, at the expiration of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state this man's institutional record was satisfactory and that he had no known previous criminal record, and since he has been on parole for over four years his case should be based upon the report furnished by the Supervisor of Paroles. The trial judge, the Honorable Wm. S. McLean, states: "The applicant was justly convicted after a fair trial." The assistant District Attorney, the Honorable John H. Dando, stated that his office had no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons indicates that the applicant is conducting a restaurant in partnership with his brother in Olyphant, Pa. This man was not only a good prisoner but also has been a good subject on parole and for four years has maintained an excellent parole record. He is asking for a full pardon for the reason that his friends have encouraged him to aspire to some public office and he wishes to clear his record.

Since this crime was his first criminal offense and because of his splendid record on parole he is worthy of consideration. The applicant will be employed as part owner of a restaurant and resides in a comfortably furnished home with his wife and two children. His reputation is excellent and he enjoys the confidence of his friends and neighbors.

The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted to the applicant, believing that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Edward Berkowski, D-1005, No. 3507, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Berkowski, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on September 26, 1935, be commuted from 8 years to 3 years, expiring on September 26, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Luzerne County on the 26th day of September, 1935, to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 8 to 20 years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's previous criminal record is of a minor type and includes two juvenile charges. His institutional record is satisfactory and he spends the majority of his time in study. He has made good progress in the trade of brick laying, painting, and paper hanging."

The trial judge, the Honorable W. A. Valentine, writes: "I do not recommend clemency, but do not object to the granting of it if the Board members deem such action proper."

Assistant District Attorney Dando stated that the office objected to the granting of a commutation, although there was some doubt as to the guilt of the applicant.

The Board of Pardons investigation reveals that the applicant and one accomplice broke into the office of the Scranton Spring Brook Water Company and stole about two hundred and eighty-five dollars. Two years later they were indicted and tried for this offense. The accomplice, Joseph Rominski, was granted a commutation by the Board of Pardons in March of 1937. The Board believes, in view of the fact that the accomplice is now on parole, the question as to the guilt of the applicant, and further, that, he has made a sincere endeavor to equip himself for useful life, we recommend a commutation of his sentence.

The applicant is assured of employment with the D & H Coal Company as a mine laborer. He will reside with his parents in Hanover Township, Pennsylvania.

The applicant will have served three years of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 26th day of September, 1935.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Williamson, B-2088, No. 513, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph Williamson, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 10, 1930 be commuted from 4 years on Bill No. 3 to 1 year and 1 month expiring on June 6, 1938, and a maximum of 4 years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County on the 10th day of June, 1930, to from four to eight years in the Western State Penitentiary. He was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence on August 10, 1934. He was returned to the Western State Penitentiary for the violation of his parole on the 6th day of July, 1937, for driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for reparole, we would probably recommend him (1) he has now served over ten months as a parole violator, (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry H. Rowand, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. However, the Honorable E. E. Creps, president judge, Indiana, Pa., states: "While I am not making any recommendations to your Board to influence your decision in the matter, nevertheless, it does seem to me that it could well be looked upon that this defendant has paid his debt to society, not only for the first offense, but, as indicated above, for the more recent offense which was committed in Indiana County."

The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, stated he had no objection to the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that he maintained good parole record until he was arrested for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Because of this offense he was ordered returned to the Western State Penitentiary to complete approximately four years of his unexpired maximum term. He received no additional punishment for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and in view of the fact that he will have completed almost a year in the Western State Penitentiary for this motor offense, it is felt by the Board of Pardons that a commutation could well be granted.

The applicant will have served five years and one month of his maximum term and will be under the control of the Board of Pardons until May 6, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Blackman, No. 3638, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Blackman, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on May 21, 1936, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of larceny and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 21st day of May, 1936, on four separate bills, each for 1½ to 3 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The same day the sentence was reconsidered and the applicant was sentenced to the Philadelphia County Prison, whereupon he was paroled from the County Prison on the 17th day of December, 1936.

The trial judge, the Honorable James M. Barnett, states: "I know of no objection to granting of his petition." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he was in favor of the granting of the petition.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant is subject to deportation to Russia. His wife is of Russian nationality, although their two living children are native born, the youngest being an epileptic. The applicant lives with his family in Philadelphia in a moderately furnished home and is employed by the Chestnut Auto Painting Company of Philadelphia, and has been so employed as a painter for some time. Since his release on parole he has maintained a law-abiding life and enjoys an excellent reputation among the business associates and his neighborhood friends.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant, prevent his deportation to Russia, which would place upon the public the care and maintenance of the epileptic son, and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stanley L. Webb, No. 3649, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Stanley L. Webb, convicted of attempted larceny of auto, attempted operating without consent of owner; attempted entering with intent to steal in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on May 7, 1930, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to attempted larceny of an automobile, attempted operating an auto without consent of the owner and attempted entering with intent to steal, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on the 7th day of May, 1930, and placed on probation for 1 year.

The trial judge, the Honorable Frank Smith, states: "If he has conducted himself since 1930 as a good citizen and has not been in any trouble, I am of the opinion that no harm will be done in granting him a pardon and so clear his record." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of the pardon.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that although this applicant has had two prior arrests and one conviction, that since his release on probation, he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. Our reports indicate that from 1930 to May, 1937, he was continuously employed by the city of Philadelphia at the Byberry Hospital, and since that date by the Crown Can Company of Philadelphia. He is married and resides with his family on North 19th Street, Philadelphia.

The Board of Pardons recommends that a pardon be granted this applicant, believing that his conduct for the past eight years merits confidence in his future behavior and that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,

In re application of Varcy Attarian, No. 3654, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Varcy Attarian, convicted of adultery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 2, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of adultery and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 2nd day of June, 1937, to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and the costs of prosecution.

The trial judge, the Honorable Curtis C. Lesher, stated: "The court took into consideration the fact that the testimony against the applicant was not particularly strong, and gave them what we considered to be a very light sentence at the time." The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to granting the application for pardon.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the charges arose in this case from misunderstanding and jealousy springing from varying nationalities involved in the affair. The applicant bears a very excellent reputation and is a woman of culture and education. She is an electrologist by profession and has her offices at 12 South 12th Street, Philadelphia. Her reputation among her business associates is of the very highest. She has two sons, ages 12 and 16, whom she has sent away to boarding school, and their home is attractive and modern.

The Board feels that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and her family and will be of material assistance to her advancement.

In re application of Leon Tashjian, No. 3655, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Leon Tashjian, convicted of adultery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on June 2, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of adultery and was sentenced on June 2, 1937, by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and the costs of prosecution.

The applicant was never in prison and the Board has been assured by the counsel for the applicant that the fine and costs has been paid.

The trial judge, the Honorable Curtis C. Lesher, states as follows: "The Court took into consideration the fact that the testimony against them was not particularly strong and gave them what we considered a light sentence at the time."

The testimony as to the guilt of the defendant was upon the uncorroborated testimony of a private detective employed by the wife of the applicant. The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that it is doubtful if the private detective could have discerned the conduct of the applicant because of the night in question was rainy and foggy. Mrs. Attarian, co-respondent, is a woman of splendid reputation and character and holds a position in the scientific world in Philadelphia, and her testimony indicated that the hours which the private detective alleged that she was in the company with Mr. Tashjian she was engaged in business affairs.

The applicant is employed in the glove cleaning business and has conducted himself in a reputable manner prior to and since his conviction. He resides at Primos, Pennsylvania, and has been separated from his wife since 1935, there being no children by the marriage.

The Board of Pardons recommends that a pardon be granted this applicant as it will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

In re application of Daniel Westbrook, D-2386, No. 3688, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Daniel Westbrook, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Bradford County on August 23, 1937, be commuted from 5 years to 10 months expiring June 23, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of burglary and larceny in the Oyer and Terminer Court of Bradford County on the 23rd day of August, 1937, and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from five to ten years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "Since this man does not have any previous criminal record and has demonstrated constructive habits and attitudes in the institution, we feel that his release would probably not jeopardize society."

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles W. Culver, writes that the applicant should serve his minimum sentence.

The former District Attorney, the Honorable Edwin P. Young, is likewise opposed to granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant, together with his son, was fishing along the Chemung River and during a rain storm they broke into a cottage and took two blankets to protect themselves. The blankets becoming rainsoaked, they broke into another cottage and took two dry blankets. Again these dry blankets becoming rainsoaked, they broke into a third cottage and took two dry blankets, leaving the wet blankets. They likewise took some chinaware. Upon being arrested the stolen property was returned to the owner. The applicant is a man 63 years of age with no previous criminal record and the experience he is undergoing in the institution is bewildering. It was pointed out by counsel for the applicant that Westbrook and a son were fishing in order to acquire food for the family.

The applicant will receive employment from one, Chris Parmer, Athens, Pa., upon his release and will reside in his home in Athens. The Board recommends a commutation of his sentence, believing that almost a year's imprisonment for the theft of two blankets and a few dishes is sufficient.

The applicant will have served ten months of his minimum sentence of five years and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 23, 1948.

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of John Popp, Jr., No. 3705, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Popp, Jr., convicted of conspiracy to cheat and defraud in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on January 15, 1929, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of conspiracy to cheat and defraud and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County on the 15th day of January, 1929, to the Allegheny County Prison for from 9 months to 2 years.

The trial judge, the Honorable James H. Gay, states: "He has recovered from his punishment better than most any man I have ever sentenced. I believe he is a good citizen and deserves to have his record clear."

Judge M. A. Musmanno, writes as follows: "Up until the time he (Popp) got into trouble he enjoyed a splendid reputation for honesty and integrity. Since the expiation of his offense he has been leading a life free from blame or criticism." The assistant District Attorney, Russell Adams, stated that he had no objection to the application for a pardon.

The Board of Pardons investigation reveals that since his release he had lead an exemplary life and has operated his own detective agency since 1931. He is married and lives in a comfortable home with his wife and children. The Board has received letters in his behalf from the minister of the St. Anne Church, Emmanuel's Evangelical Lutheran Church, the office of the United Mine Workers of America, and other interested citizens.

The Board, therefore, has no hesitation in recommending a pardon for the applicant, believing that a pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his business advancement.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony J. Mocarsky, No. 3708, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Anthony J. Mocarsky, convicted of adultery, fornication and bastardy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on April 13, 1936, be pardoned, conditioned upon the payment of the lying in expenses and $2.50 per week until child is 14 years of age.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of adultery, fornication and bastardy and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County to pay a fine of twenty dollars and one hundred and five dollars lying in expenses and two dollars and fifty cents per week until the child is fourteen years of age, the sentence on adultery being suspended, and to pay the costs of the trial.

The applicant is a business man in Northumberland County and has been engaged in the grocery business for over a period of twenty years.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the prosecutrix did not bear a very excellent reputation and that she had originally accused another person of being the father of the child. There is also some evidence to indicate that at the time the applicant was supposed to be in the car with the prosecutrix, the applicant's car was in the garage of the Remo Packard Company, Shamokin, Pennsylvania.

Innumerable letters from citizens of Northumberland County, including ministers, educators, public officials, and other private citizens, attest to the good character of the applicant and many express their doubts as to his guilt.

The applicant has no previous criminal record of arrests or convictions. He is married and has one daughter. The Board believes that a pardon should be granted, subject to the payment of the Court order for $2.50 per week for the up-keep and maintenance of the child and the payment of the lying in expenses and costs of the trial.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and will be of material assistance in his business career.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry F. Allen, B-4731, No. 3720, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry F. Allen, convicted of rape, fornication in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Beaver County on October 1, 1935, be commuted from 7 years to 2 years 9 months, expiring on July 1, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of rape and fornication. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Beaver County on the 1st day of October, 1935, to from seven to fourteen years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record (3) skilled electrician (4) is very cooperative inmate."

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles C. Greer, stated that the application, in his opinion, should be dismissed.

The assistant District Attorney, William Coghlan, writes that the district attorney's office does not oppose clemency in this particular case. It was further stated by the assistant District Attorney of Beaver County that "the victim, Catherine Brown stated that none of her clothing were torn and that Allen had helped her to take off her slip. It developed during the trial of the case that Allen had fled the jurisdiction of this Court and that fact, I think, bore great weight with the jury. I did not think then, and I do not think now, that this was a case of rape and I so stated after the jury had retired. I am more convinced now than I was at the time of the trial, since I have learned that the girl's reputation was far from being what the reputation of a prosecutrix in a rape case should be."

The Board of Pardons investigation reveals that the applicant fled the jurisdiction of the Court upon the suggestion of an ex-police officer and further that the reputation of the prosecutrix was far from enviable. The Board has a statement from Mrs. Catherine Dickson who rented a room to the prosecutrix, Catherine Brown, that the prosecutrix conducted herself in such a manner that she was compelled to order her from the residence.

The Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, Stanley P. Ashe, Esquire, writes: "Considering the record of Harry F. Allen in the institution, and the fact that this is his first conviction I feel that he would be able to live a law-abiding life."

The applicant has been assured of steady employment as an armature winder with the A. M. Byers Company of Ambridge, Pa., at the prevailing union wage for this type of expert electrical work. He will reside with his wife and children in Pittsburgh. The Board therefore recommends that a commutation be granted.

The applicant will have served two years and nine months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until October 1, 1949.

In re application of Charles Repman, D-2191, No. 3722, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Repman, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of York County on April 19, 1937, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year 2 months, expiring on June 19, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of York County on April 19, 1937, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 1½ to 3 years, and to pay a fine of one hundred dollars.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant is now serving his sentence in the York County Prison and that their recommendation depends upon the reaction of the Warden of the York County Prison. Mr. J. Harry Cromwell, Warden of the York County Prison states: "I personally feel that he has been sufficiently punished for his crime and I beg of you to consider his petition for commutation so that he may again take his place in society and provide for and be with his family."

The trial judge, the Honorable Henry C. Niles, states that in his opinion the interests of the public will be served by favorable consideration of the convict's petition for commutation.

The District Attorney, the Honorable John E. Brenneman, writes: "As not being familiar with the facts I am not in the position to express an opinion either way."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was arrested for stealing merchandise from the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. It appears that the goods were taken from box cars and placed along the tracks and this applicant, with an accomplice, took the merchandise. It did not appear that the applicant or his accomplice broke into the box cars to get this merchandise. The applicant is assured of employment with McKready and Trout, Coal Dredgers, York Haven, Pa., and will reside with his family and father in York Haven. He will be under the sponsorship of Harry Busser, York Haven, Pa.

The applicant will have served 1 year and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 19, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.
DAVID L. LAWRENCE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
GUY K. BARD,
Attorney General.
THOMAS A. LOGUE,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Eugene Lawrence, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of York County on April 19, 1937, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year and 2 months, expiring on June 19, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of York County on April 19, 1937, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from 1½ to 3 years, and to pay a fine of one hundred dollars.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that the applicant is now serving his sentence in the York County Prison and that their recommendation depends upon the reaction of the Warden of the York County Prison. Mr. J. Harry Cromwell, Warden of the York County Prison, states: "Personally, I feel that he has served sufficient time for his crime and that his outlook for the future and his background warrants consideration for a commutation by your board."

The trial judge, the Honorable Henry C. Niles, states that in his opinion the interests of the public will be served by favorable consideration of the convict's petition for commutation. The District Attorney Honorable John E. Brenneman, write "as not being familiar with the facts I am not in the position to express an opinion in either way."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was arrested for stealing merchandise from the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. It appears that the goods were taken from box cars and placed along the tracks and this applicant, with an accomplice, took the merchandise. It did not appear that the applicant or his accomplice broke into the box cars to get this merchandise. The applicant is assured of employment by the Frank A. Duff, Electrical Repair Shop, York, Pa., and will reside with his wife and two children at Hellam, Pa. He will be under the sponsorship of Rev. Carl Brady, St. Patricks Church, York, Pa.

The applicant will have served 1 year and 2 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until April 19, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul B. Cousins, B-5844, No. 3725, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul B. Cousins, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County on November 27, 1937, be commuted from 1 year to 7 months, expiring on June 27, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of larceny and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Butler County on the 27th day of November, 1937, to from one to two years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable John H. Wilson, stated that he felt that under the circumstances his sentence was lenient. The District Attorney, the Honorable Lee C. McCandless, states: "This office has no objection to any clemency shown the defendant."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man had been arrested but not convicted on a minor charge and for the present crime involving the theft of old iron rails, there was some doubt as to whether the owner had not abandoned them. The facts of the commission of this crime are involved, as it was testified that the watchman of the Consolidated Coal Company, from which these rails were taken, gave his tacit consent to the hauling away of this old iron during the daylight hours.

The applicant is married, having three children, and bears a splendid reputation in his community. Unquestionably the applicant is not of a criminal type and the Board recommends a commutation of his sentence.

The applicant will have served 7 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until November 27, 1939.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS KENNEDY,
Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of David Powell, B-4734, No. 3729, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of David Powell, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Mercer County on September 20, 1935, to begin September 16, 1935 be commuted from 5 years to 2 years 9 months, expiring on June 16, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead nolle contendere to the crime of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Mercer County on the 20th day of September, 1935, to the Western State Penitentiary for from five to ten years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state: "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable A. J. McLaughry states: "I am now of the opinion that in view of all the circumstances connected with the case and taking into consideration the nature of the case as shown by the evidence and the length of time already served, that your board would be justified in recommending that he be placed on parole provided he returns to his mother and gives her proper support."

The District Attorney, Honorable Edwin C. Moon, states: "We are informed by Mr. Nelson, trial district attorney, that the application warrants consideration and for these reasons we have no objection to granting clemency."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this crime arose from a drinking party winding up in a fight in which the victim subsequently died. The Board of Pardons has received numerous letters from responsible citizens residing in Farrell and Sharon, Pennsylvania, setting forth the good reputation enjoyed by the applicant and his family.

The George W. Wright Students Aid Fund, Mercer, Pa., have taken a deep interest in this application and will undoubtedly guide him in the proper channels so that he may become a useful citizen. The applicant is assured of employment by his aunt, Miss Louise Gray, Middlesex, Pa., who operates a fruit farm. He will reside with his aunt on the farm and agrees to help support his mother.

The applicant will have served two years and nine months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until September 20, 1945.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Christian Wittenberg, B-5615, D-2050, No. 3733, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Christian Wittenberg, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 19, 1937 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 3 months expiring on June 19, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County on the 19th day of March, 1937, to the Eastern State Penitentiary for from two to four years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "To date this man has a good record in the Rockview institution. However, no unusual habits of industry or behavior can be cited that would permit us to predict his future behavior."

The trial judge, the Honorable George Gowen Parry, expresses the opinion that "This is not a matter for executive clemency."

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., submitted a police report covering this crime and it would indicate that the petitioner and his companion, the victim, were together eating and drinking in a restaurant. The victim was followed by two men, his trousers were torn off of him and twenty-three dollars was taken from the pocket of the trousers. The victim recognized the petitioner as one who had taken the money. The following day the prosecutor went to the petitioner's home and demanded the return of the money. Several days following the petitioner was arrested, upon information given by the victim. One of the men was not identified by the victim, while the petitioner denied having committed the crime.

The opinion was expressed that the act of the victim in requesting the return of the money the day following its loss would indicate that it was not a highway robbery as there is some indication that before the arrest of the petitioner there was a street quarrel relative as to who actually took this money, which undoubtedly resulted in the arrest as stated in the foregoing paragraph.

The Board of Pardons recommends that a commutation be granted, believing that the petitioner was not involved in this robbery. The applicant will reside with his parents in a small home in Philadelphia and will be employed as a trucker by George Dubits of Philadelphia at a weekly wage of about 18 dollars a week.

The applicant will have served one year and three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 19th day of March, 1941.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert J. Crawford, No. 3734, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Robert J. Crawford, convicted of breaking and entering to steal in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 1, 1920, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of breaking and entering and larceny and was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the 1st day of June, 1920, to five years probation.

The assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant resides with his wife and mother and two children in a comfortably furnished home in Philadelphia and that he has been employed by the Peter Hernig Company, milk distributors, for the past six or seven years at a weekly wage of about twenty-six dollars.

The petitioner has had a bad reputation, all of which has been traced to his drinking habits, but for the past seven years he has abstained from all liquor and has changed his mode of living to the entire satisfaction of his family and employer. Magistrate Edward J. Holland has taken a real interest in the applicant and assures the Board that he will continue to look after him and help to guide him in the right path. It is indicated that his marriage contributed greatly to his law-abiding conduct and excellent behavior.

The Board of Pardons has no hesitation in recommending a pardon, believing that it will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of George F. Weaver, No. 3737, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that George F. Weaver, convicted of false impersonation in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on May 20, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of false impersonation and was sentenced on May 20, 1935, by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County to pay a fine of one hundred dollars and placed on probation for six months.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, stated that in his estimation his application was rather premature. However, the assistant District Attorney, James W. Tracey, Jr., stated that he had no objection to the granting of the application.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant impersonated a constable in an attempt to collect a claim against the Hooven Typewriter Company for $26.50. The petitioner has no previous criminal record and for the past sixteen years he has conducted a collecting agency at 1328 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, in which he takes care of delinquent accounts and the collection of rents for individuals and trust companies. He resides with his wife in the Alden Park Manor, Philadelphia.

The Board of Pardons has received letters in behalf of the applicant from the Real Estate Trust Company of Philadelphia, the Phila. Rapid Transit Company, the Girard Trust Company, and other reputable business men of the city of Philadelphia, all attesting that Mr. Weaver is a man of ability and integrity.

The Board of Pardons recommends that a pardon be granted the applicant, believing that his conduct in this instance was one of impulse and not of premeditation. The number of reputable institutions in Philadelphia which he serves would indicate that he enjoys a splendid business reputation.

A pardon will in part remove the stigma of the crime from the applicant and his family and will be of material assistance to his advancement.

In re application of Howard T. Pontius, B-5327, No. 3738, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Howard T. Pontius, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler County on December 12, 1936 be commuted from 3 years to 1 year 6 months expiring on June 12, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of statutory rape and was sentenced on December 12, 1936, by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Butler County to the Western State Penitentiary for from three to six years and to pay a fine of two hundred dollars.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary stated "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole we would probably recommend him (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record."

The trial judge, the Honorable John H. Wilson, states as follows: "I have read the copy of his application forwarded to me and conclude that the statements therein set out are a fair and honest statement of the facts in the case. The Reverend F. W. Brecht and Mr. Roy C. Keck, mentioned in his application, are well known to me and will honestly carry out anything that they agree to do."

The District Attorney, the Honorable Lee C. McCandless, writes: "This office has no objection to any clemency shown the defendant."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this man, age 40, had intercourse with a young girl about 13 years of age. The applicant had been helping to support the victim's family, who bear a very poor reputation in the neighborhood and their present whereabouts are now unknown. The sympathy of the community seems to be entirely with the applicant. While not of a high type intellectually, he seems to have the reputation of always having been a hard working man, honest and easy going.

The applicant is assured of a position by Mr. Keck, Foreman of the Butler Consolidated Coal Company, and his sponsor will be the Reverend F. W. Brech, Chicora, Pa. He will reside with his wife and children in Chicora.

The applicant will have served 1 year and 6 months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until the 12th day of December, 1942.

In re application of Harry Craig, al. Harold Grovan, al. John Smith, No. 3830, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Craig, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Armstrong County on August 10, 1934 be communted from 2 years to 1 year expiring on August 10, 1935.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Armstrong County to the Western State Penitentiary on the 10th day of August, 1934, to from one to two years. On August 10, 1935, he completed his minimum term of one year and was released on parole. He proceeded to Cleveland, Ohio. On November 1, 1935, he was declared delinquent on parole and was arrested on the 6th day of September, 1937, in Portland, Oregon, in possession of a stolen car.

Under the provisions of the Pennsylvania Parole Law, because of his conviction and sentence, the applicant would be compelled to return to the Western State Penitentiary as a parole violator to serve the one year remaining of his maximum sentence.

The Board of Pardons recommends a commutation for the following reasons:

(1) If and when he is returned to the Western State Penitentiary, the state could only imprison him for a term of one year from the date of return.

(2) The expense to the Western State Penitentiary for returning this man would be heavy and the degree of violation of parole and the amount of time he could be detained in Pennsylvania, in my judgment, does not warrant this expenditure of money.

(3) This parole violator has only been convicted of a crime twice, according to his record, and all of his earlier trouble was more or less a juvenile nature.

(4) He was only seventeen years of age when he was committed to the Western State Penitentiary, and will not be twenty-one until May 10, 1938.

(5) The interest of society and the respect for the parole law of Pennsylvania will not be jeopardized in not returning this parole violator.

The applicant will have served 1 year of his maximum sentence and will be released from the supervision of the Board of Pardons.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon du public notice, in open session, the undersigned member of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximur and minimum sentences of Roy Mauder, convicted o robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Alleghen County on May 1, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 19, fror a maximum of 5 years to a maximum of 1 month, expirin June 1, 1938; on Bill No. 20 from a maximum of 5 years t a maximum of 1 month, expiring June 2, 1938; and o Bill No. 21 from a minimum of 2½ years to a minimum o 1 day, expiring June 3, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are a follows:

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County on the first day of May, 1933, to the Western State Penitentiary for from ten to twenty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary state that "If this inmate were eligible to apply for parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence, we would probably recommend him for parole (1) first conviction (2) excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel H. Gardner, did not reply to our inquiry as to the merits of this application. However, the assistant District Attorney, the Honorable Russell Adams, stated that he had no objection to this application because over half of the minimum term had been served and he would be under the sponsorship of Mr. George H. Knox, a responsible citizen of the city of Pittsburgh.

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that this applicant had no previous criminal record. Because of lack of employment and having dependent upon him a wife and three children, he, with an accomplice, engaged in a series of petty larcenies and it resulted in his present incarceration.

The Board of Pardons believes that this young man is not of a criminal type and that his economic condition compelled him to break the law. The Board has been assured by Mr. Knox that the applicant will be looked after and employment assured while on parole. The applicant will live with Mr. Knox of Pittsburgh, and has been assured employment in the Factory Stores Co. at about $15.00 weekly wage. He will have served 5 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be on parole until June 3, 1943.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Benjamin John Kominski, C-9032 No. 4042, May Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth o Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Benjamin John Kominski, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lackawanna County on May 27, 1933, be commuted on Bill No. 15 from a maximum of 20 years to a maximum of 5 years 1 month, expiring June 27, 1938, and on Bill No. 16 from a minimum of 10 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring June 28, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of robbery. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lackawanna County on the 27th day of May, 1933, to pay a fine of one dollar and to imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for from twenty to forty years.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state: "The applicant's previous record consists of two arrests for burglary which were juvenile arrests. The man has an ordinary record in the institution, with no exceptional habits of behavior upon which to base a prediction."

The trial judge, the Honorable E. C. Newcomb, is deceased. The president judge, the Honorable Will Leach, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to the merits of this application. The District Attorney, Honorable Michael J. Eagen, writes as follows: "I do admit, after examination of the records in the case, that sentence does appear to be a very severe one . . . Whether or not this young man has been sufficiently punished, and is now ready to become a useful citizen, is a matter for the discretion of the Board. Hence, no recommendation in the case is offered."

Investigation by the Board of Pardons reveals that the applicant was about twenty years of age at the time of the commission of the crime, and that his previous criminal activities were committed when he was a lad of 14 and 15. At the time that the applicant was sentenced, the courts of Lackawanna County were imposing extraordinarily severe sentences in the hope of breaking up the crime wave and undoubtedly this was one of the reasons for the severe sentence in this case.

The applicant has attempted to improve himself by taking a course in electricity and has made fair progress. He associates with the general type of inmates of the institution and is employed in the woodworking department.

The Board of Pardons believes that this young man has rehabilitated himself and will not become involved in any criminal practices in the future. He is assured of employment with one, Jack Steckel, Dunmore, Pa., in a grocery store, and will receive about ten dollars a week. He will reside at the home of his mother in Dunmore, Pennsylvania. He will be under the care and supervision of Rev. Andrew Zychowicz.

The applicant will have served 5 years and 1 month of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the Board of Pardons until June 28, 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Houston, C-723, No. 97A, June Session, 1938.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Houston, convicted of robbery, rape, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 3, 1931, be commuted on Bill No. 637 from a minimum of 7½ years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on September 4, 1938.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the m[illegible] sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if [illegible] all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many prisoners whose release on parole has been affected by the opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Thomas Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, 320 Pa. 341. In this opinion it was held that unless a prisoner, who was serving sentences imposed to run consecutively, was recommended and approved for parole at the expiration of the first minimum sentence, he would be serving the maximum of that sentence, and if no recommendation for parole was made at the expiration of the second and subsequent minimum of sentences imposed to run consecutively, the prisoner would be serving the maximum of the second and subsequent sentences. In other words, a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence is not automatically paroled at the expiration of the minimum term but is merely eligible for parole at that time, and if not favorably considered by the Prison Board at any time thereafter, the prisoner is required to serve the full sentence.

It was the custom for a long period of time for the officials of both the Eastern and Western State Penitentiaries to lump consecutive sentences and the Boards of Trustees would only make recommendations for release on parole at the expiration of the period of time equal to the total of the minimum sentences.

Since the Supreme Court held this procedure improper, the applicant and others, whose cases were not considered for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, through no fault of their own, will have to serve a much longer period of time than contemplated by the sentencing judge and the prison officials.

The failure of the Board of Trustees to make the necessary recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum sentences was an honest mistake, as most, if not all, sentencing judges shared the same view as the prison officials in deeming it to be unnecessary to make recommendations for parole at the expiration of the minimum of every consecutive sentence. Sentencing judges throughout the state have uniformly believed and taken into consideration in passing sentences the Prison Board practice that consecutive sentences would be lumped making a total minimum and a total maximum.

We believe that a great injustice would be done and that it would be most unfair to keep the applicant incarcerated for a longer period of time than recommended by the Board of Trustees of the institution in which the applicant is confined.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Arthur Wolkiewicz, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on October 15, 1932, be commuted on Bill No. 10B from a minimum of 3 years to a minimum of 1 day, expiring on October 16, 1938.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DELAWARE RIVER JOINT COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

To the Honorable: The Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey and the Council of the City of Philadelphia.

During 1937, 12,293,129 vehicles crossed the Delaware River Bridge. Gross receipts from bridge operation, including the return from the rail transit line, amounted to $2,969,423.52. The cost of operating and maintaining the bridge for the year was $452,810.03. After provisions for interest requirements on the bonded indebtedness, the net income for 1937 amounted to $999,027.85. Of this amount, the Commission expended $200,000 for the redemption of bonds maturing September 1. Bonds now outstanding amount to $37,520,000. As of December 31, the Sinking Fund amounted to $910,133.30 and the Surplus Fund to $2,893,411.86. The Commission has cash totaling $908,001.07.

The year was the second best in the history of the bridge as regards traffic. Only in 1931, when 12,308,225 vehicles used the structure was this year's traffic mark exceeded. Compared with 1936, the increase was 15.81 per cent. Receipts, however, were 3.21 per cent less than those of 1936 due to the fact that, on February 1, the Commission reduced the rate for passenger cars and light trucks from twenty-five cents to twenty cents and, on March 1, inaugurated the sale of commutation tickets at the rate of forty for $6.00. In January, the Commission ordered the reductions to be tried out for an experimental period expiring August 31, 1937. As it became evident that all obligations could be met with the reduced rates, the Commission, in August, directed that these be continued indefinitely. These are the lowest toll charges of any bridge of comparable size in the country.

In December, the daily average of commuters was 2,981. Commutation tickets are sold in books and are good for use within thirty days from the date of purchase. A book is sold for the passage of a particular vehicle as identified by the license number. No refund is given for unused tickets.

In 1937, the Delaware River Bridge received 73.67 per cent of the total cross-river traffic in the vicinity of Philadelphia. The balance was distributed among the ferries and the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge. In 1936, the Delaware River Bridge's share was 72.13 per cent. Total cross-river traffic in 1937 was 16,686,810; in 1936, 14,714,584. While cross-river traffic increased by 13.4 per cent, the bridge participation was swelled by 15.81 per cent.

Simultaneously with toll reductions on this bridge, a corresponding cut was made by the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge and the Pennsylvania Ferries.

Since the opening of the bridge on July 1, 1926, traffic, receipts and expenses were:

	Traffic	Gross Receipts	Expenses	Net Receipts
1937	12,293,129	$2,969,423.52	$452,810.03	$2,516,613.49

1926 (½ year)	4,137,674	1,110,108.38	158,109.47	946,632.83

A gratifying feature of 1937 traffic was the breaking of the all-time record for twenty-four hour travel over the Delaware River Bridge. On August 15, 70,175 vehicles crossed. On July 18, the record was set at 68,143 vehicles which figure was exceeded a week later with the passage of 68,515.

MAY WIDEN ROADWAY

The Commission feels, when the number exceeds 90,000 in one day, that consideration must be given to widening the bridge roadway to eight lanes. This can be done by taking over the unoccupied space originally set apart for the use of trolleys. It has been estimate that the improvement could be made for less than $1,000,000. It would, however, be of little advantage to widen the roadway unless streets in both Philadelphia and Camden are also improved.

On January 8, construction of the Maintenance Building at Fourth and Linden Streets, Camden, to house the workshops and motor equipment was begun. On July 21, the building was completed. Prior to that time, the maintenance departments were located in unsuitable quarters under the bridge in Philadelphia. The new Maintenance Building cost $130,604.88 of which the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works furnished $57,230.71 as a grant.

Bids for construction of new toll houses at the Camden end of the bridge were opened October 22 and the following contracts awarded:

No. 29-AXA	H. John Homan Company 213 Haddon Avenue, Collingswood, New Jersey	$104,500
No. 29-AYA	Philadelphia Piping and Equipment Company 1605 Rockland Street, Philadelphia, Pa.	12,992
No. 29-AZA	Morris Newmark and Brother 1814 Ludlow Street, Philadelphia, Pa.	14,865
	Total	$132,357

The contractors begun work on November 1 and, aided by especially good weather, made rapid progress. At the end of the year, there was every reason to believe that the toll houses could be put into use around February 1. This improvement consists of two end houses, each two stories high, of brick and masonry connected by a copper-covered roof extending across the toll area and affording protection to motorists and collectors over twelve lanes. Two toll collectors can be used upon each lane thereby affording facilities vastly superior to those formerly available. Even with the necessity of making change, the volume of traffic will be handled more expeditiously than when the flat quarter rate prevailed.

In connection with the building of the toll houses, the opportunity to revise the grades of the toll area to provide better drainage of surface waters was taken. The old toll houses were built just before the bridge opened in 1296. Inasmuch as no roof extended above them, both motorist and collector suffered in bad weather.

The most important problem now facing the Commission is to find some means of improving bridge approaches in Philadelphia. This subject has been discussed at length since building of the structure began in 1922 but, to date, the only betterment has been the widening of Race and Vine Streets for but a short distance from the Philadelphia Plaza. At the December meeting, the Commission requested the new Philadelphia Housing Authority to locate one of its slum-clearance projects along Vine Street to wipe out a most unsavory neighborhood and to permit the widening of the street to accommodate bridge traffic. The Commission will request the Legislature of Pennsylvania to widen Vine Street as far west as the Parkway at the expense of the Commonwealth. If this improvement can be brought about, the relief to the motoring public would be great.

The Commission plans to submit to the Legislature the suggestion of widening Vine Street to fifty feet between curbs from Franklin to Ninth Street, thence to the Parkway providing a dual highway with separate fifty-foot roadways to accommodate east and westbound traffic. A sketch of this suggested improvement is contained in this report.

RAIL TRANSIT PATRONAGE INCREASES

The rail transit line which was put into operation June 7, 1936 carried 4,743,310 passengers in 1937. The Commission's share of the receipts at two and one-half cents per passenger was $118,582.76. Monthly business of the line showed an increase during the year. The line has not attracted the volume of business anticipated prior to the opening. Part of this may be due to the fact that passengers are compelled to transfer at Eighth and Market Streets, Philadelphia to the Market Street subway. This transfer would not be required if the Eighth Street-Locust Street subway were completed by the City of Philadelphia. When this improvement is made, passengers from Camden will be able to reach Broad Street, Philadelphia without change of trains.

The total cost of the rail transit line, without making allowance for the claims of three contractors against the Commission, was $10,726,992.72. Of this amount, the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works furnished $2,272,499.89 as a free grant. The Commission is claiming an additional sum of $67,032.45, which the Government disputes.

The lease of the rail transit line from the Commission to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company was automatically extended for a period of four years from June 30, 1937. This lease provides that four-months' notice of desire to terminate must be given in writing by either party before the expiration date. No notice was received within the time provided but, on May 26, Trustees of the Company petitioned the Federal Court in Philadelphia to reject the lease on the ground that the Company has suffered sizable losses. The Commission directed counsel to take all necessary legal measures to oppose the petition. This suit has not been brought to trial and the Company has continued to operate the line under the terms of the lease.

At the close of the year, the three suits brought by contractors on issues arising out of construction of the line had not yet been tried. The plaintiffs are Builders, Incorporated, contractor for the Philadelphia section of subway; The Marcus Contracting Company, Incorporated, builders of part of the Camden subway and E. R. Morehouse Company, Incorporated which laid the rails and ties throughout the line. These contractors claim they were forced to pay excessive wages and were subjected to undue delays.

The contract for re-painting the entire bridge will be awarded in 1938. This will be the largest single item of expense to be met by the Commission during the year.

On March 25, the Commission authorized renewal of the All Risk and Use and Occupancy insurance in the respective amounts of $10,000,000 and $500,000 for a period of three years beginning April 15, 1937 at a total cost of $43,000. This was a reduction of $8,000 from the previous cost of similar insurance.

LOSS OF COMMISSIONER HIRES

The Commission records with deep regret the death on October 14 of Mr. Lucius E. Hires of Salem, New Jersey who had been a member of the body since July 1, 1929. Mr. Hires was most faithful and painstaking in the discharge of his duties and his loss is keenly felt by his associates.

On April 30, Mr. Walter S. Anderson, Treasurer of the Commission since April 1, 1930, died. He was succeeded by former Judge John B. Kates who resigned as a commissioner after serving for fifteen years.

Up to the end of the year, no appointments have been made to the Commission to replace Mr. Hires and Judge Kates. At the May meeting, Mr. Arthur C. King of Toms River, New Jersey was elected Vice-Chairman in Judge Kates' stead.

The terms of office of the Pennsylvania State Treasurer, Charles A. Waters and Audit-General Frank E. Baldwin expired in May. Their places were taken upon the Commission by Mr. F. Clair Ross, State Treasurer and Mr. Warren R. Roberts, Auditor-General.

By authority of a certified concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania dated January 11, 1937, Messrs. Edward Browning, Jr. and James P. Clark were formally accepted as members of the Commission in lieu of Messrs. Thomas B. Smith and Richard Weglein.

The suit of Mr. Smith and Mr. Weglein challenging their removal from the Commission was not tried up to the end of the year.

On May 13, Mr. James C. Crumlish, Pennsylvania counsel for the Commission, resigned upon his appointment to the Common Pleas bench, Phialdelphia County, by Geovernor Earle. Mr. Adrian Bonnelly, Philadelphia, was appointed his successor.

On August 5, Mr. Edward Browning, Jr. resigned from the Commission and Governor Earle appointed to his place Mr. George Gordon Meade effective October 1.

On October 21, the Commission was forced to lodge a formal protest with officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Washington against the attempt of the Federal Government to tax Commission bonds. This same issue has been raised against bodies similar to this commission in other parts of the country. A formal ruling has been given in other cases that bonds issued by such bodies are exempt from tax. Counsel for the Commission have prepared and submitted briefs to the Government upon this subject.

On May 18, Governor Earle signed the bill making Commission employees eligible for membership in the Pennsylvania State Employees' Retirement System. The Commission subsequently entered into an agreement with the Pennsylvania State Employees' Retirement Board to carry out the provisions of the act. All employees of the Commission, irrespective of residence in either Pennsylvania or New Jersey, were enrolled.

At the December meeting, the Commission adopted a resolution providing that employees shall not be dismissed from service except upon written charges to be passed upon by the Commission. The Commission feels that these two actions have greatly aided the morale of its staff.

During 1937, accidents upon the bridge totaled 47; 69 arrests were made; 707 disabled cars removed; 14 fires extinguished; one suicide and one death by leaping from the bridge occurred on the high-speed line.

The bridge was maintained in excellent condition throughout the year. Various minor repairs and adjustments were made by the maintenance force of the Commission.

The Commission cordially invites the Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey and the Council of the City of Philadelphia to inspect the structure at any time.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF JUDGES OF THE COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS OF PHILADELPHIA COUNTY

August 31, 1938.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:

By direction of the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania, I have the honor to transmit the following reply to the joint resolution of your honorable bodies of August 16, 1938, requesting the judges to inquire "into the administration by the present magistrates of the Magistrates Courts of Philadelphia and to institute such proceedings as shall be necessary for the removal of those magistrates found guilty of violating the provisions" of the Magistrates' Court Act of 1937:

"The preambles to the resolution recite general reports to the effect that the magistrates have been so neglectful of their duties during the recent summer months that at times, especially at weekends, magistrates have not been available to discharge the necessary public business of the criminal branch of their offices, to the inconvenience of the citizen arrested for alleged offenses and to the denial of his right to a prompt release on bail. The preambles also refer to Section 34 of the Magistrates' Court Act of 1937, which provides 'the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas shall have the power * * * to inquire into and consider any and all matters and things touching the administration of the business of the magistrates and the performance by them of their duties,' and it assumed that the request to the judges to investigate the magistrates is based upon the power thus apparently attempted to be conferred by that section of the Magistrates Court Act. The Supreme Court, however, has unanimously held, in the case of Rutenberg et al. v. Philadelphia, decided on January 3, 1938, in which the constitutionality of that act was under consideration, that the Legislature did not intend by Section 34 to confer upon the judges general inquisitorial or visitatorial powers over the magistrates, but only to confer such power as would enable the judges intelligently to make rules of practice for the magistrates, or to supervise and approve rules made by them, as was said by Mr. Justice Barnes, speaking for the Supreme Court in that case:

" 'To the extent that appeals lie from magistrates' courts to the Common Pleas by statute, or by certiorari pursuant to Article V, Section 10, or pursuant to Article V, Section 14 of the Constitution of this Commonwealth, or otherwise, the courts of Common Pleas, having such appellate jurisdiction, may be authorized to make rules of practice if the Board of Magistrates does not make them. The Common Pleas cannot be vested with power to make rules of practice governing matters concerning which magistrates are required to make returns to the Quarter Sessions Court, and we must assume and so hold, that the legislature did not intend to confer such power.

" 'With reference to section 34, the legislature is not empowered by the Constitution to subject the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred upon the Magistrates to the visitatorial power of the Common Pleas courts. We assume that the phraseology of Section 34 is not intended to bestow such power, but the legislative intention is to provide for such investigation as would enable a majority of the judges of the court of Common Pleas to exercise the powers conferred in Section 33 to approve the rules of practice made by the Board of Magistrates, or in default of such rules, to enable the majority of the judges of the courts of Common Pleas to make them. So considered it is our opinion that Sections 33 and 34 may be sustained.'

"From this decision of the Supreme Court, the General Assembly will understand that it is the law of the Commonwealth that the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas neither have, nor can constitutionally be given by the Legislature, the power to investigate or supervise the conduct of their offices by the magistrates, except to make or approve rules of practice for Magistrates Courts in matters coming before the Common Pleas on appeal, or as the conduct of a particular magistrate may come under judicial scrutiny in regular and established criminal proceedings. To undertake a general and non-judicial investigation of these officers would be without legal sanction, and an unwarranted intrusion into their affairs, which the judges cannot commit, and which they believe the General Assembly would very properly deprecate and condemn.

"A legally unauthorized inquiry would have all the characteristics of an extra-judicial activity. It would have no power to compel witnesses to appear and testify, its findings would be based upon information unsupported by the sanction of a binding oath, its decisions would bind no one, and it would be without power to issue process to enforce them. Thus all the attributes of a judicial function would be wanting in such an inquiry, and the judges who took part in it would exceed their powers and would be placed in an invidious and embarrassing position. This is manifest; for, if the information they receive in such an investigation should move them to cause legal proceedings to be begun to remove an offending magistrate from office, they would either occupy the dual and incompatible positions of being at once the accusers and judges of their own accusations, or would be unable to try the cases in their own courts and be compelled to call in foreign judges to perform that duty for them.

"The judges believe it to be their duty not to permit either of these situations to arise, and the only way to prevent this is to scrupulously refrain from engaging in such non-judicial work. The very acts of investigation and accusation would disqualify them from trying litigation in their own courts arising therefrom. It is improper for a judicial officer voluntarily to place himself in a position in which he could not at all times perform, as an unbiased and disinterested judge, each and every function of his office.

"The General Assembly will appreciate that the judges shall always be happy to serve it in any manner consistent with holding themselves free for the performance of the judicial functions with which they have been invested by the people. In this spirit, therefore, and in order to comply with the request of the General Assembly as far as the proprieties will permit, the judges have asked the Mayor and Magistrates of the City to give them statements of the facts respecting the alleged recent break-down of the Magistrates Courts, if it occurred, and the reasons therefor. In response to this request, counsel for both the Mayor and the Magistrates have furnished the judges with such statements, which they have the honor to submit herewith for the information and consideration of the General Assembly."

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS SHUNK BROWN, JR.,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW

City of Philadelphia
City Hall Annex

August 22, 1938

Hon. Raymond MacNeille,
Court of C. P. No. 3,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Judge MacNeille:

In accordance with your request, I submit herewith a report on the designation of magistrates for the 24-hour Court established by the Magistrates Act of 1937.

Immediately after the Supreme Court had passed upon the act, the Mayor, on January 31, 1938, designed four magistrates to sit in this court and suggested that they arrange between themselves for the continuous maintenance of the court. I attach a copy of one of these letters.

Thereafter, there was some complaint as to the facilities at night in Room 190 City Hall, which is the office of the Board of Magistrates. The stenographers who take the testimony in the district courts were moved in there, and there were other reasons given which were matters of comfort and convenience. We were unable to provide sleeping quarters and the magistrates, therefore, stayed late at night until apparently all necessity for their presence had ceased, and then for a period we placed a City Hall guard there who could 'phone the magistrate at his home in case of need. Later, the magistrates sat in Room 102, which is the Foot Traffic headquarters and where conditions were cleaner and better.

For the month of February the Mayor had assigned magistrates without being able to obtain knowledge of whether or not they had other duties to perform in the daytime. Subsequently, at the suggestion of the Board of Magistrates, we were furnished with their list of assignments and the Mayor designated those who were not engaged in the daytime. During February four magistrates were assigned; during March, two magistrates; during April, five magistrates; during May, five; and during June, three.

On the July and August list, because of men being out of town for vacations, there were no available magistrates unassigned. It was understood, however, that one or more of them would be in town and ready to act in case of call. No formal assignment was therefore made at the beginning of July. There was some report of delays in reaching magistrates on Sundays, and in the first week of August, Mr. Ryan made definite arrangements with the Clerk of the Board of Magistrates that Magistrate Myers would be at his home and ready for any calls for August 7th and August 14th. Mr. Ryan confirmed this by talking to the Magistrate, and told him that since the Mayor was away from his office, the Magistrate was to consider himself as the designated magistrate for the weekend periods, when the only difficulty had arisen. This information was communicated to the office of the Superintendent of Police and was available to anyone who applied there.

For last Sunday, August 21st, five magistrates were available and this information was given to every police station house. The same procedure will be followed for next Sunday and for the Labor Day weekend.

The 1937 Magistrates Act provides that the Mayor shall designate a sufficient number of magistrates to conduct 24-hour service for the taking of bail. Some years ago the matter was handled in a satisfactory manner by the magistrates themselves by having a list made up whereby each one of the twenty-eight magistrates was designated in succession for one night. If circumstances arose preventing anyone from acting he was required to exchange dates with another magistrate. This service ran from 9:00 P. M. through the night. While this was a practical way of handling the matter, it apparently cannot be used for the 24-hour court established by the 1937 Act since there is a provision that the same magistrate shall not be assigned for consecutive months, and no one assigned more than once in six months. Since there are twenty-eight magistrates, each of whom may serve only once in six months, the maximum number assignable under a strict interpretation of the act, allowing for possible sickness or disability, would be four each month. Insofar as possible, it will be the Mayor's policy to assign men who are not required to be in station houses for morning hearings.

The Mayor's Court has been held in a number of decisions to be separate and apart from the system of twenty-eight magistrates courts established by the Constitution and subsequent legislation. The most recent is that of O'Malley vs. Wilson, Mayor, in which the Chief of the Board of Magistrates sought the right to assign the magistrates to Central Station and the Court of Common Pleas No. 4 of Philadelphia reviewed the cases and refused him that right. The Court has variously been referred to as the "police station next to the Mayor's office" (when the Mayor's office was at Sixth Street), the "Central Court" and the "Central Station Court." The Mayor may either sit as magistrate in this court or appoint as a substitute one of the elected magistrates but not any other person (Renshaw's case). By Section 10 of the 1937 Act it is provided: "There shall be established a central police court in the city hall of the city of Philadelphia . . . " which shall be open twenty-four hours each day and to which the Mayor shall assign a sufficient number of magistrates. There is not and never has been a provision that a Mayor's court in Central Station shall be continuously open, and there has been no limitation upon the power of the Mayor to assign one magistrate continuously or any number of magistrates from time to time as his substitutes in his court. This Section 10, therefore, clearly creates a new court under new conditions and gives the Mayor the power of designation because the court is held in City Hall, leaving, by Section 11, the designation of magistrates to other police stations to the Chief of the Board of Magistrates.

It is the purpose of the Mayor, beginning again in September, to assign a sufficient number of magistrates to this new court to enable them to give continuous service. As a matter of practical fact, the only time when any trouble has arisen has been during the present vacation period.

I feel sure that the present cooperation between the Mayor, the Board of Magistrates, and the Police Department will obviate any future difficulty.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH SHARFSIN,
City Solicitor.

Magistrate James W. McBride.

Philadelphia.

Dear Sir:

In accordance with the power vested in me, I hereby assign you during the month of February, 1938, to the Central Police Court in the City Hall of Philadelphia, ordered to be established by me by the Magistrates' Act of 1937, to be held in Room 190 City Hall.

The other appointees to this Court are Magistrates Roberts, Zweig and Rainey. I suggest that you contact them and arrange for the twenty-four hour maintenance of the Court, which is required by the act.

Sincerely yours,
MAYOR.

BOARD OF MAGISTRATES
Philadelphia County
190-194 City Hall,
Philadelphia, August 23, 1938.

Board of Judges,
Courts of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County,
City Hall,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Att. Hon. James Gay Gordon

Gentlemen:

I beg to submit, on behalf of the magistrates of the City and County of Philadelphia, the following reports pertaining to the so-called central police court, provided by Section 10 of the 1937 Magistrates' Court Act.

It was the opinion of counsel for the Board of Magistrates, that the legislature, by the provision of Section 10, referred to the then existing central police station court which had for some time been conducted on the sixth floor of City Hall. This opinion arose by reason of the use of the very name by which that court had been known, by reason of its location in City Hall, and by reason of granting to the Mayor the power to designate magistrates who were to sit therein. It did not seem logical to assume that the legislature, with full knowledge of the long existing central station court in City Hall, to which the Mayor designated the magistrates who were to preside, intended that in addition to that court an additional court by the same name should be established in the same building and the Mayor again empowered to designate the presiding judges.

The matter was immediately discussed with the City Solicitor through James Ryan, his Assistant, representing the Mayor, and it was agreed that in view of the adjudicated cases the legislature was without authority to interfere with the then existing central police court at City Hall; that this was the Mayor's court and beyond the control of the legislature.

It was further agreed that it was the apparent intention of the legislature not to create any new system or court, but to insure to the people some specific court at which they might receive the service to which they are entitled, during twenty-four hours of each day.

Prior to these discussions the Mayor had in accordance with the act, designated four magistrates to sit during the month of February, 1938, in a so called central police court, in Room 190 City Hall. This continued during March, April, May and June. The facilities of Room 190 were nil. That room was unsuited to use for twenty-four hour service. No sleeping quarters were available, nor could any be had in City Hall.

It was soon necessary to utilize that room for the stenographic work required by the 1937 Magistrates' Court Act, and the designated Magistrates were moved to Room 102. Because of inadequate facilities, the assigned magistrates remained on duty each day until the apparent need of their services ended. A City Hall guard was in constant attendance who was able, on need, to reach the assigned magistrates by phone.

After the original assignments for the month of February had been made, it was agreed with the Mayor that he should continue to make the monthly appointments, in cooperation with the Board of Magistrates, which meant that after the Board of Magistrates had made its regular monthly assignment to divisional police courts and remaining police stations in the City of Philadelphia that the Mayor would designate, from among the remainder of magistrates unassigned, three or four of such magistrates, to be responsible for the twenty four hour per day service. This continued although it was immediately obvious that the magistrates so assigned had no functions to perform except possibly, at night and on Sunday. This because during the weekdays, all Magistrates were available at their several offices.

During July and August, because of vacation periods, all available magistrates were assigned to regular police station duties, and accordingly, none were available for assignment by the Mayor to the twenty four hour duty court. It was agreed, however, between the Chief Magistrate and the Mayor that at least one magistrate would be available at all times. At the request of the Assistant City Solicitor Ryan, the Chief Clerk of the Board of Magistrates made definite arrangements for Magistrate Elias Myers to be available at all times over the week-end of August 6th and 7th, and 13 and 14th. The availability of Magistrate Myers was communicated to the Superintendent of Police.

These specific dates are mentioned because of the recent reports in the newspapers reciting that no magistrate could be reached on the latter week end. An inquiry was immediately made and it is respectfully submitted that these reports, as published, were entirely unfounded and incorrect. The truth is, that the following magistrates were available during the time and at the places hereinafter stated:

Magistrate Elias Myers

On both Saturday, August 13th, and Sunday, August 14, 1938 presided at hearings in the 10th, 11th, 15th, 20th and 24th Police Districts. On Saturday, August 13th after hearings he was at his office until 3 P. M. and for the balance of that day was at his home. On Sunday, August 14th, after hearings, he was at his home throughout the entire day and night with the exception of the hours between 4:00 and 6:00 P. M.

Magistrate Jos. H. Rainey

Although unassigned, Magistrate Rainey was either at his office or his residence throughout the entire day and night of August 13th, on which day he allowed and signed several copies and bail. He was similarly present at his home all day and night on Sunday, August 14th. In point of fact upon reading the newspapers on that Sunday morning and noting the reported unavailability of any magistrate, he forthwith notified the police bureau, and on that day received several applications for and rendered considerable service to the public.

Magistrate Vincent J. Girard

Presided at hearings on Saturday, August 13th, at the 2d, 15th, 20th, 26th, 27th and 30th police districts. He was thereafter at his office until 8:00 P. M. when he left for the seashore. He returned the following morning Sunday August 14th, was at his office at 3 A. M. where he remained until 9 A. M. He then presided at hearings in the aforementioned police districts, returned to his office at 1 P. M. where he was in attendance until 3:45 P. M.

Magistrate Charles Amodei

Presided at hearings on Saturday August 13th in the 3rd and 19th police districts and thereafter was at his office during the entire afternoon. He was likewise at home beginning at 11 P. M. and throughout the entire night. On Sunday August 14th he presided at hearings at the 3d, 19th, 25th, 33d, and 37th police districts, and was in attendance at his office thereafter until 2. P. M.

Magistrate Charles Medway

Was in attendance at his office on Saturday, August 13th until 4:30 P. M. and was home on that night beginning at 11 P. M. and thereafter. Was at home on Sunday, August 14th, until 1 P. M., left and returned at 11 P. M.

Magistrate Jacob Dogole

Presided at hearings in the Central Police Court at City Hall on Saturday, August 13th; thereafter was in attendance at his office on that evening until 6 P. M.

In addition Magistrate Edward W. Henry and Magistrate Wm. J. Hess, were available at their offices, and later at their homes, on August 13th and 14th, 1938.

There is also submitted herewith a schedule of all hearings held on Saturday and Sunday, August 13th and 14th, which includes the presences of nine magistrates during the greater part of both of these days.

We feel confident that the present existing cooperation between the Mayor and the Board of Magistrates will obviate any further difficulty and prevent the recurrences of even such unfounded reports as were recently published.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN J. O'MALLEY
Chief Magistrate

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTION.

This Commission, under the act creating it, was authorized and empowered to make a thorough investigation of existing practices and means whereby information is gathered and disseminated in furtherance of gambling, and to report its recommendations as to changes in the existing laws to the Extraordinary Session of the General Assembly, to the end that the gambling evil may be more readily and completely eliminated.

It must be stated at the outset that the type of gambling involved here concerns primarily the horse racing pool, or the commercialized betting on horse races. There is no other type of commercialized gambling approaching the proportions of this gigantic illegal enterprise. As will be developed later, this type of gambling is supported by an intricate and highly developed system of gathering, collating and disseminating race track information. The extent of these operations is nation-wide, and, in fact, penetrates the Canadian border. Within the confines of the United States the operations extend from border to border and coast to coast. Some conceptions of the proportions of this enterprise may be gleaned from the testimony of one witness who for the past twelve years has made an exhaustive survey of certain phases of this subject. He estimates that the amount of money wagered away from the track, that is, in illegal book-making establishments, in the United States, runs in the neighborhood of $4,000,000 a day.

Other types of pool selling are also in operation, such as football and baseball pools, but the size of these enterprises is circumscribed at present, and does not begin to approach the gigantic proportions of the horse race pool. The essential distinction between the operation of the football and baseball type of pool on the one hand, and the horse race pool on the other, is that the instantaneous dissemination over private telephone and telegraph wires of detailed and up-to-the-minute information concerning the event wagered upon is an integral part of the latter only.

For an intelligent study of this situation it was deemed necessary to probe into every phase of the subject matter so that a comprehensive picture of the modus operandi might be developed. Only by determining what factors are essential to the ultimate evil, namely, gambling in the form of pool selling, and by exposing the manner in which these factors are created and brought into play, could we hope to recommend legislation designed to strike successfully at the heart of this problem.

During the course of its work the Commission conducted eight public hearings in Philadelphia and Dauphin Counties, and took approximately 1,300 pages of testimony from 81 witnesses. Investigations were conducted on a wide scale throughout the State and also in other parts of the country, and the work was supplemented by extensive legal research. During the investigation two of the most important witnesses subpoenaed before the Commission, namely, Moses L. Annenberg and Walter H. Annenberg, attempted to halt its activities by an injunction suit started in Dauphin County Court. A temporary injunction was granted but was dissolved after a hearing and argument. An appeal taken to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is still pending at the time this is being written, although two arguments have been held and briefs have been filed, with the result that neither of these two witnesses has testified and the funds appropriated for the expenses of the Commission have remained unavailable.

The results of the investigation are embodied in this report, and have taken material form in two bills drawn by the Commission and already submitted to the General Assembly.

After the Commission was organized it designated Lemuel B. Schofield, Esq., of the Philadelphia Bar, as Counsel.

Mr. Schofield was ably assisted by a legal staff consisting of Charles Lakatos, Esq., Associate Counel, and Ellwood L. Englander, Esq., Albert Laub, Esq., and Morris H. Vernick, Esq., Assistant Counsel, all of the Philadelphia Bar and loaned to the Commission by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. Their fidelity and loyalty has been outstanding. The Commission gratefully acknowledges their spendid work and wishes to express its appreciation to the Hon. Leo A. Crossen, Chairman of the Liquor Board, who made their services available.

The Commission also wishes to acknowledge its appreciation to Commissioner Percy W. Foote and Deputy Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, for the services of a splendid corps of investigators under the general command of Sergeant Russell W. Frutchey, and consisting of Detective Benj. O. Lichty and Privates George Sauer, John Regna, Joseph P. McIlvaine, R. F. Gertzen, Howard W. Kisner, J. E. Mannion, Earl Moore and Michael C. Ryan. The members of the Motor Police did excellent work and the investigations assigned to them throughout the State were completed quickly, thoroughly and accurately.

The activities of the Pennsylvania Motor Police were complemented by Mr. Patrick J. McKewen, former Chief of County Detectives of Philadelphia County, whose able assistance the Commission gratefully acknowledges.

The Commission also wishes to express its appreciation for the valuable cooperation of the Federal Communications Commission, and the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, its counsel, John Kelly, Esq., and Mr. Frank Loftus, its telephone engineer.

Note:—

On November 25, 1938, the Supreme Court handed down a decision upholding the constitutionality of the Commission but declaring the subpoenas under which the witnesses Moses L. Annenberg and Walter H. Annenberg were called, to be too broad. It was held further that since the creation of the Commission was ancillary to carrying out the functions of the Special Session of the Legislature, its power must expire upon the termination of the Session.

CHAPTER II.

THE NATURE OF THE POOL SELLING OPERATION

Pool selling may be defined briefly as a system whereby a bettor is enabled to wager on an event the outcome of which is uncertain. As here used, it will generally refer to horse race pools.

The entire object of a bettor is to select and wager on a horse which will finish the race in either first, second or third position—since these horses are entitled to cash prizes at the race track, they are universally used for betting.

For the alleged purpose of enabling the bettor to select wisely, he is obligingly furnished with a fund of detailed statistical information concerning the past performances and estimated comparative racing abilities of each participant in the race. Special "tips" by "experts" are at his command. In addition, the bettor is supplied among other things with the line-up of the participants in the various races, the names of the jockeys, the weights carried, the post time, the 'scratches," or horses withdrawn, and the betting odds on each horse. These services are supplied by certain racing publications, and may be purchased at the regular newstands for sums ranging from 10 cents to 25 cents per copy for daily publications, and for sums as high as $10.00 for annual publications. Without at this time developing in detail the nature of these publications, suffice it to say that information concerning every conceivable fact in any way pertinent to the event is readily available to the bettor. Armed with this wealth of information and confident that he is fortified with the technical resources of a vast enterprise conducted for the sole purpose of supplying his needs, he proceeds to the book-making establishment where the pool selling operations are conducted.

Here he is furnished with additional services. It must be remembered that betting odds shift from time to time up to the very last moment when the race begins, these being determined in most cases by the pari-mutul machines at the race track. The bettor must be posted on the latest betting odds, and these cannot be supplied by the publications. In addition the bettor must be informed of the last-minute scratches, and these also cannot be supplied by the publications. Further still, the bettor must know the post positions or the starting position of each entrant in relation to the inside rail of the track; these the publications cannot supply, since they are determined shortly preceding each race. In brief, the bettor is accorded every convenience to enable him to develop his already extensive knowledge down to the moment the race is begun.

For this purpose the book-making establishment usually provides a loudspeaking device, commonly called a Teleflash system, connected to a private wire over which flows information whose ultimate origin is the race track itself. This information is posted in detail on "rundown" sheets, conspicuously located; and containing the line-up in each race, the jockeys, the weights, the scratches, the post positions, the betting odds, etc., etc., so that the bettor, if he is alert, will have a detailed picture of every known factor entering into the race. At some point during the course of these operations he makes his selection and places his bet with the book-maker, who records the identity of the bettor, the name of the horse, the race, and the amount wagered. He then waits for the running of the race.

It must be noted here that, aside from special instances, the bet is made directly with the book-maker, and does not pass through the pari-mutuel machines at the track. Therefore, the book-maker is directly affected by the hazards of the race. This fact is of the utmost significance in the entire system.

During the course of the race the Teleflash provides a graphic running description of the event, describes the relative position of the participants at various positions around the course, and anounces the winning horses within a space of a few minutes after they cross the finish line. Shortly thereafter and before the running of the next race, the official pay-off odds as determined by the pari-mutuels are called over the system and posted. Those bettors entitled to winnings are then paid off by the book-maker, and the cycle begins anew.

It is evident from a study of the mechanics of pool selling, and the testimony of numerous witnesses before the Commission conclusively demonstrates, that two principal aids are essential to successful pool selling operations. The first is the racing publication in all it forms; the second is the direct wire racing news service. The former not only supplies the data which bettors feel are invaluable for making selections, but reduces the problem of wagering to a pseudo-science and thereby lends considerable attraction to the hazard. The latter bridges the gap in information between the time the publications are printed and the post time, transplants the race, as it were, from the race track to the betting establishment by reason of the graphic descriptions sent over the wire, and further encourages betting by furnishing, immediately after each race, the information necessary for the "pay-off," thus stimulating the bettor either to recoup his losses or to enhance his winnings, as the case may be.

The direct wire race news service, in adition to its other uses, is the only means of protection the book-maker has against "past posting." This term refers to wagering on a winning horses after the race is run and the results are known. It is obvious that so long as this service is furnished to any one individual in a locality, the book-maker who does not subscribe lays himself wide open to this type of fraud. Without this service he cannot remain in business for a day. As a point of fact, testimony before the Commission shows that this scheme has been used by one news service to demonstrate to prospective customers that the direct wire is absolutely essential to the book-maker.

There is, it must be noted, another type of private wire, which supplies an added protection to the book-maker. It enables him to insure bets by a process known as "laying off" the bet. The situation often arises that for any one of a number of reasons bettors play heavily on one horse. If that horse should win, the book-maker would stand to lose a considerable sum of money. In such a contingency he can protect himself by placing his own bet through the pari-mutuel machines at the track, using the special wire, which relays the bet to a representative of the news disseminating agency at the race track. By this method the book-maker can cut any hazard down to zero. Book-makers conducting operations of any sizeable quantity find this wire essential to their business because it provides instantaneous service, enabling the book-maker to protect himself at a moment's notice.

The advantages of the book-making establishment in terms of convenience and accessibility are obvious. Only a minute portion of those who bet on horse races can afford the time and expense involved in attending races at the track. As a consequence pool selling (and by that term we do not include the pari-mutuel system of betting) has become a vast enterprise, penetrating practically every community in the Nation.

The dissemination of racing information through the medium of both the private wire and the racing publication has, in the course of years, become an integral part of this enterprise. Its appeal is three-fold: first, it directs its appeal toward the bettor, supplying him with the facts which he deems essential to successful wagering; second, it makes itself indispensable to the book-maker, enabling him to continue in business with the minimum of hazard; and, third, it acts as a perpetual stimulus to betting activities. Pool selling as it is constituted today would collapse were it deprived of this essential adjunct.

CHAPTER III.

THE PRIVATE WIRE, OR SPECIAL CONTRACT LEASED WIRE SERVICE.

As indicated in the preceding chapter, the terminal points of the private wire over which racing news is disseminated are the race track on the one hand, and the book-making establishment on the other. However, the wire is not an unbroken conduit, so that the information is transformed at several points along its path from the track to the book-maker.

The Nationwide News Service, Inc., with headquarters at 431 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, is an organization engaged in gathering and disseminating racing information over telegraph and telephone lines on a nationwide scale. Its news service constitutes a complete monopoly. In order to illustrate the manner in which this service operates, we will take a typical example, tracing it from the race track into the book-making establishment:

Speaking as of September, 1937, the Nationwide News Service, Inc., has under special contract with the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company the use of Morse service over a private telegraphic line between the Latonia race track at Latonia, Kentucky, and 431 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois. Nationwide News Service, Inc. also has an agreement with the operators of the Latonia track whereby the Nationwide is granted the exclusive right to contract for private leased wire service into the track, excepting only the major press services such as the United Press and the Associated Press. During the Latonia racing season Nationwide News Service, Inc. maintains a staff of expert observers at the track for the purpose of gathering and reporting information on every phase of each race, as outlined in the preceding chapter. The Morse service furnishes the means whereby the track representatives of Nationwide are enabled to launch the information on its cross-country journey. (At some tracks the Morse service is replaced by a teletypewriter system. The mechanics of the system utilize an instrument at the transmitting and resembling a typewriter through which the typewritten message is converted into electrical impulses, and a similar instrument at the receiving end, which automatically converts the impulses into the original typewritten message.)

Thus the information sent from Latonia during the course of the races is received at a central headquarters in Chicago, where the message is fed to a telegraph operator, who relays it over a private Morse wire, also by special contract with the long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to the Penn Daily Sports, Inc., located at 1015 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. The Penn Daily Sports, Inc., is its eastern Pennsylvania representative. This corporation handles the local dissemination of racing news, and has as of September 1937 a list of 142 subscribers to its service in Philadelphia and vicinity. Under special contract with the Keystone Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, 1015 Chestnut Street is connected by private telephone lines to each of the 142 subscribers. As the information comes in over the Morse wire it is decoded by a telegraph operator and relayed to an announcer who, by speaking into a microphone, transmits the news simultaneously to each of the 142 subscribers. (As will be developed later, 134 of these subscribers were definitely proven to be book-making establishments.)

Thus it will be noted that while part of the system is leased from the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and involves interstate communication, the chain is interrupted at some point within the State where it is picked up and "fanned out" over intrastate wires under contract with the local telephone companies.

As to the interstate wire service, this is furnished under a special contract whereby the American Telephone and Telegraph Company leases to the Nationwide News Service, Inc. a portion of its wires, known as a "loop" or private system. It differs from the ordinary telephone service in that the entire system is leased by the subscriber at a fixed rental for either full-time or part-time service, as conditions, as conditions may require. The telephone merely supervises the service to see that it functions efficiently, but the operators are supplied by the subscriber. The loop is an independent closed circuit and cannot be connected to the remainder of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company system through its general telegraphic or telephonic exchanges. Certain points along the loop are tapped to allow for "drops," which are merely extensions off the loop furnishing service to particular points, such as 1015 Chestnut Street in the preceding illustration. The contractual relation remains at all times between the Nationwide News Service, or lessee of the loop, and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, so that the latter may not know the identity of the drop except by reason of extraneous circumstances. This type of service is not unique with racing news dessimination, but is subscribed for by brokerage houses, press associations, newspaper associations, business organizations with branch offices, etc., etc.

The local distribution is also furnished through special contract, but here it is obtained from the local telephone companies, such as the Keystone or Bell systems. The local disseminating center is the focal point for the intrastate private wires, each of which terminates in the ultimate recipient of the service. Here, too, the contractual relation remains between the subscriber (in the above illustration the Penn Daily Sports, Inc.) and the telephone company, so that the latter would not, except by reason of extraneous circumstances, be aware of the identity of the ultimate recipient. As will be indicated later, however, the telephone companies do in fact generally know who the recipients of the service are and what the nature of their service is.

To gauge the extent of the operations of the Nationwide News Service, Inc., we must, of course, repeat our illustration many times over. And here we might touch briefly on some of the facts developed by the Federal Communications Commission in 1936 during the course of its investigation into certain phases of the special contract leased wire service, specifically as relating to the dissemination of information in furtherance of gambling. In February of 1936 there were but two companies engaged in the dissemination of this type of information, namely, the Nationwide News Service, Inc. and the Interstate News Company. The latter was a subsidiary of the former, so that Nationwide News had, in fact, a complete monopoly of this service. As of the above date this company had in service 17 master transmitting and receiving teletypewriters and 175 receiving teletypewriters scattered throughout the country, operated by a network of leased wires under contract with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. In addition, the Nationwide operated 105 telegraphic receiving instruments and 58 full period leased telephone wires. In respect to geography, a summary of the cities and states covered by this service indicates that the Interstate News operated in 23 cities and 5 states, and that Nationwide operated in 34 states and 3 provinces in Canada, in approximately 200 cities, or in other words, in a total of 39 states in the Union and 3 provinces in Canada, in over 223 various cities. To complete the picture we merely note that each city to which service was furnished was in turn a distributing center for fanning out the information to numerous local subscribers. The ultimate customers of this service in every case investigated by the Federal Communications Commission were engaged in pool selling activities. There was not a single instance investigated other than newspaper and press associations, where the business of these customers was lawful.

The size of these operations is graphically illustrated by some figures developed during the Federal investigation. From April 1, 1931 to December 31, 1935, a period of a little less than 5 years, the revenue to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for this type of service in use exclusively for the dissemination of racing information was $2,841,071.34. During the year 1935 the amount paid to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company exclusive of the 5 per cent Federal tax was $573,446.18. The revenue for the month of September, 1935 was $45,672.18. This income fluctuates somewhat monthly, depending upon the racing season. There are, furthermore, frequent connections and disconnections throughout the network as conditions vary. In addition to this revenue, that is, from actual rentals, it is estimated that the New York Bell Telephone Company alone receives $1,000 a day from incidental telephone calls as a result of this type of service. This was the estimate of Thomas E. McEntegart, attorney for the General News Bureau (later absorbed by the Nationwide News Service) as of May 17, 1934. During the year 1936 the Nationwide News Service, Inc., including its subsidiary, the Interstate News Company, was in fact the sixth largest customer of the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

All of the above are matters of public record brought out at public hearings, and the conclusions drawn are part of the report made to the Federal Communications Commission at that time. They are likewise part of the records of the present Legislative Commission as brought out in the testimony at its public hearings.

Bringing this picture down to date and developing it locally, we find that on October 1, 1938, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company had outstanding contracts for the dissemination of race track information with three corporations—the Nationwide News Service, Inc., the Delaware Sports Informant, Inc., and the seaboard News Service, Inc., (the latter two being subsidiaries of Nationwide.) The contract with the Nationwide yields the American Telephone and Telegraph Company a monthly revenue of $31,215.36, covers the United States and three provinces in Canada, and within the United States serves 148 cities in 24 states. During the past year the Nationwide network was connected with 24 race tracks throughout the country, various tracks being added and discontinued from time to time according to the racing seasons. (There was no contact with the two tracks in Louisiana, which fact should be considered in connection with the Louisiana statute prohibiting the dissemination of racing information.) This system passed through Pennsylvania, as of September 1, 1938, with drops at Harrisburg, Erie and Wilkes-Barre, but this local service was discontinued shortly thereafter, which fact is significant in connection with the activities of this Commission.

The contract with the Seaboard News Service, Inc. was entered into on September 8, 1938 (the significance of this date will also be noted), and this system now supplies the drop at Erie, Pa. from a line running from Buffalo, N. Y. to Erie. The monthly yield to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is $480.30.

The contract with the Delaware Sports Informant, Inc. is dated November 8, 1937 (this date being significant since it marks the termination of the operations of the Penn Daily Sports, Inc. as a result of the activities of the Special October 1937 Grand Jury in Philadelphia County.) This contract yields the American Telephone and Telegraph Company $1,967.40 per month. The line originates at Claymont, Delaware, and supplies drops at the following points in Pennsylvania: Chester, Bryn Mawr, Upper Darby, Lansdowne, West Chester, Norristown, Wilkes-Barre, Shenandoah, Reading, Oxford Coatesville, Lancaster, York, Hanover, Lebanon and Harrisburg. The Delaware Sports Informant system also enters Pennsylvania through a drop at Camden, N. J. which in turn is connected with the Lombard Central office of the Bell Telephone Company in Philadelphia by means of 15 trunk lines. So that for one reason or another the Nationwide News Service, Inc. serves Pennsylvania through the name of the Delaware Sports Informant, Inc., and the Seaboard News Service; whereas it serves the rest of the United States in the name of the Nationwide News Service, Inc.

Developing the Pennsylvania situation further the Commission finds that as of October, 1938 the interstate drops mentioned above are connected to 142 ultimate subscribers throughout the state, 134 of which testimony shows are undoubtedly illegal book-making establishments. This by no means presents the entire picture, due to the fact that since the investigation was necessarily limited, the telephone companies were only asked for locations connected with the Nationwide News and its subsidiaries through three or more drops. Consequently, we do not touch the locations serviced by one or two drops from the network, of which there are undoubtedly hundreds throughout the state, nor do we cover the hundreds of establishments where information is obtained over the telephone without private wire service.

An examination of the bank accounts of the constituent companies operating in Pennsylvania gives some idea of the extent of this enterprise.

The General News Bureau, as forerunner of the Nationwide News Service and later absorbed by it, had during the period 1931 to 1935 local offices at 1015 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, which was a focal point for the dissemination of horse racing information in Philadelphia and vicinity. During this period bank accounts were maintained at the First National Bank of Philadelphia and the Land Title Bank and Trust Company beginning with October 1931 and ending with January, 1935. Total deposits for this period—a little over three years—amounted to approximately $500,000. Penn Daily Sports, Inc., a subsidiary of Nationwide News Service, operating in Philadelphia and vicinity between July, 1936 and September, 1937, deposited approximately $190,000 in its account at the Land Title Bank and Trust Company. These figures, it must be remembered, do not reflect total receipts since salaries to employees and other incidental expenses were paid in cash, so that all receipts were not deposited in the bank accounts.

An idea of the vastness of the enterprise on a nationwide scale may be gleaned from the testimony of the eastern field representative for the General News Bureau. This witness stated that in the territory covered by him during the period 1931-1932, which included New England, New York, New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Washington, there were approximately 3,200 illegal book-making establishments served by General News Bureau. Some of these book-makers had, in turn, their own networks serving other customers, at times with the knowledge of the General News Bureau and at times without. In some localities there were as many as 25 book-makers per town where General News would serve but 5. A conservative estimate of the total number of book-makers in this territory places the figure at about 7,500. The average price paid to General News was $50 per week, so that the gross revenue per week amounted to $150,000, or $7,800,000 per year. The witness points out that this was an unusually slow period. In the Chicago area, as determined by him through numerous conversations with various company officials, there were 1,280 customers. At that time operations were carried on behind closed doors, due to incessant raids by the police. The average weekly price per customer was $80, the figure ranging from $35 to as high as $475, so that the gross revenue per week ran to approximately $100,000, or $5,000,000 per year. Thus the combined revenue from these two areas was approximately $14,000,000 per year. It was the boast of the company officials that the profits from the Chicago area alone would pay the total operating expenses for the United States and Canada.

CHAPTER IV.

THE ILLEGAL NATURE OF THE RACE WIRE SERVICE.

We have already touched at several points on the illegality of the operations of the ultimate subscriber to the race wire service. Taking the country as a whole, pool selling is made illegal and is condemned as a matter of public policy. Furthermore, while there may be some question as to whether criminal prosecution against the disseminators of information used by the book-makers to further their gambling activities can be successfully maintained under the laws of the various states, this is not so much because of the abence of essential criminality but rather because of the inherent difficulties of proof.

The results of the investigation by the Federal Communications Commission into this phase of the subject have already been noted. The ultimate customers of the service, in every instance investigated, were engaged in illegal activities, excepting only the nwspapers of general circulation and the press associations. The picture developed in Pennsylvania by our own investigation is equally conclusive, the inquiry here being conducted into two periods of operation, the first as of September, 1937, the second as of September 1, 1938, which marks the beginning of the activities of this Commission.

The basis of investigation into the first period was a list of subscribers seized by the State Police among the records of the Penn Daily Sports, Inc., 1015 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia. These records were in code form, there being a number opposite the name of each subscriber. The key to the code was also found among the records, and by this means a list of the names and addresses of the subscribers, and the amounts paid for the service, was obtained. This list showed 142 subscribers, three of which were newspapers of general circulation in Pihladelphia, and two of which were publishers of racing sheets. Of the 137 remaining subscribers, 78 were in Philadelphia, 39 in Pennsylvania in the vicinity of Philadelphia, and 20 outside of Pennsylvania. Individual investigations into each of these 137 subscribers resulted in the following disclosures: All 78 subscribers in Philadelphia, 37 of the 39 located in Pennsylvania outside of Philadelphia, and 19 of the 20 subscribers outside of Pennsylvania, were unquestionably operating as illegal bookmaking establishments. As to three of the establishments, no evidence of any kind could be secured, two of them being listed under erroneous addresses. So that of the 137 investigated on this list, 134 were conclusively shown to be illegal book-making establishments. As a result of the activities of the Special October 1937 Grand Jury, indictments have been returned in connection with 28 places located in Philadelphia County, 319 bills of indictment having been returned against 290 individuals. 49 of these persons have already been tried and convicted. The list further shows that these subscribers paid a total of $4,473.75 per week for the service, yielding a yearly revenue of over $230,000.00. (This figure exceeds by $40,000 the total deposits in bank made by the Penn Daily Sports, Inc. over a period of 15 months.)

The inquiry into the second period was based on a list of locations furnished by the telephone companies, which were serviced by three or more drops from the interstate circuit—this list contained 142 locations scattered throughout the state. Individual investigations conducted by this Commission into each of these establishments disclosed that 134 of the 142 places were unquestionably operating as illegal bookmaking establishments; as to the remaining eight, no definite information showing either legality or illegality could be obtained.

So that in summarizing of all of the subscribers checked, totaling 284, 268 have been positively proven to be illegal book-making establishments, and of the remaining 16, two were publishers of racing sheets, three were legitimate newspapers and the nature of 11 remained undetermined. The only subscribers definitely established to be conducting legal enterprises were the three newspapers mentioned above.

To contend, as the disseminators of this type of information have sometimes naively attempted to do, that they do not know to what end their subscribers use the information, is the sheerest absurdity. Not only is this ridiculous on its face, but it runs counter to all the evidence available.

There is an abundance of testimony produced before the Commission to show that the operators of this enterprise utilize every possible means for "pushing" their merchandise and that in this process they become intimately aware of the nature of their customers. Their field agents are constantly on the road visiting the various establishments, making every effort to boost the price of their product. The amount is generally determined by the volume of business conducted in the particular book-making establishments—wherever feasible a periodic check is maintained on this item. When the subscriber is lax in his payments an agent is conveniently at hand to persuade him that punctuality is desirable. To forestall interference by the police, agents are instructed to pay for "protection" so that the business can continue unmolested. The following matters conclusively prove knowledge of illegality on the part of the disseminators of this type of information.

One of the problems encountered in this enterprise is the "bootlegging" of service, which is accomplished by tapping the private wire. It is the field agent's duty to curb this practice. For this purpose he is furnished with a galley of the subscribers to the Min-Haf sheet in the particular town being covered. This sheet, generally called a "rundown" sheet, is used solely and exclusively in illegal horse race book-making establishments, and is indicated elsewhere, contains in printed form the names of the various races and the entrants in each race; the remainder of the sheet has blank spaces for posting the names of the jockeys, the weights carried, the scratches, the betting odds, etc. The agent knows that if there are 30 subscribers to the sheet and only 10 subscribers to the wire service, 20 illegal establishments are receiving the wire service by the bootleg method. He thereupon takes proper steps to remedy the situation.

The second matter to be noted follows from the first, and concerns the method used to combat competition as in the case of the Greater New York News Service. This company had outbid General News for the concession at the St. Johns, Florida, track and thus supplied its own service from this track, while tapping the General News wires for service from the other tracks. The scheme, originated by a supervisor and field man for the General News Bureau (who testified before the Commission) and approved by J. M. Ragen, Vice President and General Manager of General News, was to withhold the results of races in certain localities by deadening the private wires, and at the same time to supply the winners to their customers over the regular telephone lines. Thus the customers of General News would be posted on the rsults of th races, while service to the customers of the Greater New York would be cut off. The field agent would then place a fairly heavy bet on a winning horse with a customer of the rival concern, and would thus be able to demonstrate the folly of using the Greater New York Service.

The last circumstance to be noted at this point is the service known in the General News Bureau as the Number 60 wire, which, as explained previously, is the special "lay-off" wire used by book-makers to insure unusual risks. This service was boosted by General News Bureau at every opportunity, since it was a source of additional revenue. No one would possibly contend that this facililty could be used by anyone other than a book-maker engaged in illegal pool selling activities.

So that we find not only that in every instance investigated, with the exception of the newspapers and press associations, the ultimate subscriber of this service is an illegal operator of a book-making establishment, but also that the disseminators of this type of information are fully and completely aware of the type of customers with whom they are dealing. In fact there can be no doubt that the owners and operators of the organization disseminating this information knowingly and deliberately aid and abet in the vast illegal system of book-making throughout the United States.

That the telephone companies are likewise in general aware of the illegal nature of the service for which these private wires are leased cannot seriously be doubted. In this connection the investigation conducted by the Federal Communications Commission is of special interest, and shows the evolution of the attitude of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company toward this subject.

In 1924, the standard special contract of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company contained the following provision:

> "Such service shall not be used by the patron for any purpose or in any manner directly or indirectly in violation of law, or in aid of any unlawful act or undertaking."

When the question arose whether in the State of New York the Company could lawfully refuse to furnish service to the General News Bureau, which was engaged in the dissemination of racing information, the General Attorney for the Long Lines Department wrote to the Company's General Counsel setting forth his opinion that service could be refused under the contract and that such refusal would not constitute an arbitrary or unreasonable discrimination. The following excerpt from the letter indicates the basis for this conclusion:

> "The policy of the State of New York as set forth in its statutes and decisions condemns bookmaking and pool rooms. These applicants must know that the great majority of their customers are bound to be owners of pool rooms and bookmakers. The cannot wilfully blind themselves to these facts and in fact set up their ignorance of what everybody knows in order to cooperate (in effect) with law-breakers . . . their connection with violation with violations of the law are so close that in view of the declared public policy practice and in view of the provisions of our standard contract furnish service in such cases."

But this policy was changed shortly thereafter under the following circumstances:

In December, 1926, Empire News requested a leased wire from New York to New Orleans for transmitting racing information When the American Telephone and Telegraph refused, Empire News signed a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the American Telephone and Telegraph to furnish the service. These proceedings led to a review of the Company's policy by its attorneys, and as a result a new contract was prepared and the service furnished. The clause referred to above was replaced by a new provision which gave the company the option to terminate the service upon complaint of any "competent authority"—this phrase being interpreted to mean "any authorized public officer, prosecuting officer or police officer." The official policy of the American Telephone Company as of March, 1936 was, therefore, that such service will be furnished to all persons, even where such persons are specifically known to the Company to be using or intending to use such service in connection with gambling enterprises, and will be denied or discontinued only upon complaint of competent public authorities.

However, the evidence shows that the Company has continued to furnish these facilities even after competent public authorities have protested. So that the official policy of the Company is not a true reflection of its actual attitude. General Counsel for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company admitted before the Federal Communications Commission that public officials have from time to time called the Company's attention to the use of their facilities in connection with gambling enterprises, that enforcement officials have protested against the furnishing of facilities to persons who used them for such activities, and that in at least one or two instances facilities have been furnished to subscribers under such circumstances. That the Company goes even so far as to assist its subscribers in concealing the character of their activities is shown by the following extract from a memorandum of one of its counsel dated April 30, 1935:

> "The hostile attitude of the authorities in Grand Rapids was recently discussed with Mr. P. W. Setze of Chicago, Illinois, special representative of the Nationwide News Service, and it was agreed that one of our teletypewriter machines would be installed in Room No. 11, Grand Rapids Saving Bank Building, and from this central office patrons in Grand Rapids would be furnished information by telephone. The public, of course, will be denied access to this central office, which should avoid further trouble with the authorities insofar as our company is concerned."

The General Attorney for the Long Lines Department admitted that this memorandum bears no other interpretation.

The chief concern of the American Telephone and Telegraph officials seems to have been to avoid unfavorable public opinion. As indicated in a memorandum from the General Attorney of the Long Lines Department:

> "The basis for this attitude is undoubtedly the reluctance of our people to subject themselves to criticism on the score of furnishing wire facilities to a line of business which is looked upon unfavorably by large sections of public opinion."

In line with this policy, which is actual rather than official, the Company has knowingly furnished service to convicted persons under someone else's name, in the face of an agreement with police authorities to refuse such service to persons convicted of maintaining a gambling enterprise; has entered into arrangements whereby its patrons "will exercise more care in the selection of subscribers and will at least satisfy themselves, as the result of an investigation, first made, that any prospective subscriber is not persona non grata to local authorities who might be inclined to be hyper-sensitive;" has assisted in the preparation of the defense in a prosecution because it "could not have continued to do business in Evansville along the lines of this particular special contract service in the event of conviction," at the very time it was pretending to assist the prosecuting officials; and has in numerous other ways manipulated its operations with a view toward furnishing this service in any and all circumstances, so long as it could manage to avoid unfavorable publicity.

Notwithstanding this record of questionable practices, the officials of the Company insist that they are desirous of being relieved of the burden of this type of business—their main problem being that the elimination of the race news services would constitute unfair discrimination. But although it is the admitted policy of the company to seek to be relieved of unduly burdensome obligations by appeal to the Legislatures of the various States, the courts, or to the Federal Communications Commission, this has not in fact been the case where the "burden" of the race wire service was involved. The following excerpt from a memorandum of the General Attorney for the Long Lines Department is illuminating:

> "Section 5 (of the Louisiana Mouse Bill No. 152), particularly the provision prohibiting telephone companies from permitting their facilities to be used for communications relating to horse races, is very bad indeed. . . . It is not only bad in principle . . . but also from a practical standpoint in that at the present time at least, associations which sell information concerning horse races constitute a very substantial part of our leased wire business. New Orleans is one of the principle sources of news of this character, so that if this provision should become law, we would be affected in a substantial way, particularly from a revenue standpoint."

Testimony before the present Commission indicates that the local telephone companies are likewise aware of the nature of the business conducted by the racing news agencies. An excellent illustration is the installation contracted for by the General News Bureau, and furnished by the Keystone Telephone Comapny. Complete equipment for the local dissemination of information was maintained at 1015 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, and at the same time a duplicate set-up was installed at 239 Dock Street, Philadelphia. In case of a raid on one establishment, connections would immediately be switched to the other, so that service would continue to flow uninterrupted.

The attitude of the companies has been, however, that they cannot under the law discriminate between subscribers. This General Counsel for the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania appeared as a voluntary witness before this Commission and stated that the revenue involved is very small, and that a clarification of the situation would be welcome. He pointed out that the telephone company cannot discontinue service for any reason other than the failure to pay bills. He expressed the opinion that it is not feasible to make the telephone company a police force, and felt that it would be dangerous practice to grant the company the right to decide who is violating the law and who is not, and to refuse service as the result of their own findings. With the above reservation, he stated a clarification of the telephone companies' position would be highly desirable.

If, then, the telephone companies are sincerely desirous of being relieved of the burden of supplying service to subscribers who engaged in the dissemination of racing information, legislation designed to prohibit the telephone companies from serving this type of enterprise, based on regulatory measures which would relieve the company of the responsibility of determining who shall and who shall not receive this service, should be heartily approved by them.

CHAPTER V.

THE HORSE RACING PUBLICATIONS.

The Commission's investigation discloses that virtually all of the popular horse racing papers sold at local newsstands are printed in New York City, from which point they are circulated in Pennsylvania, with far greater speed and efficiency than the average newspaper of general circulation. The contents of the racing publications vary in quantity according to the prices paid therefor. Such publications as the Daily Racing Form and the New York Morning Telegraph, each of which retails for 25 cents, contain from 35 to 50 pages of printed matter in which every conceivable type of information pertaining to horse races, race tracks and race horses is set forth.

The major horse racing publication is the Daily Racing Form, a daily paper printed six days a week and circulated extensively throughout the United States and in portions of Canada. It is frequently referred to as the horse race bettor's "Bible". The Daily Racing Form is devoted almost exclusively to horse racing information. With the exception of advertisements concerning other racing publications sold to the public by the monopoly, little or no space is occupied by commercial advertising.

Somewhat similar to the Daily Racing Form is the New York Morning Telegraph, a paper published daily including Sundays. This sheet is not concerned exclusively with horse racing information, but also contains news pertaining to other sports, as well as the theatre and the motion-pictures. It carries commercial advertisements. The most important feature of the paper, however, is the horse racing data which occupies most of its space. The New York Morning Telegraph does not enjoy the nation-wide circulation of the Daily Racing Form, but is distributed in New York City and Vicinity.

Probably the most outstanding features of the Daily Racing Form and the New York Morning Telegraph are the elaborate, detailed charts. These are replete with symbols and abbreviations which can be understood only by a person thoroughly familiar with their interpretation Charts of past performances, covering the last ten or twelve races, contain a wealth of information concerning particular horses. Other charts furnish the reader with a complete detailed mass of information on past races at various tracks, showing the weights carried, the names of jockeys, the owners, the positions of the horses at the post, and at various points along the course, the betting odds before the race, the pay-off prices for the winners at the $2.00 mutuels, and the equivalent booking odds. At the bottom of the chart are brief comments relating to the performance of the various horses in the race.

The only racing publications which contain such charts are the Daily Racing Form and the New York Morning Telegraph. These charts are copyrighted by the monopoly and are widely sold throughout the country to newspapers of general circulation. The Associated Press also compiles charts of races run which are printed in the legitimate newspapers, but they are not as complete as those compiled and distributed by the monopoly. The Racing Form charts are assembled into weekly, monthly, quarterly and annual volumes and are sold to the upblic at prices varying from 35 cents for the weekly to $10.00 for the annual publication.

Probably the most important feature of all horse racing papers is the selections or tips on probable winners. Every racing sheet contains a variety of tips and selections made by different handicappers, tipsters, and so-called experts. Testimony taken before the Commission has shown that there is a definite purpose behind the variety of tips appearing in the same publication, viz; "to give the gambling mechanism of the country a recognized percentage in favor of the 'house' ". If these papers would, by reason of the accuracy of their selections, substantially aid the bettor at the expense of the book-maker, the latter would soon pass out of existence. They actually serve as a guarantee of the perpetual activity of the gambling mechanism and thus assure a constant demand for the race wire service. The "accuracy" of the tipster was strikingly illustrated by testimony before the Commission: when a well-known tipster permitted one of his telephone operators to make selections in his obsence, the predictions were actually more successful than those of the "expert."

All horse racing publications contain one or more phone numbers which are furnished to the reader ostensibly for the purpose of supplying him with a source for obtaining the latest information on the results of the races. It is customary to include a code word which entitle the reader to the information he desires when he calls the designated telephone number. If the reader uses the code word contained in a ten-cent sheet,, he will not secure his information as quickly as if he uses a code word obtained from a 25 cent paper. Thus the purchase of the more expensive papers is encouraged. In order to decipher the information givn to him over the telephone, the reader must have a copy of the particular sheet from which he obtained the code word. To further encourage the purchase of the paper it is customary to print in each issue one or more tips in code, and the reader can decipher the code only be referring to the paper in which the key to the code is printed. These codes and their corresponding keys are constantly changed, usually once a week.

In addition to the customary racing sheets, there are mushroom publications which merely contain special tips and predictions which may sell for as high as $2.00 and which are very popular so long as the tipster is successful.

Conspicuously advertised in most of the sheets are specialized publications which allegedly contain "sure-fire" systems of selecting winning horses. These are also published by the monopoly. Another specialized type of publication furnishes the reader with the running time of horses clocked in early-morning workouts at the track, together with a description of their performance during these workouts.

The cheaper publications such as the Green Sheet, Daily Racing Tab and National Racing Program which sell for 10 and 25 cents per copy, are far scantier than the elaborate major publications—the Daily Racing Form and the New York Morning Telegraph. The cheaper papers usually contain but four pages of material furnishing the reader with the latest line-ups, jockeys, scratches, condition of the race tracks, betting odds and the all-important tips, selections, phone numbers and codes. These publications form a necessary part of the book-makers' equipment, but as indicated herein, if they were as successful and as accurate as they purport to be, the book-maker would not long remain in business.

CHAPTER VI.

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE MONOPOLY IN THE FIELD OF DISSEMINATING HORSE RACING INFORMATION.

An exhaustive study of the manner in which the dissemination of horse racing information has developed into a monopoly would require an extended investigation on a nation-wide scale, such as this Commission has neither had the time nor the resources to conduct. Nevertheless, the investigation made by the Commission has unearthed considerable data concerning the growth and development of this monopoly. The evidence available to the Commission clearly indicates that the present monopoly is the result of a steady, persistent expanding growth, during which virtually all independent agencies have been absorbed, and in many cases eliminated, by the most ruthless racketeering methods. The retermination of the individual or individuals who actually own and control the monopoly has been rendered difficult by the fact that its activities are conducted through the medium of a complex series of constantly shifting corporations and corporate set-ups. A careful analysis of the evidence, however, leads to the inescapable conclusion that a single individual owns and or controls the monopoly. In-so-far as the race wire service is concerned, the same conclusion was unequivocally reached by the Federal Communications Commission, which had previously conducted its own investigation on the subject.

The Race Wire System.

Testimony presented by representatives of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company before the Federal Communications Commission in March, 1936, discloses that from 1927 to 1935 there were 16 different agencies leasing wires from the American Telephone & Telegraph Company for the dissemination of horse racing information. Testimony further reveals that as of February 1, 1936, there were but two such agencies: the Nationwide News Service, Inc., and a subsidiary known as the Interstate News Service. At that time the Nationwide News operated in 34 states, covering 200 or more cities, and in three provinces of Canada, while the Interstate News operated in 23 cities over an area of six states.

Probably the first large organization to furnish up-to-the-minute horse racing information by private wire was the General News Bureau, which had been built up as a sporting news disseminating agency since 1907, by a well-known character in the gambling world. This organization was incorporated in Illinois in March of 1927, and shortly thereafter a 50 per cent interest in the business was sold to Cecelia Investment Company, a holding corporation owned and controlled by Moses L. Annenberg. As horse race betting became more popular and increased in magnitude, the business of the General News Bureau expanded, particularly in the area of Chicago, Illinois, but considerable competition was encountered from other independent sporting news agencies, such as the National News Company and the Empire News Company.

From 1927 to 1930, the General News Bureau had in its employ a Chicago news reporter known as Alfred "Jake" Lingle, whose services were utilized by reason of his influential connections, particularly with the Chicago police authorities. Lingle was vitally important to the General News Bureau in eliminating competition of rival agencies. Testimony indicates that intense rivalry existed between the General News Bureau and its two largest competitors, the National News Company and the Empire News Company. There is evidence, for example, of an advertisement clipped from a sporting publication wherein a $10,000 reward was offered for the arrest and conviction of gunmen who raided the plants of the National News Company and the Empire News Company in broad daylight, terrorizing the employees by brandishing firearms and destroying valuable equipment. In Chicago, the offices of the Empire News Company became the subject of repeated raids by the police, with the result that Empire resorted to the courts and obtained an injunction against the police. There then followed a series of raids against the customers of Empire News, namely, book-making establishments, which raids were made possible through the influence of "Jake" Lingle. By 1930 the Empire News "merged" with the General News Bureau, with the understanding that the Empire News was to retain its identity and to continue using its name, but both the name and the identity of the Empire organization soon disappeared. National News Company was likewise absorbed and eliminated. The General News Bureau then became known throughout the gambling world as "The Trust."

During the year 1930, Jake Lingle was found murdered, and it was reported that he died at the hands of a Capone lieutenant because of Lingle's refusal or inability to secure for Al Capone a share or interest in the business of the General News Bureau.

The following is a typical illustration of the brazen attitude adopted by the General News toward local courts.

In 1932 the police authorities at Annapolis, Md., after a series of raids upon gambling establishments and during prosecution of the book-makers involved, subpoenaed the General News Bureau for the purpose of determining the extent to which General News had been involved in gambling activities. The subpoena was ignored and a citation for contempt wa sissued, resulting in the imposition of a fine of $2,500. A second subjoena duces tecum, issued and served, was likewise ignored, and another fine of $10,000 was imposed. Although these sentences were appealed, they were sustained by Judge Urner in an opinion filed on June 20. 1932.

In April, 1934, a series of raids on gambling establishments operating in Washington, D. C., resulted in a Federal Grand Jury investigation, during which the General News Bureau was summoned. Representatives of General News testified in Washington, and promised on behalf of the corporation that racing news would not be sent into or disseminated in the city of Washington.

In 1933, the New York Morning Telegraph, Inc., a well-known sporting news publication, and the Interstate News Service, were receiving their up-to-the-minute horse racing information by wire from the Daily Form Publishing Company, a well-known horse racing publication in which Moses L. Annenberg had a 50 per cent interest. When trouble developed between Annenbrg and the co-owners of the Daily Racing Form Publishing Company, the supplying of this wire service was taken away from the Daily Racing Form and thereafter the information was supplied by the General News Bureau.

The business of the General News Bureau became quite extensive, spreading throughout the United Stats and portions of Canada. An inkling of the huge profits made by "The Trust" can be gained from the fact that from 1929 to 1934, over $900,000 had been turned over to the General News Bureau by a printing concern which had contracted with General News for the printing of wall-sheets, rundown sheets and other horse racing data for customers of the General News Bureau in the vicinity of Chicago. These sums of money represented the share of the General News Bureau in the net profits from the printing of this material, which was merely a side-line of the principal business of supplying horse racing information. The disclosure of the payment of these monies, over a period of five years, provoked dissension among the stockholders of the General News Bureau. The cause was to be found in the fact that these sums had been paid over to and retained by James M. Ragen, who represented the Annenberg faction in the General News Bureau, without disclosing such receipts or accounting therefor to the holders of the remaining 50 percent of the stock. Dissension among the stockholders had existed for some time by reason of the frequent unsuccessful efforts of M. L. Annenberg to acquire all the stock in the General News Bureau, and this culminated in an equity suit for an accounting between the two discordant factions, filed in Cook County, Illinois, in November of 1934. The situation was further aggravated by the fact that Annenberg had formed a competing race wire news agency called the Nation-wide News Service, to which Annenberg transferred his resources, including exclusive contracts with the race tracks for the broadcasting of horse racing information. The result was that the General News Bureau was unable to supply its customers with this highly important up-to-the-minute race wire service, and had to resort to furnishing information obtained by observing the races from outside the track with binoculars, and broadcasting descriptions by radio. There ensued a general reign of terror in Chicago, in December of 1934, during which time one book-maker was killed. Gangsters and gunmen were reported taking sides with the two factions involved in the General News Bureau controversy. Hostilities spread to Miami, Florida, where both factions were also represented, and a Chicago gambler was found murdered in the Everglades near Miami. Both killings were attributed to the hostilities directly resulting from the difficulties between the stock-holders in the General News Bureau.

It is of interest to note the answer filed by Moses L. Annenberg and the other defendants in the above-mentioned equity suit for an accounting. The answer averred that the complainants' Bill was on its face an attempt to share in the profits of an illegal enterprise, namely gambling, and should therefore not be entertained in a Court of Equity. The difficulties among the stock-holders were finally settled in January of 1935, by payment of a larg sum of money, in consequence whereof Moses L. Annenberg and his associates gained exclusive control of the General News Bureau.

The Nationwide New Service subsequently superseded the General News Bureau and the latter was eventually discontinued entirely. Although the Nationwide News Service had been incorporated in Illinois in August of 1934, another corporation under the same name was incorporated in November, 1934 in Delaware, and in April of 1935 the name of the Illinois corporation was changed to Illinois Nationwide New Serviie. The officers and directors of the two corporations were virtually the same. Other corporations, such as the Ohio Nationwide News Service, Nebraska News Service, Mohawk News Service and Texas News Service, were incorporated in various states, but were completely controlled subsidiaries of Nationwide News Service. Another subsidiary, the Morning Telegraph Sports News, was incorporated in July, 1935 for the purpose of supplying teleflash loudspeakers and hiring personnel, such as announcers, for the wire service. This corporation, after a short existence, was discontinued and later superseded by the Teleflash Loudspeaker Corporation, also a subsidiary, incorporated in October, 1935 for the purpose of supplying Telefiash loudspeakers. These are devices used for amplifying horse racing information transmitted over telephone wires.

During the years 1935 and 1936, the wire service monopoly encountered opposition in Miami, Florida, where Mayor E. G. Sewell, assisted by Director of Public Safety Andrew J. Cavanaugh, was waging a vigorous campaign against book-makers and gambling establishments. (These officials were in turn frequently attacked in the Miami Tribune, a daily tabloid owned by Moses L. Annenberg.) Testimony presented before the Commission by a former city editor of the Miami Tribune indicates that in 1935 M. L. Annenberg sponsored a candidate for Governor of Florida, to whom he personlly advanced $10,000, with the understanding that if elected, the candidate would sign two bills legalizing gamblin and handbook establishments. The candidate was defeated, but renewed efforts were made to have the two bills passed by the Florida Legislature. These efforts were not successful, and Mayor Swell's campaign against gambling on horse races continued. There is further testimony that in the 1936-1937 elections in Miami, M. L. Annenberg succeeded in having elected four out of the five city commissioners, with the result that Mayor Sewell and Director of Public Safety Cavanaugh were ousted, leaving a clear field to the book-makers. Within recent months. the then mayor of Miami and two city commissioners were indicted for attempting to extort bribes from the Florida Power & Light Company.

In Pennsylvania, the General News Bureau was registered as a foreign corporation as of February 14, 1931, and secured a Certificate of Authority as of November 28, 1933. In Philadelphia, General News maintained its headquarters at 1015 Chestnut Street. There is an abundance of testimony concerning the operation of the General News Burau in the local area under various managers. In 1929 there were at least six independent agencies in addition to General News Bureau, engaged in disseminating horse racing information by private wire in this vicinity. The Commission has heard testimony of witnesses, including one of the independent operators, to the effect that in 1929 the smaller agencies were receiving their racing information over leased wires from the National News and the Empire News, both of which were later "absorbed" by the General News Bureau. The testimony also reveals that the independent operators were browbeaten, intimidated and threatened with bodily harm until they relinquished their agencies to the General News Bureau. By 1931 or 1932, all independents had been eliminated and the General News Bureau had a complete monopoly in the Philadelphia Area.

Evidence brought before the Commission definitely establishes the fact that in 1935 General News was superseded by the Nationwide News Service, Inc., which latter continued to operate in Philadelphia from 1015 Chestnut Street. One witness who had been employed as an inspector and repair man by the Keystone Telephone Company testified that because he refused to tap wires for the General News Bureau the manager of that organization caused him to be discharged. When he attempted to see this individual, the latter inflicted upon him a severe physical beating with a blackjack. After criminal prosecution for assault and battery failed to bring about a conviction of his assailant, the witness instituted a civil suit against the General News Bureau and its manager. The litigation was settled amicably by payment of a check of the Nationwide News Service, a photostatic copy of which is in evidence before the Commission.

The General News Bureau operated in Pittsburgh from 1930 to 1935, and was succeeded by the Nationwide News Service at the same address in February of 1935. In September, 1938, the testimony discloses, an auditor for Nationwide News Service requested cancellation of the lease at the Pittsburgh address, stating that the western Pennsylvania headquarters were being moved to Steubenville, Ohio. The reason assigned by him for this removal was the existence of political differences between Annenberg and the Philadelphia Inquirer on the one hand, and the present administration in Pennsylvania on the other. He stated, however, that Nationwide News Service expected to return to Pennsylvania in November, 1938.

In Philadelphia, the monopoly encountered interference from time to time from the police authorities, and new corporations were formed in rapid succession to carry on the service. The Penn Daily Sports Corporation was incorporated in July, 1936 and operated from 1015 Chestnut Street, but as a result of investigation by the Special October 1937 Grand Jury, during which its records were seized, this organization was discontinued. It was superseded by the Delaware Sports Informant, Inc., incorporated in October of 1937. The latter is still operating but no longer functions in Pennsylvania. Within recent months the Seaboard News Service was incorporated in Delaware (August, 1938). Evidence before the Commission definitely links these recently formed corporations to the parent organization, the Nationwide News Service, Inc. When operations became difficult at 1015 Chestnut Street the service was switched to and disseminated from a printing establishment located in the basement of 237-239 Dock Street, Philadelphia, where a sporting publication known as the Kames Score Card was printed. After September, 1938, however, the service was disseminated through Camden, N. J. It is significant that in September, 1938, when the present Commission was created for the purpose of investigating the transmission of gambling information, the Nationwide News and its subsidiaries moved from Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Philadelphia to locations outside the State of Pennsylvania.

The Horse Racing Publications.

As in the case of the race wire system, a monopoly in the publising and distribution of horse racing publications has existed only during the past five or six years. Evidence secured by the Commission indicates that the same individual who owns and/or controls the monopoly in the race wire field, namely, Moses L. Annenberg, is also the dominant figure in the field of horse racing publications.

The beginning of the monopoly may be traced to 1921, when Moses L. Annenberg, in partnership with Joseph D. Bannon and Hugh E. Murray, purchased the Daily Racing Form, a well-established horse racing publication, which was to be developed into the leading, most elaborate and most extensively circulated horse racing sheet in the United States. Together with the above partners and another associate, Joseph A. Moore, Annenberg acquired a substantial interest in the New York Morning Telegraph, a well-established sporting and theatrical sheet which was widely distributed in the vicinity of New York City. With these papers as a nucleus, the combination of individuals above named subsequently acquired a string of other racing publications, including a paper known as the Daily Running Horse.

The founder of the Daily Running Horse, one Roi Tolleson, was a widely read race tipster and publisher, who owned other horse racing publications in the vicinities of Chicago and New York City, and who had developed a substantial following. There is evidence of much hostility between Tolleson and Annenberg, and Tolleson frequently attacked Annenberg and "The Trust" in his publications. Tolleson's printing plants in Chicago and New York City were raided by vandals at various times and valuable equipment was destroyed. These raids were attributed by Tolleson to Annenberg, and as a result of the hostility between the rival publishers, a number of libel suits were started. On one accasion, Annenberg prosecuted Tolleson for criminal libel. Tolleson eventually went out of business and his publications were discontinued.

By 1933, the Daily Racing Form was being printed and published in New York City, Chicago, New Orleans, Miami and Toronto, Canada, and circulated widely in the vicinities of these cities. The ownership and operation of the Daily Racing Form, New York Morning Telegraph and other horse racing publications were for some reason manipulated behind a complex series of corporations, holding companies and subsidiaries. In the latter part of 1933 dissention developed among the co-owners Bannon, Murray and Annenberg, by reason of an indictment which had been returned in the U. S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., against these individuals and others for sending through the mails certain obscene matter, particularly a magazine called the Baltimore Brevities. Bannon and Murray alleged that the obscene literature had been printed by Annenberg in the Baltimore plant of the Daily Running Horse, a subsidiary in which Bannon and Murray were financially interested, and that this had been done without their knowledge or consent. Bannon and Murray further alleged that Annenberg had demanded that they sell to him their stock in the various corporations through which their racing publications were owned, and that when this demand was refused, he deliberately embarked upon a campaign of price-cutting, and adopted other measures of unfair competition, as a result of which the revenues of the Daily Racing Form and associted papers were seriously impaired. It was alleged that Annenberg caused the price of the New York Morning Telegraph to be reduced to 10 cents, operating in direct competition with the Daily Racing Form, and that Annenberg, by virtue of his 50 per cent control of the enterprises in which they were jointly interested, had blocked numerous efforts on the part of Bannon and Murray to reduce the price of the Daily Racing Form to meet the competition offered by the New York Morning Telegraph. Bannon and Murray filed an equity suit against Annenberg, seeking an injunction, but the case was amicably settled by the payment by Annenberg of $2,000,000. In consequence thereof, Annenberg obtained complete control of the corporations which owned and operated the Daily Racing Form, the Daily Running Horse, the Chicago Telegraph and other associated enterprises. He later acquired control of the New York Morning Telegraph and the price of both the Daily Racing Form and the New York Morning Telegraph, which had at various times sold for 10 and 15 cents, was raised to 25 cents.

The Daily Racing Form is now printed and published in New York City, Chicago, Houston, Miami, Los Angeles, Seattle, Cincinnati and Toronto, Canada. In each of these cities separate printing establishments are maintained and the papers are circulated over a wide area throughout the United States and in portions of Canada. Other papers, such as the American Racing Record in Cincinnati, were purchased and discontinued in order to eliminate them as competitive factors. The Daily Running Horse has since been discontinued. Throughout the United States numerous other racing publications have been acquired by the monopoly, in some cases retaining the existing name, equipment and personnel of the publication, and in other cases discontinuing the publication entirely.

In the course of its investigation the Commission has watched with interest the progress of an equity suit now pending in the U. S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, which suit will probably have an important bearing on the future activities of the monopoly discussed herein. The suit was brought in May, 1937 by the Bulletin-Record Publishing Company, Inc., against Moses L. Annenberg, the Cecelia Company, Illinois Nationwide News Service, Inc., James M. Ragen and others. The complainant alleges that it publishes the Chicago Turf Bulletin and Sports Record, popularly known and trademarked as "The Scratch Sheet", which has been in existence since 1925 and is circulated in 28 states. It is alleged that Moses L. Annenberg has acquired a monopoly in the field of disseminating horse racing information, and that he owns, controls and dominates a large number of corporation including the Illinois Nationwide News Service. It is further alleged that whereas the complainant formerly purchased its news requirements from the National News Company, it has been compelled to purchase them from corporations owned and controlled by Annenberg by virtue of the fact that he now has a complete monopoly in that field. It is alleged that repeated efforts have been made by representatives of M. L. Annenberg to purchase stock in the Bulletin-Record Publishing Company, and that after refusal of such demands, the price of the news service supplied to the complainant was raised to $500 per week, while other agencies in the vicinity pay but $50 per week for the same service. It is further alleged that Annenberg by and through his agents and representatives, has embarked on a campaign of unfair competition by publishing a horse racing sheet similar in appearance, name and price to the complainant's publication, Further, that news dealers and retail distributors who normally sell the complainant's publication have been threatened and intimidated by agents of M. L. Annenberg, into encouraging the sale of Annenberg's publication and refraining from selling the complainant's. The complainant seeks an injunction restraining these alleged unfair trade practices.

Testimony presented before the Commission reveals that an important adjunct of the monopoly is the furnishing of wall sheets and rundown sheets, commonly known as "Min-Haf sheets", which invariably form a part of the equipment in book-making establishments. Raids conducted on book-making establishments throughout the country have frequently disclosed the presence of these sheets. A former manager of the General News Bureau has testified that had been supplied with a list of subscribers to these sheets for the purpose of ascertaining the extent to which the dissemination of sporting news by leased wire was being "bootlegged" or "wild-catted" in various sections where the news service is supplied by the monopoly. Investigation indicates that the printing and distribution of Min-Haf sheets are likewise a part of the race wire monopoly. Until March, 1930, these sheets were printed and distributed by an independent agency known as the Walmin Press, Inc., located in New York City. In April of 1930, the monopoly acquired control of this corporation and its name was changed to Min-Haf Distributing Company. Thereafter, the printing of such material became part of the activities of the General News Bureau, and later, of the Nationwide News Service. In addition to the horse racing publication above named, the monopoly publishes and circulates in the Philadelphia area the Daily Racing Guide, the Daily Racing Tab and the Armstrong Sheets, in which category are included the William Armstrong Daily Sport Sheet, the National Racing Program and the Green Sheet.

CHAPTER VII.

ANALYSIS OF EXISTING LEGISLATION.

A review of the laws of the 48 states reveals that there are 7 states in which there is no prohibition against betting, 15 where betting is legal only at licensed race tracks, and 25 where betting is prohibited. In Pennsylvania, wagers laid on horse races are declared to be void. All but two states, Arizona and Oregon, prohibit book-making, although Kansas and Louisiana do permit it within licensed race track enclosures. Seven states have laws which in some manner restrict or prohibit the dissemination of information concerning horse racing, these being Louisiana, Michigan, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, Oklahoma and Texas.

Louisiana appears to have the most drastic anti-dissemination statute. The act, which became effective in 1934, provides that "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or corporation, whatsoever to distribute, disseminate, make known, advise or spread or otherwise, by means of telephone, telegraph, radio or in any other manner, make known to pool rooms, bar rooms, saloons, restaurants, gambling houses or any other place outside of the enclosure of a licensed race track, any information of whatever kind pertaining to any races, race track, race horse, betting or betting odds, form charts or any information relative or incidental thereto." It exempts "any newspaper published daily and consecutively for one year prior to the adoption of this act." Violation of the act constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $3,000, or imprisonment from one to three years, or both.

While it may be desirable to permit daily newspapers of general circulation to publish information of news interest concerning horse races, this act does not eliminate the racing sheets which are so avidly read by the horse race betting public. The New York Morning Telegraph, for example, would easily come within the exemption afforded by this statute, since it has been published seven days a week for over 50 years. By permitting such newspapers to be circulated, Louisiana makes available to the public information of the type which undoubtedly encourages gambling on horse races. The only effect of this act is to eliminate instantaneous transmission of news of the races. Furthermore, it is highly questionable whether the act would be upheld in a court of law in view of its discriminatory character.

In 1931, Michigan passed a statute making it a misdemeanor for "any person or his agent or employe to (who shall) directly or indirectly, by means of any newspaper, periodical, poster, notice or other mode of publication or reproduction, write, print, advertise, publish, deliver or distribute, or offer to deliver or distribute to the public or to any part thereof, or to any person, any statement or information concerning the making or laying of wagers or bets or the selling of pools or evidence of betting odds on any race, contest, or game, or on the happening of any event not known by the parties to be certain, or any purported event of like character." The act exempts races legally held in the State and those matters pertaining to pedigrees of horses. This statute appears to limit its prohibition to printed matter, thus leaving open the dissemination of information by telephone and telegraph, which methods, our investigation has indicated, are used most effectively in furtherance of gambling.

New Jersey, by Act of 1898, makes it illegal to send messages or carry packages in aid of illegal businesses by express, telegraph, telephone, or any other means. Other statutes declare illegal horse racing, book-making, and pool selling. Apparently the publication and distribution of racing sheets is permissable in that State.

By a statute passed in 1915, Nevada prohibits any person from furnishing "to pool rooms or their agents" any information whatever in regard to racing, and prohibits any person from permitting to be furnished any such information from any course or premises. Oklahoma, by Act of 1913, forbids any telegraph company or agent to intentionally transmit or deliver any message to anyone engaged in betting or placing bets. Texas prohibits pool selling or book-making, or aiding by means of telephone, telegraph, etc., any other person in wagering or offering to wager on any horse race in or out of the state (1936). In 1935 Montana enacted legislation which provides that any person transmitting information concerning horse racing for the purpose of having bets made thereon shall be deemed a principal in the commission of the offense of making a bet on a race.

All of these statutes except that of Montana appear to leave available at least one generally used method of disseminating information in furtherance of gambling. Montana is faced with the difficulty of proving that the information transmitted was actually intended for the purpose of illegal betting. None of the statutes attempt to facilitate prosecution by shifting the burden of proof. Nor does any state regulate the leasing of telephone or telegraph wires by utilities to individuals whose primary purpose is to supply first-hand information for use in horse race betting.

In Pennsylvania, the existing statutes forbid book-making, pool selling, and horse racing, and make void wagers on horse races. The Act of February 17, 1820, P. L. 20, declares horse racing a common nuisance and an indictable offense; makes utterly void all wagers and bets on the racing of horses; permits recovery of money lost on horse races; and forbids collection and contributin of money to make up a purse for a horse race. Section 6 of this act prohibits the advertisement or printing of any advertisement of the time and place for the running of any horse race, and imposes a forfeiture of $20 for each violation. The Act of May 1, 1879, P. L. 39, exempts agricultural societies from the application of the act of 1820. This exemption is extended to races held by regularly incorporated trotting associations by the Act of June 11, 1891, P. L. 298. Pool selling, book-making or recording bets on races is made illegal by the Act of May 27, 1895, P. L. 99. The only specific prohibition against transmission of information concerning horse racing is contained in Section 6 of the Act of 1820. Furthermore, it would appear that a person furnishing information to a book-making establishment, knowing it to be such and with intent to aid in the operation of such establishment, would be violating the 1895 statute.

However, in 1931, when evidence of this nature was produced in a prosecution against the manager and another operator of the Philadelphia office of the General News Bureau, the court directed a verdict of acquittal on the ground that such evidence could not sustain a charge of conspiracy to engage in book-making and pool selling. The Commonwealth in that case proved that a police officer, masquerading as a book-maker, leased a wire from the General News Bureau after he had advised the defendants that he was in the book-making business. He was asked to give three book-makers as references. The nature of the service furnished hm by the news bureau was the instantaneous description of horse races, the betting odds on each horse, and the amounts paid on the winning horses. There was further testimony to show that a number of simultaneous raids were conducted on book-making establishments and that the information coming over the wires at those places was identical with the information received by the police officer who had contracted for the service under the guise of a book-maker, and that all of this information emanated from the General News Bureau. Despite such evidence, the court apparently held that it is not contrary to law in Pennsylvania to transmit information concerning horse racing and betting odds to a book-maker with full knowledge that he is engaged in an illegal business. This was the case of Commonwealth vs. Laughlin and Maguire, Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County, May Sessions, 1931, No. 1571 and 1572.

The general anti-gambling laws of Pennsylvania contained in the Act of March 31, 1860, P. L. 382 and its amendments, apparently do not permit seizure of telephone equipment as gambling devices, even though used in connection with gambling. This was decided by the Pennsylvania Superior Court in the case of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company's appeal, 126 Superior, 533 (1936). The act under which prosecution was brought prohibits the establishing of a gambling house, the leasing of a house for gambling, the enticing of others to visit gambling houses, makes it an indictable offense to be a common gambler, and provides for seizure and confiscation of gambling implements. In the Superior Court case a raid was made on a book-making establishment and there was seized a teletypewriter which had been leased by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to the Interstate News Service. Horse racing information was transmitted by the latter to the book-maker by means of the teletypewriter. The court held that a teletype machine is not a gambling device, apparatus or machine within the meaning of Sections 59 and 60 of the Act of 1860, which authorizes the seizure and subsequent forfeiture and destruction of gambling devices, and this is so even though the teletype machine is used to furnish or obtain information to be used in gambling. The Court further stated, "If the Legislature sees fit to enact that a machine or instrument knowingly used to furnish or obtain information to be used in gambling, may be seized, forfeited and condemned along with actual gambling devices so used, etc., it may perhaps do so under the police power, but such authority cannot be inferred from an act merely authorizing the seizure and destruction of gambling devices and apparatus."

Penal statutes must be strictly construed by the courts. Unless the law is specific in prohibiting certain acts or in providing for forfeiture o devices which are used for gambling purposes, any attempt to discourage gambling by depriving it of its necessary adjuncts will fail. If telephone equipment knowingly used to obtain information for gambling purposes is to be made subject to seizure and forfeiture, any statute attempting to do so must be specific in so stating. Similarly, the act of knowingly transmitting information for gambling purposes must be made a crime in itself, irrespective of the fact that another crime such a gambling may have been committed in conjunction with such transmission.

An important element to be considered is the difficulty of proof. It would simplify matters considerably if the statutes making certain acts illegal should shift the burden of proof concerning some element of the crime to the defendant. Of course, the desire to attain elimination of gambling should not overshadow the presumption of innocence of the defendant. It does not appear to us an unreasonable presumption that information concerning betting odds on horse races is intended primarily as an aid to those desiring to bet or take bets on such horse races. Likewise, a publication which devotes itself exclusively to forecasting the winners of horse races and sells for as much as two dollars a copy, may reasonably lead us to believe that such publication is circulated only for the purpose of encouraging betting on horse races. There are others items of information which are similarly so intertwined with and essential to gambling that logical presumptions may be made that their dissemination is intended for use in gambling.

CHAPTER VIII.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

A review of the facts developed by this investigation points inevitably to the urgent necessity of enacting legislation to curb the evils exposed.

It is apparent that the more or less academic question whether gambling as an isolated phenomenen is or is not socially desirable, is not here pertinent. The public policy of the State has in fact already been declared on that subject—the legislative expression is restricted to betting on horse races and, we think perhaps wisely, does nothing more than discourage it.

But the vice inherent in commercialized gambling on horse races has been condemned by penal statutes. If there was sound reason behind these laws when enacted, the situation as it exists today is indefinitely more compelling. Horse race gambling today is not only commercalized, but highly organized. While it feeds upon a more or less innocuous transaction, it has built around itself a vast superstructure, sinister and menacing, which has already invaded the foundations of government and which threatens to penetrate deeper and deeper into its roots. It has fostered and adopted every criminal device known to modern organized racketeering, and unless checked will continue on its course with ever-increasing momentum.

As already indicated, this unlawful enterprise cannot function without the gigantic illegal mechanism which supplies the all-essential information necessary to its existence. This mechanism is the keystone in the entire structure. It is the most sinister of all the components precisely because it is an exclusive monopoly. Its influence is felt in every corner of the Union, and its power is derived from the fact that its forces are unified. Any successful attack upon the gambling evil must, at this stage, be directed toward the elimination of this force. It was undoubtedly with this thought in mind that the present Legislature empowered the Commission to inquire into the dissemination of information in furtherance of gambling, to the end that it might be effectively eradcated.

We recognize that no indivídual State can adequately cope with this problem. The local situation is merely part of the national structure; therefore, complete success can only be achieved through the Federal powers. We do, however, feel most strongly that proper local legislation can and will be of inestimable value, first, in eliminating the evil within the State, and second, in contributing toward the breakdown of this monstrous nation-wide organism.

The legislation here proposed attacks the problem at five crucial points. First, it specifically prohibits the dissemination of information in furtherance of gambling in all forms and by every means; second, it declares the dissemination of certain specific types of information to be in furtherance of gambling and therefore illegal; third, it prohibits public utilites from furnishing private leased wire servce for the dissemnation of information in furtherance of gambling; fourth, it provides for the seizure and forfeiture of all devices used in the disemmination of such information; and last, it places the burden of proof where it logically belongs.

These recommendations are embodied in the two drafts of proposed bills to be found in the Appendix.

APPENDIX A

AN ACT

Making illegal the use of devices and methods of transmission of information or advices in furtherance of gambling; declaring the dissemination of certain information to be in furtherance of gambling; provided for the seizure and forfeiture of devices used in furtherance of gambling; and imposing penalties.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, partnerships, association, firm or corporation whatsoever to disseminate, transmit, distribute, furnish, advertise, spread, print, publish, or otherwise make known within this Commonwealth, by means of telephone, telegraph, radio, loudspeaker, written or printed matter or by any other device or in any other manner, any information in furtherance of gambling or for gambling purposes, or to assist or abet in any manner in any of the facts forbidden by this statute.

Section 2. The dissemination, transmission, distribution, furnishing, advertising, spreading, printing, publishing, or otherwise making known wthin this Commonwealth by means of telephone, telegraph, radio, loudspeaker, written or printed matter, or by any other device or in any other manner of any information pertaining to the making or laying of any wagers or bets on horse races; any betting odds on any horse race whether such betting odds be indicated by name, number, symbol, code or otherwise; any pay-off price or amount paid to bettors as the result of the running of any horse race; any prediction, suggestion or advice relating to the order or relative position in which any participant or participants in any horse race will finish, whether such prediction, suggestion or advice be indicated by name, number, symbol, code, tip or otherwise; any system, code, formula or other method purporting to aid, guide, or assist any person in determining the order or relative position in which any participant or participants may finish in any horse race; any rating or estimated comparative racing ability of any horse, whether such rating or estimated comparative racing ability be indicated by name, number, symbol, code, tip or otherwise, shall be deemed in furtherance of gambling or for gambling purposes.

Section 3. REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INQUIRE INTO CERTAIN ALLEGED VIOLALATIONS BY MAGISTRATE JOHN J. O'MALLEY, OF PHILADELPHIA, OF CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS OF THE COMMONWEALTH REGULATING AND PRESCRIBING THE POWERS AND DUTIES OF MAGISTRATES.

To the Honorable Speaker and the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The special committee appointed by the House of Representatives pursuant to Resolution No. 24, of the Extraordinary Session of 1938, to inquire into certain alleged violations by Magistrate John O'Malley, of Philadelphia, of constitutional and statutory provisions of this Commonwealth regulating and prescribing the powers and duties of magistrates.

Respectfully Reports

The special committee was appointed pursuant to the following Resolution, passed October 17, 1938:

Whereas, Article VI, Section 1, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provides that the House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment; and

Whereas, Article VI, Section 3, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provides that the Governor and all other civil officers shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office; and

Whereas Article VI, Section 4, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provides that all officers elected by the people, except Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Members of the General Assembly, and Judges of Courts of Record learned in the law, shall be removed by the Governor for reasonable cause, after due notice and full hearing, on the address of two-thirds of the Senate; and

Whereas, John J. O'Malley was duly elected to the office of magistrate and began his term of office on the first Monday of January in 1936, and was subsequently elected Chief Magistrate; and

Whereas, The said John J. O'Malley, Chief Magistrate of the City of Philadelphia, has persistently violated both constitutional and statutory provisions of this Commonwealth regulating and prescribing the powers and duties of magistrates; and

Whereas, The said magistrate, John J. O'Malley, has repeatedly and admittedly violated the provisions of the "Bail Approval Commissioner Act"—Act No. 446, 1937 (P. L. 2326), an act that was designed to terminate "straw bail" irregularities; and

Whereas, The said magistrate, John J. O'Malley, has from time to time suspended the right of certain magistrates to preside in the various magistrates' courts of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The said John J. O'Malley, while presiding as a magistrate, has repeatedly made partisan disposal of the cases heard before him; therefore, be it

Resolved: By the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 2 of this extraordinary session of 1938, approved the thirtieth day of July, 1938, and in pursuance of the constitutional powers and duties of the House of Representatives, one of whom shall be designated as chairman; which committee shall inquire into and concerning the official conduct of John J. O'Malley, touching his conduct in regard to the manner in which he has and is conducting the office of magistrate, and Chief Magistrate, and shall inquire into the allegations set forth above and any other charges which may come to the attention of the said committee; and, be it further

Resolved: That the said committee, through the chairman or the member designated by him, shall have the power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, or the member so designated by him, requiring and demanding any proper person or persons to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee; and to produce such books, papers, records, and documents relating to the subject of inquiry, as the committee may deem necessary. The chairman or members designated by him shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully refuse to appear and testify before said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents aforesaid, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and, be it further

Resolved: That the committee shall report to the House of Representatives its conclusions in respect thereto, together with its recommendations, to the end that the House of Representatives may take appropriate action thereon.

The special committee consisted of the following members:

GEORGE J. MALLEN
JOHN J. FINNERTY
LAMBERT CADAWALDER
EDWARD J. COLEMAN
ROCCO COSTANZO
Dr. EDWIN F. THOMPSON
JOHN B. HERING, Chairman

The committee held its organization meeting on Friday, October 28, 1938, at Harrisburg. At that meeting plans for carrying out the directions of Resolution No. 20 were decided upon. It was agreed to retain Louis F. McCabe, Esquire, of the Philadelphia Bar, as counsel for the committee, with leave to engage such investigators or clerical assistance as might be required. Monday, October 31, 1938, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., was decided upon as the time of the first public meeting of the committee, to be preceded by an executive meeting. Arrangements were made by the Chariman for the use of court room 426, City Hall, Philadelphia, by the committee.

The executive meeting was held at the time and place specified. Mr. McCabe discussed with the committee the scope of the Resolution under which the committee was set up; the provisions of Act No. 2 of the Extraordinary Session of 1938, defining the procedure for and regulating the investigation by the House of Representatives and its committee of charges of or involving misdemeanor in office on the part of civil officers liable to impeachment. The provisions of the Act of 1937, P. L. 1743, regulating magistrates' courts, was also discussed at length.

It was apparent to the committee that its work must be expedited as much as possible, since the termination of the Session was close at hand. The intervening of several holidays, and the reopening of sessions of the Extraordinary Session of the General Assembl, fixed for Monday evening, November 14, 1938, together with the practical impossibility of any action by the General Assembly upon recommendations presented by the special committee more than a day or so after that reopening, made certain restrictions upon public sessions of the committee absolutely essential. It was determined therefore,

(1) That every possible use be made of public records, of the files, findings, investigations and suggestions of other committees or official bodies which might have covered already much of the ground forming the basis of the committee's work, particularly in examining voluminous files and records, preparing photostatic copies of records and other tedious and expensive routine. Inasmuch as the examination of the files of the Ruth Commission, of the Special Grand Jury of Philadelphia County, of Internal Revenue records of the United States, and other records, could not well be done by the committee as a whole, Mr. McCabe was asked, with such assistants as were absolutely necessary, to make this investigation, and cull therefrom matters proper for public presentation.

(2) That every person having a persistent feeling of having been aggrieved by the conduct of Magistrate O'Malley, be given a free and full opportunity to be heard. Since it was obvious, however, that the entire time of the committee might be taken up, and reams of costly stenographic notes of testimony would be compiled, if every person having a fancied grievance were allowed to ramble on at will, Mr. McCabe was directed to question preliminary prospective witnesses with a view to determining whether the complaint was of a nature and extent to warrant consideration by the committee. It was provided, however, that any member of the committee should have full liberty to have the committee hear any witness or witnesses despite a contrary recommendation by Mr. McCabe. It was felt that thus full opportunity would be given for the presentation of genuine complaints. The results proved this conclusion correct.

(3) It was the unanimous feeling of the committee that no grounds be afforded any person or group to accuse the committee of personal or political bias. The committee was fully aware of the political implications which might plausibly or otherwise be raised against it, particularly in view of the intervening election. It was decided to proceed with vigor and fairness, to confine the testimony as closely as possible to factual matters, keeping out as far as possible expressions of bitterness, vilification, or contempt which might so easily creep into an investigation of this nature, providing no help to the committee, but inevitably being seized upon by the press as headline material.

The committee, having thus formulated a rationale of procedure, went into public session. Witnesses heard the first days were called with a view to acquainting the committee with the nature of each of the three specific charges outlined in Resolution No. 24; Joseph Kelly and Thomas F. Burke, of the Controller's Office of the County of Philadelphia, with reference to the charge of non-compliance with the provisions of the "Bail Approval Commissioner Act" of 1937, P. L. 2326; Magistrate Joseph Rainey of Philadelphia, with reference to the charge that Magistrate O'Malley had suspended the right of certain magistrates to preside in the various Magistrate Courts in Philadelphia; and Mary Solomon and her husband Burel Solomon, with reference to the charge of partisan disposal of the cases heard before him.

Joseph Kelly, Deputy City Controller, testified that since the Bail Approval Commissioner Act, which designated the Controller in Cities of the First Class as Bail Approval Commissioner, he had been in charge of the carrying out of the provisions of the act; that the act relates only to the entry of real estate security for the appearance of persons charged with certain crimes, (all felonies and the more serious misdemeanors); that it did not at all relate to the acceptance of cash bail, nor of Surety Company bail. Mr. Kelly outlined the procedure under the act, which requires that a person desiring to post real estate as security shall obtain from the City Controller's office a "Bail Certificate," which contains information as to the property offered as security—the name and address of the registered owner, the ward, unpaid taxes, assessed valuation, whether it has been posted for bail in other cases. The act provides that no real estate shall be accepted by any Magistrate as bail in the specified cases, unless he has received such certificate. Mr. Kelly testified that a depart of his office, especially set up to handle this phase of the duties of the office, was put in operation on the afternoon of the day the act went into effect; that it is open twenty-four hours a day, and that the time required to issue the certificate is a matter of a very few minutes. Mr. Kelly testified that the Magistrates of Philadelphia, other than Magistrate O'Malley, had complied fully with the act; that since the beginning of operation of the act, Bail Certificates covering $4,509,722.00 of real estate bail had been issued, covering some 30,000 cases.

Mr. Kelly testified that an examination of Magistrate O'Malley's books showed that since June 25, 1937, Magistrate O'Malley had accepted real estate security in forty-five cases; that out of these forty-five instances, Magistrate O'Malley had complied with the provisions of the act only four times, once in March, 1938, once in April, and twice in May; that in October, 1938, Magistrate O'Malley had commenced complying with the provisions of the act.

Mr. Thomas Burke, an auditor, attached to the City Controller's Office of Philadelphia, next testified. Mr. Burke was called for the particular purpose of showing that Magistrate O'Malley, while hearing cases of traffic violations, repeatedly ignored the provisions of the State Motor Vehicle Code. Section 1001-A of the Code, for example, provides that any person found guilty of the offense of reckless driving shall pay a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $25.00, in addition to the costs of the proceeding, $2.50. Mr. Burke brought with him the records of hearings tending to show that a large number of cases under this section, the sum of $2.50 had been paid by the defendant. Of course, had the defendant been guilty, he should have paid at least $12.50; if innocent, he should have paid nothing. It developed, however, that the records produced by Mr. Burke, did not indicated with certainty that in the instances referred to, Magistrate O'Malley was actually sitting. Accordingly, Mr. Burke was asked to make a break-down of the lists so as to determine the instances in which Magistrate O'Malley did sit.

Later investigation showed certain facts which made this particular phase of the investigation of minor importance. It was learned that in numerous instances the notices which are mailed to alleged violators bear a notation to the effect that a payment of $2.50 may be made, in which case the defendant need not appear. It was also developed that in many cases in which a charge of reckless driving was not substantiated, a violation of an ordinance was developed, which warranted a small fine or costs. In any case, the practice of imposing only costs in cases in which the authorities in charge of enforcing the law are relieved of the burden and expense of having an actual hearing, with the production in court of the officer reporting the violation, is so widespread, and of such long duration, as not to form the basis of impeachment proceedings. If this constitutes a serious abuse, it should be remedied by some general action, rather than by singling out one magistrate for condemnation.

With Mr. Burke's testimony, the hearing adjourned at 4:00 P. M. until the following morning.

Messrs. Hering, Finnerty and Costanzo spent all of Monday evening in conference with Mr. McCabe, examinig prospective witesses.

The second public session was held on the following day, Tuesday, November 1st, at 11:00 A. M., preceded by an executive session at 10:00 A. M.

At this session, Mr. and Mrs. Burel Solomon, of 476 North 50th Street, Philadelphia, testified that in July of 1938, they appeared at Traffic Court in City Hall, in response to a summons charging reckless driving; that as they entered the room they heard Magistrate O'Malley ask a defendant before him whether he was Councilman Roper's son. Receiving an affirmative reply, he said, "Discharged."

They testified that Mrs. Solomon was called next; that she asserted that she could not have been guilty of reckless driving at the time and place specified in the complaint, since at that time she was driving her sick mother home from a hospital; that Magistrate O'Malley asked the name of her Committeeman; that upon receiving the reply, "John Bovkin," he said, "You're are a Democrat." When Mrs. Solomon replied that she was, Magistrate O'Malley, according to the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon, said, "Take them over and make them pay the fine—the fullest extent of the law." The testimony was not permitted to go into her defense. She paid $12.50.

Magistrate Joseph Rainey was the next witness. He testified that he had been elected to office November 2, 1937, having previously been State Athletic Commissioner.

Magistrate Rainey first testified as to his "suspension" by Magistrate O'Malley. He stated that about June 18, 1938, he received notice to appear at Room 190, City Hall, the office of the Board of Magistrates. Arrived there, he found that he had been summoned before a group of five Magistrates, Costello, Amodei, Fridel, Roberts and O'Malley. Also present were Assistant District Attorney Franklin E. Barr, and a court stenographer. That when he inquired the purpose of the meeting, he was profanely told by Magistrate O'Malley that he would find out later. That a Miss Miller was present and testified regarding a case before Magistrate Rainey in which a warrant had been issued for her father on account of a check given a colored contractor named Davis for work done. That payment on the check had been stopped; that a settlement had been reached at his office between the parties, without his presence or intervention. Magistrate Rainey stated that Miss Miller had accused him at the meeting in Room 190 of having forced her into the settlement.

Magistrate Rainey testified that on this same day he was confronted with the testimony of two Park Guards regarding a warrant which he had issued for a Park Guard on charge of shooting a colored boy whom he was arresting. Magistrate Rainey testified he felt he was fully justified in holding the Park Guard in $5000.00 bail, releasing him in custody of his Lieutenant of Park Guards. He stated that Magistrate O'Malley had previously criticized him for holding the guard.

Two other cases were presented against him at that time, Magistrate Rainey testified. One related to his having fined an attorney, William F. Berkowitz, Esq., $5.00 for disorderly conduct in his court. Mr. Berkowitz successfully appealed the decision.

The next case involved the owner of a truck which had been moved by the owner's licensee, a young man who was not a licensed driver. The truck had been involved in an accident. Magistrate Rainey testified that the owner refused to attend several hearings which were held in the matter, and when he finally did attend acted in so disorderly a manner that Magistrate Rainey fined him $12.50.

Magistrate Rainey testified that he knew nothing of any "Trial Board" to hear complaints against magistrates. That following the testimony regarding the complaints against him, he stated that he had used his honest judgment in matters before him, that if he had been mistaken, which he did not admit, the mistake was an honest one. After this meeting, Magistrate Rainey went on, he was advised that he was suspended from further duty in police court, and was advised to refrain from carrying on his work in his office. After consulting his attorney, he refused to obey the latter suggestion, but was, of course, suspended from police court duty. During one of these sessions, Magistrate Rainey testified, Magistrate O'Malley accused him of undue favoritism toward Negroes.

September 1st, 1938, Magistrate Rainey was reassigned to police court duty at 22nd Street and Hunting Park Avenue, at 9:00 o'clock A. M. But at 11:00 o'clock he was again suspended. He received a call from Magistrate O'Malley to come to the office of the Board of Magistrates to meet the accusation of a Miss Murphy who charged that he had compelled her to pay excessive damages to avoid criminal prosecution in a case involving an automobile accident. Magistrate Raney testified that Miss Murphy had not actually been placed under arrest, but had been notified that a warrant had been issued against her; that she appeared with her attorney, made a settlement with the private prosecutor, and that a warrant against her was withdrawn; that he knew nothing of the terms of settlement and had nothing to do with it; that at the conclusion of Miss Murphy's story, Magistrate O'Malley informed him he was suspended; that Austin Norris, Esquire, who accompanied him, was ordered "thrown" out of the room by Magistrate O'Malley.

Magistrate Rainey testified that after his second suspension, he instituted mandamus proceedings to compel Magstrate O'Malley to assign him to police court duty; that the Sheriff's deputies neglected to serve the process and that finally he had to have survice made himself. That he was then called down to a conference by the committee of five Magistrate Coyle now serving in place of Fridel), where an amicable spirit prevailed, Magistrate Roberts and Magistrate Henry having been convinced that the suspension was affecting their candidacies for Congress on the Republcan ticket. But no agreement was reached, and the Court of Common Pleas, acting on the mandamus petition, ordered him assigned in accordance with the law, which was done October 1st.

Magistrate Thomas A. O'Hara was the next witness called. He testified that the legality of the so-called Trial Committee had been questioned by Democratic Magistrates; that although the regular meeting of the Board of Magistrates for July had not been called, (The Act provides for regular meetings on the first Monday of January, April, July and October, respectively) a special meeting was called in July, the call not stating the purpose of the meeting; that when the magistrates appeared, the Republican magistrates, after a private discussion, took their departure, and no meeting was held.

Magistrate O'Hara testified concerning his summary removal from Traffic Court, after he had sat the first night of a month's assignment in July; he said Magistrate O'Malley simply stated that he did not like the way the Court was conducted and that he was removing O'Hara. Magistrate O'Hara testified that there was no cooperation among the twenty-eight magistrates; that although the numerical ratio by registration showed sixteen Democrats against twelve Republicans, yet the defections of Magistrates Henry and Amodei to the Republican side, left the ratio even, with fourteen on each side; that favoritism was displayed in assignments to Divisional Police Courts, where the more important cases are heard. He further testified to favoritism in providing such incidentals as furniture, telephone service and the like. He gave as one instance the fact that Magistrate Crevey had requested Magistrate O'Malley to notify Crevey's landlord of Crevey's intention to terminate his lease, so that his office might be moved; that Magistrate O'Malley had not done so, thus letting Magistrate Crevey in for the payment of a year's rental out of his own pocket.

Magistrate O'Hara gave as another instance of favoritism the payment of $150.00 per month for premises 1121 Callowhill Street, occupied by Magistrate Coyle, which the witness asserted was worth only about $30.00 monthly.

This meeting adjourned at 4:15 P. M.

The next public session was held the following day, November 2nd, at 11:00 A. M., in Room 426, City Hall, Philadelphia.

The next public session was held the following day, November 2, at 11.00 A. M., in Room 426, City Hall, Philadelphia.

The first witness heard was Mrs. Kathryn Cowell, of 79 Cosgrove Street, Philadelphia, who complained that Magistrate O'Malley merely fined for reckless driving one Paul Wishum, an unlicensed driver of a car in which her daughter, Eleanor Engle, had been a passenger. Wishum had been driving a car owned by his brother, who was originally listed as the defendant. The witness testified that she had begged Magistrate O'Malley to hold the driver until the extent of th injuries to her daughter were determined, but that he refused.

The next matter considered concerned an allegation that after four defendants had been arrested charged merely with intoxication, Magistrate O'Malley had of his own accord changed the charge as to two of them to disorderly conduct, had fined them Ten Dollars and costs each, and had committed them to jail in default of payment; that he had acted in a capricious and arbitrary manner towards counsel in the case.

Officer John J. Quinn testified that on October 9, 1938, he and Officer John Samartino had arrested four persons, William Butler, Evelyn Henderson, Stephen Hightower and Stella Scott, on the highway for being intoxicated; that they were not disorderly, but that he had arrested them for fear they might cause or get into some trouble; he stated that, as is the custom in cases of mere intoxication, he had not appeared to testify against them. His testimony was corroborated by Officer Samartino.

Sergeant Charles Pisch produced under subpoena the hearing sheet covering the case in question, which showed a pencil notation after each of the four names, "Discharged". As to two of the defendants, William Butler and Evelyn Henderson, the notation was crossed out in ink, and "30 days, C. P." was written instead. Sergeant Pisch testified that when Magistrate O'Malley's clerk, Mr. Schiavo, brought the sheet back to him, all four defendants were noted as discharged; that he had noticed that commitment papers to the County Prison had been prepared for the defendants Scott and Henderson; that he had inquired of Schiavo, who had advised him that the thirty day sentence was correct; that he had then made the proper alteration, "C. P." indicating "County Prison".

Inspector John F. Driscoll, of the Philadelphia Police Department next testified. He stated that he had not been present at the original hearing, but had investigated the case on complaint of Joseph Marinelli, Esq. That officers Quinn and Samartino had stated to him that the defendants were not in any way disorderly. He related that on the hearing on a writ of habeas corpus of the two persons commited to the County Prison, Magistrote O'Malley had stated that he had committed them because they appeared at the hearing in a very drunken condition. Driscoll testified that he had interviewed Butler about two hours after the hearing before Magistrate O'Malley, and that Butler was quite sober at that time. There was further testimony that all four defendants were registered Democrats, but that the two who were discharged had been released shortly after their arrest through the intervention of one David Moskowitz, identified as a Republican committeeman.

Joseph Marinelli, Esq., next testified. He stated that he endeavored to procure a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of the two defendants who had been committed to prison; that for this purpose it was necessary to have a transcript of the proceedings before Magistrate O'Malley; that he called on Tuesday (the defendants were committed to prison on Monday) at Magistrate O'Malley's office. In the Magistrate's absence, he persuaded Miss Bruni. the Magistrate's secretary, to make up the transcript, the hearing sheet. This she did, giving the unsigned transcript to him so that he could procure its signing by the Magistrate. A photostatic copy of this transcript, before signing, was presented to the committee, and Mr. Marinelli testified that the original, signed by Magistrate O'Malley, was exactly the same copy produced, with the exception of the signature; that he then went to the City Hall and requested Magistrate O'Malley to sign the transcription; that O'Malley replied. "I won't sign those damn things until I read them. Get out of here."

Mr. Marinelli testified that he refused to leave the transcript; that he made several other efforts to have the transcript signed, finally going to the Police Station at Seventh and Carpenter Streets; that he there handed the transcript to Mr. Schiavo, who stated that the Magistrate would affix his signature; that the witness then retired from the desk; that at the conclusion of the hearing then in progress. Magistrate O'Malley looked up at the witness and said, "What the hell are you doing here? You get out of here too." That after a verbal quarrel, Magistrate O'Malley affixed his signature. The transcript stated that the commitment was on the testimony of Officers Quinn and Samartino, although they had in fact not testified.

The next incident testified to at the public hearings involved an occurrence of October 6, 1938. Mrs. Jean Glasshofer, of 2542 South American Street. testified that about that date, she was summoned to the home of her mother in the next block; arrived there she learned that her sister, Mrs. Esther Aronovitz, wife of Samuel Aronovitz, had been struck and kicked by her brother-in-law, Harry Aronovitz. A large crowd had assembled. Her two younger brothers, together with Samuel Aronovitz, were being arrested. Wishing to assure herself that Harry Aronovitz was also being arrested, she accompanied an officer to the station house, but there was herself arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. It developed that Harry, Samuel and Esther Aronovitz are Republicans. while the witness and another sister, Mrs. Claire Levin, who was also struck by Harry Aronovitz, are Democrats. All those arrested were released on "copies of the charge" until the following morning, when a hearing was held by Magistrate O'Malley.

The witness testified that Harry Aronoxitz was allowed to testify first, asserting that he ran outside his home after hearing some disturbance there; that five women had "jumped him"; that Samuel corroborated his story; that Magistrate O'Malley called upon one of the witness's younger brothers for an account of the incident: that the younger brother requested that the witness be allowed to speak; that after she had given her name, she was cut off abruptly; that Magistrate O'Malley said at once. "You Aronovitzes are discharged;" but that she and her two younger brothers were fined $10.00 each and costs; that when Mrs. Levin protested that the aggrieved parties were being fined, while the guilty ones were discharged, an outburst ensued, and Magistrate O'Malley ordered all the protesters "thrown back" into cells. This incident occurred at the 4th Street and Snyder Avenue Police Station, a non-divisional court. The witness added that she had had Harry Aronovitz rearrested on a charge of aggravated assault and battery, the case being as yet undisposed of.

The hearing of Mrs. Levin and Mrs. Samuel Aronovitz was had the following day. The witness testified that Magistrate O'Mallley said, "I am not dismissing this case. I am merely letting it go. I will hold this open, and if you cause any more commotion, I will have you brought back here and given some stiff punishment;" the witness added that all were so completely cowed that they did not dare make further protest; also that at this time Magistrate O'Malley commented on her "activity", referring to her political activity as a Democrat. The witness added a general charge that Magistrate O'Malley invariably dispensed one kind of justice to Democrats, another to Republicans.

Esther Aronovitz. wife of Samuel Aronovitz, corroborated her sister's testimony. She stated that she had had a spat with her husband, who had left their home at 2420 South American Street (where they lived with Mr. and Mrs. Levin) taking their young child with him, to his mother's home, 2447 South American Street. That she saw the child there and in the evening went over to her mother-in-law's home, to bathe the baby asd put it to bed; that when she knocked on the door her brother-in-law. Harry Aronovitz, without provocation attacked her, kicking and striking her; that a crowd then gathered. the other brothers joining; she testified that her face was swollen for days, that her stomach was injured and her hand cut. She testified that she was given no opportunity to testify against Harry Aronovitz, and that when she protested against the fining of her brothers and sisters, she was thrown into a cell, although she had with her her two and a-half year old baby. She said she is and expects to remain a Republican. She corroborated her sister's testimony as to Magristrate O'Malley's actions the following day.

Mrs. Clare Levin. sister of the two preceding witnesses, likewise testified. She testified that in the evening, when Mrs. Aronovitz went, as related above, to the home of her mother-in-law, a tumult arose; the witness ran across the street and without cause assaulted by Harry Aronovitz. She corroborated the story of her sisters regarding the actions of Magistrate O'Malley at the hearing, and his refusal to hear any testimony against Harry Oronovitz. She added the statement that when she had difficulty in raising the $37.50 fine and costs assessed against her sister an two brothers, a friend requeted Magistrate O'Malley, at the office of the Chief Magistrate, Room 190, City Hall, to permit the payment of one fine only; he replied, "I wouldn't do anything for them. First of all, Clare Levin went against me just the night before,—didn't go against me, went against my brother. Do you expect me to do them favors?" She testified that she had changed her registration from Republican to Democratic.

This session adjourned at 5:00 P.M., until Wednesday, November 9, at 1:00 A.M. The reason for the long adjournment was the fact that a considerable number of witnesses who had been expected to testify on the following day had proved to be valueless as witnesses for various reasons; the principal fault was a lack of definiteness; many wished to make statements to the effect that, "it was common knowledge that Magistrate O'Malley did" this or that: that, "everyone knows that O'Malley" is in this or that racket. But no one was found to produce any definite evidence. The records of the Ruth Commission having been subpoenaed, it was decided that counsel for the committee and his assistants should spend the week end examining these records: That if anything extraordinary developed which would require it, a special meeting would be called for Monday, November 8, but otherwise the hearings should be resumed after Election Day. (It was found impossible to procure a hearing room for Wednesday or Thursday in City Hall, so the Chairman was obliged to find new quarters, eventually procuring a meeting room in the Board of Education Building through the courtesy of Mr. Add B. Anerson).

Counsel and his assistants worked day and night—far into the morning hours. in fact—examining every word of the voluminous records of the Ruth Commission relating directly or indirectly to Magistrate O'Malley. Frankly, the committee had counted strongly on this report for evidence, having been advised that the Ruth Commission had gone most thoroughly into the subject over many months, with investigators far more numerous than any at the disposal of this committee. The expectations of the committee were not realized.

The material may be classified as follows:

(a) Financial relations of Magistrate O'Malley with Wilens Brothers, Inc.

(b) Magistrate O'Malley's investment in premises 8707 Ventnor Avenue, Margate City, N. J.

(c) Magistrate O'Malley's alleged investment in premises 4044-46 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

(d) Magistrate O'Malley's bank account at the Central-Penn National Bank, Philadelphia.

(e) Magistrate O'Malley's bank accounts at the Integrity Trust Company, Philadelphia.

(f) Magistrate O'Malley's bank account at the Mitten Bank and Trust Company, Philadelphia.

Magistrate O'Malley's financial dealings with Wilen Brothers, Inc., had formed the basis of many articles in the daily newspapers at the time they were first revealed by the Ruth Commission. The amount of his loans to the Company were put at approximately One Hundred Thousand Dollars. Obviously, loans to that amount by one in public office at a moderate salary raised questions as to the manner in which such sums were acquired.

But an examination of the records of the Corporation and of the O'Malley's records revealed nothing mysterious. Morris and Samuel Wilen had for years dealt in sacramental wines. The business had been conducted by their father for some years. Investigation by the Liquor Control Board revealed that the business had been conducted in full compliance with the law during prohibition days, and that no suspicion had ever been directed toward it. The partnership dealt with the State Liquor Stores extensively. Payments from that source were often delayed, so that the firm lacked cash. Magistrate O'Malley, a friend, discussed the matter casually at first, and then stated that he had some money he would like to invest, for his wife's benefit. For his better protection, he insisted that a corporation be formed, with his wife, Kathryn O'Malley, as one-third owner of the stock, and as a salaried officer of the corporation. This was agreed upon. Legal phases of the matter were handled by Sterling and Willing, Esquires, a firm of high reputation.

February 8, 1934, according to the records, $15,000.00 was advanced by O'Malley to the firm. As with all subsequent advances, the transaction was in cash, the firm executing its note, in this case a one year note, payable to Kathryn O'Malley. This procedure was followed throughout the existence of the partnership-corporation. Mrs. O'Malley received the sum of $50.00 weekly from March of 1934 until May, 1935, when her connection with the business was discontinued, the corporation subsequently being dissolved, since the reason for its existence, the O'Malley connection, had ceased.

Further advances were made to the firm in March as follows: March 1, 1934, $300.00, March, $17,500.00; March 7, $1200.00; March 8, $125.00; March 9, $9000.00. Several of these sums were sent by telegraph to wine dealers in California in payment for shipments. About this time, Magistrate O'Malley commenced realizing on his investment, after having advanced some $43,125.00 against notes of the firm and assignments of moneys owed by State Stores to the firm.

On March 10, 1934, O'Malley received $1500.00 on the firm's check to him; on March 13, he cashed a check of the firm, drawn to cash, in the sum of $250.00.

Then on March 16, $10,000.00 was advanced to the firm, and on March 23, $500.00. Between this advance and the next, O'Malley received from the firm, by check drawn to Kathryn R. O'Malley, and endorsed and admittedly cashed by him, sums as follows: March 25, $3100.00; April 4, $120.00; April 10, $300.00; April 11, $4900.00; April 15, $540.00; April 25, $150.00; May 3, $20,000.00; May 6, $10,000.00; May 8, $10,000.00. At this time, we observe that he had withdrawn $2485.00 more than he had put in the firm. (There had, in the midst of the withdrawals noted above, been an advance to the firm of $250.00 on May 5, 1934.)

It would not add to understanding of the transaction to list each advance and withdrawal. At the dissolution of the firm, some $18,000.00 in obligations of the State Stores were turned over to the O'Malleys, which was subsequently collected by them. All of the transactions were openly listed in books of account which bore the indicia of authenticity. They indicate a profit of some $20,000.00.

The sole circumstances which tended to throw suspicion in the affair was that advances to the firm were made in cash; that checks from the firm were not deposited in bank, but were cashed, and the proceeds do not appear in any bank accounts of the O'Malleys. Magistrate O'Malley freely admitted that the money advanced was his, and that outside the $50.00 weekly which his wife received, he got the proceeds. He stated that he had for a long time kept certain large sums of money in cash in a safe deposit box. That this had resulted from an early distrust of banks, and for that reason, while he found it necessary to have checking accounts for some purposes, yet he still preferred a safe deposit box.

The purchase by Magistrate O'Malley of premises 8707 Ventnor Avenue, Margate, N. J. was open and above board. The Chelsea Title and Guaranty Company of Atlantic City, owned the property, and agreed to sell it for $20,000.00. Bonds of the Chelsea Title and Guaranty Company has been acquired to the amount of $18,800.00 by a purchaser, at a discount of fifty per cent, that is, for $9,400.00. These were used at settlement October 2, 1936. The purchaser, finding within the month the purchase was too large for him, turned it over to O'Mally for his total cash expenditures, approximately $11,000.00. All of these proceedings were matters of record, and all documents, settlement sheets, checks, etc., were examined.

(c) The alleged ownership by Magistrate O'Malley of the Walnut Arms Apartment, 4044-4046 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, was the next transaction investigated.

The record owner of the premises is William Groark, a relative of the O'Malleys. Settlement was made between him and the Manufacturers and Merchants B. & L. Association on March 12, 1937. The purchase price was $40,000.00, of which $20,000.00 remained as a purchase money mortgage.

Mr. Groark was present before the committee under subpoena, but as Magistrate O'Malley readily admitted that he, not Groark, was the real owner of the premises, Groark was not examined.

Magistrate O'Malley testified that Robert F. McCammon, a Certified Public Accountant, of 1421 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, kept the accounts of the Apartment House, and made monthly reports to him, together with semi-annual recapitulations. These reports were produced and handed to the Committee. They indicate an unusually profitable investment, apartments and stores having been entirely rented since purchase. From March 12, to December 31, 1937, the total income from rents was $11,702.16; total expenses, including reserves for depreciation, were $8,606.08, or a profit of $3,096.08. The ratio of income to expenses during 1938 has been practically the same, or more favorable, which would indicate a profit on the investment during 1938 of some Five Thousand Dollars.

(d) The account of Magistrate O'Malley at the Central-Penn National Bank was next considered.

This account was opened August 12, 1930, with a deposit of $10,000.00. O'Malley had borrowed this sum on the security of 1000 shares of United Gas Improvement Company Common Stock, having a market value of $33,000. This loan was paid as follows: $2,000.00 on September 4, 1930, and $8,000.00 on October 1, 1930. (Records produced by Magistrate O'Malley show that on September 30, 1930, he sold one thousand shares of U. G. I. for $31,760.)

This account was very active until the latter part of 1936, when Magistrate O'Malley opened an account at the Mitten Bank and Trust Company which thereafter became quite active.

Yearly deposits in the Central-Penn National Bank account are as follows:

1930	$21,046.97
1931	17,315.07
1932	15,311.45
1933	15,419.94
1934	33,068.46
1935	12,564.18
1936	15,922.92
1937	5,261.28

An examination of deposit tickets in this account disclosed that there was a large number of deposits of cash and small checks. The largest item deposited was a check from Wilen Brothers, Inc., in the sum of $10,000.00, dated May, 1934, to Mrs. O'Malley. This, incidentally, was the sole exception to the custom noted above, of cashing these checks.

A comparison of checks deposited with checks drawn immediately thereafter, indicates a practice of depositing checks for friends, and withdrawing for them the cash after their checks had cleared.

There was also a "John J. O'Malley Special Account" at the Central-Penn National Bank, opened August 11, 1934, with a deposit of $234.82. No checks were drawn against it, until it had reached the balance of $6417.39, November 1, 1934. This account, after some withdrawals, was transferred to the regular account on November 20, 1934.

(e) Magistrate O'Malley opened an account at the Integrity Trust Company, January 25, 1932, with $454.11. Total deposits for 1932 were $6090.24. In 1933, deposits were made of $685.74. The account remained inactive from November 13, 1933, when the balance was $67.91, until it was closed March 10, 1934.

On May 31, 1935, O'Malley opened a new account with the Integrity Trust Company in the sum of $1000.00 in cash. Only $400.00 more was deposited in 1935, and $8,289.35 was deposited in 1936, until November 4, the date of the last deposit. The account was closed December 8, 1936, when the balance of $170.62 was drawn and deposited in O'Malley's account at the Mitten Bank and Trust Company.

It should be noted here that on May 31, 1935, an account was opened at the Integrity Trust Company in the name of Kathryn R. O'Malley. It was through this account that sum due from Wilen Brothers, Inc., at the withdrawal of Mrs. O'Malley were collected through the medium of payments from State Liquor Stores. August 12, 1935, the entire balance of the account was withdrawn through a check payable to J. J. O'Malley in the sum of $17,441.81.

(f) November 18, 1936, Magistrate O'Malley opened an account at the Mitten Bank and Trust Company with an initial cash deposit of $300.00. From this time until December 31, 1937, deposits amounted to approximately $18,000.00. In 1938, up to November 9, deposits amounted to $7213.57. The balance as of that date was $607.73.

Other items developed in the investigation of the Ruth Commission were not of great assistance.

The return of John J. and Kathryn R. O'Malley for State Personal Property Tax for the year 1933, asserts as their only taxable holding a ground rent reserved upon premises 1933 South Street, Philadelphia, yielding $300.00 per annum, assessed at $5000.00.

Magistrate O'Malley was subpoenaed to appear and did appear, Thursday, November 10, 1938, at 10:00 A. M., at the Board of Education Building, Philadelphia, bring with him, in response to the subpoena, canceled checks, etc. Representative Mallen, of the committee, was of the opinion that the committee was not authorized to inquire into financial dealings other than those directly connected with the items being investigated by the committee. Representative Mallen apprised Magistrate O'Malley of his opinion, but the latter stated that he preferred to raise no obstacle of any sort to a full investigation of his affairs, stating that they had been thoroughly scrutinized by various investigatory bodies, and that he had been given a clean bill of health.

Questioned first regarding his association with Wilen Brothers, Inc., Magistrate O'Malley verified the information in the hands of the committee, freely admitting that the moneys advanced were his, and that the profits of the transaction accrued to his benefit. He insisted, and this is borne out by the records, that he did not participate in any way in carrying on the business.

With regard to the purchase of premises 4044-46 Walnut Street, Magistrate O'Malley confirmed the figures before the committee, and testified that the moneys invested in the premises were for the most part the profits from the investment in Wilen Brothers, Inc.

O'Malley produced to the committee what he stated was a complete analysis of his income from January 1, 1910, to December 31, 1931. This had been prepared for and in part under the supervision of inspectors of the United States Bureau of internal Revenue, in connection with certain disputes concerning his income tax returns during those years. The principal feature of interest, from the stand point of the committee, was its revelation of steady and substantial income, and the fact that in the years 1924 to 1934, O'Malley had made considerable investments in the stock market and had grown accustomed to making use of the lending facilities of banks for the purposes of these investments.

The incomes listed showed a total income from regular employment during the years 1910 to 1931, of $63,750.00. To a reasonable extent, these figures were corroborated by statements from employers and those with whom he dealt.

She stock transactions prior to his election as Magistrate show substantial transactions. For instance, October 25, 1929, he purchased 600 shares of United Gas Improvement Stock for $18,890.00. This was sold by him April 12, 1930, for $28,086.00, a profit of $9,196.00, almost two years' salary as Magistrate. Later on in 1930, another venture in U. G. I. was unfortunate, resulting in a loss of $6,690.00. In a period of ten months, O'Malley's purchases of stock amounted to approximately $80,000.00.

Now it may be that stock market dealings on the part of a member of the minor judiciary are dangerous, even reprehensible. But they do not seem to have been made a misdemeanor, nor grounds for impeachment. It is a matter of public record, also, that this practice is not unknown to members of our highest courts. O'Malley, further, seems to have taken his chances with the rest of the sheep. He was not on any "preferred list".

That bank deposits in excess of income did not become a habit of O'Malley's after his becoming a Magistrate is indicated by a schedule of deposits to his account at the Franklin Trust Company in 1929 and before. Those deposits amounted to $43,335.83. They included some $9000.00 the proceeds of sale of United States Liberty Bonds which he had purchased at various times prior to 1928. Deposits in this account in 1928 amounted to $21,260.38, and in 1927 to $43,732.49. In the year 1926, they were $32,687.84. In the year 1925, $24,703.38, and in 1924, $11,558.44. During the years 1924 to 1929, inclusive, O'Malley was in the employ of the late John V. McCann, Esquire, at a salary of $2600.00 per annum, plus extra payments on account of negligence cases in which O'Malley negotiated a settlement. During these six years his deposits in the Franklin Trust Company amounted to $177,276.36. This is an average of about $30,000.00 a year. During the years from 1930 to 1938, known deposits amount to $195,000.00, an average of almost $28,000.00 a year. But we must add to this the $50,000.00 which was advanced to Wilen Brothers, Inc., which O'Malley testified was withdrawn from a safe deposit box.

With regard to the testimony adduced against him at the public hearings, Magistrate O'Malley protested his innocense of any wrong-doing.

Insofar as failure to comply with the Bail Approval Commissioner Act, he testified that he had not accepted bail in violation of the Act; he stated that after the Act had been passed, its constitutionality was immediately attacked; that after a conference between the two factions on the Board of Magistrates with Judge L. Stauffer Oliver, of Common Pleas Court No. 7, it was agreed that the enforcement of the Act should be suspended until the decision of the Supreme Court was had; that after this decision had come down in January of 1938, he had complied with the Act. He produced Bail Certificates made out in his name greatly in excess of the seven or eight testified to by Mr. Kelly. He also produced a large number of Bail Certificates addressed to other Magistrates in which he had taken the bail. He explained that in many cases a prospective bailor would advise the Controller's Office that he intended to enter bail before a certain Magistrate, but would later enter it before another, thus causing confusion.

With regard to allegations that he had found persons guilty of reckless driving and had imposed merely costs of $2.50 instead of at least the statutory minimum of $10.00 and costs, he stated, that in all of the cases he had heard in Traffic Court, no person had been committed to prison. He stated that in most of the cases, neither prosecuting witness nor defendant appeared, the sum of $2.50 being mailed in, in compliance with a notation placed on the notice of hearing by the police.

With regard to the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon, Magistrate O'Malley disclaimed any recollection of the case. He stated that with thousands of cases before him, he found it impossible to keep any particular ones in mind. He testified that his clerk in the traffic court was an active worker in Democratic politics, whom he had appointed to the position partly to protect him from expected criticism.

With regard to the testimony of Magistrate Rainey, Magistrate O'Malley testified that the committee of five to investigate complaints against Magistrates had been set up at a regular meeting of the Board of Magistrates, and produced a minute book indicating Magistrate Rainey's presence at this meeting.

With respect to the two suspensions of Magistrate Rainey, he produced stenographic notes of testimony of a meeting of the committee of Magistrates O'Malley, Roberts, Amodei, Friedel, and Costello. This was also attended by Magistrate Rainey, Franklen E. Barr, Esq., Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia County, and J. George Lipsius, Esq., at Room 192, City Hall, on June 21, 1938.

Testimony at that hearing was taken with respect to four complaints against Magistrate Rainey.

The first involved alleged coercion against one Ida Miller to induce her to pay a bill contracted for by her on account of her father. A check in the sum of thirty dollars had been issued by her father for a plastering job. Payment on the check had been stopped, upon the work's allegedly being found unsatisfactory. A warrant was issued for the father under the Wages Act, but was not served, the defendant being notified to appear. A dispute arose there, Ida Miller alleging at the hearing under consideration that Magistrate Rainey had said that unless the bill was paid he would fine her One Hundred Dollars or commit her for thirty days. This was denied by Magistrate Rainey.

The next complaint involved the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of a Park Guard on the charge of shooting a nineteen year old colored boy alleged to have struck him during questioning. The Park Guard admitted the shooting, but alleged the boy attacked him. Magistrate Rainey held him to await the action of the Grand Jury, allowing him to go in the custody of his Lieutenant. The Bill was ignored by the Grand Jury.

The next complaint involved the imposition of a fine for disorderly conduct on one George Scheiber, owner of a truck which had been moved from its position in front of its store (apparently to permit the loading or unloading of another truck) by an unlicensed boy. The truck was backed into a pedestrian. A dispute arose over Scheiber's failure to appear at the hearing, and Scheiber was fined $10.00 and costs for disorderly conduct.

The fourth complaint was that of William F. Berkowitz, Esquire, who had become involved in an argument in Magistrate Rainey's Court, and had been fined Five Dollars. He appealed from the imposition of the fine, and his appeal was sustained.

Magistrate Rainey testified that on the strength of these complaints he was suspended, although the Magistrate's Act makes no provision for any such suspension. Magistrate O'Malley testified that there was no suspension, but that it was suggested to Magistrate Rainey that he sit with some of the other Magistrates for a while, in order to familiarize himself with the proper way of handling his Court before sitting alone again.

The attitude of Magistrate O'Malley towards his fellow Magistrate in this case certainly is indicative of prejudice. It might be anticipated that a sympathetic attitude would be noted. Instead, it seemed to be taken for granted that the complainants were telling the entire truth. Yet even their transcribed testimony bears evidence of bitter prejudice. In the cases of Miss Miller and Scheiber, this is very noticeable.

In holding the Park Guard, it is obvious that Magistrate Rainey simply discharged his duty, a prima facie case having been made out. For even on the guard's testimony he had no right to shoot the youth, even though the youth had struck him. It was a clear case of wanton shooting on the part of the Park Guard.

It is particularly interesting to note the righteousness of Magistrate O'Malley in criticising Magistrate Rainey for imposing a fine on Scheiber. The notes of testimony reveal that Magistrate O'Malley spoke as follows to Magistrate Rainey.

> "Did you testify against him? You can't hear a case where you are the prosecutor. You can be arrested. You can be taken out of office for being the prosecutor where you are the Magistrate in the case."

Oddly enough, one of the complaints against Magistrate O'Malley involved the same state of affairs, but Magistrate O'Malley in that case (the Aronovitz case) showed no hesitancy in being both Judge and prosecutor.

The second "suspension" of Magistrate Rainey was explained as also not being a suspension. It involved a complaint on the part of a young lady named Helen M. Murphy, who claimed that she was threatened with being compelled to post bail on a charge of assault and battery by automobile if she did not pay damages which she claimed were excessive, amounting to $99.00. Here again Magistrate O'Malley apparently assumed that Magistrate Rainey was guilty. There is nothing to indicate any investigation by him as to the reasonableness of the damages collected. And if they were reasonable the law favors adjustment of damages arising out of cases in which the charge is simple assault and battery.

It would appear that in this matter Magistrate O'Malley acted in an arbitrary and dictatorial manner, and beyond the powers conferred upon him by the Magistrate's Act.

With regard to the testimony of Magistrate O'Hara that premises 1121 Callowhill Street were rented by the Board of Magistrates at $150.00 per month, Magistrate O'Malley testified that the rental was $100.00 per month, and that heat and light were not included.

As to testimony that Magistrate O'Malley had failed to notify Magistrate Crevey's landlord of the latter's intention to terminate the lease at the end of the then current term, Magistrate O'Malley testified that by the terms of the lease ninety days' notice of intention to terminate was required, not sixty days, as Magistrate Crevey had understood, and that notice had been given only sixty-five days prior to the termination of the lease.

As to the complaint of Kathryn Cowell that he had refused to hold the driver of a car in which her daughter, a guest of the driver, was injured, Magistrate O'Malley testified that he did not recall the witness requesting him to hold the driver; that it was not the custom to hold the driver in cases in which a guest was injured, and that he had no particular recollection of the case.

As to the case involving William Butler, Stephen Hightower, Evelyn Henderson and Stella Scott, Magistrate O'Malley disclaimed any political implications in regard to the case. He stated that all involved were Democrats; that after having been arrested for drunkenness, they were released and William Butler and Evelyn Henderson appeared at the hearing in an intoxicated condition and were committed in default of a Ten Dollar fine. He denied having been very discourteous to Mr. Marinelli, but did admit that he was not friendly with him.

The Aronovitz case was claimed by Magistrate O'Malley to be one in which he did the best he could in a thoroughly confused matter; he denied that he was influenced by prejudices or favor. He claimed that the persons fined had created a disturbance of large proportions in the Police Court.

Coming finally to a consideration of the charges as a whole against Magistrate O'Malley, the committee is in a positon where it regrets extremely the brief time allowed it for investigation. For it is constrained to take cognizance of certain obvious facts in connection with the administration of the Magistrate Courts. The Courts are far from completely dissevered from political influence. For the committee to approach its deliberations with the thought that judges of high or low degree become political eunuchs would brand the members of the committee as fools or knaves. In the face of common knowledge, then, how great must political bias be to warrant impeachment? If even a slight favoring of a fellow-Democrat or fellow-Republican in matters not affecting grave public or private interest is sufficient to warrant impeachment, then the State Senate will sit continuously trying impeachments. But a constant perversion of justice for political reasons most assuredly merits impeachment, regardless of how widespread the practice, and the time of the Senate would be well spent in cleaning house. Likewise, a single instance in a matter of grave importance must brand a civil servant unfit for office.

It is conceded that the Magistrate Courts are places of rough and ready justice. But justice, while it should always be ready, should not be too rough. As long as the present economic system persists, with its financial premium upon the exploitation of man by his fellow man; as long as minor judiciary offices are made the reward for political prowess, and not an opportunity for serving the public bestowed upon him best fitted for the office, just so long shall we find accusations such as these raised against those sitting in the seats of the mighty.

This does not mean that the committee is trying to shirk any part of its obligations by saying, "Well, there are lots of others as bad as O'Malley, so why pick on him?" Far from it. The committee was appointed for a particular purpose, to find out whether Magistrate O'Malley was guilty of certain acts which would warrant recommendation of an impeachment. The committee must recognize that the present Legislature expires December 1st, making trial of any impeachment physically impossible. The committee has worked faithfully, and counsel has spent practically every moment, day and night, with his assistants, in examining voluminous records and verbose witnesses.

The committee is perfectly willing to continue to take testimony up until December 1st, as a committee, making its recommendations to the next session of the Legislature; or, if the committee is resolved into a commission, with power to take testimony after December 1st, its members are willing to do so. But the committee feels that under all of the circumstances it would not be warranted in making the futile gesture of recommending an impeachment upon testimony which is not entirely persuasive of the justice of that course. The committee refuses to be driven by fear of the accusation of shirking an unpleasant task into action which would render it guilty of the practices of which Magistrate O'Malley is accused.

It is certainly true that the unexplained possession by a public officer of financial resources far in excess of his income from such office and other known sources of income is ground for the gravest suspicion. A comparison of Magistrate O'Malley's income since election to office with that before election shows no damaging discrepancies. His use of cash from a safe deposit box while he maintained substantial bank accounts is suspicious. This suspicion is not entirely dispelled by his testimony that he has no great faith in banks. But the fact that the committee's investigation, starting off from the point where other and lengthier investigation left off, failed to augment the natural suspicion arising from such circumstances, leads the committee to conclude that condemnation should not be made on this basis. Freedom of action in this respect is still reserved even to public officials.

The charge that Magistrate O'Malley "repeatedly and admittedly" violated the provisions of the Bail Approval Commissioner Act, is not borne out by the testimony to the extent nor with the clearness which the committee feels is demanded to warrant a recommendation for impeachment. It may well be that Magistrate O'Malley did in some instances, particularly when the Act was first in effect, omit strict compliance with the Act. Perhaps this was done in a spirit of defiance. We must bear in mind that he was smarting under the enforcement by the Governor of a portion of the Act which was later held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, that is, the provision that the Governor might appoint a new Chief Magistrate. At any rate, compliance with every law would result from the appointment of a committee to investigate its violations, Utopia would be realized.

With regard to the second charge, that "Magistrate O'Malley has from time to time suspended the right of certain magistrates to preside in various Magistrates Courts of Philadelphia," the committee is convinced that Magistrate O'Malley exceeded his powers in not permitting Magistrate Rainey to sit in divisional and non-divisional Police Courts in regular rotation. The complaints against Rainey seem to have been of a sort which required advice, or a heart-to-heart talk, but not removal from service. Magistrate O'Malley protests that this was precisely what was done, but the entire record indicates that the treatment accorded Magistrate Rainey was not the ordinary treatment received by a magistrate against whom complaints are registered.

The third specification in the Resolution creating the committee is that Magistrate O'Malley "while presiding as a magistrate has repeatedly made partisan disposal of the cases heard before him."

Charges of this sort are easy to raise, hard to prove or disprove. The only reply is a denial, or an explanation of the circumstances relied upon to support the charges. Many cases were examined by counsel for the committee, in which the claim was made that so-and-so "has enough on O'Malley to hang him." Now the committee was not interested in "hanging" O'Malley, but counsel did seek to examine every case brought to his attention. Most of them proved to have no firmer foundation than the shifting ground of political bias. The cry, "We wuz robbed," is not confined to the defeated pugilist, but extends into the realms of litigation. "What could you expect from a Republican magistrate—and us Democrats!" is a handy explanation. Sometimes, too many times, there is considerable basis for the cry, which can be read in the most ancient records known to mankind. The committee has not the slightest doubt that political consideration entered into Magistrate O'Malley's general attitude towards persons approaching him for favors. That might be said of any other magistrate. In the Arnovitz case it may well be that the political complexion of one side led him to afford greater credibility to one side than to the other. But what is somewhat different from a deliberate partisan disposal of the case. All agree that the hearing developed into a heated turmoil.

A more flagrant case but an isolated one is that of the unlawful sentencing of William Butler and Evelyn Henderson to the County prison. Here certainly Magistrate O'Malley did not judge the case on its merits but was motivated by political bias.

But the "repeated" instances did not develop It may well be that two weeks' further taking of testimony might bring out a list of cases of such nature, extent and continuity as to warrant the conclusion, "Here is a man who has one kind of justice invariably for Republicans, another for Democrats." That would certainly demand a recommendation for impeachment. It has not developed during this investigation, which was widely publicized, and to which all persons having a complaint were publicly urged to bring their story.

So that with respect to this item, the committee feels, too, that there is serious grounds for complaint against Magistrate O'Malley, but that the evidence before it, comprising isolated instances, was not of the nature or extent to warrant impeachment, but rather demands the censure of the authorities charged with the supervision of the conduct of magistrates.

The legal authorities governing impeachments give no certain rule which may be used in measuring the extent of the dereliction necessary to warrant this extraordinary measure. And it is such a measure. For a magistrate is elected by the people of the entire city. In the case of Magistrate O'Malley, he has been re-elected, after serving one term. The act of the voters in re-electing a man to office is not lightly to be set aside.

In casting about for an analogy, it seems to the committee that the grounds for dissolution of a marriage on the charge of cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities to the person come close to meeting our situation. The Courts start with the premise that marriage is a sacred state, not readily to be dissolved. So we may say, without too great a strain for analogy, that election to office creates a union not readily to be dissolved by any power other than that which created it, the people having a vote on its continuance or discontinuance.

Now the courts further say that a single act of cruel and barbarous treatment may be so serious as to warrant dissolution of the marriage on that one ground. A severe beating, an attempt to kill, without more, even in spite of repentance and protestations of future good behavior is sufficient. In spite of unsupported denunciations in the press and on the corner, in spite of grave suspicons, the committee is constrained to declare that it developed no testimony that Magistrate O'Malley gave justice so severe a beating, or made a proved attempt to slay her, as to justify a decree against him.

But the courts also hold that where there is a long-continued course of conduct, not constituting cruel and barbarous treatment, but which renders the condition of the injured spouse intolerable and life a burden, dissolution of the sacred ties is warranted. Has that condition been shown here? Certainly there is some proof that such a course of conduct may possibly exist. But the courts warn us that it is not every course of improper or inconsiderate conduct which will warrant a decree. Mere gruffness, a surly disposition, lack of congeniality, are not enough. There must be a studied humiliation, a fixed hatred or demonstrated aversion. And the distinction is not so vague as might at first appear. Now what have we here? Brusqueness, impatience or restraint or opposition, a dictatorial attitude, other qualities which the ideal magistrate would not display. But John J. O'Malley was not entirely unknown to the electorate of Philadelphia when he was first elected. The qualities objected to were demonstrated during his first term of office. Knowing them, the people re-elected him. The committee might well say to the people of Philadelphia, "You knew what Magistrate O'Malley was when you re-elected him. You are tied up to him until his term expires. If he doesn't do the right thing, get rid of him then."

So the committee places itself at the disposal of the Legislature. It feels that its investigations have not revealed offenses of nature and magnitude sufficient to warrant impeachment. If they had, the committee would make the recommendation whether or not there was any possibility of action on the recommendation, for the committee feel that the public are entitled to have their fair, honest and impartial conclusion. That conclusion has been given above.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

To the Honorable, the Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly:

Your Committee, appointed pursuant to Resolution of the Extraordinary Session of 1938 of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has the honor to submit the following as its report:

I. HISTORY

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was called in Extraordinary Session on the 22nd day of July, 1938, by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and pursuant thereto the General Assembly convened on Monday, July 25, 1938.

At said session, the General Assembly passed, and the Governor approved, Act No. 2, regulating the procedure in investigations conducted by the House of Representatives, involving misdemeanor in office on the part of civil officers; and Act No. 4, likewise approved by the Governor, suspending retroactively, as well as prospectively, other pending investigations, Legislative, Executive or Judicial, of charges of, or involving misdemeanor in office on the part of civil officers liable to impeachment.

Prior to the time the General Assembly had been called and convened, Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, had presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, a petition asking for a grand jury investigation of certain alleged misconduct on the part of civil officers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Charles J. Margiotti, who occupied the office of Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, until dismissed by the Governor on April 27, 1938, assisted Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney aforesaid, in the preparation of that petition.

After the above petition was filed, the Governor and Guy K. Bard, Attorney General, appointed to succeed Charles J. Margiotti, moved in the Supreme Court for a Writ of Prohibition to restrain the Dauphin County Court from proceeding with the grand jury investigation. After argument on the questions raised in the aforesaid petition, the Supreme Court unanimously held the petition of Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, too vague, indefinite and insufficient to warrant a grand jury investigation, but allowed twenty days for an amendment of the same.

Within the time allowed by the Supreme Court for an amendment to the original petition, the District Attorney of Dauphin County, with the aid, assistance and counsel of Charles J. Margiotti, prepared and filed in the Dauphin County Court his Amended Petition, bearing No. 235

March Sessions 1938, and the Judges of the Dauphin County Court held said Amended Petition to be sufficient and certified the same to the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Further steps were taken in the Supreme Court by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Guy K. Bard, Attorney General, in connection with said Amended Petition and, after argument before the Supreme Court, the said court, in an opinion filed, determined that in its judgment the Amended Petition was sufficient but left entirely to the Dauphin County Court the question of whether the evidence was sufficient to justify a call of the grand jury.

About this time, the Judges of the Dauphin County Court addressed a communication to the Supreme Court asking that they be relieved from the performance of their duty in respect to the investigation sought by the District Attorney of Dauphin County and the Supreme Court, acceding to their request, designated Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer of the Twenty-third Judicial District to preside in their stead.

On July 30, 1938, the House of Representatives pursuant to the authority conferred by Act No. 2 above mentioned, adopted a Resolution which authorized the Speaker of the House of Representatives to appoint a Special Committee of seven members, one of whom was to be designated as Chairman, to inquire into the affairs and conduct of those civil officers named and charged in the petitions filed in the Dauphin County Court by Carl B. Shelley, seeking a grand jury investigation.

Pursuant to the above mentioned Resolution, the Speaker of the House of Representatives on the 30th day of July, 1938, named the following Committee: Honorable Herbert B. Cohen, who was designated as Chairman, Honorable Joseph Ominsky, Honorable Robert N. Bierly, Honorable Edgar A. Schrope, Honorable Anthony J. Gerard, Honorable David R. Perry, and Honorable Ellwood J. Turner.

On August 1, 1938, Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, in association with Sebastian C. Pugliese, Attorney for Charles J. Margiotti, and Edward Friedman, without notice to the Governor, the Attorney General, the General Assembly, or your Committee, presented to the Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, specially presiding in the Dauphin County Court, a petition praying for an order impounding certain writings and documents in the possession of Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney, and restraining Charles J. Margiotti, Edward Friedman, and Carl B. Shelley from appearing before your Committee and testifying; whereupon the Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, specially presiding, made the following order:

"IN RE: INVESTIGATION BY THE JUNE, 1938, DAUPHIN COUNTY GRAND JURY	In the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, Pennsylvania Petition to Prevent Interference with Grand Jury Investigation

ORDER OF COURT

AND NOW, to wit: August 1st, A. D. 1938, upon presentation of the foregoing petition and due consideration thereof, in order to prevent interference with the orderly administration of the law by this Court and its Grand Jury, it is ordered that all of the papers, documents, exhibits, photographs, materials, writings and articles of any kind whatsoever now in the possession of the District Attorney, his assistants, subordinates and employes, and in the hands of Charles J. Margiotti and Edward Friedman, witnesses under subpoena, intended for use in connection with the Grand Jury Investigation heretofore ordered, are impounded and directed be delivered into the hands of the District Attorney and by him held as an officer of the Court for the Court, he to have the privilege, however, of using the same in preparing for presentation to the Grand Jury.

And it is further ordered that the District Attorney, his assistants, subordinates and employes, and Charles J. Margiotti and Edward Friedman, witnesses now under subpoena, be and they are hereby directed not to testify or produce any information in relation to the said Grand Jury Investigation or the matters proposed to be investigated therein before any committee that has been or may hereafter be appointed pursuant to Acts No. 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the Extraordinary Sessions of 1938, or before any other legislative body or legislative committee pending the the termination of the said Grand Jury Investigation or of the further order of this Court.

BY THE COURT:

(Signed) Paul N. Schaeffer.

P. J. 23d Judicial District Specially Presiding."

On August 3, 1938, your Committee convened, selected Honorable Anthony J. Gerard as Secretary, and engaged and employed Albert L. Thomas, Esquire, of Meadville, Pennsylvania, and Abram Salsburg, Esquire, of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, as Counsel. Your Committee fixed Thursday, August 4, 1938, at ten o'clock A. M. in the Chambers of the House of Representatives as the time and place for the purpose of taking testimony and directed that a subpoena duces tecum be issued to Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, directing him to appear before the said Committee at the aforementioned designated time and place.

At the appointed hour, to wit, August 4, 1938, at ten o'clock A. M., the hearings were opened by your Committee. Carl B. Shelley appeared in response to the subpoena issued and when called, refused to testify and assigned as his reason therefor the order made by Honorable Paul E. Schaeffer, dated August 1, 1938, and hereinabove set forth.

Your Committee, through its counsel, Albert L. Thomas, and Abram Salsburg, on August 3, 1938, addressed a petition and motion to Honorabel Paul N. Schaeffer, specially presiding in the Dauphin County Court, and requested the Court to revoke and set aside its restraining order dated August 1, 1938, set out above, and on the same date presented another petition asking the Court agreeably to the provisions of Act No. 4 of the Extraordinary Session of 1938 to suspend any further proceedings looking towards a grand jury investigation until your Committee had completed its investigation. Both of said petitions were argued and denied on the day of their presentation.

Following the denial of the aforesaid motions of your Committee, through Honorable Herbert B. Cohen, Chairman of your Committee, after due notice to the District Attorney of Dauphin County, a petition was presented to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania for a Writ of Prohibition, praying for an order prohibiting Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, specially presiding in the Dauphin County Court from enforcing his order of August 1, 1938, set out above, and further that the said Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, specially presiding, be restrained from proceeding with a grand jury investigation by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, until the investigation undertaken by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly would be concluded. A rule to show cause why the relief sought should not be granted was allowed and the proceedings were stayed meanwhile. Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer filed an answer in the Supreme Court to the aforesaid petition for a Writ of Prohibition.

Thereafter, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, accommodating itself to the importance of the issues involved, fixed September 6, 1938, as the time for argument. Paper books were prepared and filed by counsel for the Committee and the District Attorney and oral arguments were made before the Court at Philadelphia on the above date. On September 7, 1938, the Supreme Court made an Interim Order, which reads in part as follows:

"The Court is unanimously of the opinion that the order of the court below, dated August 1, 1938, which forbids District Attorney Shelley, Charles J. Margiotti, and Edward Friedman from testifying before the legislative committee, and also impounds documentary evidence, must be and it is hereby vacated and set aside, because of lack of power in the court to make it. The information given to the District Attorney and others named in this Order is not privileged in the sense that the witnesses may not be required to divulge it on the ground of privileged communications as argued; nor may the documentary evidence be impounded beyond the reach of the legislative committee."

Thereupon, your Committee called a session for September 7, 1938, and, attended by its counsel, began the taking of testimony.

Since the date above mentioned, your Committee has held sessions at various times, beginning in the morning and extending far into the night, when Legislative Sessions did not conflict, and completed its hearings on the 23rd day of November, 1938.

Your Committee also held executive sessions during this period, some of which dealt with policies and others with routine matters connected with the investigation.

During the progress of the hearings, on September 23, 1938, your Committee employed James J. Gallagher, Esq., Mahanoy City, Pennsylvania, as additional counsel.

Your Committee has heard 119 witnesses, received 265 exhibits and has taken 8,165 pages of testimony.

Your Committee, desirous of securing all information from any source in connection with the charges being investigated by it, in addition to its own staff, obtained the services of the Pennsylvania Motor Police and instructed the officers assigned to your Committee to interview and secure statements from all persons having any knowledge of the charges being investigated by your Committee, and, particularly, those named by Carl B. Shelley and Charles J. Margiotti. Members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police interviewed 383 persons.

The constitutional provision limiting the term of office of the membership of your Committee to November 30, 1938, prevented your Committee from calling some of the witnesses suggested by Mr. Shelley and Mr. Margiotti, but from practically all of those not called by the Committee statements were secured by the Pennsylvania Motor Police, and we are therefore transmitting under separate cover all of such statements so taken, and the original reports of the officers, together with a complete record of the testimony taken by your Committee and the exhibits offered.

The Resolution creating your Committee specified that it should inquire into and concerning the official conduct of those named and charged, touching on their conduct with regard to matters mentioned in the petitions filed in the Dauphin County Court by Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney, asking for a grand jury investigation, and to inquire whether the Governor and other civil officers mentioned in said petitions had been guilty of an impeachable offense.

Your Committee used the Amended Petition aforesaid as a guide in the development of the evidence taken by it and a copy of the Amended and Supplemental Petition is contained among the exhibits transmitted under separate cover.

Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney aforesaid, was the first witness called and frankly admitted that he had no direct knowledge of any of the offenses charged and had not personally interviewed any of those whose names were secured from Charles J. Margiotti or any other source. Your Committee, after many continuous hours of interrogation, secured from Mr. Shelley, for its own use, the names of all those witnesses, together with a copy of the documentary or other written evidence in his possession. He testified that he gave your Committee the names of all persons and a copy of all writings upon which he depended to prove the charges made and further said that if he secured other names or other evidence before the close of the sessions of your Committee, he would promptly make a report thereof to your Committee. Mr. Shelley told your Committee that he had classified the evidence in his possession under various headings, following to a large extent the numbered paragraphs of his Amended Petition. Your Committee then secured from him the classifications and the names of witnesses and other evidence possessed by him under each classification.

Your Committee then called Charles J. Margiotti as the next witness and endeavored to develop from him all evidence in his possession as it referred to the respective paragraphs of the Amended Petition. It developed in the course of his testimony that some evidence furnished by him consisted of conversations with various persons accused and others and was applicable to more than one paragraph of the petition. Considerable latitude was afforded Mr. Margiotti in furnishing names of persons who would support the charges and leads through which he contended supporting evidence of the charges might be found. The exhaustive character of the examination of this witness may be judged from the fact that he occupied the witness stand during the whole or a part of ten days' sessions for a total of forty-five hours, and about thirteen hundred and twenty-two pages of the record were given to his testimony.

Your Committee was led to believe, after examining Mr. Shelley and Mr. Margiotti, that irregularities and fraud on a large scale, existed in the General State Authority program, which involved an expenditure of sixty-five million or more dollars, and aside from several interruptions to hear witnesses on other specific matters, we pursued that line of inquiry, first examining in detail the relative matters in the construction of the Finance Building.

Your Committee adhered to a policy which it had adopted of completing the charges laid in a specific paragraph as far as it was possible to maintain that order of hearing tetsimony and only in a few special cases, where good reason appeared, did the Committee deviate from this policy.

During the examination of the General State Authority, members of the Committee requested detailed information regarding the General State Authority and, since the subject matter was so vast, together with the fact that some of the members of the Committee were reluctant to leave the subject, the investigation of this phase was unduly prolonged.

The report of your Committee will follow under separate headings in accordance with the classification of subject matters testified to by Mr. Shelley in connection with the numbered paragraphs of his Amended and Supplemental Petition.

II. DISCUSSION

(1) General State Authority.

The charge of wrongdoing in respect to the General State Authority is set forth in Paragraph 10 of the Amended Petition of District Attorney Shelley as follows:

"Tenth: That the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., within the County of Dauphin, Pennsylvania, at various times between January, 1935 and October, 1936, including the last mentioned date, did give to George H. Earle III., the then Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and President of the General State Authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, large sums of money, to wit: a total in excess of Thirty Thousand ($30,000.00) Dollars in order to influence the award to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, by the said General State Authority, of certain building contracts for the construction of buildings for the said General State Authority, within the said County of Dauphin, and elsewhere in the State of Pennsylvania, and in consideration therefor and pursuant to the arrangement made between the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and George H. Earle, III, contracts were, within the County of Dauphin and the jurisdiction of this Court, fraudulently and dishonestly awarded by the said General State Authority to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, said contracts having been based upon certain plans and specifications prepared with the approval of the said George H. Earle, III in a fraudulent, dishonest and corrupt manner to the end that favoritism and preference might be shown the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., in enabling the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and corporations in which he was interested, to submit low bids for said contracts in that specifications were purposely drawn ambiguously in details and requirements to the end that contracts when awarded might be construed in favor of the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, and for the purpose of stifling competitive bidding by prospective bidders not so preferred; and further the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., was enabled, with the assistance of the said George H. Earle III, to have the said plans and specifications prepared by persons who had been in the employ of the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, and to secure the appointment of inspectors to inspect the work to be performed under the said contracts, and that said inspectors and their superiors fraudulently, dishonestly, and corruptly approved work performed under said contracts by the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and corporations in which he was interested. said work having been defectively performed and with materials different from and inferior to those called for by the said contracts. All of which was knowingly permitted by the said George H. Earle III, for the benefit of the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and to the detriment and prejudice of the General State Authority and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

The act creating the General State Authority is the Act of June 28, 1935, P. L. 452. This act was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in an opinion written by Drew, J., dated January 6, 1936, in the case of Kelley et al. vs. Earle et al., 320 Pa. 449; the Court dividing four to three, Kephart, C. J., Barnes, J., and Maxey, J., dissenting from the majority. An application for reargument was made and the reargument was held January 29, 1937. On February 4, 1937, the Court in an opinion by Kephart, C. J., unanimously declared the act unconstitutional; Kelley vs. Earle, 325 Pa. 327. The Act of June 28, 1935, P. L. 45, was amended by the act of May 18, 1937, P. L. 676, and further amended by the Act of June 4, 1937, P. L. 1602.

On February 24, 1937, the General State Authority was organized and at the time the Amended Petition of Carl B. Shelley was filed, the Board consisted of the following members: Governor George H. Earle III, Chairman of the Board; Honorable Warren R. Roberts, Auditor General, Vice-President; Honorable F. Clair Ross, State Treasurer, Treasurer; Honorable Thomas A. Logue, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Secretary; Honorable Arthur W. Howe, Jr., Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance, Assistant Secretary; Honorable Arthur Colegrove, Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies; Honorable Roy E. Furman, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Honorable Harvey Huffman, President Pro Tempore of the Senate; Honorable Herbert B. Cohen, Member of the House of Representatives; Austin E. McCullough; members.

The Board appointed Colonel Augustine S. Janeway Executive Director of the General State Authority.

The testimony disclosed the need of quick action on the part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because the delay experienced in the court proceedings testing the constitutionality of the act imperiled the program and left very little time within which the Commonwealth could avail itself of the P.W.A. funds.

The original plan of the Federal government in operation in the Spring of 1935 would have allowed the State forty-five percent of the sixty-five million dollar program in unrestricted grants. When the General State Authority applied for its grant, by reason of allocations being made to the other states, it was able to secure from the Federal government under the plan then in operation, a total grant of twenty million dollars, conditioned upon using this among paying labor taken from the public relief rolls, and a loan for the remainder of the Federal allocation at four percent interest.

By reason of the efforts of Governor Earle and the committee who accompanied him at the White House, they succeeded in prevailing upon President Roosevelt to alter the plan so as to grant unto the General State Authority ten million dollars unrestricted, and ten million dollars conditioned upon its use in payment for labor taken from the general relief rolls. By reason of the great amount of the payroll being for skilled labor, it is estimated that there will be used from the ten million dollars restricted loan in the neighborhood of three million dollars, resulting in a loss from that grant to the General State Authority of the seven million dollars unused portion. If the general plan of the Federal government had not been changed through the efforts of Governor Earle and the committee, it would have resulted in a loss of seventeen million dollars from the twenty million dollar grant to the General State Authority. (See Report 1st Fiscal Year, General State Authority, Exhibit 75, page 10; also testimony of Governor Earle, pages 7894 to 7896 inclusive.)

According to the original set-up, the General State Authority would have been compelled to pay to the Federal government for its loan of the difference between the total grant and the forty-five percent allocated, four percent interest annually. Through the efforts of Governor Earle and the committee, this general set-up was changed and the bonds of the General State Authority were sold to the State Employes' Retirement Fund and the State Teachers' Retirement Fund, resulting in a saving to the State Treasury of a difference in interest of approximately one and four-tenths percent annually, which it was estimated, according to the testimony of Charles J. Margiotti (Record, page 1054 to 1055) would be upwards of eleven million dollars. (See also page 10-a of Exhibit 75, Report 1st Fiscal Year, General State Authority.)

It is estimated that the General State Authority will profit to the extent of approximately one hundred fifty thousand dollars more by reason of the change in marketing of the Authority's bonds, by the elimination of the services of the Fiscal Agent under Federal regulations. (See Report 1st Fiscal Year, General State Authority, Exhibit 75, page 10.)

Some criticism was offered in the course of these proceedings by Edward Friedman (Record, pages 626 to 716), a former deputy in the office of the Attorney General, to the payment by the General State Authority of the sum of five thousand dollars for the legal opinion of Saul, Ewing, Remick and Saul, in connection with the flotation of the loan financing the General State Authority building program. This opinion was required by the Directors of the State Teachers' Retirement Fund and the State Employes' Retirement Fund. The necessity for the opinion was established to our satisfaction by the testimony of John H. Fertig, former Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and a member of the State Employes' Retirement Board (Record, pages 972-1002), together with the testimony of Henry H. Baish, Secretary of the State Teachers' Retirement Fund (Record, pages 1003-1010). We therefore find as a fact that the entire transaction was proper, made in good faith, and resulted in a saving of a large amount of money to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

When Mr. Margiotti was on the stand, he suggested to the Committee that it should call S. Davis Wilson, Mayor of Philadelphia, and a candidate in the Spring primary for the office of United States Senator on the Democratic ticket, from whom, in the course of that campaign, Mr. Margiotti had received a telegram setting forth financial transactions of Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., with the Governor, and urging Mr. Margiotti to make a complete investigation of the award of contracts by the General State Authority to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and Company. Mayor Wilson was called as a witness and testified that he had no direct knowledge of any of the transactions referred to in his telegram but had gained the information from general rumors. (Record, page 723, etc.) He further testified that immediately after the telegram was made public, the Governor explained these transactions. The Governor issued a public statement in which he set forth in detail all of the transactions that he had with Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. Honorable Harry E. Kalodner, now Judge of the United States District Court of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, testified that following the publication of the Wilson telegram, at a time when he was engaged in private practice, he communicated with the Governor, who was then in the western part of the State, and with his permission secured all of the cancelled checks in the possession of the Governor bearing upon these transactions. Judge Kalodner further testified that on his way from the Governor's office, after completing an examination of the Governor's records, he met Mr. Margiotti in the corridor near the Attorney General's office, and Mr. Margiotti and he went to the reception room of the Governor and there Judge Kalodner gave him a complete statement of all of the loans made by the Governor from Mr. McCloskey, together with a record of the amounts and dates of repayments on said loans, and further showed him the cancelled checks.

The Governor, in his testimony before your Committee, gave a complete, full and detailed account of all of his transactions (Record, page 7992, etc.) with Mr. McCloskey. He produced the original checks before your Committee and left with your Committee photostatic copies thereof.

All of the testimony in connection with these transactions disclosed that they occurred in the years 1935 and 1936, many months prior to the time when the General State Authority Act was declared constitutional and the General State Authority was organized. (For record of loans and payments, see testimony of Judge Kalodner, Record, page 7301 to 7328.)

The evidence is overwhelming that the money transactions between Mr. McCloskey and the Governor were bona fide loans, the greater part of which has been repaid by the Governor to Mr. McCloskey. These loans were legitimate transactions and in support of this statement, reference is made to the opinion of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania when it held insufficient the first petition of Mr. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, for a grand jury investigation. In that opinion, it is said:

> "Charge (e) concerns the borrowing of money by the Governor. As it is presented there is no suggestion of criminal violation of the law, nor could there be under the circumstances related at argument. If the loan mentioned was made at the time there stated, the General State Authority did not then exist. The Act creating it had been declared unconstitutional.
> It is conceded that it is not unlawful for a public officer to borrow money from an individual, unless the loan when made definitely relates to and is proven to be connected with an unlawful solicitation to defraud the State."

We therefore find as a fact that no money or other consideration was passed by Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., to George H. Earle, III, Governor, as a consideration for awarding to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or companies in which he is interested, building contracts by the General State Authority, and we further find that the financial transactions of the Governor and Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., brought to our attention by Charles J. Margiotti are also bona fide loans in every respect.

It is averred in Paragraph 10, of the Amended Petition, hereinbefore quoted:

> "* * * and further the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., was enabled, with the assistance of the said George H. Earle, III, to have the said plans and specifications prepared by persons who had been in the employ of the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested * * * "

A complete and searching investigation was made by your Committee of the selection and employment of architects by the General State Authority, and we were unable to find a single instance in the entire program under construction by the General State Authority in which any person in the employ of Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or any corporations in which he was interested, was even suggested for employment as an architect. Many contracts were secured by McCloskey and Company from the General State Authority and in each of the awards made to him he was the lowest responsible bidder.

Our investigation discloses that the architects on many of the projects under construction by McCloskey and Company, as well as others, had previously been employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania under other Administrations, or had been in consultation with the managing directors of the institutions benefitting in this program. A major portion of your Committee's investigation of General State Authority related to the Finance Building. The evidence disclosed that the original plans and specifications for the Finance Building were drawn in 1929 during the Administration of Governor Fisher by the firm of Gehron and Ross, New York architects. Under their commission, they were paid forty thousand dollars in the Administration of Governor Fisher (1927-1931). The plans lay dormant until the creation of the General State Authority, which provided funds for its completion. The General State Authority communicated with Mr. Sidney Ross, surviving member of the firm of Gehron and Ross, and employed him, under a written contract, to continue as architect in the construction of the Finance Building. It was testified by Mr. Ross that the original plans were modernized and some additional space was provided because of the growth of the department from the time the original plans were drawn. Mr. Ross further testified, as did other witnesses, that the General State Authority took credit for the original payment of forty thousand dollars made to his firm during the Fisher Administration.

The Governor testified that no person was suggested by him for employment as an architect by the General State Authority, with the exception of an architect who did not receive employment. No evidence has been produced to substantiate the charge of collusion between the Governor and Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or any other person in the selection of architects, and we find as a fact that the persons who prepared the plans and specifications for the projects under construction by the General State Authority were properly employed, were not persons who had been in the employ of the said Matthew M. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, and that no architect secured employment with the General State Authority on the recommendation of the Governor.

It is set forth in Paragraph 10, hereinbefore quoted:

> "* * * that specifications were purposely drawn ambiguously in details and requirements to the end that contracts when awarded might be construed in favor of the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, * * *"

There is no evidence from which your Committee could draw a conclusion in support of the portion of Paragraph 10 just above quoted, and we believe it reasonable to infer that an inspection of the plans and specifications, to which reference was time and again made throughout the taking of the testimony, failed to disclose any ambiguity. Further, we think it reasonable to infer that since none of the bidders on any of the contracts, and particularly the Finance Building, made complaint in respect to the matter above suggested, the plans and specifications were properly drawn. All of the testimony before your Committee shows that all of the plans and specifications were drawn in keeping with the best standards of the profession.

Your Committee finds as a fact that there was no ambiguity in the plans, specifications, details, or requirements in connection with the Finance Building, and so far as your Committee has been able to examine other plans and specifications made a part of this record in the course of this proceeding, it must conclude that all of the plans and specifications were properly drawn in every respect.

It is further set forth in Paragraph 10, hereinbefore quoted:

> "* * * that contracts were fraudulently and dishonestly awarded by the said General State Authority to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested, said contracts having been based upon certain plans and specifications prepared with the approval of the said George H.

Earle, III, in a fraudulent, dishonest and corrupt manner to the end that favoritism and preference might be shown that said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., in enabling the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and corporations in which he was interested, to submit low bids for said contracts * * *"

There is no testimony that Governor George H. Earle approved any of the plans and specifications, or that he ever saw any of them, in connection with the contracts awarded by the General State Authority. There is no testimony before your Committee from which even an inference might be drawn that the plans and specifications were so prepared that favoritism and preference might be shown to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., his company, or any other company, or that low bids could have been submitted by him by reason of any ambiguity in any of the plans for the work upon which he was bidding. There is no evidence to show any arrangement existed between Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and George H. Earle, III, or any other person, to fraudulently and dishonestly award any contracts by the General State Authority to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested.

After the plans for the Finance Building prepared by Mr. Ross, who was first employed in the Fisher Administration, had been approved by the General State Authority, invitations for bids were solicited in the method provided by law, and the bids were submitted at the time fixed, in an open session, attended by officials of the General State Authority, the Public Works Administration, representatives of the various departments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the interested bidders, and an invitation was extended to any bidder to examine bids submitted by other bidders. The bids were tabulated in open session, immediately after their opening, and a public announcement was made of each of the bids, and in each instance contracts were awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

Your Committee finds as a fact that no arrangement of any kind existed between Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and George H. Earle, III, or any other person, whereby contracts were dishonestly and fraudulently awarded by the said General State Authority to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested.

Your Committee further finds as a fact that none of the plans and specifications for any of the contracts of the General State Authority were approved by George H. Earle, III.

Your Committee finds as a fact that the plans and specifications were properly and honestly drawn and that no fraud, dishonesty or corruption of any kind existed in the preparation thereof.

Your Committee finds as a fact that no favoritism or preference was shown in the preparation of plans and specifications, or the awarding of contracts to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or corporations in which he was interested.

It is further averred in Paragraph 10, above set forth, that Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., was enabled with the assistance of the said George H. Earle, III:

"* * * to secure the appointment of inspectors to inspect the work to be performed under the said contracts, and that said inspectors and their superiors fraudulently, dishonestly, and corruptly approved work performed under said contracts by the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and corporations in which he was interested, said work having been defectively performed and with materials different from and inferior to those called for by the said contracts. All of which was knowingly permitted by the said George H. Earle, III, for the benefit of the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and to the detriment and prejudice of the General State Authority and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

The testimony discloses that there were three separate and distinct groups inspecting all of the contracts awarded by the General State Authority, to wit, the architects, who drew the plans and specifications, the representatives of the P. W. A., which made a grant to the General State Authority, and the General State Authority. Mr. Philip J. Hickey, a man of long and wide experience in the construction of large public buildings was selected by Colonel Janeway as head of the inspection department of the General State Authority. It was his duty first to interview and recommend for acceptance all of those who sought employment as inspectors for the General State Authority. Colonel Janeway, in the course of his testimony, said that he sent a circular letter to each of the Democratic County Chairmen in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, soliciting the names of persons who could qualify for work as inspectors for the General State Authority. There was some response to this request and all the persons who secured employment as inspectors with the General State Authority were interviewed by Mr. Hickey and were persons of wide experience in the construction business. There is no testimony that any inspector on any of the contracts awarded to McCloskey and Company was selected by Mr. McCloskey or sponsored by him.

Mr. Margiotti testified that, prior to the date of his dismissal as Attorney General, he employed Mr. I. E. Penrod to make an inspection of the work and materials in the Finance Building. He further testified that, under his instruction and through a court order secured by Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney, in the Dauphin County Court, Mr. Penrod went upon the premises and there secured samples of the materials being used in the construction, to wit, sand, gravel, or small lime rock and brick. These materials were delivered to Hunt and Company, an engineering concern, with offices in Pittsburgh, for tests, to determine whether they were in compliance with the plans and specifications. Mr. Margiotti, likewise, made available to the office of Hunt and Company the plans and specifications of the Finance Building. Mr. Margiotti, in his appearance before your Committee, suggested that it call Mr. Penrod and the representatives of Hunt and Company, which had made the tests.

Mr. Penrod was called as a witness before your Committee and testified that on his visit to the Finance Building, he checked the time and manner of the mixing of concrete and mortar and found that they were not being mixed strictly in accordance with specifications. He further testified that on the third floor of the structure, he found three loose bolts and three loose rivets in the steel construction.

While he also testified to having found some reinforcing exposed on the steel beams, an examination of the specifications showed that this method was in accordance with the plans and its construction, and it was further found that the exposed reinforcing was, according to specifications, to be covered by four and one-half inches of concrete. The testimony of Mr. Penrod was in conformity with the written report made to Mr. Shelley before the Amended Petition was filed.

The representatives of Hunt and Company appeared as witnesses before your Committee and gave your Committee the result of the tests made for Mr. Margiotti. All of the materials tested, with the exception of coarse aggregate, were in compliance with the required specifications and some of them exceeded specification requirements. The variation of the coarse aggregate from the specification requirements was slight and the representative of Hunt and Company said that it was suitable for certain uses to which it could be put in the construction of the building. (The report of these tests will be found in the Record, page 3115.) The reports of tests and inspections made by Hunt and Company were also in the hands of Mr. Shelley before the Amended Petition was filed.

There was testimony before your Committee by Mr. Penrod and Mr. Edward Godfrey, of Hunt and Company, that the brick veneer which acts as a protection to the waterproofing on the foundation wall was out of alignment in several places. All of the witnesses testified that this construction did not in any way affect the building and did not result in any saving to the contractor. Some of the witnesses called explained that this nonalignment was due to the variation in the ground level about the building, which would cause the first tier of limestone resting upon the foundation wall to extend out beyond the foundation wall or to be within the outer line of the foundation wall due to the batter of the limestone. No witness testified that this condition of the brick veneer wall cheapened the construction, affected its durability, or detracted from its appearance. In fact, this brick veneer is all below the surface and will be covered by the graded surface.

At the further suggestion of Mr. Margiotti, your Committee called Mr. H. S. Brightly, a representative of the Indiana Limestone Institute, and one of the foremost limestone experts in the country, who at the request of Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney, made an inspection of limestone intended for use and set in the Finance Building. Your Committee was led to the conclusion, through the testimony of Mr. Shelley and Mr. Margiotti, that Mr. Brightly, if called, would testify that the limestone used and its erection was not in accordance with plans and specifications. On the contrary, when Mr. Brightly was on the stand, he said unequivocally that the limestone was in accord with the plans and specifications; that it was within the range of the color and texture of samples approved by the architects and that it was one of the finest jobs that he had inspected, and had so advised Mr. Shelley promptly after the inspection and wrote him to the same effect prior to the filing of the Amended Petition. While Mr. Brightly testified that one of the stones in the building bore a discoloration, he further said that the discoloration was the result of absorption from some material in the mortar about the stone and, in his opinion, this discoloration would bleach out.

Mr. Brightly further testified that the limestone in the Finance Building was one of the finest pieces of setting he had ever seen. Besides Mr. Brightly, your Committee heard Mr. John D. Fuller, President of the Heltonville Limestone Company, which fabricated the limestone and he submitted for the benefit of your Committee all of the records in respect to the limestone ordered for use in the Finance Building. He, as well as Mr. James B. Kelly, Assistant Director of the General State Authority; Mr. Philip Hickey; Mr. A. J. Warlow, Chief Engineer of the General State Authority; Mr. Walter H. Eubank; Mr. John H. Moffett, etc., testified that the limestone used in the Finance Building was in accord with plans and specifications and was within the range of color and texture of the samples submitted. Some of these witnesses further testified that the setting of the limestone was an excellent job.

Your Committee was further advised to call a Mr. Schmidt, of Long Island, New York, who had made an inspection of the limestone for Mr. Shelley, and although an attempt was made to secure the presence of Mr. Schmidt, he failed to respond to the request addressed to him and he was without the reach of subpoena.

Your Committee called a great many of the inspectors on the Finance Building and the testimony disclosed that some of the minor details of the work, which had not yet passed final inspection, did not meet the strict requirements of the specifications, but these were of slight importance in the construction and such as might be found in any construction contract much less in size than the Finance Building. Your Committee has the assurance of the General State Authority and its inspectors that all of these slight departures from specification requirements will be corrected before final inspection and acceptance of the building.

There was also testimony indicating that some concrete in the wall and floor slabs did not pass the cylinder test provided by the plans and specifications. However, in the case of floor slabs concrete that did not pass the cylinder test, all of the slabs affected were submitted to a rolling load test and held a load that far exceeded the specification requirements. In the cases where the concrete in the wall did not pass the cylinder test, concrete prisms were removed from the wall and subjected to a compression test in the laboratory of Conwell and Company, of Philadelphia. Some of the prisms removed from the wall were tested in the presence of your Committee members and the prisms when subjected to that test exceeded specifications.

While the Amended Petition sets forth that materials used in the construction were different and inferior to those required, the testimony discloses that all of the materials so far used in the building were first approved by the General State Authority, the architect, or his representative, and the representatives of P.W.A., and that the materials used by the contractor, or subcontractor, which went into the construction of the buildig, all came from approved sources.

Your Committee called and heard James A. Dempsey, steel inspector, employed in accordance with the plans and specifications, and he testified to an experience of steel inspection of a long period on large public structures throughout the entire United States. Mr. Dempsey displayed a complete familiarity with requirements of the contract and plans and specifications and testified that his duties required him to inspect the steel in the mill during the rolling process and, thereafter, the fabrication in the shops and the erection of the steel in the building. He testified that all of the steel used in the construction of the Finance Building is in absolute accord with the plans and specifications and the standards of the trade. He further described the method employed by him in the several inspections by which he identified the steel used as that inspected by him.

Mr. Godfrey one of the representatives of Hunt and Company, testified in the course of these proceedings that on the occasion of his inspection of the Finance Building, on or about May 7, 1938, that he found in one place five loose bolts on the fifth floor. At this time, the concrete was poured on the lower floors and they were starting to work on the upper floors. He was asked if he ever returned to see if these bolts were subsequently tightened and he said that he had not.

Mr. Godfrey further testified that the brick veneering which protected the waterproofing, although out of line in places, did not affect the construction and did not save any money for the contractor.

When the attention of Mr. Dempsey was called to the fact that some bolts were found loose on the fifth floor, he explained that the bolts had been loosened and the beam moved in order to make space for a derrick and hoist on the upper floor. He testified that he knew at the time he made his inspection before May 6, 1938, that these bolts were loose and that at the time of his final inspection when all the steel was erected, all the bolts and rivets were properly tightened. Some suggestion was made in the course of the proceeding that a change order was made affecting the weight of steel used in certain parts of the building and that this might result in a saving to the contractor. Mr. Dempsey testified that, while the change order was made for a proper reason, the steel substituted did not save any money for the contractor.

There is not a single instance called to the attention of your Committee of any serious violation of the contract or the plans and specifications, or that the departures in any way affected the construction or the appearance of the building, or that they resulted in benefit to the contractor or any unjust enrichment to anyone.

Your Committee finds as a fact that the inspectors on this Finance Building project were in some instances careless in the performance of their duties, and as a result thereof some of the work was not done in strict accordance with specifications. Your Committee finds that the departures from specifications are being remedied by the contractor as his attention has been directed to them. Your Committee finds no evidence that any of the accused officials or others entered into an agreement or arrangement with the inspectors to influence them to so discharge their duties as to favor the contractor or anyone else. Your Committee finds that no loss has been or will be sustained by the General State Authority through any of the departures from specifications and no profit has or will result to the contractor by reason thereof.

Your Committee finds that the variations from the specifications, as hereinbefore pointed out, were not dishonestly or fraudulently procured and that they were not unusual in the construction of such buildings.

Your Committee finds that there is no evidence from which it can conclude that any conspiracy existed between Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and George H. Earle III, or anybody else to defraud the General State Authority or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by reason of the award of any General State Authority contracts to McCloskey and Company.

(2) Architects' .'Kickbacks"

Under the above heading, Your Committee shall discuss the charges contained in Paragraph 7 of Mr. Shelley's Amended and Supplemental Petition. In this paragraph, it is charged that George H. Earle III. David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, and others, in Dauphin County, during the years 1937 and 1938, unlawfully conspired and agreed to extort money and levy blackmail from architects, contractors, and other persons doing business with the State and its agencies; that the nature of such unlawful conspiracy was that no architect would be appointed or given a contract unless such appointment was first approved by David L. Lawrence and Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and that no architetc would be appointed unless and until he agreed to pay to David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and others, a sum equal to one-third of his commission. Subsection (a) of Paragraph 7 provides:

> "That in furtherance of said conspiracy and in performance thereof, one Edward B. Lee, an architect employed upon one of the State Authority projects, was, by means of oral and written communications subjected to unlawful threats, intimidation and coercion, within two years last past, and within the jurisdiction of this Court, and was required to agree to pay one-third of the architect's commission to which he was legally entitled, to David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and others, as a condition of his appointment as architect upon a project of the General State Authority."

Your Committee subpoenaed Edward B. Lee, the person mentioned in subsection (a), above set forth, and he testified that the averment contained with respect to him, as above set forth, was false, that he had never talked to anyone in connection with his employment as an architect about any agreement to pay back any portion of his commission as such to David L. Lawrence. Matthew H. McCloskey, or any other person, in consideration of his appointment as an architect upon a project of the General State Authority. He further testified that he was never, by anyone, subjected to oral or written communications, threating, intimidating, or coercing him in any way to make any payment of any sum of money from the commissions earned by him as an architect of the General State Authority. He testified that no one ever spoke to him about any of the matters set forth in subsection (a), and he knew of no reason why Mr. Shelley, or anybody else, would make such a statement.

Subsection (b) provides:

> ',That in furtherance of said conspiracy and in performance thereof, the parties aforesaid, within the jurisdiction of this Court and within two years last past, by oral and written communications, did attempt to extort money and levy blackmail from one C. A. Lake, an architect, by offering to appoint him as an architect upon one or more projects of the General State Authority, in return for his promise to pay to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., David L. Lawrence and others, a sum equal to one-third of the architect's commission, which he would lawfully receive for his services; that the said C. A. Lake refused to participate in said unlawful conspiracy or to submit to such unlawful extortion and blackmail, whereuopn his appointment was withheld."

Your Committee likewise subpoenaed C. A. Lake, an architect, specifically mentioned in subsection (b), and when he appeared before your Committee, after some preliminary questions by counsel, he was asked the following question by the Chairman:

> "Q. Any contract ever offered to you on condition that you would split the fee with any member of the Authority or any of the individuals that are charged in the District Attorney's bill of complaint?
> "A. Mr. Cohen, I never made application to the State Authority for a contract. I have been engaged in private practice in Pittsburgh and have only executed one public building. As a matter of fact I much prefer private practice and I made no effort to obtain one of these commissions. I don't know any of the individuals named here personally. I am not a politician. I am not interested in politics, and I might say that this allegation against my professional practice has been very detrimental to me. I feel that common courtesy would have prompted someone to take the matter up with me personally and get a direct answer on it before we entered any such public record as this."

(Record, pages 937-938)

Your Committee secured from the files of the General State Authority a complete list of all of the architects engaged by it in connection with its program and proceeded to call those who prepared the plans and specifications and supervised the construction on the various projects. When fifty or more of the architects had been called and had testified, your Committee unanimously determined, at an excutive session, to hear no further witnesses along this line. Every architect so called testified that no arrangement had been made by him, or suggested to him by anyone, that one-third of the architect's commission, or any other sum, be returned to David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., or any other person, in consideration of his employment.

Your Committee finds that the General State Authority was zealous in the performance of its duties in safeguarding the interests of the Commonwealth and in protecting the funds allocated to it for its program. because, over the protests of the architects employed by it and paid commissions under previous Administrations for work done by them and made a part of its program, the General State Authority deducted from the commissions due architects employed by it under the present program, all moneys paid by prior Administrations. Sixty thousand or more dollars was saved by the Commonwealth by this policy.

Your Committee therefore finds that there is no evidence in the record from which an inference can be drawn of any wrongdoing on the part of any architect employed under General State Authority. nor on the part of any member of the General State Authority, David L. Lawrence, or Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr.

(3) "Macing.'

In the District Attorney's Amended Petition, paragraph 6, it is alleged:

> "That the said George H. Earle III. David L. Lawrence, Ralph M. Bashore. Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and Carl K. Dean,, then and now Harrisburg Resident Secretary of the Democratic State Committee and others, during the years 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938, at the County of Dauphin and within the jurisdiction of this Court, did illegally and unlawfully conspire and agree to extort money and levy blackmail from State, County, City and other public employees, by means of coercion, threats, intimidation and other unlawful methods, the nature and character of said conspiracy being:
> "That the said George H. Earle III, David L. Lawrence. Ralph M. Bashore. Matthew H. McCloskey, Carl K. Dean and others did illegally and unlawfully conspire and agree to obtain money by means of coercion, threats, intimidation and other unlawful means, methods and acts, to the prejudice of such public employees and the people of the Commonwealth, generally; that the nature of the unlawful conspiracy and combination was such that each public employee was required to pay three per cent or five per cent of his or her salary, depending upon the amount of the salary. Three per cent was to be exacted from those receiving a salary of $1200.00 or less per annum, and five per cent was to be exacted from those receiving a salary of more than $1200.00 per annum; each Democratic County Chairman within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was designated as a collector and was required to make such collections in his respective county, with the understanding that he was to retain 2/5ths of the amounts collected for the use of his local Democratic County Committee and the balance, 3/5ths was to be forwarded to the said Carl K. Dean at Harrisburg, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania; that of the said amounts collected in the hands of said Carl K. Dean, 2/3rds were retained for the use of the Democratic State Committee and the remaining 1/3 forwarded to the Democratic National Committee at Washington, D. C.; that the monies so collected were to be obtained from the said public employees by means of coercion, intimidation and threats of dismissal; that the monies so unlawfully extorted have been estimated to amount to as much as $2,000,000.00 per year and upwards; * * *

That in the furtherance of said conspiracies the following overt acts was set forth:

"* * * That on or about the 15th day of February, 1938, at Harrisburg, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, and within the jurisdiction of this Court and within two years last past, Robert M. Fager, the then Dauphin County Democratic Chairman, and Thomas Reilly, agents of the parties aforesaid, at the direction of the conspirators and in furtherance of the said conspiracies, did, by oral and written communications, unlawfully intimidate and threaten one Delaney R. Robinson with dismissal from his employment with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania unless he, the said Delaney R. Robinson, would continue to make payment that had theretofore been exacted from him, from his salary, as such employee of the Commonwealth, to the Dauphin County Democratic Committee, and that because of his refusal to continue to make such payments, the said Robert M. Fager and Thomas Reilly, by direction of and with the aid and assistance of the said conspirators, did cause the said Delaney R. Robinson on or about April 1, 1938 to be dismissed from his employment with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Revenue, as a truck driver. * * *"

During the progress of this hearing when the architects were on the stand considerable time was devoted to interrogating them on the question of being compelled to pay assessments by coercion, threats or intimidation. All denied ever having been subjected to any such treatment, some of them admitted having voluntarily, of their own free will and accord, contributed to the Democratic State Committee, others to some Democratic County Committee, while others denied having contributed to any Democratic Committee, but admitted contributing to local Republican Committees and some to the Republican National Committee. While the question of architects' "kickbacks" is discussed under another heading, yet we feel that it relates in a measure to the question of macing, and demontrates to our satisfaction that there was no such system of forcing State employes by coercion, threats, or intimidation, to contribute to the Democratic State or any county committee, such as is alleged in the paragraph under discussion in the District Attorney's Amended Petition.

In addition to the names suggested by Messrs. Shelley and Margiotti as persons by and through whom this charge could be substantiated, your Committee, through its counsel, interviewed a very large number of other persons; some were State employes, while others were concerned with transactions that they had with the State government, all of whom stated that they had never been maced, or subjected to any threats, coercion, or intimidation for the purpose of compelling a contribution to the Democratic State or any county committee. Although Mr. David Lawrence was questioned at great length regarding the system and method by and through which the Democratic State Committee raised funds, he positively denied that any such system existed as that which is alleged by the District Attorney in his Amended Petition, or intimated by Mr. Margiotti in his testimony. Mr. Lawrence denied that any public official or employe was ever authorized, directed, or requested to coerce or intimidate any other employe for the purpose of compelling them to make a political contribution, and further states (Record, page 7636):

"The specific orders of the Governor and myself, as State Chairman, were that no employees should be coerced or that no employee should be dismissed at any time because they did not contribute to the State fund. That order was given by myself to John F. Breslin, who was Personnel Secretary when the Administration started, and then to Tom Williams, his successor, and likewise given to Mr. Dean."

Mr. Lawrence further testified that at no time did he enter into any agreement or understanding with George H. Earle, Ralph M. Bashore, or Matthew H. McCloskey,, Jr., whereby any employe was to be coerced or intimidated, or compelled to contribute to the Democratic State Committee or any other committee. That he had no knowledge prior to the filing of the petition by the District Attorney that Delaney R. Robinson was dismissed from his employment because of his failure to make a contribution to the campaign, nor did he at any time authorize either Mr. Fager or Mr. Reilly, or anyone else, to levy any blackmail, extort any money, or use any threats or intimidations against Mr. Robinson, or ny other employe of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the event of his or their refusal to pay any assessment.

Mr. Ralph M. Bashore likewise denied that he at any time either directly, or indiretcly, requested, authorized, or directed anyone to intimidate, coerce or threaten any State employe in the event of their refusal to pay a political assessment to the Democratic Party. Mr. Bashore denied that any such combination, agreement, or conspiracy was ever entered into by him, and the other persons mentioned in connection with this subject, or any other person, such as is alleged in the District Attorney's Amended Petition in the paragraph under discussion.

Governor Earle, when on the witness stand, denied that he, in any way or in any manner, had anything to do with the collection of finances on behalf of the Democratic Party. The Governor denied emphatically that anyone was authorized or had any authority to coerce, intimidate, or threaten any employe of the State government in order to compel such employe to make a contribution for political purposes. His testimony confirmed Mr. Lawrence's that he, the Governor, gave specific orders that no employe should be coerced, intimidated, or dismissed from employment because such employe did not contribute for political purposes.

The Governor, throughout his entire testimony, submitted himself to the fullest and most searching examination by both counsel and committee members, throughout all of which he stoutly and emphatically denied being in any combination, agreement, or conspiracy with any persons which had for its object or purpose the levying of blackmail or tribute (as called in modern-day parlance, "macing") against any public official or employe of the Commonwealth, or anyone doing business with the Commonwealth.

All of the civil officers, whether department heads or members of various boards, who were called as witnesses, when interrogated on the subject, emphatically denied that they, or anyone under their jurisdiction or authority, was authorized or directed to levy assessments against any State employe, or in any way intimidate, coerce, or threaten any State employe for his or her refusal to make a political contribution.

Your Committee finds that no conspiracy existed as that alleged in Paragraph 6 of the District Attorney's Amended Petition among the persons named in this paragraph or any of them, and your Committee further finds that there is no evidence that any employe was coerced, threatened, or intimidated by any method or means to pay any assessment for political purposes to the Democratic State Committee or any county committee.

Your Committee further finds that the Governor, in no way or in any manner, was conected with the raising of funds for political purposes by either the Democratic State Committee or any subdivision thereof.

Your Committee further finds, from the evidence as produced in open hearings, that the method and means by which the Democratic State Committee raised funds in order to conduct its business was not improper, illegal, or unlawful.

(4) Legislative Bribes

In Paragraph 11, of the District Attorney's Amended Petition, it is alleged:

> "That the said David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, and others, did unlawfully in 1935 . . . illegally and unlawfully conspire and agree to the extortion of money and levying of blackmail from persons interested in the passing of legislation; that said conspiracy continued through the years 1935, 1936 and 1937 and overt acts were performed during all of said period in furtherance of said conspiracy, . . . that among said overt acts are the following:
> "(a) In 1935, the said David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, and others, did unlawfully agree to exert their influence as leaders of the Democratic Party to cause amendments to the Beverage License Law to be enacted at the 1935 Session of the Legislature; that they did agree with representatives of the Pennsylvania Brewers' Association to cause Legislation to be enacted in consideration of the agreement by said Pennsylvania Brewers' Association, through its representative, Meade J. Mulvihill, to pay to the said David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, and others, large sums of money in the amount of approximately Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars; that in furtherance of the said unlawful agreement the said David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, and others, did direct the Chairmen of the Committees to which the said bills were referred in the General Assembly as to the time and method whereby such bills should be reported out of said Committee, and did further exert their power and influence at the Democratic caucuses to persuade the Democratic members of the General Assembly to vote in favor of the passage of such legislation; that in pursuance of said unlawful, illegal conspiracy, and in promotion thereof, the said David L. Lawrence, in the month of May, A. D. 1935, at a caucus of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives from the County of Philadelphia, held in the City of Harrisburg, Dauphin County, aforesaid, did directly by threats and intimidation of loss of patronage, endeavor to influence Eugene Haggerty, and others, then and there being members of the House of Representatives, in the discharge and performance of an act, duty and obligation pertaining to such office and the offices of such other members of the said House of Representatives; that the parties aforesaid did cause such bills to be held in Committee until such time as definite arrangements were made for the payment of the sums demanded by them for its passage; that further in performance of such unlawful agreements the sum of Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars was paid to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., David L. Lawrence, Ralph M. Bashore, and others.
> "(b) During the 1935 Session of the Legislature the said David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, and others, in consideration of the payment of the sum of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00) Dollars, more or less, did unlawfully agree to use their influence as leaders of the Democratic Party to cause the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill in the 1935 Session of the Legislature and in furtherance of such unlawful agreement, did direct the said Chairman of the Committee to which the said bill was referred in the General Assembly as to the time and method whereby such bills should be reported out of Committee, and did further exert their power and influence at the Democratic caucuses to persuade the Democratic members of the General Assembly to vote in favor of the passage of such legislation; and that they did cause said bills to be held in Committee until such time as definite arrangements were made for the payment of such sums for its passage, and that in the performance of such unlawful agreement, the sum of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00) Dollars was exacted, levied and unlawfully extorted by the said David L. Lawrence, Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, and others.
> "(c) That during the 1937 Session of the General Assembly, at Harrisburg, in the County of Dauphin aforesaid, and within the jurisdiction of this Court, the said David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Edward W. Prendergast, then and now Secretary to the Governor, and others, did, in furtherance of said conspiracy, and in promotion thereof, unlawfully agree to use their power and influence as State Officials and Officers of the Democratic State Committee, to cause amendments to the Beverage License Law to be enacted, permitting the sale of packages of beer by retail stores in consideration of the agreement with representatives of the Pennsylvania Brewers' Association to pay large sums of money to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and David L. Lawrence, and in furtherance of said conspiracy did have, receive and extort the sum of Sixteen Thousand ($16,000.00) Dollars and upwards from the said representatives of the said Pennsylvania Brewing Association."

(a) Beer Legislation

Mr. Margiotti attempted to support this allegation by a reference to a casual remark which he overheard, not as an eavesdropper, but while coming out of the Governor's office some time during the Session of 1935, during which period he endeavored to give the substance, in part, of a conversation between Frank Maddas, Meade Mulvihill, Matthew McCloskey, and David L. Lawrence. The remark overheard, as stated by Margiotti, was made by Mr. McCloskey to Mr. Mulvihill and Mr. Maddas, and is to the effect:

> "You got to pay that money. If you pay that money, we will do it. They answered 'yes.'" And when asked who said "yes", Margiotti answered:
> "Maddas and Mulvihill. They did not say it in one breath. Both answered in the affirmative. I cannot tell you which spoke first or which last, but I know they both nodded assent. At that time the Governor was seated at his desk. It was not a loud conversation. There were other people in the office, and I got the conversation as I was going out.
> "Q. So that we understand you, you did not stop and listen to the conversation?
> "A. It was a passing hearing of the conversation."

This conversation which Mr. Margiotti casually overheard was in the hall just as you enter the Governor's office. Mr. Margiotti did not stop and enter into the discussion but stated that a day or so later, he spoke to Matthew McCloskey, to whom he said:

> "'Were you talking to those people about getting money for Legislation.' He said 'yes'. I said to him, 'What did you ask'. He said '$20,000'. I said, 'McCloskey, you would not want to do a thing like that.' He said, 'Did you say it is unlawful?' I said 'Yes'. He said, 'I didn't mean it.' I said that I did. He said, 'I won't do it. Anyway I was only kidding.'"

It will thus be seen that if there is any merit or substance to the testimony given by Mr. Margiotti, as quoted, although Attorney General of the Commonwealth, he made no effort to interview any of the other men engaged in the alleged "confab" to ascertain whether that which the Attorney General is alleged to have heard, as reflected in his testimony, or the alleged conversation with Mr. McCloskey, was correct, nor did he even endeavor to convey his knowledge of what transpired to his superior, Governor Earle. If the circumstances with regard to this matter actually took place, as Mr. Margiotti would have your Committee believe, then the proper time and place for a righteous Attorney General to take action was then and there and to bring the matter before the General Assembly and the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The only other evidence which Mr. Margiotti gave or suggested that he had was that relating to an alleged conversation with a member of the House of Representatives one Charles Melchiorre, which was later supposedly reduced to writing on March 16, 1938, in the Attorney General's office. Mr. Margiotti testified that Melchiorre at that time was for him for Governor and that a conversation took place between Melchiorre and himself in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel about a week or ten days before March 16, 1938, at which time Mr. Margiotti stated that no one else was present but the two of them. He did not reduce Mr. Melchiorre's statement to writing at that time nor make any memorandum of it, because he (Margiotti) stated that he anticipated bringing him (Melchiorre) up here (Harrisburg) and getting a statement from him.

Mr. Margiotti then proceeded to testify with reference to an alleged statement made by Mr. Melchiorre in the Attorney General's office in Harrisburg on March 16, 1938, in which statement Mr. Melchiorre is supposed to have reaffirmed what he had already stated to Mr. Margiotti at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, to the effect that Mr. Melchiorre received $5,000 for his efforts in getting amendments to the Beverage License Law enacted at the 1935 Session of the Legislature. Strange to relate, Mr. Margiotti could not remember a single incident or any circumstance which impressed itself on his mind on the occasion of his Philadelphia visit when the alleged conversation took place, although testimony offered by witnesses called before your Committee conclusively established that on the night of the alleged conversation, an Italian society gave a dinner-dance at the Penn Athletic Club in Philadelphia, the latter part of February, and that during the festivities "they had a show on and they had some very pretty girls in a sort of tableau spelled out the name of 'Margiotti.'" Mr. Margiotti was there at the time, observed what was going on, and yet failed to recall the display of esteem in which the young ladies held him as demonstrated by the tableau they presented.

Mr. Margiotti, in the course of his examination, stated that when he was at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, at which time Mr. Melchiorre is alleged to have stated that "he knew $50,000 had been obtained for the Beer Bill and $100,000 for the Movie Bill, that "one Michael Spatola, a member of the Bar of Philadelphia County, and a friend of Margiotti, was present."

But Mr. Spatola, who is the person that Mr. Margiotti testified (Record, page 1553) "Just sat there and looked and listened" when Melchiorre is alleged to have stated that "he knew that $50,000 had been obtained for the Beer Bill and $100,000 for the Movie Bill", when called as a witness also emphatically denied that any such conversation ever took place in his presence during the entire time that he, Spatola, was there in Mr. Margiotti's suite of rooms in the Bellevue-Stratford. Mr. Spatola was invited by Mr. Margiotti, and accompanied him and Mr. Melchiorre, in one of the rooms of the suite, at which time Mr. Spatola testified that it was Mr. Margiotti who said to Mr. Melchiorre "I understand there is $100,000 put up for the Movie Bill and that Stern—Dave Stern handled the money and you got $50,000 for your bit. Mr. Melchiorre got up and said 'That is a damn lie, I did not get a cent." (Record, page 1827). Both Mr. Melchiorre and Mr. Spatola remembered the occasion of their visit to Mr. Margiotti's suite of rooms in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel because of the unusual tribute paid to Mr. Margiotti at the dinner-dance given by the Italian society when the young ladies in tableau formation spelled out his name "Margiotti." Mr. Spatola was at the hotel in Mr. Margiotti's suite of rooms during the entire time that Mr. Melchiorre was there.

When Mr. Margiotti claimed that Mr. Melchiorre dictated a statement in effect the same as Mr. Margiotti claimed was orally given in Philadelphia, it appears beyond question that Mr. Margiotti sat as a member of the Pardon Board, hearing applications for pardons, at which time the application of one Dominick di Valerio for parole was heard. Mr. Melchiorre and two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant were in Harrisburg and came to the Senate Chambers where the Pardon Board was having its session at about eleven o'clock in the morning on March 16. Mr. Margiotti was sitting on the bench. The evidence showed that Edward Friedman came up alongside of Mr. Melchiorre and said to him "Hello" and Mr. Melchiorre answered, "Hello, Eddie, this is the day of the di Valerio case. Did you say anything to the General about it?" Mr. Friedman answered, "No, but I will go right up and tell him now. I forgot all about it." Mr. Friedman immediately left Mr. Melchiorre and the two brothers-in-law and went to the front of the Senate Chambers. he went behind Charles Margiotti and handed him a note and spoke in his ear, after which he returned to Mr. Melchoirre and said, "It is O. K. Take it easy. I will see you a little later about it."

It was further testified by Mr. Melchiorre, and corroborated by the two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant, that when the Pardon Board went into recess for lunch about 12:45, Mr. Margiotti and Mr. Friedman went to the Attorney General's office. The evidence further showed that while Mr. Melchiorre and the two brothers-in-law of the applicant were standing at the cigar stand in the corridor outside of the Senate Chamber speaking to another friend from Philadelphia, Edward Friedman came over to them and said, "Charlie, the Boss wants to see you about the pardon case. Come right over." Whereupon, Mr. Melchiorre and the two brothers-in-law walked over through the House into the office of the Attorney General. While the two brothers-in-law were sitting in the reception room of the Attorney General's office, Mr. Friedman escorted Mr. Melchiorre into the private office of the Attorney General and seated him directly across from Mr. Margiotti, who had his lunch on a tray. Upon being seated, Mr. Melchiorre said, "General, how does the case look to you?" And the Attorney General said, "Forget about it. It is O. K. and I will take care of it and make sure that everything is all right." After a few minutes more of conversation about politics, during which the Attorney General wanted to know how his boys in Philadelphia were doing, what the boys in South Philadelphia could do for him, ho wmany votes he would get in Mr. Melchiorre's territory, the conversation was concluded and Mr. Melchiore left the Attorney General's office and joined the two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant, who were still in the reception room, and went out of the Capitol. According to Mr. Melchiorre's testimony, supported by the two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant, the entire time consumed during while Mr. Melchiorre was in the Attorney General's private office was not over ten minutes, and at no time during that period was Mr. Melchiorre in Mr. Friedman's office, as testified to by Mr. Friedman and Miss Peach, who claimed to have taken down the alleged statement as dictated by Mr. Melchiorre.

Mr. Melchiorre positively denied that he dictated any statement to Miss Peach or made any statement to Mr. Margiotti, Mr. Friedman or Miss Peach, with reference to any alleged sale of beer legislation or any other kind of legislation. Mr. Melchiorre is corroborated in his testimony by the two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant in every respect with the exception of that which took place in the private office of the Attorney General during the noon recess of the Pardon Board, which lasted only ten minutes.

In this connection, we call attention to the testimony of Mary Jane Peach, a stenographer in the Attorney General's office, and who is now employed in the law offices of Mr. Margiotti in Pittsburgh, stating that she was in Mr. Friedman's office taking Mr. Melchiorre's statement down for about a half hour. Then, she testified, she went out of the room for about the same length of time to transcribe the statement and when she returned Mr. Melchiorre was still there with Mr. Friedman. The statement itself did not show that it was the statement of Mr. Melchiorre, but a "Statement of Mr. X." Both Mr. Friedman and Miss Peach stated that Mr. Melchiorre, although he read the statement after it was transcribed by Miss Peach, refused to sign it.

Miss Peach further testified that the shorthand notes were not taken down on a regular stenographer's notebook which she suggested getting, but upon the suggestion of Mr. Friedman, she recorded the statement on a yellow pad from which she stated she transcribed the notes on a typewriter in a room on the fourth floor of the Department of Justice, although Miss Peach worked on the second floor. The original shorthand notes made on the yellow pad, Miss Peach stated, she destroyed in accordance with Mr. Melchiorre's instructions in the presence of Mr. Melchiorre and Mr. Friedman and threw them in the wastepaper basket.

Miss Peach further stated that the room she went to on the fourth floor was where a stenographic unit worked and some of the girls were out to lunch at the time and she knew she could get a typewriter there, stating that her own typewriter was on the second floor of the Department of Justice. Her reason for going to the fourth floor, as stated in her testimony, was "because I did not want to be disturbed due to the statement that I was writing. I did not think I should be disturbed. Ordinarily, I had a terrific amount of work to do and I did not want anybody to disturb me at the time. People would call on me for different things, you know . . . In this case, I determined that the best thing to do would be to go upstairs where I would not be disturbed and I would bring it right back. . . ."

Miss Peach further stated that when Mr. Melchiorre directed her to destroy the notes, she looked at Mr. Friedman and said, "Shall I destroy them? He asked me to go ahead and so I destroyed the notes, . . . tore them up and put them in the waste-paper basket." She made only one copy but did not put her name on it or any mark by which she could identify it.

Miss Peach further stated that when she left Mr. Friedman's office, which was the last time she saw the statement that day, the statement was in the hands of Mr. Melchiorre and the next time she saw it was when she got it out of the safe in the Department of Justice, but she could not state whether she had placed it in the safe. Miss Peach further testified that she got it out of the safe and gave it over to either Mr. Margiotti or Mr. Friedman, she did not know which, nor could she recall who instructed her to get it out of the safe. Miss Peach further testified that when she took the paper out of the safe, she could not remember whether it was in an envelope. Mr. Friedman, in his testimony, stated:

> "After Mr. Melchiorre left the statement, I read it, and then I gave Miss Peach instructions to put it into the safe. I told her to put it in an envelope and mark it 'Statement of Mr. X.'"

Mr. Friedman also stated that he saw Miss Peach tear up the original notes and throw them into the waste-paper basket. Mr. Friedman stated that he requested Miss Peach to get the statement out of the safe, saw her open the safe and she handed him the envelope which was sealed and which he, Friedman, tore open; that was an ordinary brown envelope, large enough so you could get legal size paper in it without folding.

Neither Mr. Margiotti nor Mr. Friedman could recall any special or particular circumstances that occurred on March 16, when the statement is supposed to have been made, although it was on the very day that Mr. Melchiorre, interested in the pardon or parole application, was in Harrisburg with two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant, spoke both to Mr. Friedman and Mr. Margiotti regarding the same, and which application was favorably acted upon by the Pardon Board.

In addition to the denial by Mr. Melchiorre, in which he is corroborated by the two brothers-in-law of the parole applicant and the positive contradictory testimony of Michael Spatola, that no such oral statement took place in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel as that which Mr. Margiotti claimed Mr. Melchiorre made to him, your Committee called all of the accused public officials pertaining to this specific matter, who emphatically denied the allegations set forth in this paragraph, as well as any knowledge regarding the alleged statement of Mr. Melchiorre to Mr. Margiotti.

The Legislative Journal shows that House Bill No. 2436, which was one of the Beer Bills in the 1935 Session of the Legislature, was passed in the House of Representatives by a vote of 132 ayes and 56 nays; that of the 132 ayes, 94 were Democrats and 38 Republicans; of the nays, 18 were Democrats and 38 Republicans. In the Senate, House Bill No. 2436 passed finally by a vote of 31 to 17; of the 31 affirmative votes, 16 were Republicans and 15 Democrats. At that time the Senate was composed of 31 Republicans and 19 Democrats, which clearly indicates that no legislation could be put through the Senate by the Democratic leaders unless it had Republican support. All of the accused civil officers mentioned as being in conspiracy on this matter positively denied that it was an Administration measure or that they were interested in its passage. In the House, the then Speaker, Mr. Sarig and the Reverend Mr. Ruth, who was the Democratic leader, voted against House Bill 2436, while among the Republican leaders who voted for the bill were Mr. Witkin, who was the Republican floor leader at that time, Representative Turner, who shared that co-leadership and is a member of your Committee, and Representative Blumberg. The sponsors of House Bill 2436 were Messrs. Eberharder, Greenstein, Zappala and Melchiorre. The record shows that this bill went to a Conference Committee, the Senate members of which were Messrs. McClure, Huffman and Coyne, two Republicans and one Democrat.

The Legislative Journal shows that House Bill No. 2437, being an amendment to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act, of the 1935 Session of the Legislature, was sponsored in the House by Messrs. Achterman, Blumberg, Witkin and Melchiorre, two Republicans and two Democrats. The vote in the House on that bill was 138 to 48; of the 138 affirmative votes, there were 87 Democrats and 49 Republicans; the nays were 19 Democrats and 29 Republicans. Among the Republicans who voted for the bill were Representatives Witkin, Turner, Blumberg, Woodside and McDevitt. In the Senate, House Bill 2437 passed by a vote of 32 to 16; of the 32 affirmative votes, 20 were Republicans and 12 were Democrats; the nays were 7 Democrats and 9 Republicans. Among the Republicans in the Senate who voted for the bill were such leaders as Senator McClure and Senator Owlett and among the Democratic Senators who voted against the bill were Senators Thompson and Rice. This bill also went to a Conference Committee and again two Republicans and one Democrat were appointed on this Committee, namely, Senators McClure, Huffman and Coyne.

Of all the witnesses examined on this subject, all of the accused civil officers stoutly denied that these particular beer bills were held in committee until such time as definite arrangements were made for the payment of any sum demanded for their passage or that any money was paid so far as they knew anyone for the passage of these bills; that David Lawrence at no time resorted to threats and intimidation of loss of patronage towards any member of the House of Representatives in the discharge and performance of an act, duty or obligation pertaining to their office as members of the House, nor did he urge the Democratic members of the House at any caucus thereof to vote in favor of or against the proposed beer legislation.

Your Committee is of the opinion and therefore finds that there was no conspiracy or unlawful and illegal conduct on the part of David Lawrence, Matthew McCloskey, Ralph M. Bashore, Harry E. Kalodner, or anyone else so far as they have been able to ascertain, in the introduction, sponsorship or passage of House Bills 2436 and 2437 in the 1935 Session of the Legislature and known as the Beer Bills.

(b) Movie Legislation

The allegation as set forth in subdivision (b) of Paragraph 12 of the District Attorney's Amended Petition charges a conspiracy between the parties therein mentioned, in regard to the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill in consideration of which the men therein mentioned exacted, levied and unlawfully extorted the sum of $100,000.

On this subject, Mr. Margiotti stated that at the same time he had the discussion with Mr. Melchiorre regarding the beer legislation, the Sunday Movie Bill was also discussed and that present at the general discussion regarding the beer legislation and the movie legislation, was Michael Spatola, "who sat there and looked and listened." He said nothing but Melchiorre said that he knew that $50,000 had been obtained for the Beer Bill and $100,000 for the Movie Bill, but that he, Melchiorre, did not give the details. That which we have stated with reference to the Beer Bill, in so far as Mr. Melchiorre is concerned applies with the same effect to the Sunday Movie Bill. Here again, Mr. Melchiorre positively denied making any such statement as that attributed to him by Mr. Margiotti. Michael Spatola likewise denied any such statement or general discussion was had between Mr. Margiotti and Mr. Melchiorre while Mr. Spatola "sat there and looked and listened."

Although the name of J. David Stern was injected into this matter by Mr. Margiotti as having been mentioned during Melchiorre's discussion of the matter, nowhere in the course of our investigation or examination has your Committee been able to learn that Mr. J. David Stern was in any way whatsoever connected with the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill. Here, as in many instances, we are constrained to say that the names of innocent persons were injected into these alleged charges without foundation for so doing.

As in the Beer Bill matter, the accused civil officers emphatically denied that they were in any way connected with any illegal or unlawful act or conduct pertaining to the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill.

Mr. Margiotti stated to your Committee the following:

> "I can tell you where and whom you should see to see the collection of $100,000, the bank in which it was deposited, the name of the individual, the name of the person. I can tell you where you can get a photostatic picture of a check for $75,000, issued out of that account and can give you the name . . . The bank is the Tradesmens National Bank and Trust Company of Philadelphia, the account is the Albert M. Greenfield rent account. That bank institution is reliable, has a photostatic copy."

Your Committee issued a subpoena duces tecum summoning Mr. Herbert Goodall, President of the Tradesmens National Bank and Trust Company, to produce all records that that bank may have that would in any way confirm or substantiate the statement made by Mr. Margiotti, as heretofore set forth, and also subpoenaed Albert M. Greenfield.

Mr. Greenfield unequivocally and without any hesitation positively denied any connection with the collection of $100,000 that was supposedly given in payment of the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill or that any check bearing his signature or in which he was connected was issued for $75,000 on any account.

The President of the Tradesmens National Bank and Trust Company, Mr. Herbert Goodall, appeared with the records of the bank and nowhere among the records of the bank could be found the slightest confirmation or corroboration to the statements made by Mr. Margiotti. To the contrary, the records disclosed that whoever conceived the allegation pertaining to the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill, as testified to by Mr. Margiotti, manufactured it out of the whole cloth.

Every lead given to your Committee by Mr. Margiotti which he suggested would confirm the charge with reference to the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill, which your Committee investigated, failed to sustain the charge pertaining thereto.

The Legislative Journal shows that House Bill 1703, which was the so-called Sunday Movie Bill in the 1935 Session, passed the House by 122 affirmative votes and 80 negative. Of the 122 voting aye, 76 were Democrats and 46 were Republicans and of the 80 nays, 39 were Democrats and 41 Republicans. This, like the Beer Bills, was not an Administration measure. Among the Republican leaders who voted aye on the Sunday Movie Bill in the House were Messrs. Turner, Witkin, and Blumberg. Among the Democratic leaders who voted nay on the bill were Messrs. Achterman, Moomaw and Van Sickle. In the Senate, the vote on this bill was 29 affirmative votes and 20 nays; of the affirmative vote 15 were Republicans and 14 Democrats, while 16 Republicans and 4 Democrats voted nay. Among the Republican leaders voting for the bill in the Senate were Senators McClure, Owlett and Coyne and among the Democratic leaders who voted for the bill were Senators Roberts, Huffman and Thompson. Among the Democrats who voted against the bill were Senators Rice and Sones.

Your Committee is convinced and therefore finds that no conspiracy or unlawful combination or agreement was entered into between the accused civil officers or anyone else regarding the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill and that no consideration of $100,000 or any sum whatsoever was given to the accused civil officers or any of their representatives or agents in consideration of the passage of said bill.

(c) Package Beer Legislation

This allegation of overt acts is with reference to the amendment to the Beverage License Law permitting the sale of beer by package by retail stores during the 1937 Session of the Legislature.

Mr. Margiotti, when on the witness stand, stated in reference to this particular allegation:

> "A. I haven't given any direct evidence in support of that particular section.
> "Q. Do you have some?
> "A. I have none. I know nothing about that except what I heard."

Your Committee, through its investigators, was unable to find any evidence that in any way supports the allegation as charged with reference to this particular matter. None having been presented and none having been found, your Committee concludes and therefore finds as a fact that the charge was not and cannot be sustained. To our mind it is another phantom rumor that has no foundation for its existence.

(5) Liquor Control Board

One of the charges alleged in Paragraph 12 of the District Attorney's Amended Petition avers:

> "That in 1935 . . . George H. Earle III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore and Leo Crossen, then a member of the Liquor Control Board . . . did illegally and unlawfully conspire and agree to extort money and levy blackmail from persons doing business with or selling spirituous and vinous liquors to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board . . . that in the year 1937, J. Twing Brooks was appointed a member of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board . . . join in and become a party to said conspiracy; that by reason of said unlawful conspiracy and agreement, the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and others were able to and did unlawfully solicit bribes, extort money and levy blackmail against vendors of spirituous and vinous liquors who did business with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, by requiring said vendors to pay to them large sums of money in consideration of the purchase of spirituous and vinous liquors from said vendors by the Liquor Control Board and for other special considerations . . ."

Mr. Margiotti suggested to the Committee that this allegation could be established by calling, among others, the following: Leo Crossen, Chairman of the Liquor Control Board, J. Twing Brooks, a member of the Liquor Control Board, Joseph Donovan, Secretary of the Board, Donald E. Behney, Purchasing Agent for the Board, Horace Segelbaum, Deputy Attorney General assigned to the Liquor Control Board, Honorable Harry E. Kalodner, Ralph M. Bashore, David L. Lawrence, and Governor Earle.

Although the testimony of Mr. Margiotti did not in any way support the allegation of conspiracy relating to the soliciting of bribes, extortion of money and levying of blackmail against vendors of spirituous and vinous liquors who did business with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, the persons suggested by Mr. Margiotti, as here-inbefore named, when called to the witness stand, established by their testimony most convincingly that the allegation of conspiracy referred to had no merit or foundation.

The records of the Liquor Control Board clearly established that the imputation made by Mr. Margiotti that Bisceglia Brothers was favored with undue large orders prior to the fifteen-day suspension of its license, which became effective on January 1, 1938, was not only untrue, but on the other hand, the records show that Bisceglia Brothers received about half of the order that was allocated to them in the preceding October for the Christmas and New Year's trade and prior to the issuance of a citation against the firm.

The evidence further established that before the orders were given by the Liquor Control Board to Bisceglia Brothers, the Attorney General, Mr. Margiotti, was twice consulted regarding the propriety of the Liquor Board purchasing from Bisceglia Brothers any liquors that had been contemplated for the holiday season. Upon the suggestion and recommendation of the then Attorney General, Mr. Margiotti, the Board was directed to place an order in the first instance at one-third of the total allocated Christmas holiday order, and subsequently one-half of the remaining amount of the order,. This clearly indicated that the intimation made by Mr. Margiotti on the witness stand, that the Liquor Control Board, through improper methods, overstocked with Bisceglia Brothers merchandise, so that the suspension of fifteen days imposed by the Board did not and could not subject Bisceglia Brothers to any loss of business.

Mr. Margiotti, during his examination, referred to one Malpezzi, employed by the Liquor Control Board, who had in his possession a memorandum or directions from some officer of the Liquor Control Board, which, Mr. Margiotti suggested, would be important to your Committee. The records of the Liquor Control Board were produced and a photostatic copy of a telegram to Mr. M. A. Malpezzi, dated January 5, 1937, was produced. It was sent by Harry A. Statler, who was in the distribution department of the Liquor Control Board. The telegram is as follows:

> "Replying to your teletype of 2:50 P. M. Friday, between you and me, the only California wines I am interested in is Bisceglia. Go to your stock records and consider only Bisceglia wines, which are Greystone and Paradise wines and Sherbert Whiskey. That is all I want you to pay attention to on the instructions I gave you over the phone. Please observe discretion and secrecy as to these instructions."

This teletype memorandum in no way pertained to any illegal or unlawful transaction. On the contrary, it had reference to an honest and proper business administration matter of the Liquor Control Board. The records produced by the Liquor Control Board showed that this teletype memorandum was sent because sometime in the middle of January a representative of Fruit Industries advised the Liquor Control Board that Fruit Industries was the sole owner of the trade name "Greystone Wines" and that Bisceglia Brothers, of California, and Bisceglia Brothers, Inc., of Philadelphia, had no right to sell the Pennsylvania Liquor Board or anyone else wines under that trade name. Fruit Industries, through its representatives, advised the Liquor Control Board that they proposed to enter a suit in equity for the purpose of restraining Bisceglia Brothers from the use of the name and for the further purpose of securing damages from them. Whereupon the Liquor Control Board, through its proper employes, immediately endeavored to learn the amount of inventory in the various warehouses and stores of this particular product, suggesting that in obtaining such information, secrecy should be observed. Subsequently, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, as attorney, served a formal notice on the Liquor Control Board as to the right of Fruit Industries to this trade name. The Board then refused to purchase any more of this product from Bisceglia Brothers until a surety bond in the amount of $50,000 was filed with the Board, indemnifying the Board against loss up to that amount that it might suffer as a result of any court decision in favor of Fruit Industries. This bond was filed sometime in March so that for a period of approximately six weeks, the Liquor Control Board refused to give Bisceglia Brothers any orders for the wines in dispute. This lead of Mr. Margiotti, instead of substantiating any charge of wrongdoing clearly convinced your Committee that the Liquor Control Board had exercised a high degree of care and judgment in obtaining a surety company bond saving harmless the Board in the event that Fruit Industries sustained its right to the use of the trade name of a wine which the Liquor Control Board was handling.

From the testimony of the witnesses, it was conclusively established that no bribes were solicited or money extorted or blackmail levied against vendors of liquors who did business with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control. The averment in subdivision (a) of Paragraph 12 that a $40,000 bribe was extorted and procured by the accused officials from vendors who did business with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board was not substantiated.

Your Committee would be remiss in its obligations to the House of Representatives if it did not report that, acting upon the suggestion of Mr. Margiotti, it had produced and offered in evidence the record containing the entire proceedings relative to the citation issued by the Liquor Control Board against Bisceglia Brothers, from which record it appears that the renewal license of Bisceglia Brothers was deferred from becoming effective until January 16, 1938, although it expired on December 31, 1937. Before the order in this matter was made by the Liquor Control Board, Mr. Margiotti discussed with the members of said Board the matter pending before the Board and testified: (Record, page 2939)

> "Then I told him that from what I knew of this case, that I was going to recommend to him, and he asked me for my recommendation, that their license should not be revoked, because they had a lot of people employed and had a big investment, but they ought to have some form of punishment, a small suspension. I gave the Board that information and they agreed that it was the proper thing to do. Subsequent to that, there was an order, and that order is here before you, dated December 31, 1937. The order suspends their license for a period of 15 days, until the 16th day of January, 1938. * * *"

The District Attorney's Amended Petition, alleging overt acts, sets forth:

> "That in furtherance of said conspiracy and performance thereof, agents of the aforesaid parties * * * did illegally and unlawfully solicit bribes, extort money and levy blackmail from a vendor of vinous liquors and did by means of promises to secure business and other considerations from such vendors unlawfully extort and procure a bribe in the sum of approximately $40,000 from such vendors."

This allegation was not substantiated, but on the contrary was specifically and emphatically denied by every one of the witnesses called as suggested by Mr. Margiotti, and particularly the accused civil officers. None of the evidence produced before your Committee on this subject in any way tends to confirm or substantiate the charges.

(6) Auto Light Testing Devices

Paragraph 9, of the District Attorney's Amended and Supplemental Petition provides:

> "That pursuant to said conspiracy, and in furtherance thereof, one Carroll McShane, then and now Chief of the Bureau of Inspection of the Department of Revenue, in the County of Dauphin, in the month of May, 1937, did by written and oral communication, attempt to extort money and levy blackmail from and upon Andrew L. McCabe and B. R. Kenworthy, by demanding the payment of the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars for the approval by him, the said Carroll McShane, as Chief of the Bureau of Inspection of the Department of Revenue, of a device for the testing of automobile headlights, the said Carroll McShane having acknowledged that the said device was proper and entitled to such approval, and because of the failure to make such payment the said device was not and has not been approved."

The only witness who testified under the above paragraph was Carroll McShane. Andrew L. McCabe and B. R. Kenworthy, the two other persons named by Mr. Shelley upon whom he depended to support the charge, were not called by reason of the lack of time. They were, however, interviewed by counsel for your Committee and their written statements are submitted along with the other statements and the Record. The testimony of Mr. McShane failed to disclose any evidence supporting the charge made in this paragraph of the Amended Petition. His testimony tended to show that he had given some advice to Mr. Kenworthy who brought to his attention a device claimed to be useful in testing automobile headlights. He testified that he had no authority to approve any device for the testing of headlights on the part of the Commonwealth.

However, he did testify that he made certain suggestions for improvements to the device shown him and even made a trip to Philadelphia at the suggestion of Mr. Kenworthy. He testified that his only interest in the device was by reason of the suggestions which he made and which were used by Mr. Kenworthy in improving the device. He offered to sell such interest to the owner of the device for the sum of five thousand dollars. It is not even intimated that any person other than Mr. McShane was involved in the transaction.

Your Committee finds that no evidence was produced which would remotely connect any of the other civil officers in the District Attorney's Amended Petition with any wrongdoing for or on account of any dealings with Mr. McShane. There is nothing to indicate that any of the other civil officers named in the District Attorney's Amended Petition had any knowledge of the acts or conducts on the part of Mr. McShane. From the evidence produced, your Committee is compelled to find that no misconduct has been shown on the part of Mr. McShane, or any other person, as averred in the paragraph above set forth.

(7) Purchases of Departments on Requisitions

The subject matter covering the above purchases is contained in Paragraph 8, subsection (a), (b), (c) and (d) of the District Attorney's Amended Petition. Paragraph 8 generally charges that George H. Earle III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Ralph M. Bashore, Edward Prendergast, Secretary to the Governor, Arthur Colegrove, Secretary of Property and Supplies, and others, in 1937, and prior to that time, illegally and unlawfully conspired and agreed to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by awarding contracts for materials and supplies contrary to the requirements of the law and the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by unlawfully awarding contracts to persons, firms or corporations who were not the lowest bidders for such materials and supplies. This paragraph will apply generally to all of the subheads of this discussion.

(a) Filing Cabinets

The averment in connection with the purchase of filing cabinets is as follows:

"(a) That in furtherance of said conspiracy and within two years last past and the performance thereof bids were let for the supplying to the Commonwealth and its various departments, boards and commissions of metal filing cabinets and furniture, involving expenditures by the Commonwealth of hundreds of thousands of dollars. That among the bidders for such equipment were several firms of equally good responsibility who bid the same low price; that the various bidders who bid the said low price all allowed a discount of 15% with the exception of the Watson Manufacturing Company which permitted a discount of 20%; that complaint was made to George H. Earle III, Arthur Colegrove and Ralph M. Bashore to the effect that notwithstanding the fact that the Watson Manufacturing Company offered the greatest discount and was therefore the lowest responsibile bidder, contracts were nevertheless being awarded to the Art Metal Company in which company the said Ralph M. Bashore was interested, contrary to the Constitution and the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; that thereupon the Attorney General did immediately, to wit: On January 14, 1937 render an opinion to the said Arthur Colegrove advising him that under the laws and the constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the said Watson Manufacturing Company was the lowest responsible bidder and was entitled to be awarded contracts for the particular type of supplies and equipment upon which it had submitted bids. That the said George H. Earle III, David L. Lawrence, Ralph M. Bashore, Arthur Colegrove and others, having knowledge of such opinion of the Attorney General and being under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, bound by such Attorney General's opinion, did illegally and unlawfully disregard and violate the ruling therein and the laws and the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and did unlawfully purchase or cause to be purchased from the Art Metal Company filing equipment and other material and supplies involving hundreds of thousands of dollars resulting in a loss to and the defrauding of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of many thousands of dollars to the great prejudice of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its citizens and taxpayers."

Your Committee takes notice in connection with the matters contained in the paragraphs of the Amended Petition above set forth, that all purchases of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are regulated by the Act of June 7, 1923, P. L. 498, as amended by the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, and as further amended by the Act of June 21, 1937, P. L. 1865, and known as The Administrative Code.

Under the provisions of the Administrative Code, each of the departments is required at a designated time to furnish to the Department of Property and Supplies lists of the supplies needed by it for the period specified. When the lists are received by the Department of Property and Supplies it becomes its duty to classify and describe the articles according to make and number, set forth at maximum price, and prepare schedules therefor. The schedules are required to contain the time for receiving bids, the form of proposal, that a preference would be given to American made goods, the maximum quantity required, and the per diem penalty for failure to perform. Under the provisions of the Code, any administrative department has the right to call upon the Department of Property and Supplies to purchase for it an article named in the schedule. If the article is on hand, the Department of Property and Supplies is required to deliver it and if not its duty is to buy said article in open market.

Honorable Arthur Colegrove, former Secretary of Property and Supplies, appeared before your Committee and explained the method by which requisitions originated and purchases were made by his department.

Mr. Colegrove took the position in his appearance before your Committee that the department head, or the using agency, had the right under the law to requisition articles contained on schedule contracts and the Department of Property and Supplies was required to make the purchases as requested, even though the vendor of such article was not the lowest bidder, and he justified his position by several opinions of former Attorneys General in connection with this question, of previous administrations.

Honorable Ralph M. Bashore, Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry, requisitioned the Department of Property and Supplies to make purchases of Art Metal equipment for use in the Unemployment Compensation Division of his office. Acording to the testimony of Mr. Colegrove the Art Metal Company held a schedule contract for office equipment and the Watson Manufacturing Company held a like contract. The Art Metal Equipment Company on its schedule contract offered a discount of 15% on purchases by the Commonwealth, and the Watson Manufacturing Company offered a discount of 20% on purchases by the Commonwealth.

Mr. Colegrove testified that some time prior to the above request he was called to the office of the Attorney General, Mr. Margiotti, and there was introduced by him to Mr. Wilde, a representative of the Watson Manufacturing Company. Mr. Margiotti told Mr. Colegrove "Wilde was a political supporter of his in his Republican Primary Campaign and a close friend." Mr. Colegrove further testified that Mr. Wilde came to his office on several occasions soliciting business for the Watson Manufacturing Company. Mr. Colegrove further says that at the time of the above requisition he had a discussion concerning it with Mr. Margiotti and told him that it was within the right of a department head to requisition materials or supplies of a designated concern having a schedule contract with the Commonwealth, and that the Department of Property and Supplies was obliged to make purchases as requested. The Art Metal Equipment Company had a schedule contract with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the time the requisitions were made.

Mr. Colegrove further explained that a controversy arose in respect to purchases of metal equipment and the Governor expressed a desire to have purchases made from Pennsylvania manufacturers wherever possible. This caused steel companies of Pennsylvania, supplying outside concerns, to protest the continuance of the policy. Mr. Colegrove continued to persuade the department heads to adopt the policy announced by the Governor.

While the requisitions of the Department of Labor and Industry were pending purchase in the Department of Property and Supplies, Attorney General Margiotti rendered an opinion in which he determined that by reason of the fact that the Watson Manufacturing Company offered a greater discount than other companies on the same schedule that it was entitled to receive the order. The testimony discloses that a copy of this opinion was in the hands of Mr. Wilde before Mr. Colegrove had notice of it. Mr. Colegrove testified that he discussed the matter in the office of Mr. Margiotti and asked the Attorney General what he should do about it, and Mr. Margiotti replied, "Well, Arthur, I don't like to withdraw an opinion. You proceed exactly as you have been, we will take care of that."

Relying upon the assurance of Mr. Margiotti to proceed as he had done in the past, Mr. Colegrove made the purchases requested. Soon thereafter Mr. Wilde complained about the award and Mr. Margiotti told Mr. Colegrove to "Pay no attention to Wilde, he is a bigger annoyance to us than he is to you." Later, Mr. Margiotti, who had received a letter from Mr. Wilde about the same matter, sent it to Mr. Colegrove and on the bottom thereof was a written statement by Mr. Margiotti "Proceed exactly as you have been."

The testimony and exhibits offered before your Committee show that Mr. Wilde, the representative of the Watson Manufacturing Company corresponded with Mr. Margiotti and when the file of this matter was produced before your Committee during the testimony of Mr. Margiotti, and at his request, he observed that all of the records he received from Mr. Wilde were not in the file because some of them were destroyed after their receipt. Further, it was at the request of the Attorney General's office that the Watson Manufacturing Company was put on the list of those to be notified of State purchases.

Mr. Colegrove, in his testimony before your Committee, took the position that the opinion of the Attorney General, Mr. Margiotti, in this matter was in conflict with former opinions of Attorneys General, was not consistent and was in direct opposition to the provisions of the Administrative Code. While Mr. Margiotti was on the stand, he said that Mr. Colegrove told him that Mr. Bashore said to Mr. Colegrove that he, Mr. Bashore, had an interest in the Art Metal Equipment Company. Mr. Colegrove flatly denied this statement attributed to him.

Mr. Bashore testified that the organization of the Unemployment Compensation Division of his department was a tremendous problem, requiring many additional employes and equipment suited to the peculiar needs of the new division. He testified that the Art Metal Equipment Company supplied the system for the Federal government offices in this division and many other states, and that the work of each State had to tie in with the Federal Department. Mr. Bashore, further testified that all of the money used in the purchase of this equipment was taken from Federal funds, that a line budget had to be submitted to the Federal government for all purchases, and that the approval of the appropriate Federal department was secured in advance of the request for the purchase of the filing cabinets under discussion. Mr. Colegrove's department, therefore, only acted as the purchasing agent for these supplies which were paid for by Federal funds.

Mr. Bashore testified that he had no interest of any kind in the Art Metal Equipment Company, had never at any time represented that company as an attorney, and that he never directly or indirectly entered into any arrangement or agreement with the company.

Governor Earle likewise testified that he never directly, or indirectly, entered into an arrangement with Mr. Colegrove. Mr. Bashore, or any other person for the purpose of favoring Art Metal Equipment Company or any other company. Mr. Prendergast, Secretary to the Governor, testified in like fashion.

Your Committee finds that the evidence supports the inference that, instead of there being an unlawful combination or agreement between Arthur Colegrove, Ralph M. Bashore, and others, to favor the Art Metal Company at the expense of the Commonwealth, as alleged, there was an apparent effort on the part of Charles J. Margiotti, then Attorney General, and Mr. Wilde, representative of the Watson Manufacturing Company, to favor the Watson Manufacturing Company.

Your Committee finds that there is no testimony or inference deductible therefrom that an unlawful conspiracy and agreement existed among George H. Earle III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Edward Prendergast, and Arthur Colegrove, or any other persons, to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by the unlawful awarding of contracts for the purchase of materials and supplies. We find that the awarding of the contract to the Art Metal Equipment Company by Arthur Colegrove, then Secretary of Property and Supplies, was in complete accord with the provisions of the Administrative Code and the opinions of the former Attorneys General construing the same, and that the Commonwealth was in no way defrauded in any of these purchases.

(b) Trucks

The District Attorney's Amended Petition on this subject sets forth:

> "(b) That the said Arthur Colegrove, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., David Lawrence and Roy Brownmiller, then Deputy Secretary and now Secretary of Highways and others, did in the County of Dauphin and within the jurisdiction of this Court and within the two years last past, unlawfully and in furtherance of said conspiracy and in performance thereof purchase for the Highway Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a large number of trucks under specifications prepared by the Highway Department, so drawn as to favor certain manufacturers, namely, the Mack Truck Company, Four Wheel Drive Company, Walter Motor Truck Company, and the Auto Car Company; that by reason of an unlawful arrangement with representatives and agents of such companies the prices bid for such trucks were in excess of the fair market value thereof, said excess ranging from $700.00 to approximately $3,500.00 above the fair market value of each of said trucks respectively. And with the further arrangement that the said successful bidding company should pay the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., David L. Lawrence, and others, sums aggregating Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars, which sums were paid by the aforesaid representatives or agents of certain companies to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., David L. Lawrence, and others, in accordance with the said unlawful arrangement, all of which was done with the knowledge, approval and acquiescence of the said George H. Earle, III, and Edward W. Prendergast."

Your Committee had no direct evidence frm Mr. Margiotti or Mr. Shelly on this matter but each of them furnished the names of witnesses from whom your Committee might secure some evidence in support of the charge. Your Committee called all of those persons connected with the departments involved in the purchases.

At the outset, your Committee finds that an examination of the testimony disclosed no evidence direct, circumstantial, or otherwise connecting any of the accused officials with any wrongdoing in the transactions.

Mr. Colegrove testified that requisitions for these truck purchases were forwarded to him in July of 1936 by the Department of Highways and because of the amount of money involved in the orders, he conferred with the Governor. It was agreed that no purchases would be made by Mr. Colegrove until the Governor's office was first satisfied of the need for the equipment by the Department of Highways and as that was done the Governor's office notified the Secretary of Property and Supplies. This arrangement had the effect of breaking up the purchases over a period of several months.

The method employed demonstrates the care exercised both by the Governor and the Scretary of Property and Supplies with respect thereto. The testimony discloses that the specifications for the trucks were prepared by the Department of Highways, but this was in accord with past practices in such matters. The specifications, requisitions, purchase orders, and all other pertinent documentary evidence was produced and examined by your Committee and it finds nothing therein that suggests, much less proves, that any fraud was committed by any of the officers named, or anyone else.

Roy E. Brownmiller, present Secretary of Highways, appeared before your Committee, and while he was not Secretary of Highways at the time of these purchases, he disclosed to your Committee the identity of the complainant and the nature of his complaint. Mr. Brownmiller, at the time of these purchases, was in charge of personnel and investigations in the Department of Highways. He testified that Mr. Larkin, of the Highway Department, prepared the specifications and that Mr. Wayne D. Meyers was Chief Engineer of the Department of Highways at the time. Mr. Brownmiller testified that the motorized snow plough equipment of the department, purchased under the Pinchot Administration, broke down miserably in the preceding winter; that roads remained uncleared for several days during severe storms and that the traveling public suffered great inconvenience. The equipment on hand at the time the requisitions were issued was not fit to do the work anticipated, and the department sought to avoid a repetition of its previous experience. Heavier units than those on hand were required. The reasons assigned for the requisitions were sound and the Department of Highways exercised a proper regard for the public convenience in its effort to avoid the experience of the previous winter.

There is no evidence that anyone paid any sum of money to anybody, officials or otherwise, in connection with any of these purchases. Mr. Colegrove further testified that each purchase order for the trucks in question was by him submitted to the Executive Board which consisted, among others, of the representatives of the Republican Auditor General and State Treasurer, and thereafter the bids were tabulated and submitted to the Board of Grounds and Buildings, consisting of the State Treasurer and Auditor General, both Republicans, and the Governor, and after being approved by this body, the purchase order went out.

This discloses to your Committee a full and complete compliance with all requirements of the law and we conclude that all of the purchases were in accordance with the law.

Your Committee is satisfied that every reasonable precaution was exercised by the respective departments in these purchases and that the interests of the Commonwealth were safeguarded in every step taken.

The complaint made to the Highway Department about these purchases came from C. E. Myers, an engineer located in Philadelphia. (See Exhibit 218). It set forth that the trucks purchased by the Department of Highways was at an excessive figure and that the Commonwealth paid more for the equipment than other states paid for like equipment. An immediate investigation was instituted by the Department of Highways and it communicated with the Highway Departments of South Carolina, California, Washington and West Virginia, alleged in the letter of Mr. Myers to have purchased similar equipment. The files of the Department of Highways containing all correspondence in this matter were submitted to your Committee and it discloses that those States did not purchase trucks equipped as were the trucks purchased in Pennsylvania. A comparison, however, was made for the Department of Highways by Mr. Sherwood F. Ritz and his report conclusively proves that when the cost of additional equipment on the trucks purchased in Pennsylvania is included on the price paid by the other States that the prices are all in a line and, in some cases lower. The report of Mr. Ritz further shows that Pennsylvania further secured a maintenance guarantee for one year on all of the heavier units it purchased and that this feature was not contained in the contracts of similar equipment of any of the other states mentioned in the complaint of Mr. Myers.

It is therefore evident to your Committee that the Commonwealth paid more than the fair market price for the kind of trucks purchased including equipment and that no person profited in any way by the transactions.

Your Committee finds that there was no unlawful arrangement or conspiracy among the public officials mentioned, or any other persons, in the purchase of trucks, and that the Commonwealth was in no way defrauded.

(c) Syrup

The District Attorney's Amended Petition on this subject sets forth:

> "(c) That in furtherance of said conspiracy the said George H. Earle III, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, David L. Lawrence, Arthur Colegrove and others, on or about April 11, 1938, within the County of Dauphin, dishonestly, maliciously and unlawfully, with intent to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, pursuant to a call therefor, did receive bids for the supply of twelve thousand (12,000) gallons, more or less of syrup to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and thereafter caused to be awarded a contract for the supply of the same to the Atlantic Syrup Company of Philadelphia, at and for the price of 36.8c per gallon, notwithstanding that the James W. Houston Company of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, an equally good responsible bidder, had submitted a bid on a proposal for furnishing the same at and for 34.49 cents per gallon, whereby the Acts of Assembly in such case made and provided were ignored and violated and the said Commonwealth was cheated and defrauded out of the sum of 2 cents per gallon, or a total of Two Hundred Forty ($240.00) Dollars, more or less."

This matter is so trifling that we might properly omit discussion. No evidence to support it was offered by Mr. Margiotti or Mr. Shelley, but your Committee has had the benefit of the testimony of Mr. Colegrove, whose department was concerned with the purchase, and it conclusively shows that there was no illegality or impropriety of any kind in the purchase.

Mr. Colegrove testified that the product offered by the James M. Houston Company was inferior in quality to that offered by the Atlantic Syrup Company, as disclosed by tests made by the Bureau of Standards of his department, as well as the Federal Bureau of Standards, and the difference in price reflected a difference in the quality of the products offered by the bidders.

The bidders were required to submit samples with their proposals and the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Property and Supplies, to which the samples were referred for tests, reported that the sample submitted by the James M. Houston Company was "dark in color, bitter in taste, and inferior," and hence rejected the sample. After the rejection by the Bureau of Standards of the Departmnt of Property and Supplies, Mr. Colegrove took the additional precaution of referring the sample to the Federal Bureau of Standards for tests and it reported even worse.

Your Committee finds that the charge has not the slightest foundation and that the Commonwealth was in no way defrauded in the purchase.

(d) Erie Gravel

The District Attorney's Amended Petition on this subject sets forth:

> "Pursuant to and in furtherance of said unlawful conspiracy, combination and confederation, and in promotion thereof, the said George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Arthur Colegrove and others, dishonestly, maliciously and unlawfully, and with intent to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on or about the 5th day of October, 1936, within the County of Dauphin aforesaid, did cause specifications to be prepared and published for the supply of gravel to the Department of Highways, in counties in the northwestern part of the State of Pennsylvania, which specifications were dishonestly, corruptly, fraudulently and collusively prepared so as to apply to a stock of gravel then and there owned and prepared for sale by the Pioneer Materials Company of Kittanning, Pennsylvania, with the intent to favor the said Pioneer Materials Company to the prejudice of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and other bidders, and that calls were issued on October 28, 1936, asking for bids for gravel to be used on highways in the County of Erie and the County of Warren, returnable at Harrisburg in the County of Dauphin on the 9th day of November, A. D. 1936, and that while said call for said bids was still outstanding, to wit: on November 5, 1936, a further call for bids for the same materials was issued, returnable November 12, 1936; that notwithstanding the issuance of such second call, the bids received pursuant to the first call were opened on the said 9th day of November, 1936, with the intent and for the purpose of enabling the said Pioneer Materials Company fraudulently and unlawfully to be informed of the bids submitted thereon, and so informed, to submit its bid and thereby defeat true competition upon the bids opened on the said 12th day of November, 1936. And the said George H. Earle III, David L. Lawrence, Ralph M. Bashore, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Arthur Colegrove and others, with knowledge of the foregoing, and in carrying out said conspiracy, combination, confederation and agreement, did wilfully, maliciously and unlawfully cause the contract to be awarded to the said Pioneer Materials Company at an excessive price and for inferior materials, and did thereby cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and other biders of their lawful rights in the premises, and did, within two years of the date hereof cause such contract to be made, and within the County of Dauphin aforesaid did cause payments to be made thereon; and further that the said conspiracy and said unlawful illegal acts were performed in consideration of the unlawful and illegal payment, on the 24th day of October, 1936, by Spurgeon Bowser, President of the Pioneer Materials Company, of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars to the Democratic County Committee of the said County of Erie, and on the 28th day of October, 1936, of the sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars to the Crawford County Democratic Committee, and further that the said payments of Two Thousand ($2,000.00) Dollars were made by the said Spurgeon Bowser pursuant to written and oral communications, intimidating, levying, blackmailing and extorting said sums from him the said Spurgeon Bowser and the Pioneer Materials Company, contrary to the form of the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth."

The testimony discloses that this subject had its inception and original upon the advent of the Pioneer Materials Company as a bidder for road materials required by the Department of Highways.

In September, 1935, Mr. Margiotti called Mr. Colegrove to his office and there introduced him to John Verona in the following manner:

> "Arthur, I want you to meet my dearest friend. This is John Verona of Pittsburgh * * * John's company is interested in a large gravel opening in the department. It is absolutely important that he gets it."

Mr. Colegrove inquired the name of the company and Mr. Margiotti replied: "The Pioneer Materials Company."

Mr. Colegrove asked Mr. Margiotti what he meant by gravel openings and Mr. Margiotti replied: "It means the opening of propositions for a large quantity." (Record, p. 6728-6729)

Mr. Griffith of the Highway Department, attached to the Franklin office in Venango County, laid the ground for the introduction of Pioneer Materials Company as a bidder on materials to be used by the Department of Highways. Prior to September, 1935, he appeared at Mr. Colegrove's office, suggesting to him the need for road materials in Erie and Crawford Counties and submitted the so-called "average bid plan."

After Mr. Margiotti had introduced his friend, John Verona, to Mr. Colegrove and after Mr. Griffith had worked out and submitted for use in soliciting bids for materials needed, the so-called "average bid plan," specifications were prepared by the Department of Highways and the Department of Property and Supplies was requested to solicit bids for the materials specified.

Proposals were invited by the Department of Property and Supplies and September 26, 1935, was fixed as the time for the reception of bids. Bids were received from several bidders, among them the Pioneer Materials Company, which was the lowest bidder.

Mr. Colegrove examined the bids and discovered that it was an unbalanced bid, which would open the door to the commission of fraud.

The proposals asked for quotations on various sizes of materials. Under the average bid plan, as explained by Mr. Colegrove in his testimony, the price of all sizes of stone bid upon were totaled and the aggregate of these totals was divided by the number of sizes of stone for which bids were asked and the figure thus obtained was the average bid.

When these bids were opened, it was found that on this plan, the Pioneer Materials Company was by far the lowest bidder. A study of that company's bid revealed that it had submitted a very low bid on one size of stone and a very high bid on the immediately adjacent sizes. This practice was pursued throughout the entire schedule. An investigation by Mr. Colegrove showed that in the market the variation in price between two adjacent sizes of stone should not exceed fifteen to thirty cents per ton, while in the bids submitted by the Pioneer Materials Company, the variation in two adjacent sizes ranged from ninety cents to $1.30 per ton. It was further established that the engineer in charge could select either of two adjacent sizes and thus it was evident that an engineer in collusion with the vendor could select the materials where his bid was high instead of the immediately adjacent bid, which was a dollar or more lower per ton. Through this scheme, the Commonwealth could be defrauded of hundreds of thousands of dollars on an apparently legal set-up.

Mr. Colegrove promptly and properly rejected all of the bids submitted on the same day that they were opened and tabulated. Political influence began now to manifest itself, as testified to by Mr. Colegrove. Mr. Colegrove was promptly called to Mr. Margiotti's office and Mr. Margiotti, as Attorney General, urged Mr. Colegrove to make the award to the Pioneer Materials Company, represented by his friend, John Verona, insisting to Mr. Cole-grove that the bid of the Pioneer Materials Company was a "perfect low bid." Mr. Colegrove refused to change his decision.

Shortly after this occurrence, Mr. Colegrove was again called to Mr. Margiotti's office and he was again urged to make the award to the Pioneer Materials Company. At this meeting, Mr. Van Dyke and Mr. Temple of the Highway Department were present. Mr. Van Dyke took no part in the conference. Mr. Temple, however, said that the Highway Department would be responsible and intimated to Mr. Colegrove that it was none of his (Colegrove's) business.

Mr. Margiotti, persisting in his efforts to have the award made to the Pioneer Materials Company, arranged for a meeting at Mr. Lawrence's office a few weeks after Mr. Colegrove's last visit to Mr. Margiotti's office. When Mr. Colegrove arrived, he found there Mr. Margiotti, Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Bowser, President of the Pioneer Materials Company, Mr. Griffith and Mr. Temple of the Highway Department. The whole matter was mulled over again. Mr. Margiotti insisted, according to the testimony of Mr. Colegrove, that Mr. Colegrove was throwing out a legitimate bid and it could not be done. When Mr. Colegrove refused to change his position, Mr. Margiotti said he was going to take the matter to the Governor. That very day, Mr. Colegrove was called to the Governor's office and besides Mr. Colegrove there were present Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Temple, Mr. Van Dyke, Mr. Kalodner, now Judge Kalodner of the United States District Court, Mr. Margiotti, and the Governor. Here again Mr. Margiotti, in the words of Mr. Colegrove, put up a very strong argument to Governor Earle for the acceptance of the bid that had been rejected. Mr. Lawrence, according to the testimony of Mr. Colegrove, said:

> "If it is a legitimate low bid, he would like to see the award, but his position was that he did not know anything about this kind of thing. * * *"

Mr. Colegrove further testified that Mr. Margiotti ruled as Attorney General, and every other way, that "it was the most beautiful thing that had ever been received here." When Mr. Colegrove insisted that he had ruled the bid out because of the possibility of fraud, Governor Earle said:

> "Boys, that settles it. It is out of the window."

(Meaning that the matter of rejection of the bid of Mr. Colegrove was final.)

In October 1936, Mr. Colegrove was called to the office of David L. Lawrence and as he entered the room he met John Verona in the entrance or side room. After some conversation about the political situation, Mr. Verona said he could be a help in a big way and then offered a large amount of currency to Mr. Colegrove. The offer was promptly rejected. Mr. Lawrence was not present during this conversation. During 1936, according to the testimony of Mr. Colegrove and the reports of W. T. Coverdale, County Superintendent of Highways of Erie County, George A. Cartwright, County Superintendent of Highways of Warren County, as contained in the report of Major Adams on the Erie Gravel Investigation, the Pioneer Materials Company was furnishing, through contractors, inferior materials upon the highways of Erie and Crawford Counties. Some of the reports, according to Mr. Colegrove's testimony (Record p-6771), stated that the material furnished "was not as good gravel as run of bank material for WPA work."

On October 28, 1936, the Department of Property and Supplies, on a requisition from the Highway Department, advertised for bids for certain highway materials, bids to be opened November 9, 1936. On that date the bids were opened and all rejected on the recommendation of the Highway Department.

Under instructions from the Highway Department, at the instance of E. A. Griffith, District Engineer of the Highways attached to the Franklin office, Venango County, another requisition was made for materials to be used on the same roads and requests were sent out by the Department of Property and Supplies on November 5, 1936 for bids to be opened November 12, 1936. The specifications for the materials in the second request called for fifty per cent crushed gravel. The Pioneer Materials Company did not bid under the first request, but was low bidder on the second request. On the tabulation of bids and the award on the second request is written "Recommend award to low bidders as shown—Approved E. A. Griffith, District Engineer." Also another notation "Bids O.K. as checked. O.K. H.H.T." H.H.T. stands for H. H. Temple, Chief Engineer of the Highway Department. After the specifications were prepared there was sent out from the Department of Property and Supplies what was termed a "Flyer," which was a written notice sent to prospective bidders apprising them of the fact that fifty per cent of the material must be crushed. The routes upon which these materials were to be used were designated as follows: 25003, 25055, 25061, 709, 61014 and 61016. The delivery of gravel under this award started on routes 709 and 25003 December 14, 1936. It was soon discovered that the material being delivered did not meet the specifications. Complaint was made by W. T. Coverdale, County Superintendent of Highways of Erie County, and Mr. Pope, in response, submitted a letter a few days later that had been given to him by Mr. Shuller. The letter was from Mr. H. E. Mattimore, Chief of the Highway Testing Laboratory, to the District Office, and stated that a laboratory test had been made of the Pioneer stock pile. There was a footnote in read lead pencil stating that no further samples were necessary and signed "E.A.G." (meaning E. H. Griffith). Mr. Coverdale refused to approve the invoices as rendered and finally Mr. Griffith called on the telephone and wanted to know the reason for Mr. Coverdale's refusal to sign the invoices. Mr. Griffith later told Mr. Coverdale "Now see here Coverdale, there will be a Hell of a lot of trouble if those invoices are not signed."

On March 13, 1937, at a conference called by Mr. Griffith at his office in Franklin, Mr. Griffith, among other things, stated that a lot of complaints had been made by the Superintendents regarding the materials delivered on these jobs, and it was up to them "to accept the material and like it."

Mr. Griffith in a conversation with Harry W. Claybaugh, Assistant District Engineer, stated that he had taken the matter of the Pioneer Materials up with Harrisburg and that "it was not necessary for our men to make any grading test, the material was to be accepted by the vendor," in this case the Pioneer Materials Company. According to Mr. Colegrove's testimony (Record p-6783), H. H. Temple, Chief Engineer of the Highway Department, called upon Mr. Colegrove and wanted to know the reason why the County Superintendents did not approve the invoices, and further inquired who in Mr. Colegrove's Department was trying to run the Highway Department. He further said when this "stuff" was forwarded nothing was said about the fifty per cent being crushed and inferred that such specifications originated in Mr. Colegrove's office.

Mr. Colegrove then produced the award which contained the fifty per cent requirement and also contained the approval of Mr. Temple. Again Mr. Colegrove testified (Record p-6776), that E. A. Griffith, District Superintendent, sent word to Edward Rentner, Assistant Superintendent of Highways in Erie County, that gravel would arrive for the road project in the morning and directed him to put it on, and when another superintendent tried to stop the delivery on a road in the western end of Erie County, Mr. Toy, representative of the Pioneer Materials Company, stated "There was no one in Erie County big enough to stop it." The inquiry of Major Adams disclosed that preliminary forms had been prepared for two hundred and forty or two hundred and eighty thousand tons more of this particular stuff. The preliminary papers had been prepared and signed by Mr. Temple and Mr. Griffith, but had never reached the Department of Property and Supplies for the reason that no money had been allocated. (Record p-6791) According to the statements of W. T. Coverdale contained in Exhibit 66, Erie Gravel Investigation, the road projects did not originate with the local authorities, but instead originated in the office of the District Engineer, E. A. Griffith; to the same effect is the statement of Mr. Harry W. Claybaugh, likewise contained in said exhibit.

In April 1937, notice of irregularities in the furnishing of road materials in Erie and Warren Counties by the Pioneer Materials Company came to the attention of Governor Earle while in Pittsburgh, and he immediately summoned Major Adams, Superintendent of State Police, and directed him to make a thorough and complete investigation (Record p-7929). The work was immediately undertaken and on or about the 5th day of June, 1937, Major Adams presented his report to Governor Earle at his office in the Capitol Building. This was a large and voluminous report, consisting of letters, statements, affidavits, laboratory reports, reports of interviews, written specifications, awards of contracts, and many other evidential matters.

At the time the report was delivered to the Governor, Major Adams stated that there had been no criminal conduct that could be prosecuted, but that in his opinion there was no doubt that fraud had been practiced, and he recommended the dismissal of E. A. Griffith and that H. H. Temple be disciplined. He further stated that he thought the Commonwealth would suffer no loss as the Highway Department had retained twenty per cent of the purchase price of the material, which amounted to in the neighborhood of seventeen thousand dollars, which would be ample to cover any loss or damage that the State might sustain. On the following Sunday night Governor Earle called a conference at the Mansion and sent for Mr. Bowser, President of the Pioneer Materials Company. When Mr. Bowser offered no satisfactory explanation, on the following morning the Governor discharged both Griffith and Temple.

On the 7th day of June 1937, two days after the report had been received by Governor Earle it was released to the press. together with a statement of the Governor. (See Exhibit 248) Mr. Charles J. Margiotti, while Attorney General, stated to the Governor; after an examination of Major Adams' report, that the information contained therein would justify a Grand Jury Investigation and possibly the indictment of certain people, but was insufficient to convict anyone (Record 2609). Governor Earle, when on the stand, denied that he had any agreement or understanding with David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Arthur Colegrove, or anyone else, the purpose and object of which was to cheat or defraud the Commonwealth by favoring the Pioneer Materials Company in any way whatsoever. He denied that he received any money or reward directly, or through any other person, firm or corporation, by reason of any favoritism shown to the Pioneer Materials Company in any of its contracts or dealings with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

David L. Lawrence was called to the stand and he likewise denied that there was any contract, agreement, or understanding, written or oral, between himself, George H. Earle III, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Arthur Colegrove, or anyone else for the purpose of securing a profit unto himself, or anyone else, by reason of favoritism shown to the Pioneer Materials Company in any of its dealings with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He denied that he had received any money directly, or through any other person, firm or corporation, in which he was interested, using his influence toward favoring the Pioneer Materials Company in any of its contracts or dealings with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Arthur Colegrove was called to the stand and made like denial.

The above is a short, yet rather a complete resume of the facts surrounding the false and much publicized "Erie Scandal" matter. Either from an erroneous knowledge of the facts, or from a wilful misstatement thereof, the Erie Gravel matter has become a matter of common gossip throughout this State, and by reason thereof became known as the "Gravel Scandal." The public generally were under the impression that Governor Earle, upon receipt of Major Adams' report, wrongfully concealed the same, when as a matter of fact the report was released in full two days after it was received and the recommendations of Major Adams were followed by the dismissal of the alleged offenders, E. A. Griffith and H. H. Temple. Notwithstanding this the papers for many months past have carried headlines and editorials upon the Governor's refusal to make the report public. It was impossible for the Governor to have published all of the evidential papers, reports, tests, and documents upon which Major Adams' report was based, and it would have been improper for him to have done so. He was justified in accepting the recommendations of his trusted officer, Major Adams. Major Adams' recommendation was approved and substantiated in the later report of Charles J. Margiotti, Attorney General. Likewise, Judge Harry Kalodner, who was asked to examine the report, concurred in the opinion of Major Adams, and as subsequently adopted and approved by Charles J. Margiotti.

Your Committee finds as a fact that no evidence has been produced from which an inference of wrongdoing in this matter on the part of Honorable George H. Earle III, Governor, could be drawn. On the contrary, we find that he has suffered greatly by reason of a misinformed public. We further find that no evidence has been produced which establishes or tends to establish an agreement or unlawful combination between, or among, any other persons named in paragraph 9, sub-section (e), of Mr. Shelley's Amended and Supplemental Petition.

We further find from the evidence that no one of the persons named in said pargraph has profited by reason of any fraud practiced upon the State by the Pioneer Materials Company, or its officers. We find that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is amply protected from any loss or damage by reason of any fraud or wrongdoing on the part of the Pioneer Materials Company or its officers by the amount of money withheld by the Highway Department, which is reported to be in the neighborhood of seventeen thousand dollars.

It may seem beyond the province of your Committee, by reason of the terms of the resolution creating it, to censure, criticize, or make recommendations against persons not civil officers. While misconduct, however grave, on the part of persons other than civil officers is beyond the reach of the State Legislature, yet we feel that the conduct of certain individuals as revealed by the testimony is such as to merit and call for censure on the part of your Committee. We are constrained to find that the conduct on the part of H. H. Temple, E. A. Griffith, and Charles J. Margiotti, in connection with the dealings of the Pioneer Materials Company with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania calls for our criticism, censure, and condemnation.

Your Committee further finds that Charles J. Margiotti, former Attorney General misbehaved himself in his office when he endeavored to persuade and compel Arthur H. Colegrove, Secretary of Property and Supplies, to make an award of a contract to the Pioneer Materials Company, after the bid had been properly and regularly rejected.

III. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The record of this proceeding before your Committee presents a broad picture reaching into many phases of the business of the Commonwealth. Your Committee endeavored in this report to discuss every essential fact developed during all of the sessions held in connection with all of the charges of misconduct contained in the Amended Petition of Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, and its findings are based upon the credible evidence pertinent thereto.

Your Committee had no alternative than to conclude that the evidence did not prove an unlawful arrangement or conspiracy among the public officials named in the Amended Petition. In justice to the officials accused, and other individuals named in the petition as being concerned in alleged wrongdoing, those who framed the petitions for a grand jury investigation should have founded the charges upon facts gained from reliable sources and not upon rumor, gossip and fancies. The process of the courts of this Commonwealth should not be prostituted by those seeking to avenge fancied wrongs or disposed to injure persons who opposed their political ambitions.

Carl B. Shelley, the District Attorney of Dauphin County, and Charles J. Margiotti, at one time the highest law officer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, appeared as witnesses before your Committee and gave evidence of the exploitation of judicial powers for political purposes.

Mr. Shelley, occupying the position he did, as District Attorney of Dauphin County, was the natural object of those designed to accomplish a sinister purpose. It may be that he was moved into his present position by powerful influences and the swift movement of events and the exhileration produced by wide publicity left him without freedom to deliberate on the propriety of his course.

Your Committee sat for days, developing, through Mr. Shelley, the names of the witnesses he proposed to call and the documentary evidence upon which he depended, and it was amazed to learn that though he charged public officials occupying the highest offices in the Commonwealth with grave offenses, he did not interview a single witness named by him, he had no statements of those whose names he gave, and he had no direct evidence of the commission of any offenses.

Mr. Margiotti, the principal actor in the grand jury proceedings, likewise depended upon rumor, hearsay and gossip in the proof of many of the charges contained in the amended Petition. He called to his aid in support of the charges, words and deeds of those with whom he was closely associated, and which occurred, according to him, long before his dismissal. Notwithstanding all of these alleged serious offenses occurred at a time when he was Attorney General, and had an opportunity to ascertain the circumstances and openly proceed against those guilty, he sat supinely by and openly permitted, if you believe him, public officials to engage in a brazen course of unlawful conduct that could not, if it existed, be hidden from public notice. When discharged by the Governor, he professed complete confidence in the Governor's honesty.—yet, an hour after this profession, he was busy drafting a petition for a grand jury investigation charging the Governor with high crimes. When this petition was declared insufficient by the Supreme Court, he assisted in preparing a more elaborate amended petition, charging the Governor and others with new crimes, though no new evidence had come to him in the meantime.

There are matters in the Record of this proceeding that require frankness and candor in their statement and although what your Committee submits below may be outside the province of your Committee, it deems it to be its duty to mention it so that the Commonwealth's interest may be protected in the future.

It was grossly improper for Mr. Margiotti personally and in his official capacity as Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to interest himself in the Pioneer Materials Company in a persistent effort addressed to the Secretary of Property and Supplies, the Governor, and other Administration officials to bring about the acceptance of a bid made by said company for materials on a plan that he must have known was loaded with fraud and after the bid was rejected.

It was improper for Mr. Margiotti to exert the prestige of his position as Attorney General in an effort to favor the Watson Manufacturing Company, whose representative, H. J. Wilde, a friend of Mr. Margiotti, was attempting to secure contracts for conspiracy from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It was improper on his part to remove from the possession of the Commonwealth, important contracts, records, plans and specifications of the General State Authority and to refuse upon demand of the Attorney General to return them.

It was improper on the part of Mr. Margiotti, and likewise on the part of District Attorney Shelley, to seek a grand jury investigation without first having secured real and credible evidence to substantiate the crimes charged.

It was highly improper for H. H. Temple and E. A. Griffith, both former employes of the Highway Department, to have associated themselves with the officials and representatives of the Pioneer Materials Company which supplied materials to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to aid and assist that company in supplying inferior materials under its contract with the Commonwealth.

Your Committee finds no evidence which tends to substantiate the charges it has been appointed to investigate under the Resolution and therefore recommends no further action be taken by the House of Representatives.

REPORT OF DAVID R. PERRY, BLAIR COUNTY; ELLWOOD J. TURNER, DELAWARE COUNTY, MINORITY MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING THE CHARGES AGAINST GOVERNOR GEORGE H. EARLE, ET AL. PURSUANT TO RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 13, ADOPTED JULY 30, 1938 HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the House of Representatives:

THE LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE PROCEDURE FOLLOWED BY THE COMMITTEE

On the 25th day of July, 1938, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, George H. Earle, III, by his executive order, convened the Legislature in Extraordinary Session, for the purpose, inter alia, of investigating "Charges of or involving misdemeanor in office on the part of any person holding a civil office under the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. * * *" Grave and serious charges of criminal misconduct had already been made against the Governor of the Commonwealth, other civil officers, and other persons, by United States Senator Joseph Guffey, Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, and Charles J. Margiotti, the then Attorney General of Pennsylvania, alleging that graft and corruption were rampant among the high officials of the Democratic Administration. As a result of these charges the District Attorney of Dauphin County had presented a petition in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania charging that:

> George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and Ralph M. Bashore did unlawfully, fraudulently, falsely, wilfully and maliciously conspire, combine, conferedate, and agree among and between themselves to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to extort money and levy blackmail against public employees, against private citizens and against persons doing business with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and agents of the State, and did unlawfully conspire to extort money and levy blackmail from persons interested in the passage of certain legislation, to accept bribes, to engage in unlawful and improper conduct including corrupt solicitation, misfeasance, and malfeasance in office, which charges included the extortion of money and the levying of blackmail from architects, contractors and other persons doing business with the State.

And including therein 29 separate averments involving the Governor and thirteen other public officials.

In his message to this Extraordinary Session the Governor said, inter alia:

"I recommend that you summon any and all persons who may be in possession of any information relative to any wrong doing inlolving such officers (of the State) as well as any documents or other evidence that may have bearing upon the subject and that you take measures to have all such evidence disclosed publicly.

"I recommend that all persons accused of wrongdoing, or otherwise named in connection with such wrongdoing, be given full opportunity to testify publicly in their own behalf."

Pursuant to this message, and in carrying out the purposes for which the Extraordinary Session was called, the Legislature, on the 30th day of July, 1938, passed an Act of Assembly, which was signed by the Governor, and known as Act of the General Assembly, No. 2. This Act defines the procedure for, and regulates the investigation by the House of Representatives and its committee of charges of, or involving, misdemeanor in office on the part of civil officers liable to impeachment; authorizes the Speaker of the House to appoint a special committee for any such investigation; authorizes the presentation of evidence by the Attorney General and other Counsel, and the officers investigated; provides for the summoning of witnesses and for the punishment of persons refusing to appear, produce evidence or testify. Section 6 of this Act provides:

"Any committee of the House of Representatives which is conducting any investigation to which this Act applies, may adopt rules for the conduct of its proceedings which are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, but the rules of evidence shall conform to the rules of evidence governing the admissibility of testimony in judicial proceedings."

Pursuant to this Act, the Speaker of the House, on August 2, 1938, appointed a committee of seven members to conduct an investigation of the charges.

On the part of the majority party in the Legislature, the following members were appointed:

Herbert B. Cohen, York County, Chairman
Joseph Ominsky, Philadelphia County
Robert N. Bierley, Luzerne County
Edgar A. Schrope, Schuylkill County
Anthony J. Gerard, Allegheny County and on the part of the minority the following were appointed:

Ellwood J. Turner, Delaware County
David R. Perry, Blair County

The Committee proceeded to organize. It retained counsel and prepared to summon and examine witnesses.

On September 6, 1938, the Committee met in the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, and began its task of making the investigation.

The act under which this Committee was created, in Section 8 thereof, provides:

"Any committee of the House of Representatives conducting an investigation under the provisions of this Act, shall, after the testimony before the committee has been completed, make a report to the House of Representatives containing such conclusions and making such recommendations as to the Committee may seem appropriate. If the evidence has disclosed misdemeanor in office on the part of the person or persons investigated, the House of Representatives may order such person or persons impeached, or it may call upon the Attorney General of the Commonwealth, or the district attorney of the proper county, to prosecute such person or persons in the appropriate court for the offense or offenses disclosed by the evidence."

It is, therefore, in compliance with that section that this report is made.

At the outset of the hearings, the majority members of the Committee, although never adopting any written rules of procedure, interpreted Section 6 of the Act to mean that the rules of evidence only as applied to a trial by jury in a court of record, should be strictly adhered to.

The minority members of this Committee, from the beginning, protested this interpretation of the Act, asserting that the Act said: "* * * the rules of evidence shall conform to the rules of evidence governing the admissibility of testimony in judicial proceedings," and that the term "judicial proceeding" as so used was not confined to trials before the court, but was much broader in scope, and included in the term a Grand Jury proceeding,—either as to investigating or as to passing upon the District Attorney's bills of indictment.

Legal authorities all agree on the definition of "a judicial proceeding." It is well defined in Black's Law Dictionary, Second Edition, at page 669 as follows:

"A general term for proceedings relating to, practiced in, or proceeding from, a court of justice; or the course prescribed to be taken in various cases for the determination of a controversy or for legal redress or relief."

A grand jury investigation certainly falls within that definition. Certainly no layman, and certainly no lawyer, would contend that a grand jury investigation was not a judicial proceeding.

However, the majority of the Committee constituted its proceedings as though a trial in a court of record, subject to all the restrictions and limitations of such a trial as relates to the introduction of testimony (so long as such restrictions and limitations met the approval of such majority) rather than as an investigation, in which investigators secure every item of information, hearsay or otherwise, from which to formulate an opinion as to whether or not, under the provisions of the Constitution, Senate should conduct a trial of the persons accused.

The minority members of the Committee constantly pointed out this error of the majority and contended that the committee had been appointed for the purpose of investigating, of making recommendations to the House as to whether the charges did or did not warrant impeachthe Committee had been appointed for the purpose of determining the guilt or innocence of any of the accused; Article 6, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, although providing that the House of Representatives shall have the sole power to impeach, requires that the impeachment shall be tried by the Senate when sitting for that purpose.

It was apparent to the minority members of the Committee that the Act, under which the Committee was proceeding, constituted the Committee an investigating body; and that under the Constitution of Pennsylvania, it could only be an inquisitorial body.

When the committee was appointed, the Speaker of the House charged the members thereon in these words:

"I have every confidence in the men we have selected, that they will discharge the duties of their office with the utmost fidelity, and that they will make an honest, fair, impartial and searching investigation of all these charges so that the public may be advised of their truth or falsity, and that they will not permit politics or friendships to sway them from their path of duty.

"These are charges which cannot be overlooked or brushed aside. The reputations of men are at stake. If they are innocent, the public is entitled to know this fact; if they are guilty of misdemeanor in office, then the duty to be performed is plain under the Constitution and the laws of the Commonwealth."

It is to be noted that the Speaker of the House recorded his confidence that "a searching investigation of all these charges" would be made. If this Committee, then, is an investigating body, it necessarily follows that the very purpose for which the Committee was appointed would be defeated if the rules of evidence pertaining to a trail in court were to be invoked, particularly as to the rule against hearsay evidence.

The position of the minority group on this question is amply supported by judicial authority.

The principal charge which the Committee was called upon to investigate, was that a conspiracy existed between high administration officials, and others, to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. A conspiracy is defined by Wharton, in Vol. II, 12th Edition of his work on Criminal Law, as follows:

"A conspiracy is a confederation to effect an unlawful object by lawful means, or by unlawful means, a lawful object."

The majority members of the Committee insisted that an overt act must be proved as a condition precedent to the admission of testimony regarding acts or declarations of co-conspirators, though Wharton, in the same volume, at Page 1940 says:

"All who join a conspiracy at any time after its formation become conspirators, and, as will be seen, the prosecutor may go into general evidence of the conspiracy before he gives evidence to connect the defendants with it. It is not necessary, therefore, to show a complicity of the defendants in the preliminary stages of the offense * * * nor does the entrance of new parties affect the identity of a conspiracy."

And again, Wharton, on page 1941, says:

"On a prosecution for a crime to be proved by conspiracy general evidence of an existing conspiracy may in the first instances be received, as a preliminary step to that particular evidence by which it is to be shown that the individual defendants were guilty participants in such conspiracy, and that this is often necessary to render the particular evidence intelligible and to show the true meaning and character of the acts of individual defendants."

Therefore, even in a court during a trial by jury, where a charge of conspiracy is involved, a broad rule of evidence governing the admissibility of testimony is applied; but the majority group of this Committee would never concede that it was bound by the law in this respect. The majority members insisted that no hearsay testimony should be adduced before the Committee (Record Page 510 et. seq.)

The minority members protested at the beginning (Record Page 510 et seq.), and at numerous times thereafter, that this being an investigation, it was the Committee's duty to hear all testimony which might be offered, not only for the immediate purpose of determining whether or not a recommedation of impeachment should finally be made, but for the purpose of obtaining clues which might lead to evidence which would shed light on the charges under investigation.

This position on the part of the minority group is also amply supported by the authorities. It is common knowledge that from time immemorial, inquisitorial bodies such as this, and grand juries, have called before them every witness known to the body who might be in the possession of any facts or documentary evidence bearing on the charges under investigation, or who might enlighten the body as to where facts and evidence might be found. Such bodies always take hearsay evidence. True it is, that in the final analysis, it is the function of the inquisitorial body to sift—not the false from the true, for that is the function of a jury of the people, under our form of government—but to sift the substantial, relevant and competent testimony from the whole mass and base its findings on this final determination.

On this very question, Wigmore, in his work on Evidence, 2nd Edition, Volume III, Section 1361, speaking of the nature of hearsay as an extra-judicial testimony assertion, says:

"When a witness A on the stand testifies 'B told me that event X occurred,' his testimony may be regarded in two ways:

(1) He may be regarded as asserting the event upon his own credit, i. e. as a fact to be believed because he asserts that he knows it. But when it thus appears that his assertion is not based on personal observation of event X, his testimony to that event is rejected, because he is not qualified by proper sources of knowledge to speak of it. This involves a general principle of Testimonial Knowledge already examined (ante No. 657-665) and does not involve the Hearsay rule proper.

(2) But suppose, in order to obviate that objection, that we regard A as not making any assertion about event X (of which he has no personal knowledge), but as testifying to the utterance in his hearing of B's statement as to event X. To this, A is clearly qualified to testify, so that no objection can arise on that score.

The only question, then, can be whether this assertion of B, reported by A, is admissible as evidence of the event X asserted by B to have occurred. It is clear that what we are now attempting to do is to prove event X by B's assertion; the utterance of B's assertion being itself proved by A's testimony to it. In other words, merely the making of B's assertion is properly proved by A; but the occurrence of event X is also sought to be proved, by this assertion of B, which was uttered out of Court, but is offered testimonially for the same purpose as if it were being made presently by B on the stand. * * * It is these extra-judicial testimonial assertions which the hearsay rule prohibits."

It will, therefore, be seen that the very situation which presented itself to this Committee is dealt with by Wigmore. The witnesses who were called wanted to assert, not that a particular event had occurred of their own knowledge, but to testify to the utterances, in their hearing, by certain individuals, that the event had occurred. Although Wigmore holds that as to this the witness is clearly qualified to testify, the majority on this Committee repeatedly refused the witnesses that right. (Record Page 510 et seq.)

In spite of all the protests with which the record of this investigation is replete, made by the minority members of this Committee, the majority would never agree that this was the law. It must, therefore, be apparent from the beginning the majority and its counsel, charged with the responsibility and in control of presenting the evidence to the Committee, kept the record in this case as barren of much testimony or information leading to evidence, as could be accomplished.

Reference to the record will disclose that this conflict on the question of the purposes of the Committee, the scope of its activity, and the manner of calling and examining witness, continued throughout the entire life of the Committee. Time after time this narrow and constricted interpretation of the rules of evidence was applied by the Chairman, and the majority members, thereby excluding what might have been direct clues to incriminating evidence that would have opened the curtains and let in the light, so that the Committee could know the true facts.

The fact that no formal rules of procedure were adopted, or filed, by the Committee, renders the state of the record in the investigation chaotic. The investigation was not pursued, subject by subject, nor were witnesses presented in chronological order in relation to the charges or the testimony already taken. By reason thereof the twenty-nine separate allegations made by the District Attorney of Dauphin County, not a single charge was exhaustively probed. The probe, if it may be called that, barely scratched the surface. Apparently, Counsel for the Committee, fearful that it might prove painful if we went deeper, saw to that.

A DISCUSSION OF THE TESTIMONY

The first person called was Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County. At the outset of the testimony of this witness, the Chairman, with the advice of the Committee counsel, and with the support of the majority members of the Committee, invoked the hearsay rule against Mr. Shelley, and although the minority members time after time protested this ruling, the rule was never relaxed as to him. This witness was required and permitted only to read into the record the names of the witnesses upon whom he relied to prove the charges as made in his amended petition to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Time after time the majority on this Committee, and its counsel, refused to permit Mr. Shelley to testify as to what he had learned as a result of his investigation in Dauphin County, but insisted that he surrender to the Committee, upon mere record identification, every statement, affidavit and piece of documentary evidence in his possession. The net result was that Mr. Shelley's testimony before the Committee was exploratory—not of the charges, but only of his files. And it was with great difficulty that the majority members of this Committee, and its counsel, were restrained from investigation the District Attorney for having brought the charges at the instigation of the former Attorney General, Charles J. Margiotti, rather than investigating the charges in themselves.

This was typical of the conduct of the majority members of this Committee throughout the course of the investigation, to the end that whenever a witness attempted to tell of some information he might have, and indeed, whenever a member of the minority group on this Committee suggested certain witnesses be called, or certain information investigated, and majority group and counsel immediately became more concerned about who disclosed the information than whether or not the allegation or information was true. (Record Page 5987).

The second witness called by the Committee was Charles J. Margiotti, the former Attorney General, who instituted the original charges in their entirety.

The procedure followed by the Committee seems to have developed in three phases:

(a) When Carl B. Shelley and Charles J. Margiotti were testifying, the majority of the Committee and its Counsel treated these men sometimes as though they were defendants under cross-examination, and at other times as prosecutors. The record discloses that counsel for the Committee was apparently trying to get from these witnesses all of the information the witnesses might have, at the same time trying to avoid any testimony which might incriminate or embarrass those under investigation. Both of these witnesses were constantly criticized and harassed by Committee counsel.

(b) After having obtained such information from Messrs. Shelley and Margiotti, the Committee then turned its attention to the construction of the Finance Building, and consumed weeks of its time in an attempt to probe the construction of this building, when all the time it was self-apparent that such type of probing was work for a technical expert, who should have been appointed by the Committee to advise it, and whose appointment the minority members constantly requested.

(c) In the last few days of the hearing, the accused officials were brought in, one by one, without books or records, and so far as the minority members of the Committee know, without any examination of their books and records having been made, and were permitted to blandly deny all of the charges. It is significant to note, however, that Mr. McCloskey, former Treasurer of the State Democratic Committee, holder of $10,000,000 worth of State Authority contracts, and charged as one of the principal conspirators in the entire matter, was never called.

It was the contention of the minority members of the Committee from the very beginning, and many times expressed in the record, that the Committee was not following the accepted practice and procedure usually adopted by an inquistorial body, in that no preliminary investigation of subjects or witnesses was made, either by the Committee or counsel, so that the Committee itself could know what there was in any of the particular charges before the witnesses were called to enable the Committee and its counsel to confront recalcitrant or interested witnesses with documentary evidence, such as bank accounts, books of record, check stubs, and cancelled checks, or rebuttal witnesses on any subject.

From the beginning, the Committee adopted as its Bill of Particulars, the amended petition filed by the District Attorney of Dauphin County in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and the Committee and its counsel from that time on, took the position that anything else, no matter how important or how reprehensible, was immaterial or irrelevant to the issue. This was entirely too narrow a view of the situation. This Committee was appointed to investigate any and all charges of misconduct —not simply to call upon the District Attorney of Dauphin County to prove his case, and to exclude any other information which might come to the attention of the Committee. While the minority never agreed to the theory of the majority, we were forced to accept that situation.

The Committee then plunged right into the business of calling witnesses, its apparent purpose being to get on the record as soon as possible the names of all of the witnesses, regardless of the subject involved, together with all of the documentary evidence, statements and affidavits, also regardless of subjects, so that it might know in advance just how much Mr. Margiotti knew. Why this policy was followed is for the people of Pennsylvania to judge. We state it in this report merely as a fact disclosed by the record.

Also, the record in this case, consisting of nearly eight thousand pages, is not in chronological order and although, as we stated before, no single subject of the inquiry has been exhaustively investigated, we will here discuss the state of the record, subject by subject.

In Paragraph 2, of the District Attorney's Amended Petition, it is charged that as a result of his investigation he has competent and credible evidence showing that in the year 1935 at Harrisburg, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, and within the jurisdiction of this Court, George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore and others, did unlawfully, fraudulently, falsely, wilfully and maliciously conspire, combine, confederate and agree, among and between themselves, to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to extort money and levy blackmail against public employees, private citizens, and persons doing business with the Commonwealth and agencies of the Commonwealth; to extort money and levy blackmail from persons interested in the passage of certain legislation, to accept bribes, and to otherwise engage in unlawful and improper conduct including corrupt solicitation, misfeasance and malfeasance in office, to the prejudice of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to its various agencies, its citizens and taxpayers generally.

And then in twenty-nine separate allegations the District Attorney specifies each instance wherein it is alleged that a conspiracy to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth existed. The Petition further alleges in Paragraph 4 thereof, that the conspiracy originated in the year 1935, continued and was in existence during the years 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938, and still exists within the County of Dauphin and elsewhere in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

MACING

In Paragraph 6, of the Amended Petition it is charged that George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Ralph M. Bashore, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and Carl K. Dean, then and now Harrisburg Resident Secretary of the Democratic State Committee, and others during the years mentioned conspired to extort money and levy blackmail from State, County, City and other public employees by means of coercion, threats, intimidation and other unlawful methods, in that each public employee was required to pay three percentum or five percentum of his or her salary, depending upon the amount of the salary; three per cent to be exacted from those receiving a salary of $1,200 per year, and five per cent to be exacted from those receiving a salary of more than $1,200. Two-fifths of the amounts collected were for the use of the local Democratic County Committee, three-fifths to be retained by the Democratic State Committee, of which monies the Democratic State Committee was to retain two-thirds for its use, and forward one-third to the Democratic National Committee at Washington.

When the District Attorney of Dauphin County was before this Committee, a list of 190 witnesses on this question alone was presented to the Committee, and this information was followed by testimony on the part of Mr. Margiotti bearing directly on the subject. Yet this was one of the subjects never reached by the Committee, and only touched upon incidentally by certain persons testifying in connection with other matters under investigation. But several of these witnesses admitted on the record that they were paying portions of their salaries to the Democratic Committee, although protesting that the contributions were voluntary. One witness testified that his contribution was being collected from him on a bi-monthly basis.

It was astounding to the minority members of this Committee, that Governor Earle, a member of the National Democratic Committee, David L. Lawrence, Chairman of the State Democratic Committee and Ralph Bashore, Chairman of his local Committee, all testified that they had never discussed party finances. Not only had they not discussed party finances with each other, but the Governor and David L. Lawrence testified that they had never discussed the subject with anybody. We think this is palpably untrue. No political organization can operate without financing, and it is utterly beyond belief that the State Chairman and the Governor, a member of the National Committee, should never have discussed the question with anybody. We refuse to be branded so gullible as to believe this. If finances were not raised by macing, why did these men deny that they had ever discussed financing? Right in Harrisburg is the office of the Democratic State Committee in charge of Carl K. Dean, yet the Committee carefully avoided examining the records of this office, producing the books of record, or calling Mr. Dean to testify as to what he knew about raising of party finances. And Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, was never called to testify as to what he knew about the manner in which money was raised to finance the Democratic party.

The minority members of this Committee many times demanded that the Committee summon at least a group of the witnesses named under this charge by Mr. Shelley, but this request was never acceded to. Finally, the minority members of the Committee, who it must be understood were without power to issue subpoenas, demanded of the Chairman of the Committee that they be given twelve John Doe subpoenas, so that they might subpoena at random twelve employees in the State Capitol to be questioned on macing charges. (Record page 7616). This request was denied the minority group.

It is, therefore, self apparent (as to both the fact and reason why) it is impossible for this Committee to make any intelligent report as to whether or not this sytem of macing did exist among State employees.

EXTORTION

Paragraph 7, of the District Attorney's Amended Petition alleges that George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, and others, conspired to extort money and levy blackmail from architects, contractors, and other persons doing business with the State, and this allegation the District Attorney supported by certain specific names and instances both in the Amended Petition and in his testimony before the Committee. Mr. Margiotti, on page 941, etc. of the record, said that H. L. Myers, a Pittsburgh contractor, could give the Committee information to support the charges of extortion from architects and that United States Senator Joseph Guffey had told him of the system in force, and that the architects were appointed only upon the approval of David L. Lawrence and Matthew McCloskey. (Record page 956). Architects Lee and Lake were called and denied the charges, and then some time later about 54 architects were called, all of whom denied being the victims of extortion. But, these architects appeared before the Committee with no books or records of any kind, and with few exceptions, testified to having made political contribution in some form or manner to the Democratic Committee or one of its affiliated groups or committees. We, therefore, think that this subject cannot be disposed of by this Committee one way or another until the books of each and every architect doing business with the State have been examined by competent auditors, who ought also to examine the records of the Democratic State Committee on this subject.

ILLEGAL CONTRACTS

It is charged in paragraph 8, of the Amended Petition that in furtherance of the alleged conspiracy, George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Edward W. Prendergast and Arthur Colegrove, conspired to award contracts to persons, firms, or corporations who were not the lowest responsible bidders for such materials and supplies to the prejudice of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and in subdivisions of this paragraph, charges that contracts for office furniture were not let to the lowest responsible bidder, but were awarded to the Art Metal Company, in which company it was charged that Ralph M. Bashore was interested. Contracts were awarded despite an opinion of the then Attorney General that the Watson Manufacturing Company was entitled to the contracts on its low bid; and that Arthur Colegrove, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., David L. Lawrence and Roy Brownmiller conspired to purchase for the Highway Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a large number of trucks with specifications prepared by the Highway Department so drawn as to favor certain manufacturers, and that by reason of an unlawful arrangement with representatives and agents of the company named, the prices bid for such trucks were in excess of the fair market value thereof, and with the further arrangement that the successful bidder should pay to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and David L. Lawrence, sums aggregating $50,000 which sums the Amended Petition alleges were paid; and that a contract for 12,000 gallons of syrup was not awarded to the lowest responsible bidder; and that gravel was purchased for the use of the Highway Department from the Pioneer Materials Company pursuant to a conspiracy to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

In support of these charges the District Attorney of Dauphin County gave to the Committee all of the information which he had, and Charles J. Margiotti, beginning on page 2172 and ending about page 2365, testified to many conversations with the accused officials and others tending to support each of these charges. No books or records of the departments or officials involved were produced, and as far as we know, they were not examined, and the only answer to these charges appearing on the record is that made by the accused officials themselves, in the form of simple blanket denials.

One of the principal charges in this respect was that material was purchased from the Art Metal Company, a concern in which Ralph M. Bashore was allegedly interested. Arthur Colegrove, then Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies, testified that for weeks and months he was protesting the awarding of contracts to the Art Metal Company, on the ground that the Watson Manufacturing Company was actually the lowest bidder, but department heads continued to specify this particular article, and that he (Colegrove) took the position that under the ruling of the Attorney General, he was forced to buy this particular material; yet no effort was made to determine from the department heads whether or not pressure was being brought upon them to designate this particular equipment because of any interest which Ralph Bashore might have had in the company. Further, it was alleged on the record that a huge order for trucks was let to a selected group of manufacturers who returned $50,000 of the purchase price to the State Democratic Committee, and that the prices charged for the trucks were greatly in excess of the fair market value thereof. While some testimony was adduced to the effect that the special specifications covering these trucks made them more expensive and costly than those furnished to private interests or neighboring states, no examination of the books of the company was made to determine whether or not any part of the $50,000 alleged was paid to the State Committee, nor were any representatives of the trucking firms called to testify. Why such an important matter as this should be so lightly treated, we cannot say.

We deem it impossible for this Committee, upon the state of this record, to say whether or not the practices charged did exist, because the investigation thereof was not completed.

In paragraph 9, of the Amended Petition it is charged that Carroll McShane, former chief of the Bureau of Inspection of the Department of Revenue, attempted to extort money and levy blackmail from Andrew L. McCabe and B. R. Kenworthy by demanding the sum of $5,000.00 for the approval by him of a device for the testing of automobile lights. Although both Mr. Shelley and Mr. Margiotti testified as to these charges, neither Mr. McCabe nor Mr. Kenworthy, the two persons directly involved, were ever called.

Mr. Carroll McShane appeared before the Committee and denied that he ever made any attempt to extort money from Mr. McCabe and Mr. Kenworthy, but he admitted that he had had business dealings with these men, and he admitted that he contended that these men were financially indebted to him. He said that these men had a headlight testing device which he had been asked to inspect, that he had advanced certain ideas for improving the device, which had been incorporated therein, and claimed that for this service he had a right to any profits which might accrue from the sale of the device, notwithstanding the fact that he was head of the bureau. He asserted that Mr. McCabe and Mr. Kenworthy wanted him to issue orders requiring each of the approximately 8,000 testing stations in Pennsylvania to equip themselves with this particular device, which he says he refused to do. Here then on the record it appears that Mr. McShane had demanded money from Mr. McCabe and Mr. Kenworthy, who were seeking to sell a device in a market controlled by Mr. McShane, which in itself is a suspicious set of circumstances. Here again, it is impossible for this Committee to say whether or not there is merit in the charge as made, unless Mr. McCabe, Mr. Kenworthy, and the records of Mr. McShane's office are produced.

LOANS TO THE GOVERNOR

In Paragraph 10, of the Amended Petition it is alleged that Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. gave to George H. Earle, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, sums totalling $30,000 in order to influence the award to the said Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. or corporations in which he was interested, of contracts from the General State Authority. In support of this, the former Attorney General, Charles J. Margiotti testified that Mr. McCloskey told him that Governor Earle had borrowed at one particular time the sum of $10,000 from Matthew H. McCloskey (Record page 2040).

And on page 836, etc., Charles J. Margiotti testified that the Governor had told him that he had borrowed a total of $26,500 from Matthew H. McCloskey, but that it had been paid back from time to time.

It appears further in the record that the Governor borrowed sums of money from other sources during his tenure in office, which will be discussed later.

SALE OF LEGISLATION

Paragraph 11, of the District Attorney's Amended Petition and its sub-divisions charged that David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Harry K. Kalodner, and others conspired and agreed to exert their influence as leaders of the Democratic Party to cause amendments to the Beverage License Law to be enacted in the 1935 Session of the Legislature, and that there was an agreement between the Pennsylvania Brewers' Association and this group under which this Association paid to these men approximately $50,000 for the legislation which money it is alleged was paid; and that these officials did exert their power and influence to persuade Democratic members of the General Assembly to vote for the passage of the legislation, and that the same group of officials and others received $100,000 more or less, for using their influence as leaders of the Democratic Party to cause the passage of the Sunday Movie Bill in the 1935 Session of the Legislature, and that having received the money, the officials and others charged did exert their influence to persuade Democratic members of the General Assembly to vote for the legislation; and that the same officials and others agreed to use their power and influence as State officials and officers of the Democratic State Committee to cause amendments to the Beverage License Law to be enacted permitting the sale of packages of beer by retail stores, in consideration of the agreement with representatives of the Pennsylvania Brewers' Association to pay large sums of money to these officials and others, for which services these officials, it is alleged, received $16,000 from the Pennsylvania Brewers' Association. The District Attorney of Dauphin County submitted what evidence he had on these subjects, and several witnesses were called in relation thereto.

Charles J. Margiotti, former Attorney General, who instituted these charges, testified on page 866, etc., that when the Beer Legislation was pending he noticed Frank Mattis, Meade Mulvihill, Matthew H. McCloskey, and David Lawrence engaged in a conversation in the entrance to the Governor's office, and he overheard McCloskey say to Mulvihill, who was an attorney representing the Brewery interests, "You've got to pay that money. If you pay that money we will do it." And he answered "Yes".

Mr. Margiotti testified that the accused officials were using their influence to keep the Bill in Committee until the money was forthcoming and it is significant to note that David L. Lawrence in his testimony (Record page 7665) admits that he gave the order to hold the Bill in Committee, but said that it was not because of the demand for money, but in order to clear the legislative calendar.

Then the Attorney General said that he had made an investigation, that he had spoken to McCloskey, and that Mr. McCloskey admitted that they were trying to get money for the legislation, and further testified on page 874, etc., that he had heard from Frank Mattis, in the presence of Senator John Dent, and Charles Melchiorre, then Chairman of the Law and Order Committee, that money had been paid for the passage of the Beer Legislation.

Mr. Margiotti testified on page 883 that Charles Melchiorre on March 16, 1938 dictated a statement in the Attorney General's office in Harrisburg to the effect that money had been paid for this legislation. It is significant to note that when Mr. Melchiorre was called to answer this charge he admitted every one of the conversations attributed to him by the then Attorney General at the time and places charged. He admitted that he was in Harrisburg on March 16, 1938. He admitted that he was in the Attorney General's office at that time. He admitted that he would have taken a share of the money had it been offered to him, but denied that he had ever dictated the statement in the Attorney General's office, or that the money had been paid.

The Attorney General was supported in his charge that the statement had been dictated by Mr. Melchiorre by the testimony of Mr. Friedman, Deputy Attorney General, in whose presence the statement was actually made, and by Miss Peach, the Stenographer who took the statement.

On the question of the $100,000 alleged to have been paid for the Moving Picture Bill, Mr. Margiotti testified on page 871, etc. that Mr. McCloskey had told him that the Democratic organization was entitled to receive money for the passage of legislation advantageous to any particular group, and that Charles Melchiorre, Chairman of the Law and Order Committee said he had received $5,000 out of the money for the Movie Bill.

Subsequent evidence on the record disclosed that in 1935, at the time that the Moving Picture Legislation was before the Legislature, United States Senator Joseph A. Guffey, and Governor George H. Earle had borrowed $50,000 each from the Bankers Securities Corporation, an institution controlled by Albert M. Greenfield, a Democrat mentioned in this investigation, who testified that this money was loaned to these two men so that they might subscribe to certain bonds issued by the New York Post, which is a paper published in the City of New York, in which it is admitted on the record that J. David Stern, publisher of the Philadelphia Record, the Warner Brothers Moving Picture interests, and the All Continent Corporation, a holding company for the William Fox interests, are all heavily interested. It was also admitted by Mr. Greenfield that the only collateral pledged by Messrs. Earle and Guffey for these loans was the bonds of the New York Post and certain stock owned by the All Continent Corporation.

The books and records of the New York Post, the All Continent Corporation, George H. Earle and Joseph A. Guffey, so far as the minority members of the Committee know, have never been examined for the purpose of tracing these loans, and certainly these books and records have never been produced before this Committee.

As the record now stands, this, in our opinion, is a highly suspicious set of circumstances, and to draw a conclusion from the present state of the record that the transaction was wholly innocent, would be a painful and labored effort to exonerate the persons charged.

Governor Earle, himself admitted the loans from Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., and admitted that $50,000 worth of bonds of the New York Post had ben purchased in his name, on his note, through J. David Stern, but asserted that he destroyed the note, never saw the bonds, never heard of the All Continent Corporation, whose stocks were posted as additional collateral for the Governor's note, never paid the money back, although the record shows it was repaid, never paid the interest, although the record shows it was paid, and that he made no profit, an interesting and novel transaction as he tells it.

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD

Paragraph 12, of the Amended Petition of the District Attorney of Dauphin County, alleges that a conspiracy existed in the years 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938, between George H. Earle, III, David L. Lawrence, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., Ralph M. Bashore, Leo Crossen and since 1937, J. Twing Brooks, to solicit bribes, extort money and levy blackmail against vendors of liquors doing business with the Liquor Control Board, by requiring such vendors to pay to them large sums of money in consideration of the purchase of liquors, and specifically, that a bribe of $40,000 was procured from one such vendor.

The District Attorney of Dauphin County submitted the names of all the witnesses which he had in connection with these charges, and references in his possession to any evidence tending to substantiate the charges.

Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti testified, beginning on page 2143 of the record, that there were certain records of the Liquor Control Board involving hearings on matters pertaining to the firm of Bisceglia Brothers, of Philadelphia, wine vending firm; that investigations had been made by the Liquor Control Board operators, citations issued, hearings held and dispositions made of the case.

Mr. Margiotti testified that Mr. Segelbaum, Special Deputy Attorney General, assigned to the Liquor Control Board, was familiar with the transaction, and Mr. Margiotti testified that he had seen certain records and reports of this investigation.

He further testified on page 2146 of the record, that a man by the name of Malpezzi, an employee of the Liquor Control Board, had had in his possession, certain orders from an officer of the Liquor Control Board, which would throw light on the payment of the $40,000 alleged.

He testified on page 2153, etc., of the record, that one John DiAgostino, of Egg Harbor, N. J., wine vendor, connected with Renault Company, doing business with the Liquor Control Board, had paid $17,000 to Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., in 1935; and that Mr. McCloskey had sent a confidential employee of his, at the request of DiAgostino, to New York to testify before a Federal Grand Jury, engaged in investigating DiAgostino's income tax returns, that the money had been paid by DiAgostino to Mr. McCloskey.

Mr. Margiotti further testified on page 2159, etc., of the record, that he had conducted an investigation, at the request of the Governor, involving the conduct of certain individuals in connection with the application of Philip Gundelfinger to be appointed on the Liquor Control Board. This report was made to the Governor and the investigation was made personally by the then Attorney General, with Mr. Friedman, Deputy Attorney General, sometimes present. Mr. Margiotti testified that the record in the Attorney General's office consisted of statements made by a man named Margolis, of Bisceglia Brothers, Philip Gundelfinger, John B. Kelly, David L. Lawrence, and others.

None of these records were produced before the Committee, although the minority members thereon requested that they be produced.

When Mr. Leo Crossen, new Chairman of the Liquor Control Board was testifying before the Committee, he said that the Bisceglia Brothers had been cited for liquor violations, that a hearing had been held, that a recommendation had been made that the license of this firm be suspended for thirty days; that this, finally, on advice of Mr. Margiotti, had been reduced to a fifteen-day suspension, and that Bisceglia Brothers were notified some time in December that their license for the ensuing year would not be issued until January 15, which at that time would leave the firm without a license from January 1 to 15 inclusive.

Crossen testified that some time in November or December a large order for Christmas goods had been given to the Bisceglia Brothers, but that this order did not cover all of the goods that the board might, with propriety, have ordered from this firm. Nothing was said about the amount of money involved.

The circumstances thus far adduced on the record are suspicious in that an award of a substantial contract for liquors made to a firm one month before its license was suspended for fifteen days, might indicate that the purpose was to nullify the effect of the suspension, so far as any financial loss to the firm is concerned.

Mr. Margolis was not called; no records of the Bisceglia Brothers or the Liquor Control Board were produced.

It was stated by Mr. Crossen, when asked by the minority members of the Committee to produce reports made by an operator of the Liquor Control Board, involving charges against many licensees, to show what disposition had been made of these recommendations, that these reports could not be found. Mr. Crossen denied any knowledge of misconduct on the part of any member of the Liquor Control Board or its employees; but here, again, the subject was not inquired into any further than to quote on the record the denials made by Crossen; which makes it impossible that any conclusion can be drawn as to conditions in the Liquor Control Board.

GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY

The first subject which the Committee took up for thorough investigation was the General State Authority.

Colonel Janeway was called and testified as to the organization and executive officers of the General State Authority, and the manner in which its personnel was selected. It developed that when the question of retaining architects, engineers and inspectors for the various projects to be undertaken by the General State Authority came up, letters were sent to the sixty-seven Democratic County Chairmen, asking these Chairmen to recommend persons to fill these positions.

Then there was presented to the Committee a long list of witnesses with reference to the manner in which the Finance Building in Harrisburg was being built by Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., with a view to determinng whether or not the plans and specifications were being strictly adhered to by the contractor.

Two engineers, Messrs. Penrod and Godfrey, were called and testified that they had visited the Finance Building, in the early days of its construction, and had observed many violations of the specifications, which they enumerated on the record.

Mr. Ross, of the firm of Gehron & Ross, architects for the Finance Building, in Harrisburg, was called and testified that the building was perfect and that the specifications had been complied with to the letter. He asserted that he as the architect was not responsible to see that the plans and specifications were strictly adhered to by the contractor, although his contract, introduced in evidence, specifically requires this service and compensates the architect for the service. However, on cross-examination by the members of the minority on the Committee, he admitted certain discrepancies, and admitted that he was responsible for compliance with the specifications on the part of the contractor.

Then followed many witnesses, over a period of many days, on the question of the suitability of materials—particularly concrete and limestone. There was much evidence adduced that the concrete had been improperly mixed, improperly poured, and improperly tested; that the limestone used in the building did not meet the specifications, but was, in a large part, of an inferior grade. Faulty construction methods were alluded to by the witnesses, as well as many incidents pointing to a looseness in the General State Authority in connection with the supervision of this particular contract.

None of the other contracts let by the General State Authority, totalling something like $60,000,000.00 were even touched upon by the Committee or its counsel.

During the many weeks devoted to the investigation of the Finance Building, the minority group on this Committee asserted repeatedly (Record page 3700) that the Committee was in no position to investigate the Finance Building to determine whether or not the specifications had been complied with; and that the calling of witnesses who worked on the building, and were charged with the responsibility to see that the specifications be complied with, was no way to uncover any non-compliance, but that the proper thing to do was to employ a firm of reputable engineers to apply the plans and specifications to the actual construction as it now stands, and by tests, analyses and inspections determine whether or not the specifications have been met, and report its findings to this Committee. It is the work of technical experts and the question of whether or not these specifications on this building have been complied with will never be fully known until that procedure is followed.

We, the minority members of the Committee, further contended during the conduct of the examination of the Finance Building that this was but one step in determining whether or not a conspiracy existed between Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. and certain officials of the State of Pennsylvania to cheat and defraud the State. To devote the time and effort to this subject, as was done by this Committee, constituted an inexcusable waste of time and of public funds and was one of the principal things that prevented this Committee from touching upon far more important charges and subjects before the Committee.

When the witnesses were called, they were not examined by counsel as they should be in the conduct of an investigation; first, because counsel themselves did not know enough about the subject under investigation to properly examine the witnesses on the subject, nor did the Committee; and obviously, without the technical advice of an independent engineering firm, neither counsel nor the Committee could have been in a position to properly examine the witnesses. And secondly, because counsel for the Committee seemed more anxious to leave the record bare of the derogatory testimony than to develop the actual facts. This is borne out by the fact that time after time witnesses were called to testify and were subjected, not to a searching, thorough examination by counsel, but were required only to answer a few direct questions put to them.

It remained for the minority members of this Committee in almost every instance, to demand progress charts, specifications, inspection reports and data of all kinds, which would be promised by the witness, or counsel, and oftentimes never produced, or never again alluded to. As a result, the members of the minority group on this Committee had to conduct lengthy examinations of the witnesses, because the Committee counsel invariably, in the first instance, failed to cover the subject thoroughly.

When the question of the quality of $300,000 worth of limestone in the Finance Building was before the Committee, the Committee refused the request of the minority group that the subject and the witnesses be deferred until a study of the material could be made by the Committee, so as to test the credibility of the witnesses. They failed to present Jacob Schmitt, a limestone expert, who also examined the building for the District Attorney of Dauphin County, and who made a report thereon condemning the stone.

Then counsel for the Committee, after qualifying certain witnesses, permitted one Brightly to qualify as our expert and to give a long and irrelevenat dissertation on the geology of limestone. He testified as to the quality of stone in the Finance Building, asserting that he had examined the building that very morning on which he testified. No effort was made to determine the extent of this examination, or the possibility of making such examination when the stone was wet, having been exposed to many hours of rain on the day Mr. Brightly's examination was made, so that the Committee could have some information by which it could determine the value of the purported examination. The minority members of the Committee developed from the witness that he was testifying as to the quality of stone and its color on a rainy day, by inspecting it from the ground. He said he simply walked around the building and made a visual examination. The limestone was, in places, 80 feet in the air. The witness finally admitted, under this cross-examination by the minority group of the Committee, that what he had done could hardly be called an inspection. (Record page 3861). Counsel for the Committee was perfectly satisfied when this witness testified that as a result of this examination, he believed the limestone in the building met the specifications.

Further diligent cross-examination on the part of the minority members of the Committee developed that the witness had made one other inspection of the building since May, when only 40% of the limestone was on the job, and that at that time 5% of the stone furnished failed to meet specifications, but he did not find this to be true on his second, so called inspection above. This leads to the inference that if the percentage of below grade stone did not decrease as the building progressed, there were some 9,250 cubic feet of below grade stone, involving $15,000 without labor costs.

No attempt was made by the Committee, or counsel, to develop the fact that both Mr. Penrod and Mr. Brightly were given government jobs shortly after their original reports, although Mr. Brightly was permitted to explain why his testimony differed from the information contained in his original report.

Mr. Ross, one of the architects for the Finance Building, after receiving a huge fee for architect's services, was permitted to testify, without challenge by the Committee or counsel, that he did not feel that full responsibility for the proper erection of the building, in accordance with the specifications, rested on the architect, but rather on the engineers for the State Authority and the inspectors for the Public Works Administration. And he asserted that everything was perfect in the Fiance Building and that he knew of no complaints. It was left to the minority members of the Committee to develop, by cross-examination, the fact that Mr. Ross did not know whether the limestone met the specifications in regard to quarry sap; but that he did know there were limestones in the building which did not meet the specifications, and that he had reported this non-compliance to Mr. Moffitt, Resident Engineer, who resigned to accept employment with Contractor McCloskey; and also that he had reported it to Colonel Janeway, and the P.W.A. Inspector, and that although the complaints were made months previously, they were ignored.

It was further left to the minority group of the Committee to develop the fact that although Architect Ross knew that the specifications required that medallions in the frieze of the Finance Building be carved from solid blocks of stone, he waited for this examination by the minority group before he admitted that the designs were carved on small stones and inserted in the solid blocks, by means of cement, thus saving many thousands of dollars. (Record page).

Again the Committee and its counsel dismissed as of no significance the fact that Governor Earle publicly announced, after a conference with the President in Washington, D. C., that Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. would not bid on contracts of the General State Authority because of his close political position and his confidential relationship to the Authority. Mr. McCloskey did bid and did receive some $10,000.000 worth of contracts from the General State Authority.

The uncontradicted testimony in the record asserts that while specifications on the Finance Building required concrete to be mixed for a minimum time of one and one-half minutes, it was actually mixed from twenty seconds minimum to fifty seconds maximum. But the Committee and its counsel permitted the witnesses called to assert that this time element in making concrete is unimportant. No effort was made to call an independent technical advisor on concrete, although time after time the minority members of the Committee demanded such testimony.

As a further indication of the fact that counsel for the Committee was not attempting to fully investigate and develop the facts in relation to the Finance Building, the record discloses that the minority members of the Committee, on this one subject alone, made twenty-three specific requests for documentary evidence, some of which was produced before the Committee, some of which was handed to counsel and never produced to the Committee, and some of which was never produced at all.

The net result of the weeks spent in examining the witnesses relative to the Finance Building contract of the General State Authority is as follows:

The record indicates that so far as the Finance Building is concerned, many of the officials charged with the responsibility of seeing that the Finance Building was built in accordance with plans and specifications, were Mr. McCloskey's appointees, and the record discloses further that the executive supervision on this building was grossly lax. The actual inspection of construction was loose and inexpert and in many cases actually non-existent. It is clear from the record that there are many violations of the specifications, and the workmenship on this building is poor, principally because the contractor rushed this construction so fast that mechanics could not do a workmanlike job. Walls were out of line, throwing each subsequent detail of construction dependent on the original lines for its contour, out of line. At places, the tile wall was so "tight" that it had to be broken off with hammers before the marble could be placed, and at other places, particularly around door jambs, the marble protrudes and is uneven. These facts were developed by the minority. While it is apparent that the plans and specifications of this building have been violated, no member of this Committee knows, nor can he learn from the record, to what extent the plans and specifications of the Finance Building were violated by the contractor, and only qualified technical reports can determine this question.

ERIE GRAVEL SCANDAL

One of the principal charges before this Committee was that a conspiracy existed among state officials and employees of the Highway Department to purchase gravel of an inferior quality at exorbitant prices from the Pioneer Materials Company.

Carl B. Shelley, District Attorney of Dauphin County, presented to the committee a report and supplemental report of Major Lynn G. Adams, exhaustively covering this subject, but the report has never been the subject of discussion before this Committee, and stands as a mere exhibit in the record, its contents never made public. Charles J. Margiotti, the then Attorney General of Pennsylvania, testified before the Committee, at length, in regard to the Erie Gravel Scandal.

He testified, beginning on page 2287 of the record, that Arthur Colegrove, of the Department of Property and Supplies, had told him of his suspicions in regard to the purchase of gravel from the Pioneer Materials Company. This conversation was reported by the then Attorney General to the Governor, but the Governor would not do anything in connection with the matter. Then Mr. Margiotti testified, on page 2549 of the record, that he had a conversation with Governor Earle concerning the Erie Gravel matter, in the Allegheny General Hospital, in April, 1937. And again, on page 2550 of the record, he had a further conversation with the Governor, in which the Governor told the then Attorney General that Major Adams of the State Police had been ordered to make a thorough investigation of the Erie Gravel Scandal. He testified further (Record page 2553) of a conversation in the Governor's office relative to the report which Major Adams had made, of the Erie Gravel situation, and that the Attorney General had demanded the report, which was refused him by the Governor.

Again the Attorney General testified (Record page 2560) that Arthur Colegrove had written a letter to Mr. Margiotti in December, 1937, in which the Secretary of Property and Supplies had charged that a conspiracy existed in the Erie Gravel Contracts, and had recommended a grand jury investigation.

The minority members of the Committee made a request that this letter be produced, copies of which, it had been stated, were in the hands of the Governor. Time after time efforts were made by the minority members to obtain this letter from the files of the Governor's office, or the Department of Property and Supplies, but it never appeared until Charles J. Margiotti, again voluntarily appeared before the Committee, weeks later, handed up a photostatic copy; but it is significant to note that Arthur Colegrove, himself, when he was called to testify, said that he had had a copy of the letter in his personal files in Harrisburg all the time, but that no call had ever been made upon him by the Committee counsel to produce the letter.

The last paragraph of that letter, which is Exhibit 153A and 153B, reads as follows:

> "Lastly, I would be willing and anxious if a way can be found to present the Erie Gravel Scandal, as it has become known involving those interests, to the Dauphin County Court, or to the Court of any other County. Following the resolutions of last week's preliminary action, I am convinced that the entire facts of the State Police Report, together with other facts which I will personally supply, should be made public through a Grand Jury proceeding or other similar means.
> "I insist upon this as justifying my own reputation and conduct in office."

Mr. Margiotti further testified, (Record page 2573) that the Governor told him that he could not have the report because he wanted to take care of David Lawrence. He said that Mr. Lawrence denied that he was involved.

Again the former Attorney General testified (Record page 2577) that at a meeting in Washington, attended by Senator Joseph Guffey, Governor Earle, Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., John B. Kelley, Edward Prendergast, Ralph M. Bashore, David L. Lawrence, Clair Ross, Harry Kalodner and others, he had demanded the State Police Report of the Erie Gravel Scandal, which had been refused him. But again he was told that he could not have the report.

Mr. Margiotti testified, (Record page 2584) of a further demand that Governor Earle turn the report over to him, and again he was refused.

Mr. Margiotti testified (Record page 2595) that on October 10 he was called from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh by Governor Earle and David Lawrence, where he was told that Ray Spriggle, of the Post Gazette, of Pittsburgh, Mortimor Graham, the District Attorney of Erie, and Ed Griffith, an Assistant engineer of the Erie Gravel Case, had been closeted in a room at the Fort Pitt Hotel, Pittsburgh, and that the Governor and Dave Lawrence were of the opinion that Mr. Griffith was making a confession to the District Attorney and to the newspapers, and it was on this data that the report was turned over to the Attorney General. Mr. Margiotti testified to their conversations relative to demands which he had made previously for the report.

Mr. Margiotti further testified, (Record page 2608) that he asked Arthur Colegrove for the report on all of the circumstances in connection with the Erie Gravel case of which Mr. Colegrove had knowledge. He testified that he never got this report from Mr. Colegrove, because Mr. Colegrove said he didn't want to hurt Dave Lawrence. (Record page 2612 etc.)

When Mr. Colegrove was called, he testified (Record page 6742 etc.) that he believed a conspiracy to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth to exist in connection with the Erie Gravel Scandal; in many details he corroborated the testimony of Mr. Margiotti, but he asserted that Mr. Temple, Chief Engineer of the Highway Department, and Mr. Griffith, Assistant Engineer in charge of the territory where the gravel was used, were wholly responsible for the collusion, and that the dismissal of these two men by the Governor closed the matter.

Here again, although numerous witnesses on the subject were named, by Mr. Shelley and Mr. Margiotti. none of these were called. Mr. Temple and Mr. Griffith, the most important of all in this case and the persons upon whom the accused officials rested the blame for the scandal, were given no opportunity to tell the Committee their side of the story.

No attempt whatever was made to examine the books of the Pioneer Materials Company, the Receiver of this Company was not called, and while Verona, one of the principal conspirators, was dead, nevertheless, Spurgeon Bowser. the surviving member of the Pioneer Materials Company, could have been called and we submit should have been called, as it is evident from the record that he knew much about the admitted frauds in connection with this material and this company. It might very well be that he could have thrown light on the question as to who, if any, of the state officials had guilty knowledge of the conspiracy. There seems, to the minority members of the Committee, no excuse for the failure to call Spurgeon Bowser, except it be that he might place the responsibility upon those whom this Administration, from the time the conspiracy was first exposed, attempted to protect.

The only conclusion which can be drawn from the record in regard to the Erie Gravel Scandal is that a conspiracy to cheat and defraud the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the purchase of gravel did exist, and was partly carried out. Whether or not this conspiracy involved high officials of the government cannot be known from this record, because the witnesses and the documentary evidence, such as records of the Pioneer Materials Company were never produced before this Committee; but a strong suspicion arises that a conspiracy of the scope and magnitude of this could not exist and operate without the knowledge of at least some of those officials charged by Margiotti and Shelley with having that knowledge. This subject, like every other subject which was touched upon by the committee, was by no means thoroughly or exhaustively investigated.

In answer to the charges in this connection, the record contains only the bare denials of complicity therein on the part of Arthur Colegrove, David L. Lawrence and Governor Earle; but the fact remains. not only undenied, but admitted, that for months the State Police report of the Erie Gravel Scandal was suppressed, and that this suppression was participated in by numbers of high officials of the Commonwealth and others prominent in the administration.

DENIALS

Governor George H. Earle; David L. Lawrence, Secretary of the Commonwealth; Ralph M. Bashore, Secretary of Labor and Industry; Arthur Colegrove, former Secretary of Property and Supplies; Roy E. Brownmiller, Secretary of Highways; Leo A. Crossen and J. Twing Brooks, members of the Liquor Control Board; Carroll McShane, former Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Safety under the Department of Revenue; Charles Melchiorre, Representative in the General Assembly, appeared before the Committee and made denial of all of the charges which were set forth in the amended Petition as filed by District Attorney Carl B. Sheley in the Dauphin County proceedings.

Almost without exception they were led by counsel for the Committee from paragraph to paragraph of the Petition, and asked whether they admitted or denied the charge made. The questions would not always be in the exact language, but the effect thereof was that they were to generally affirm or deny the allegation.

To most of the questions that were asked. the accused replied with a bare negative. and rarely, even as to obvious facts, answered that they had no knowledge or information.

One of the exceptions to this was Arthur Colegrove, who did relate a number of facts and circumstances pertaining to the purchase of metal equipment, and as to the so-called "Erie Gravel Scandal," which might have proven useful to the Committee if it had been properly investigated.

The minority members of this Committee, weeks before the hearings closed, time after time, demanded that the civil officers charged with these high crimes and misdemeanors be brought before this Committee to explain their connection with the matters involved. It was the hope of the minority group that these officials would appear on a date which would leave time for the Committee to call what witnesses it deemed necessary to refute or corroborate the officials, as well as to search the books and records pertinent to the questions. But this was never done, and these officials were withheld as witnesses until the closing days of the hearings, when they were permitted to walk in, one by one, and make blanket denials, leaving no opportunity for the Committee to call witnesses who might have definite knowledge of the transactions involved.

SUMMARY

While it would be unfair for this Committee to find that any or all of the charges made by the former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti are sustained beyond a reasonable doubt on this record, it would be a travesty on justice for this Committee to say that by the bare denials of the accused they had acquitted themselves of the charges and that they were entitled to the confidence of the people of Pennsylvania.

After twelve weeks of almost continuous hearings we find ourselves at practically the same point at which we were when the Committee was appointed. There are a number of charges that have been made against the Governor and other civil officers. We have blanket denials by a number of the accused of all the charges. The Legislative Session and the Committee created during this Session, have been publicly and widely said to exist for the purpose of whitewashing the accused. We of the minority confirm that opinion. The record of the proceedings of the Committee and the action of counsel employed by it, must sustain that conclusion.

We feel that we can truthfully say that we have exerted every effort, and have devoted our time and our energies during the entire period of this investigation, in an endeavor to develop such facts and evidence from which any fair-minded group would be able to determine whether there was sufficient evidence upon which to base a recommendation to the House, either for or against impeachment.

While counsel for the Committee constantly admonished the members that we were Judges sitting as in a Court of Law, we could not be blinded to the fact that behind the scenes was being enacted such a travesty on justice that it amounted to a fraud on the people of Pennsylvania.

In the first scene appeared the District Attorney of Dauphin County, and the former Attorney General from whom counsel sought to elicit information as to what. in the parlance of the street "they had on" the accused. while endeavoring to keep out of the record anything which they might have heard related by others. The majority at every step tried to place the villain's cloak and mask on the District Attorney and Mr. Margiotti, until it was difficult at times for us to know whether it was the District Attorney and former Attorney General who were being investigated, or Governor Earle and other officials.

The amended Petition filed by District Attorney Shelley was used in such a way that these charges became a text book of counsel for the questions propounded to all witnesses. On many occasions we endeavored to clarify the atmosphere by advancing the thought that while the charges as appeared in the Petition were to be investigated, primarily our job was to investigate the Governor and the others to determine whether they were guilty of any acts which would warrant impeachment.

Of course, the majority and their counsel got themselves into hot water because they were trying to find out what Messrs. Shelley and Margiotti knew and what statements and affidavits they had, and who were the people with information, while endeavoring to keep the same out of the evidence, where it would become public property. This required a bit of legerdemain in the efforts of Counsel to keep out the information, and on the part of Mr. Margiotti to get it in. From where we sat as spectators, the former Attorney General seemed to us to win the contest, although there still remains much testimony which in an investigation conducted according to the procedure heretofore discussed, woul dhave been given by him.

It is also to be noted that much of the condemnation of the accused came from Senator Joseph F. Guffey, who was never requested (except by the minority), to appear before the Committee and give information.

It was the duty of this Committee to try to determine, in the time available to it. whether or not any of the charges were well founded. On looking back over the nearly 8,000 pages of testimony and twelve weeks of time, it will be seen that not a single subject was exhaustively probed, so that the Committee might be able to say whether or not that particular charge was sound or unsound, and to make a recommendation to the House thereon.

True it is that the scope of this inquiry was so broad that no Committee. no matter how sincere and how diligent it may have been, could have within the time completed an investigation of all of the subjects charged. But at least some could have been completed by a sincere effort, and to that extent sound recommendations could have been made to the House.

This Committee must end its work on November 30th, because the term of its Members expire on that date. To all practical intents and purposes the tactics of the majority and the procedure laid down, have deprived the people of Pennsylvania of their right to have properly determined whether these public officers should be impeached, and if guilty so determined by the Senate.

It is a well settled principle of law, best stated in 22 R.C.L. 565, "that an officer cannot be impeached for an act committed during a prior term, and that the remedy (impeachment), is not available after the defendant has gone out of office."

The present Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and those other officers who are cabinet appointees. will go out of office on the 17th day of January. A new Legislature could not be convened until the first of December, and possibly not on that date. To be convened, they would have to be called into special session by the present Governor. As there would be but six weeks remaining of the term of most of the accused, it would not be possible to complete an investigation and secure trials within that time before the Senate.

It may be possible that grave injustice has been done some of these men. It may be possible that high state officials have betrayed the trust and the confidence of the people and may go unwhipped of justice in so far as impeachment is concerned. For causing that condition. we of the minority feel that we are not responsible, but that responsibility lies at the door of the majority and of the Counsel employed to represent the Committee.

The whole question of guilt or innocence will have to be left in the hands of the Courts, where it started many months ago. The accused stand at the place where they were in spite of their frantic efforts to stop a Grand Jury proceeding, except that by the will of the people they have been swept from office.

In concluding this Report, we would like to summarize all that has been said before into what might be considered "Findings and Observations."

They are:

First—That the so-called investigation has been a farce.

Second—That the procedure and tactics employed, were not conducive to securing evidence of witnesses who could shed light on the transactions in which the accused were said to be involved.

Third—That Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. and other witnesses, and the books and records of the accused. of the Democratic Party and many of the witnesses, were not inspected nor produced as would be required as very essential to a proper investigation.

Fourth—In reference to the charge of macing, the Governor, National Committee Chairman for the Democratic Party, and David L. Lawrence, the State Chairman of that Party, denied all knowledge of any plan or program for the collection of money for any of the Campaigns for the four years that they have been in office. Ralph M. Bashore, as Secretary of the Committee, knew of two plans that were proposed, but denied any knowledge of any collection from any employees. As Chairman of the Democratic Committee of the County of Schuylkill, of which he is the Democratic leader, he denied any knowledge whatsoever of the finances of his County Committee. The Treasurer and the books and records of the Party were never produced. The majority, Council for the Committee and the accused, must believe that the minority members, as well as the people of Pennsylvania, are extremely gullible on this subject. Even to the most ignorant of politics, this testimony would make amusing reading.

Fifth—A disproportionate amount of time was consumed in the taking of testimony as to conditions at the Finance Building. This required the services of a person competent to study the blue-prints, specifications and other data, to determine whether the contractor was complying with them. The majority refused to employ such a person, and therefore the only alternative of the minority was to exhaustively examine from every angle. Continually we protested that conditions at the Finance Building were only an element in the whole question of conspiracy.

Sixth—Despite the praise heaped upon the Finance Building by the Executive Director, the Assistant to the Director. and the architect who planned the building, and in spite of the fact that all claimed that there was no criticism and no complaints in reference to that building, the evidence clearly shows that, notwithstanding our many handicaps, many defects were shown, all of which confirmed the testimony of Penrod, one of Shelley's proposed witnesses, and confirmed that the inspection on the building was lax and in many instances non-existent

Seventh—All of the inspectors on this building who appeared before the Committee, knew practically nothing about the specifications which they were required to support and maintain.

The Governor and the others were said to have entered into a conspiracy with Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. to defeat and defraud the Commonwealth in reference to contracts.

In that respect we find the following:

(a) The Governor borrowed large sums of money from Matthew H. McCloskey, owing him at least $10,000 at the time that McCloskey bid upon the Finance Building, and other contracts with the General State Authority.

(b) The Governor was a member of the General State Authority at the time that McCloskey bid, although he said that he never took part in its proceedings after that date. (In this respect it is to be noted that the minutes of the meetings of the General State Authority were not produced to substantiate or refute this charge. In fairness to the State Authority, it must be said that its Counsel had offered us many opportunities to see the minutes before that time in reference to other matters. As the Governor was called on the last day that testimony was taken, no chance was had by the minority to inspect the minutes for the purpose of determining the aforesaid question.)

(c) In the Spring of 1937, the Governor announced at a conference in Washington that Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. would not bid on any of the Authority contracts. In the Summer of that year, McCloskey said he was going to bid. The Governor says that he objected to this, because he felt that Authority contracts were "political contracts." But he stated that he could not prevent McCloskey from bidding, nor prevent a contract being awarded to him.

The Members of the Board of the State Authority are the political associates of the Governor, and most of them are in positions that make them subservient to his wishes. Any objection by the Governor to the Members of the State Authority would undoubtedly hold great weight. But even if he could not have stopped the awarding of contracts to McCloskey, his very objection and reason therefor, should have placed upon him the added responsibility to more diligently follow the performance of the contracts, instead of playing ostrich by closing his eyes and plugging his ears.

As the Governor, he must have known that the inspectors on the building had to have political endorsement before they were accepted.

As a leader in the Democratic Party, he could not help but know that such inspectors would be influenced by the fact that a prominent and leading factor in the Party was the contractor on the building. Complaints against material or workmanship supplied by such persons is not generally conducive to long terms in office on the part of the complainant.

The Governor denied that the fact of the loans had anything to do with his failure to stop McCloskey. Giving him the benefit of the doubt, on his own testimony he is at least guilty of failure to perform his duty, and to see that the people of Pennsylvania received full value for their money, and that the contracts between the Authority and McCloskey were carefully scrutinized.

Eighth—One John Lynam was transferred from the Department of Property and Supplies to the State Authority to work on the specifications for the buildings to be erected. Subsequently he resigned to accompany Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr. on a trip to Europe, the circumstances and inferences of which have been very significantly ignored. Immediately upon his return he was appointed a Deputy Secretary of Property and Supplies.

Ninth—Mr. John Moffitt was the Resident Engineer in charge of inspection on the Finance Building on which McCloskey held the contract. Many of the violations of the specifications occurred while he was responsible for proper inspection. After this investigation started he resigned and was employed by McCloskey as his superintendent on a contract at State College.

All of these matters are given an added significance by the recent public announcement of Secretary Ickes, that formal notice had been given to the General State Authority, that all inspectors recommended by or associated with Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., must be dismissed under penalty of stoppage of federal funds.

Such matters deserve a far more searching and diligent investigation than was made or intended by the majority of this Committee.

Tenth—Another matter that challenges our interest is involved in and arises out of the so-called "Erie Gravel Scandal."

(a) In the year 1935, the Pioneer Materials Company bid to supply gravel to the Commonwealth under a plan which Arthur Colegrove, as Secretary of Property and Supplies, refused to accept because he thought it opened the door to fraud.

The then Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti and David L. Lawrence interceded for the Company and had many conferences with Colegrove in an effort to have him recede from his position.

(b) John Verona, a Democratic politician and leader of Allegheny County, appeared on several occasions with Messrs. Margiotti and Lawrence on behalf of the Pioneer Company.

(c) Subsequently Colegrove complained to Lawrence that there was some relationship between Griffith, the district engineer of the Highway Department, and the Pioneer Materials Company, and that it should be broken up.

(d) Colegrove says he was suspicious because of reports coming to him of inferior material being delivered by the Pioneer Company, and as to the manner in which material was being placed on the roads.

(e) These complaints were made many times during the year 1936 to Messrs. Lawrence and Van Dyke, who was then Secretary of Highways, but nothing was done about it until six months later when Colegrove insisted there was collusion between Griffith, the engineer, and the Pioneer Company.

(f) Griffith was a friend of long standing, and was sponsored by David L. Lawrence.

(g) In the Spring of 1937, almost a year after Arthur Colegrove stated he had first complained of the conditions in Griffith's district, newspapersmen brought the matter to the attention of the Governor, who ordered Major Adams to investigate

(h) When Major Adams made his report to the Governor. he, the Governor, stated nothing was said about the prior complaints of Colegrove, nor the refusal of Lawrence to remove Griffith.

(i) Although the State Police Report contained a flat statement from Colegrove that there was fraud, neither this nor other statements submitted in the police report were given in the public statements made by the Governor.

(j) The Governor stated he gave the report to Judge Kalodner to study. He says, however, that the Judge did not tell him that the report mentioned the names of Messrs. Margiotti and Lawrence, nor that fraud was charged.

(k) Mr. Margiotti says that on many occasions he asked the Governor for the report but never secured it until five or six months later. The Governor confirms this, but excuses the delay by saying that Margiotti always asked him for it at some time when he, the Governor, was at a place other than his office.

(l) In December 1937, Colegrove wrote a letter to the Attorney General which he concluded with the statement that he had evidence as to collusion in addition to that contained in the police report, and that there should be a grand jury investigation. A copy of this letter was sent to the Governor.

(m) The Governor addressed a reply to this letter to Colegrove, telling him that if he had further information to send it to him. This Colegrove never did. The Governor made no further inquiry.

(n) Mortimore Graham, the District Attorney of Erie County requested on many occasions that the police report be turned over to him for the purpose of determining whether a criminal act had been committed in that County.

(o) This the Governor refused to do, saying that the District Attorney would only use it for political purposes.

(p) When the State Police Report was put in evidence before the Committee, the same was withheld from the press.

(q) The Governor says he was advised that the report would not support indictments, and that as he had dismissed the engineers, Griffith and Temple, nothing further was to be done.

(r) The former Attorney General says that the Governor stated to him that he would not give him (Margiotti) the report because he had to protect Lawrence.

This is a strange and curious story. Cabinet officers and close advisers, according to the Governor, told him nothing for a period of almost a year, about the fraudulent and collusive actions of an employee of the Highway Department and a company supplying materials to the State. Nor did his advisers tell him, at the time he received it, that the names of some of his cabinet members appeared in the report.

But on the other hand, to all intents and purposes the report was suppressed by him and kept from the hands of an officer charged with enforcing the law.

On his own story the Governor is either guilty of nonfeasance or malfeasance in office.

Eleventh—Counsel and investigators for the Committee have interviewed a number of witnesses who have given statements tending to sustain the charges and detrimental to the accused. Yet these witnesses have not been produced before the Committee. Such conduct merits our most severe condemnation. It violates all obligations of good faith due this House and the people of the State. It has undermined and destroyed all possibility of this Committee properly discharging the duty for which it was appointed, and is a disgrace to this House under whose authority these proceedings were undertaken.

Twelfth—One of the charges set forth in the District Attorney's amended petition, and a question concerning which was raised in the public charge of Mayor Wilson, pertained to loans of moneys made to the Governor of the Commonwealth by Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., a contractor holding millions of dollars worth of General State Authority contracts.

The Governor admitted making such loans in the total amounts of $26,500, but alleged partial payment thereof, and produced cancelled checks to show payment of principal thereon. No payment of interest was made, nor was any explanation given by the Governor in his testimony as to why these loans were secured from McCloskey rather than from a bank or other lending institutions.

Nor was McCloskey called to affirm or deny the Governor's testimony; nor were the bank records of the account of either of them produced.

We of the minority consider that these loans, the circumstances and conditions under which they were made, are matters deserving a far more rigid and searching investigation than that given them by the Committee and its counsel.

Thirteenth—From photostats of certain records of the Bankers Securities Corporation and other testimony, it was learned that George H. Earle had given a note to J. David Stern, Publisher, or to the New York Post, for $50.000 in payment of a subscription to $50.000 of bonds of that publication. As additional collateral, $22,500 worth of stock belonging to The All Continent Corporation, a holding company for the William Fox interests, was put up for the Governor's loan.

He, the Governor, stated he never knew about the collateral, never paid any of the interest on the loan, never paid anything on account of the loan, which was finally liquidated, as he relates, by the sale of the bonds.

A strange and interesting transaction, certainly requiring further investigation. For the transaction took place during the Session of 1935, and the evidence shows that Warner Brothers, a moving picture outfit, were interested in the said New York Post.

Fourteenth—Another loan of $20,000 was made to the Governor by the Bankers Securities Corporation, of which Albert M. Greenfield, who is engaged in the real estate, insurance and bonding business, is the dominant factor. He, Greenfield, does a large business with the Commonwealth and its Departments.

Fifteenth—Many important witnesses who were vital to a proper investigation were never called. Some of these were:

(a) The truck concerns involved in the payment of $50.000.

(b) Frank Mattis and Mead Mulvihill in reference to the sale of beer legislation.

(c) Matthew H. McCloskey, Jr., who appears in most of the matters heretofore related.

(d) Spurgeon Bowser and the Receiver of the Pioneer Materials Company, as to the sale of gravel, etc.

(e) The engineers, Griffith and Temple, in reference to the Erie Gravel Scandal.

Sixteenth—A $50.000 appropriation, and many other thousands of the people's money have been spent on a Special Session of the Legislature and a mock investigation to defeat the orderly processes of the law.

As a result of the procedure adopted by the majority, the record now includes relevant testimony against some of the accused given by the former Attorney General, Charles J. Margiotti, supported in part by documentary evidence, in part by circumstantial evidence, and in part by the admission of others. Opposed to this testimony stands the bare, blanket denial of the accused.

It might well be said that such allegations and such denials raise a "jury" question, which in this instance should be resolved by a trial by the Senate, in the manner prescribed by the Constitution. Mowever, the fact remains, that the evidence, necessary to tip the scales in either direction, remains hidden in records unproduced by the majority, and in the hundreds of witnesses uncalled by the majority.

On this record stand charges made against public officials, and on the record stand the blanket denials of these officials. Both of these we had in the beginning. We cannot say the former Attorney General failed to support his charges because the majority produced before us only witnesses who had no knowledge of the subject, or could be calculated to deny. The evidence of witnesses who might have supported such charges of the Attorney General, was carefully, and we believe designedly, ignored. The majority of the Committee in some cases has failed, in others has refused, and we believe intentionally so, to produce testimony which lies between the charge and the denial.

Therefore, we the minority, must report to the House of Representatives, and through it to the people of Pennsylvania, that in our opinion the Committee appointed by this House cannot make a complete and proper report based on an intelligent finding of facts. That by reason thereof the House of Representatives is deprived of its power to intelligently and conscientiously discharge the duties placed upon it by the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

The rules and the procedure arbitrarily adopted by the majority of the Committee have made it impossible to conduct the "honest, fair, impartial and searching investigation" charged upon the members of the Committee by the Speaker of the House, and urged by the Governor himself.

The determination of the questions raised by this investigation, and the proper maintenance of the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth as relates thereto, must now rest with the judicial branch of the government. Any other action to be taken must be left to a subsequent Legislature.

Respectfully submitted. November 29, 1938

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

§1. Prefatory Remarks

At first there was a widespread misapprehension of the function of this investigation. Persons throughout the Commonwealth thought that this Commission was a kind of super-police, and that it had been invested not only with police, but also with prosecuting and judicial powers. Demands in great numbers for all types of investigations, into all kinds of alleged wrongs reached the Commission. These varied from requests that the Commission investigate the internal affairs of private corporations, to requests that it look into the failure to pay support orders in divorce cases, and the like. The public seemed to be unaware of, or at least not alive to, the jurisdictional limits of the work we were undertaking.

There were, however, some fundamental and obvious limits on the activities of the Commission. First it was clear that the Commission was not intended as a super-police, nor as a prosecuting or judicial body for the supervision and investigation of the activities of the law enforcement agencies throughout the Commonwealth. On the contrary, it was purely a fact-finding Commission with definite instructions to report its findings and recommendations for the purpose of correcting alleged defects in the law, and abuses and evils in the practice and procedure in the so-called criminal courts. Therefore, its activities would have to be limited to the matters encompassed within those instructions.

At the outset it was obvious that it would be impossible to cover the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It was therefore decided to concentrate the investigative and research work on the larger centers of population.

No attempt has been made to gather exhaustive criminal statistics—rather, we were seeking specific evils, defects and abuses. We have considered that a "system" exists where facts reveal a constant repetition of the same wrongful practice.

After the Commission was organized, it immediately held an executive meeting and designated Chet A. Keyes, Esq., of the Kansas City, Missouri Bar and formerly a special assistant to the United States Attorney General, as General Counsel. The Commission is deeply indebted to Mr. Keyes for his supervisory control of the work of the Commission and for his untiring efforts in analyzing and collating the various suggestions and recommendations presented to the Commission and incorporated in this report.

The Commission also designated A. S. Harzenstein, Esq., as its Chief of Investigation. Mr. Harzenstein holds a similar position with a branch of the United States Treasury Department at Washington, D. C., and was given a temporary leave of absence to carry on this activity. His diligent work, which continued throughout the entire investigation was supplemented by a staff of special investigators loaned to the Commission by the Pennsylvania State Police as well as a number of attorney-accountant-investigators loaned to us by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

The Commission wishes to acknowledge our grateful appreciation to Commissioner Percy W. Foote of the Pennsylvania State Police, and the Hon. Leo A. Crossen of the State Liquor Control Board for this splendid corps of investigators. Their work has been outstanding. Their fidelity and loyalty to the Commission has been unquestioned and bespeaks the type of service which the people of this Commonwealth expect of their law enforcement officials.

Mr. Keyes was assisted in the preparation and editing of the Final Report by Ellwood L. Englander, Esq., Samuel Popper, Esq., Julius Weisglass, Esq., Charles Lakatos, Esq., and Martin I. Rabinovitch, Esq., associate counsel, of the Philadelphia Bar.

Prior to the creation of this Commission, one of the leading daily newspapers in Philadelphia,[1] conducted an extensive investigation into alleged abuses and improper actions in connection with the trial and disposition of criminal cases in that city. This investigation resulted in a series of special articles, showing various phases of these abuses.[2]

The public reaction to the revelations thus made caused Your Excellency to submit the entire matter to the Legislature. The creation of this Joint Legislative Commission was the result.

We considered it our first duty to analyze and investigate each of the cases set forth in the articles mentioned. While the preliminary investigation by the newspapers was conducted by newspaper men and not trained investigators, it was a thorough and intelligent piece of work. Hundreds of witnesses were called to testify before the Commission, and many pages of testimony were stenographically taken. As a result we have in a large measure verified and confirmed the facts revealed in said articles.

After that preliminary survey was made, we were able to go into other phases of the investigation which had been brought to our attention through various sources. In addition to the many public hearings which have been held, there were literally hundreds of conferences and private hearings conducted by members of the Commission, its Chief of Investigation and its General Counsel, at which complainants were heard who did not wish to make public statements, either because they considered the matters involved were too intimate or because they were fearful of personal violence if they were to give evidence in public.

A total of 135 hearings were conducted; approximately 13,000 pages of testimony were stenographically taken and transcribed from a total of 1152 witnesses. Investigations and research have been conducted in 48 counties in this Commonwealth. Whenever a matter under investigation disclosed a present criminal conduct, the complete file was turned over to the appropriate prosecuting officials. During the progress of our work we have turned over to various agencies, State and Federal, a total of 156 separate files. Many of these cases have resulted in indictments and successful prosecutions.

It may be noted that throughout this Report, there are several recommendations which may appear to be inconsistent. By the very nature of the problems involved such a situation is unavoidable. The Legislature may see fit to accept some recommendations and reject others. The adoption of a completely new procedure along certain lines will make minor recommendations not only unnecessary, but conflicting. On the other hand, if the general procedure remains unchanged, certain individual matters require correction.

No effort has been made to list all of the clases or testimony supporting any particular statement, but reference is made to illustrate examples of definite facts clearly established.

The general substance of this Report and the recommendations herein have been approved by the undersigned unanimously. In individual instances there has been an occasional dissent, but every recommendation represents at least a majority decision.

Of course, we have not thought that in this Commission alone resides the wisdom and experience to deal with the problem of a rejuvenated criminal law structure in this Commonwealth and so have called upon the various Judges, District Attorneys, educators and others to present their views and suggestions to the end that every phase of the subjects under consideration be given proper attention.

It is probably self-evident that the effectiveness and efficiency of a Government depends primarily not upon the structure of that Government, but upon the calibre of the men and women who administer it. We desire to state emphatically that the recommendations which we propose do not purport to be a panacea for the difficulties that have beset the Commonwealth in the administration of its criminal justice. We do believe, however, that the changes which we recommend will result in a decided improvement in administration.

[2] The special articles were written by David G. Wittels, Esq.

We wish to make plain the fact that the evils shown and the improper practices revealed are not chargeable to all of the law enforcement officials generally. In a large measure the officials charged with the responsibility of enforcing the criminal laws of this Commonwealth are hard-working, honest and courageous. To these officials we pay the highest tribute. They are entitled to the best tools and machinery with which to work. Our suggestions and recommendations are made with that thought in mind—the thought that we must first take into consideration what is best for the welfare of the general public. After the safety of the public is guarded, then the welfare, reform and rehabilitation of the criminal may be taken into account. So far in the United States, the public seems to be of the opinion that these principles have been reversed.

We approach the task of making recommendations with considerable hesitation. Personnel matters differ in the various parts of the Commonwealth—suggestions which may work in one city or county, may fail in others. But we hope to leave with Your Excellency and the Legislature something concrete, something practical; at least we offer some ideas which are specific enough to be debatable. We are aiming at long run results rather than temporary expedients.

§ 2. General Statement

The lengthening shadow of crime—and particularly organized crime—falls upon us all. Its cost in terms of public expenditure, private loss, physical disability and sudden death defies all efforts at calculation. Above and beyond such concrete losses is the social disintegration which occurs under the continuous impact of criminal operations. Unles successfully checked, crime detroys the whole fabric of society, and degrades the malefactor and the innocent alike. Ultimately, crime forces control the operations of government itself, and when that occurs the law-abiding citizen is left helpless before criminal attacks. Popular self-government cannot long survive such ills, and eventually succumbs. That has been the experience of other lands than ours, and of other civilizations than ours. We can and must profit by their unhappy example.

This is a time for plain speaking. The campaign against crime is not a matter for independent action and detached treatment by public and private agencies. If our aims are to be realized, it will prove essential to have concerted action and close coordination of all parts of the criminal justice machine. One of our principal errors has been that we have thought and acted in terms of the police alone, or of prisons alone, or of courts, or prosecution, or parole, and have directed our attention to the improvement of each of these separately without any persistent attempt to correlate their independent activities.

All of us must boldly determine to destroy all corrupt connections with these agencies. We refer not alone to the outright sale of public justice for a cash consideration, but also to the subtle system of barter which conceals the real elements of these corrupt transactions, while trading upon a multitude of social, economic and political ties. The only sure protection against such influences is the character and integrity of our justice officers. This in turn means that appointing authorities, both State and local, as well as all voting citizens, must be alert to protect this vital feature of our governmental system.

We have before us the ideas, suggestions, and recommendations from every source; letters and questionnaires were sent to Judges, members of the Bar, editors of newspapers, ministers, criminologists penologists, psychiatrists and others who were known experts and pecialists in this field, in this Commonwealth as well as elsewhere. The general public was invited through the public press, to participate, as it will eventually have to meet all the costs of crime, but whose interests have not as yet been adequately protected.

The response was overwhelming, as shown by the tremendous amount of material furnished.

This quickening of public interest and concern is of special moment, because it means that the greatest single obstacle to a successful program of crime suppression, can be removed. So long as the general public is indifferent to the challenge thrown down by the criminal, the best efforts of able and conscientious justice administrators are thwarted.

A large number of public hearings were held in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Interested public bodies sent their officers; judges from various parts of the Commonwealth voluntarily appeared, as well as lawyers, public officials and experts in various fields. We are much indebted to these high-minded citizens for their wholehearted cooperation. We realize the sacrifice in time and effort they had to make in order to assist this Commission in the preparation of this program for the improvement of criminal justice.

To The National Probation Association; The Pennsylvania Prison Society; The Committee of Seventy; The Philadelphia County Medical Society; The Crime Prevention Division of the Philadelphia Department of Public Safety; The Northeast Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce; The Philadelphia Criminal Justice Association; The Philadelphia Voluntary Defender Association; The Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania; The Philadelphia Psychiatric Society; The State Psychiatric Service; The State Mental Hygiene Committee; The State Medical Society of Pennsylvania; The Prison Association of New York; The Federal Bureau of Prisons; The Allegheny County Behavior Clinic; The Philadelphia Bar Association; The Pennsylvania Bar Association; The Association of Police Chiefs of Pennsylvania; The Association of District Attorneys of Pennsylvania; The Crime Prevention Association of Philadelphia; The Boy Scouts of America; The Interstate Commission on Crime; The Federal Parole Department; The University of Pennsylvania Law School; The State Liquor Control Board; The Temple University Law School; The Criminal Justice Section of the American Legion; The Legislative Reference Bureau, through its director, John H. Fertig; The various State Executive Departments; The Illinois Division of Pardons and Paroles; The United States Department of Justice; The New York Division of Parole; The California Board of Paroles; The American Judicature Society; The American Bar Association; The Grand Jurors Association of New York City; and others, all of which have conducted extensive studies in criminal justice, we wish to express appreciation of their help. Some of the recommendations which we shall present to Your Excellency in this Report have originated in the serious labors of those public bodies.

Two of the principal obstacles to effective criminal justice, are inadequate administrative machinery and inefficient officials to operate our mechanism of justice. Of course, the Legislature cannot cure the faults in the local administrative machinery. The chief responsibility for curing such faults lies with the local communities themselves. The cities, towns and villages in preponderant measures determine the extent and character of the police, the prosecuting and judicial service which each community is to receive.

Much the same is true of crime prevention activities, of probation, a wide variety of local detention, penal and correctional institutions, and of parole supervision over persons released on parole by the courts. In all of these fields, the local units of government are primarily responsible, and will continue to be responsible so long as we adhere to our present system. Public opinion can and ought to make improvement of these local agencies. Wherever our research has disclosed an evil which could be corrected by legislative action, we have made such recommendation.

Serious obstacles to effective criminal justice are also found in the defects in the criminal law itself—in the definition of crimes, the provisions of penalties and procedural defects of many kinds. As to these obstacles, we are directing a definite legislative program. Its enactment will go far, we are convinced, to remove completely these barriers to speedy and certain conviction and sentence of our vicious criminal element, and eliminate in a large measure the public criticism engendered by our present system. These will be treated hereinafter under their respective subject headings.

In this Report we are presenting a number of concrete recommendations. Some of them have previously been before the Legislature. Also, we realize that other worthwhile recommendations may be submitted to Your Excellency and the Legislature from various other sources. What we need, is effective action for concrete practical results to solve the problems before us. Such action should be as non-partisan as crime itself.

Let us make it clear that we are not in the least bit concerned as to whether these recommendations are translated into legislative enactment by bills sponsored by Republicans or Democrats. What we desire is to have the recommendations presented in this Report adopted. We urge that they be presented and adopted during the next session because we believe they are in the immediate interest of the public.

We trust that no one will seek to prevent the enactment of these recommendations by shackling this program with political consideration, political bickering or attempts to gain so-called political advantage. The people in Pennsylvania are not interested in the stimulation of political dispute. The people are anxious to strengthen the arm of law-enforcement in order to destroy racketeering and major crime.

It is hoped that both major parties will consider this subject of the reform of criminal justice administration of such importance that they will place it in their respective party platforms and thus remove it from partisan party politics.

More and more we realize the tremendous importance of strengthening our law-enforcement machinery. More and more we appreciate the absolute need of destroying racketeering and major crime. If Your Excellency and the Legislature can jointly advance along the lines suggested in this Report, we are quite certain the people of this Commonwealth will consider the results of your labors to be as important, if not the most important, as any service that could be rendered.

§ 3. Findings of Fact

Numerous questionable practices by Clerks of Courts, District Attorneys, Court Officials and Courts have been brought to light as a result of our investigation. No attempt has been made to list all of these, but the following is a general summary. Other abuses will be found hereinafter under particuar section headings:

The Commission has found that reconsiderations and modifications of sentences have been made by the Courts after the term has expired;[3] that such matters have been handled privately in chamber instead of in open court; that defendants after entering pleas of nolo contendere have been found not guilty by the Court;[4] that provisions of the Probation Act are ignored in that probations have been granted to defendants convicted of crimes for which the Act provides that there shall be no probation; that probation has been allowed to defendants who have previously served time in prison; that problem has been granted to persons with long criminal records, notwithstanding the provisions of the Act that no probation should be granted unless the Court believes the character of the defendant is such that he is not likely again to engage in an offensive course of conduct and that the Court believes the public good does not require the defendant to suffer the penalty imposed by law.[5]

The Commission has further found that contrary to the Act of Assembly and Rules of Court, paroles have been granted in many cases without a formal petition being filed; without required notice being given to the District Attorney's office; without proper posting of notice at the District Attorney's office; without required notice being given to the prosecutor; without a definite date for the hearing being set; without including in the petition any statement of the prisoner's criminal record; without a hearing in open court or two judges being present; without required notice to the Director of Public Safety; without any notes of testimony being taken; and in some cases without any of the requirements being met, as in one case where the parole was granted by mail and the judge instructed someone else that he could sign his name to the order;[6] that paroles are refused by the Court when formal petitions are presented by attorneys, but are granted shortly thereafter upon the request of a politician or favored lawyer;[7] that no regular check is made to determine whether the arrested criminal was on parole or probation at the time of his arrest and to revoke such previous parole or probation.[8]

[3] See Section 43.
[4] See Section 44.
[5] See Section 70.

The Commission has also found that in numerous cases Courts have required defendants acquitted by a regular trial jury to furnish excessive bail to "keep the peace," and upon failure to furnish said bail the defendants have been committed to jail. This has been done without any formal charge being filed or legal hearing held.[9]

The Commission further finds several cases in which the penalty for the offense was only a fine, but the Court deferred sentence from time to time, with the practical result that the defendants served time in jail,[10] but that in another case the deferred sentence was used to keep a defendant out of jail as he was allowed his freedom on bail, while his sentence was indefinitely postponed.[11]

The Commission further finds that in some cases the Court does not have the ocmplete criminal record of the defendant before passing sentence, with the result that frequent offenders receive light sentences;[12] that exhibits which are to be used in evidence are not always given into the custody of a single responsible individual, but are in many cases taken in charge by the magistrate, or by the Mayor, who acted as a Committing Magistrate, so that they become lost or misplaced at time of trial, resulting in a failure of prosecution;[13] that cases are postponed time after time without any reason being given;[14] that many criminals are acquitted or discharged due, frequently, to lack of preparation by the District Attorney. the improper presentation of evidence, or the failure to have the proper witnesses on hand;[15] that in some cases important witnesses essential to a complete case were not subpoenaed; that in some drunken driving cases the Police Surgeon has failed to appear, with the result that acquittal is directed;[16] that in at least one case in which a well known numbers banker was a defendant, together with a number of lesser defendants, subpoenas were sent to witnesses containing the name of only one of the minor defendants with the result that the witnesses had no knowledge or evidence prepared on the case for which they were to testify;[17] that no permanent record is kept of all subpoenas that are issued; that the clerk merely copies the names of witnesses from the bill of indictment;[18] that no proper record is kept by the Philadelphia Police Department to show whether the subpoena has been served;[19] that in a number of cases where a defendant who is out on bail fails to appear and the bail is forfeited, that such bail is not sued out, no judgment taken, and no collection made.[20]

Investigation has disclosed the practice of postponing trials time after time until the case comes up before a particular judge who is known to be generally lenient or even friendly to the defendant;[21] that in many cases fines were imposed and were never paid and no effort has been made to collect them;[22] that in many cases, particularly in the cases that on their face looked questionable, no notes of testimony were taken;[23] that despite a Philadelphia rule of court to the contrary, clerks of court have been found to have posted bail in criminal cases, sometimes with the permission of a judge.[24]

Investigation has further disclosed that criminal court records in Philadelphia County are often kept in a careless manner;[25] that in many cases reconsiderations, probations, and other orders of the court are written out by a clerk of the court and not signed by the court;[26] that orders for remission of fines are often shown only by the clerk's notation, and bear no signature of a judge or other record showing the remittance to be a judicial act; that in some cases reputable defendants have testified before the Commission that they paid their fines and forgot all about the matter, whereas the court record indicates that these fines were remitted, with no indication that the fine was ever paid;[27] that in many cases fines have been remitted at the request of a politician;[28] that in some cases of conviction for drunken driving the record was not certified to Harrisburg as required by law; and that in some cases in which a defendant has been convicted of drunken driving and his license was not revoked, he has continued to obtain his license and was not required to post any bond or security;[29] that important papers are difficult to find.[30]

Investigation has disclosed that there is considerable jury tampering in many parts of the State;[31] that the present method of selecting juries in many counties is a direct invitation to Embracery;[32] that there were many cases of substitution of jurors in Philadelphia County; and that testimony by jurors before the Commission disclosed that they were excused from jury duty and that they never signed any pay vouchers, yet their names appeared upon vouchers for pay;[33] that jurors were, in numerous cases, influenced by the conduct of the Court itself; that in one case a judge threatened a juror with contempt if "he did not go along with the rest of the jury,"[34] and that the Court instructed the clerk to see to it that certain jurors were drawn as foremen on certain juries.[35]

The Commission has further found cases in which costs of prosecution are assessed on a public officer by a jury and that the Court has refused to remit costs even though no evidence of malice on the part of the prosecutor has been shown.[36]

Abuses of authority by magistrates have been shown to exist in that defendants are released from jail by sentencing magistrates before they have served their terms in prison, although a magistrate has no authority to parole or modify a sentence;[37] that there was considerable abuse in the matter of release on "copies of the charge"; that the Act of 1937 designed to curb this practice is still being evaded[38] that efforts to take the magistrates out of politics have had no practical effect, as numerous cases of political favors have still been brought to the attention of the Commission; and that the Chief Magistrate himself (Philadelphia County) has refused to abide by the provisions of the law requiring approval of all bail by a Bail Commissioner.[39]

The Commission has further found that in the majority of cases the business of professional bondsmen borders on a racket; that they employ numerous straw men to put up bonds;[40] that they overcharge in many cases;[41] that they have connections in police stations and with certain clerks of courts and attorneys, which lend themselves to the easy fixing of cases;[42] that in many cases when certain defendants fail to appear and the bondsman fears that bail will be sued out, he has transferred his property to relatives or other straw parties;[42] that in some cases where a defendant is called for trial and he does not appear the bondsman has procured a substitute for the defendant and thus avoided forfeiture of the bond.[43]

The Commission has found that some "third degree" methods and the confinement of prisoners in "cold storage" are still used by police;[45] and that gun permits are granted to persons with criminal records and bad reputations.[46]

The Commission has found that in Philadelphia County where Lunacy Commissions are appointed to pass upon the transfer of insane prisoners from a penal institution for mentally deficients, that the two doctors and attorney who are assigned to sit as such commission are, in a great many cases, selected from a small clique and that the "reasonable fee" allowed them in accordance with the terms of the Act of Assembly is $200.00 each, although the actual duty of examining the patient has been previously carried out by the psychiartists regularly connected with the institution; and the "reasonable fee" allowed by judges in other counties is seldom more than $25.00 and generally $5.00 or $10.00.[47]

The Commission has had considerable opportunity to note the general effect on citizens of the community of these questionable practices in the Courts, and their feelings in regards to such matters. The Commission has found that the expressed attitude of a large number of citizens does not reflect a proper respect for our system of criminal justice; that their feeling (whether based on fact or not) is that it is much easier to get a case "fixed" than it is to go to trial regularly; and that in one case at least, a witness before the Commission was so disgusted with the way the case was handled and the obvious manner in which it was "bounced out," that he stated "that if ever again he witnessed a crime being committed, he would turn his head away rather than take a chance of being subpoenaed to attend court time after time and then seeing the whole matter obviously 'fixed'."[48]

CHAPTER II

CRIME PREVENTION

§ 4. Crime Prevention Generally

Crime prevention is the most appealing phase of the entire crime problem. Every year more recruits are added to the long list of known criminals and juvenile delinquents. The average age of prison inmates is twenty-three years, but the largest age group is composed of those nineteen years old. Moreover, the tragic truth is that the first offender in the legal sense is frequently an old offender in the eyes of the parent, the neighborhood, the attendance officer, the police officer, the social officer, the social worker and the church. Even though there were an immediate release of all prison inmates, the cells would begin to refill overnight, the largest group of recruits being those who were in the schoolroom only four and five years ago.

We must place more emphasis on prevention. The reformation of the adult criminal with fixed habits, and mental patterns is obviously difficult and very expensive. Real economy demands that measures be developed to discover, diagnose and eliminate personal, educational, economic and social conditions that produce warped personalities, especially during the impressionable periods of childhood and adolescense. Many of the problems incident to other aspects of crime, such as those dealing with detection, arrest, trial and commitment, and post-institutional care and control, lend themselves to specific remedial legislation. However, the multiple factors entering into the causation of crime preclude a specific formula. While we have no specific authority to conduct a research into the subject of crime prevention, we feel that it is a basic and integral part of the entire problem under consideration. Therefore, it is our duty to state these conclusions which have been developed through our investigations and research. A preventive program is harder to organize than a curative or punitive program. The fundamental aspects of a prevention program center around the personality problems of the individual on the one hand and his social setting on the other hand. Inadequate personality, especially lack of intelligence and emotional balance; the broken, poverty-stricken home in the slum area; maladjustment in school; lack of wholesome recreation; inadequate vocational guidance and training; unemployment; blind-alley jobs and inadequate wages; lack of contact with religious and wholesome social agencies all these potent deficiencies create anti-social attitudes in the predelinquent long before he is called before the bar of justice.

While we are convinced that a new governmental agency is required to develop an effective prevention program, such a plan predicates increased rather than lessened responsibility in such basic agencies as our schools, our churches, local crime prevention bureaus and social agencies generally, that mould for good or evil the lives of the predelinquents. Each must meet this challenge: "Does your work at the present time measure up to the demands of society in its fight to eliminate crime?"

For example, in terms of their present curricula, vocational programs, modes of administration, contacts with parents and relationship to community life, do our schools prevent or create maladjustments which are the foundation of school failures, lack of progress, truancy, and the anti-social attitudes that are the warning signals of predelinquency? Do our several dominant religious organizations meet the needs of the community by inculcating high standards of personal and social behavior? Do our local police departments conceive their work in terms of prevention as well as apprehension? Have they evidenced special interest by establishing properly organized and soundly conceived juvenile aid or crime prevention programs?[49]

Are our own community programs for recreation sufficiently complete and attractive to compete successfully with the alley, the dance hall, the pool room and certain types of demoralizing commercialized recreation? Do local communities permit the development of slum areas that breed crime? Does local business condone and profit by the ingenious forms of extortion devised by the racketeer?

We raise such questions in order to emphasize the fact that crime prevention is a complex problem and that the standards of morality and integrity of the people in the community are an important factor in the delinquency habits of juveniles. Crime prevention must always be regarded as primarily a local problem, and programs must be developed in accordance with local needs. Yet the Commonwealth can and must assist in the development of a program of crime prevention that should prove as profitable as have similar programs in the field of health. No lasting progress can be made unless there is developed in communities throughout the Commonwealth a sense of responsibility for an adequate, constructive, continuing program of prevention. Such a program must be developed in cooperation with the schools, the churches, associations of parents, social and civic organizations.[50]

We recommend that there be set up within the Executive Department, a Bureau of Crime Prevention, the function of which shall be to assume leadership in the stimulation, development and coordination of local crime prevention activities. This bureau should:

(a) Stimulate State departments to develop their facilities and methods to control the factors entering into delinquency and crime.

(b) Visit, study, and evaluate conditions in communities throughout the State and advise local agencies as to the organization and development of needed programs.

(c) Collate, interpret and publicize statistics and reports relating to the problem of juvenile delinquency and crime.

(d) As need arises, prepare and sponsor legislation bearing upon the many specific problems incident to crime prevention.

The bureau of crime prevention should consist of a competent director, possessed of liberal education and technical knowledge and experience, together with special qualifications for advisory work; and an advisory council of ten members, appointed by the governor, to include representatives of agencies interested in the fundamental problems of crime prevention. In addition, there should be field workers sufficient in number and competency to do the work of the bureau.

That the proposed bureau should be created admits of on doubt.[51] The continuous attention and intelligent planning that the bureau can do will be a progressive step in the field of prevention and the ultimate reduction of crime. The coordination of existing agencies, the planning to meet local needs, and above all, the stimulation, publicity and approval that the bureau can provide are essential to an effective program if we are to stop the flow of juvenile delinquency at its source.

CHAPTER III

DETECTION AND APPREHENSION

§ 5. Consolidated Police Units

Despite some notable advancecents in police technique, the are still many grave faults in police organization and management. Under our system, by which the State delegates major responsibility for police control to the local communities, these are matters which must be solved by local action. There are encouraging signs in some of our larger population centers of an awakening sense of local responsibility of a determination to weaken and destroy political influence in police administration, and of a desire to employ the many resources which an age of science has made available. While such problems are primarily of local concern, the State should stand ready at all times to aid in their solution.

Meanwhile, there are a number of matters in which the local communities are wholly dependent upon the State for legislative action and in which the police find that they are unduly handicapped in the performance of their duties. Our recommendations are directed against these specific defects.

We call your attention to the unfavorable influence which the small, poorly equipped police force exercises upon the larger problems of police administration. It is inevitable that a consolidation of police units will ultimately be carried out on a large scale. The trend toward this consolidation is even now well-defined in several other States. We believe the principle generally is sound, efficient and economical.

As a means for more expeditiously securing such consolidation of police resources, we recommend optional legislation which will permit two or more municipalities to consolidate the police units within their boundaries, and thus to modernize their own first line of defense against the criminal element.[52]

§ 6. Personnel: State Police

At the last Legislative Session, the State Police was placed under the jurisdiction of Your Excellency. Additional personnel has been added, and a criminal investigation unit was set up with a number of specially qualified officers assigned to this unit.

We recommend that this unit be strengthened and enlarged and that a crime laboratory be established therein, which will make the unit the outstanding service of its kind in the United States. This is in line with the traditionally honorable, efficient and effective record of the Pennsylvania State Police.[53]

§ 7. Personnel: Police Training

Police training in this Commonwealth has advanced during the past twenty years in the division of State Police. In the larger cities and in a number of communities of moderate size, the systematic training of police recruits is a basic requirement. The highly commendable efforts to extend this essential instruction in the policeman's art to the smaller forces have yielded some striking results while demonstrating that the full limtis of a purely voluntary system may have been reached. Municipal officials and police allies now look to the State to provide methods by which police training may be made compulsory for all.

We recommend that a system of police training be set up which shall coordinate the existing facilities maintained by municipalities, by the State and by the Federal Government, and that the State require that all police recruits hereinafter inducted into service by any city, county, town, village or sub-division of the State, be trained in approved schools now maintained or hereafter established by police departments; and that such recruits must receive a certificate of qualification from such school as a prerequisite for such employment. Full advantage should be taken of such instruction as is now offered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice in Washington.

§ 8. The "Third Degree" and "Cold Storage"

The Commission has found no systematic use of the so-called "third degree" in Pennsylvania. However, closely allied to this subject is the matter of "Cold Storage."[54] Testimony before the Commission discloses the fact that persons arrested by the Philadelphia Police are sometimes held incommunicado and are not permitted to see friends, relatives or counsel for several days at a time and are not slated or brought before a Magistrate during that time. This is a clear violation of the law and no legislation is needed to remedy the situation. Such practice will continue to exist so long as it is countenanced by the authorities. Francis Fisher Kane, Esq., President of the Pennsylvania Prison Society, in his statement to the Commission says,[55] "Philadelphia greatly needs a separate House of Detention and we hope that the movement to secure such an institution will bring in its train a better treatment of the untried prisoner. We want to have it definitely settled that prisoners shall, upon being held for further hearing or for court, be directly sent to the House of Detention in obedience to the order of commitment and not held by the police either at the City Hall or in the station houses of the city. This will go a long way toward preventing third degree and incommunicado. And secondly, if we can secure for the House of Detention adequate medical service, and have all persons examined upon entrance, with a record made of their physical condition, not only will the courts be assisted in the trial and disposition of cases, but a check at the outset will be placed upon police brutality."

§ 9. Police Officer as Witness

We find that in Philadelphia, when a police officer makes an arrest while on duty and he is later needed to testify before the court or magistrate, if the hearing or trial is scheduled for an hour or date on which he is off duty, he is required to attend such trial on his own time and is not given the equivalent time to make up for it.

This is hardly conducive to good law enforcement since it places a premium on lack of activity.

§ 10. Physicians to Report Gun Shot Wounds

Several states have made it mandatory for physicians to report to the local police officials, the treatment of bullet or gun shot wounds immediately, at least within twenty-four hours, together with other information pertinent to the subject. It is recommended that a similar statute be enacted in Pennsylvania.

§ 11. Private Detectives

The present act[56] governing the licensing of private detectives provides that they be licensed by the Quarter Sessions Court of the county wherein their principal office is located, and that no license be granted until "satisfactory proof of the competency and integrity" of such persons shall be made to the Court.

We have found many instances where persons with criminal records and notoriously bad reputations as law violators have been granted such licenses. It has also become a practice for private detectives to obtain licenses in one county, and immediately move to another. The evils of this practice are apparent.

It is advisable, therefore, that the law relating to the licensing of private detectives, and private detective agencies, be strengthened, and to that end we recommend that the present act be amended to provide that petitions to the Court of Quarter Sessions contain an affidavit setting forth the following:

(a) Applicant's full name, age and residence address.

(b) That he is a citizen of the United States and 21 years of age or over.

(c) That he has resided in the county for a period of at least two years immediately preceding the filing of such affidavit, and that he intends to conduct his business in that county.

(d) That he has never been convicted of any crime (minor traffic violations excepted) under the laws of this Commonwealth, or of any other State, or of the United States.

(e) That applicant has never used any other name, or if he has, a list of all names used and the reason for using same.

(f) His experience and qualifications.

The act should further include the provision that any false statement contained in any such affidavit shall constitute perjury, and be punishable as such.

The applicant should also be required to furnish, in addition to his photograph as now required, a copy of his fingerprints, together with a certificate by the head of the local Police Department, or the State Police, that said fingerprints have been forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the report from said Bureau should be attached thereto.[57]

CHAPTER IV

MAGISTRATES

§ 12. Magistrates Generally

In its investigation into the criminal courts this Commission did not directly investigate any proceedings before magistrates. However, the Magistrates' Courts of the State play so integral a part in the enforcement and administration of the criminal law, and to such a large extent is respect for law determined by the respect for magistrates, that they cannot be entirely ignored. Some investigation into Magistrates and Magistrates' Courts was necessary, although incidental to the main work of the Commission.

This Commission is aware of the investigation conducted by the Commission Appointed at the Recommendation of the Special Grand Jury of 1935 to Study and Recommend Improvements in the Laws Relating to Magistrates and Magistrates' Courts in the City of Philadelphia, and the legislation adopted pursuant thereto; and feels that this subject has been well covered.

§ 13. Abuses

We found among others, the following specific abuses: modifying sentences after conviction and releasing prisoners from jail before the complete sentence has been served,[58] and sentencing for offenses which are not subject to summary conviction.[59]

§ 14. Abuses: Copy of the Charge

Another practice prevalent in Philadelphia County has been the matter of releasing prisoners on "copy of the charge," without bail. An attempt was made to cure this evil in the Magistrates' Act of 1937 which provided that no one should be released except on bail. Some of the Magistrates, by agreement, have decided that they can get around this law by requiring a nominal $1.00 bail. This is obviously a subterfuge, and appears an unnecessary one, since the less serious crimes are either exempt from this provision, or can be punished summarily.

§ 15. Abuses: Removal of Persons

We find that a peculiar practice has long been prevalent in the Philadelphia County in cases where a person is arrested in that county, for an offense committed in another county, and on a warrant issued in that other county. Numerous cases are on record wherein local magistrates have held preliminary hearings for prisoners who have been charged with crimes in other counties. In some cases[60] magistrates have decided that there was not sufficient evidence to hold the prisoner for court, discharged him, and informed the officers who had come to remove the prisoner that they could not have him.

A formal opinion-[61] from the Attorney General advised that the alderman or justice of the county in which the arrest is made is limited to the taking of bail from the defendant for his appearance at the court having jurisdiction of the crime [62] and may not summon witnesses and hold a preliminary hearing. This opinion further advised that if the defendant did not wish to give bail, he could waive the procedure outlined and be taken directly before an alderman or justice in the county in which the offense was committed.

The act quoted in the opinion of the Attorney General covers the subject of preliminary hearing by silence only.

It is recommended, therefore, that legislation be adopted explicitly limiting magistrates in an asylum county to the taking of bail, and explicitly stating that no preliminary hearing should be held in cases of this kind.

§ 16. Political Activity

In passing, furthermore, it should be mentioned that the mere legislating of magistrates out of politics has not, in fact, removed them from politics. Your Commission, though not looking for them, has had numerous recent cases of political favors by magistrates called to its attention.

We find, also, a disregard by one Magistrate for the Act of June 25, 1937, P. L. 466,[63] and this despite the fact that all other magistrates in Philadelphia, all the local judges, and even the United States Commissioners are cooperating with the Bail Commissioner and abiding by the law.

Legislation alone can not correct administrative abuses of the present law. They spring from defects of character in the individual, and in that respect the remedy for them can be supplied only by the people themselves at the polls.[64]

§ 17. Mayor as Committing Magistrate

There are several statutes dealing with the authority of the Mayor of Philadelphia to sit as a committing magistrate.

One [65] states that "the Mayor shall have all jurisdiction and power of a committing magistrate throughout the city." Section 2 of the same act empowers the Mayor to appoint any one of the magistrates to sit as "committing magistrate at the police station adjoining the office of the Mayor."

[56] Act of May 23, 1887, P. L. 173.

[57] These recommendations are in line with those made in Section 31 in reference to Gun Permits.

[58] See Case 502.

[59] See Case 486.

[60] See Case SU 172.

[63] Bail Approval Commissioner Act, requiring real property taken as bail to be first approved by the Bail Commissioner before the prisoner is released.

[64] Report by the Commission appointed at the Recommendation of the Grand Jury, etc.

[65] Act of March 28, 1860, P. L. 318, Section 1. See also Act of 1789, 2 Sm. L. 462, Section 19, and Act of 1919, P. L. 581, Art. II, Section 6.

Another act[63] simply gives the Mayor the right to appoint someone "learned in the law to sit as committing magistrate at the central police station in the said city, during the term for which the Mayor shall be elected."

The practice has always been to designate one of the sitting magistrates to preside at the central police station. During the present administration, however, the Mayor has on repeated occasions acted as a committing magistrate and in many instances has created attending unnecessary newspaper publicity bringing the administration of criminal justice into public criticism and condemnation. It is questionable whether the Mayor still retained jursdiction, having once appointed some one else to act as committing magistrate for him, to sit in such cases. In any event, the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia should be sufficiently burdened by his regular duties and should not be tempted to lower the dignity of his high office by undertaking extraneous duties which can be quite capably fulfilled by officials regularly designated.

It is recommended, therefore, that all legislation empowering the Mayor of Philadelphia to sit as committing magistrate be repealed.

CHAPTER V

BAIL BONDS AND BONDSMEN

§ 18. The Professional Bondsman

Every rattlesnake shelters in his den a bat and an owl. The lair of every professional criminal feeds and shelters a shady lawyer and a crooked bail bondsman. There exists a close alliance between some criminal lawyers and the professional bondsman, which often goes into an agreement to share proceeds. "A good thief in jail is no good at all." lamented a prominent member of the criminal Bar. A thief in jail is no good to the lawyer, to the bondsman, to the receiver of stolen goods, to the dope-seller, or to any one of a dozen vultures, who take his booty and keep him always in sore need.

An habitual criminal out on bond is a desperate and dangerous man. He must have money at once for the vultures or go back to jail. No one who sees him come down the steps of the police station, after his release on bond, doubts in the least his dark purpose and dangerous destination.[67]

§ 19. The Professional Bondsman: Mulcting "Clients"

The bond racket is a cancer in our enforcement system. Cases have been called to our attention[68] where these professional bondsmen have preyed upon ignorant persons and have taken unfair advantage of their "clients." We find one situation where a professional bondsman charged $85.00 for simply taking a woman to the Bail Clerk's office where she put up her own home for bail. She stated she did not understand that her property was being so used.

§ 20. The Professional Bondsman: "Fixing"

The professional bondsman is a great source of "fixing." In one county the clerk of Court, for example, handles some bonds which are posted in connection with liquor license applications and he saw to it that at least on one occasion a case against one of his "clients" was nolle prossed, stating frankly that he had it nolle prossed because he did not want to take any chance of forfeiture on his bond. Another one of the evils of the professional bondsmen is the so-called "substitution of defendants." Complaints have come to this Commission that occasionally where a case is called for trial and the defendant does not appear, arrangements are made by the bondsman with the powers-that-be to have another person answer to the name of the defendant and then receive a suspended sentence or probation, thus preventing any forfeiture of the bond.[69] The relationship between professionals and court officials results in great improprieties. Clerks and police solicit business for and recommend bondsmen; often "tip-off" bondsmen as to the amount of valuables taken from a defendant and thus give an indication of what may be collected as a fee for signing a bond.

§ 21. The Professional Bondsman: Absence of Records

Professional bondsmen who testified before the Commission all admitted that they kept no record whatever of their bail activities,[70] and could give no information as to what cases or for what persons they entered bail, except what they could recall from memory and most of it was very feeble, perhaps intentionally so.

§ 22. The Professional Bondsman: Inconsistency of

Why, in the United States, do we have professional bondsmen when England, the country from which we borrowed all our theories and practices regarding bail, will not permit them? Not only is it a criminal offense in England to charge one a fee for furnishing bail, but to indemnify bail is a crime in itself. . . . England has never lost sight of the original theory regarding bail. That theory is that the reputation of the accused must be such that some reputable and responsible freeholder is willing to come and pledge his property for the defendant, which is prima facie evidence at least that the accused is not unsafe to be at liberty until his guilt or innocence is determined.[71]

§ 23. The Professonal Bondsman: Regulation of

It is recommended that legislation be enacted strictly regulating such professional bondsmen; accurately defining who is a professional bondsman, for example one who enters bail more than three times per year, or some such number, and including in the definition any one who solicits for or recommends or suggests any bondsman and receives any fee, commission, gratuity, etc. for so doing; providing that every applicant who desires to operate as such be thoroughly investigated; licenses issued; providing for a schedule of maximum fees they should be permitted to charge in various types of cases keeping of records; restrictions in reference to their use of runners; laws prohibiting the police or clerks of court from acting as agents for such bondsmen, forbidding straw parties etc.[72]

§ 24. Posting of Bail by Attorneys and Government Employees

It is also recommended that a law be enacted or rules of court be adopted prohibiting the posting of bail by a Court official, attorney, or employe of the Federal, State or Municipal government, except for an immediate member of the family.

The Rules of the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County prohibit clerks from posting bail in criminal cases. Investigation discloses that this rule is not always adhered to and is frequently violated with the knowledge of the Judges themselves.[73]

The opportunity for "fixing" by officials is always present. Our records contain an example where three men committed a crime jointly and were equally guilty. A clerk of the Court, in violation of the Court rule, was permitted to sign the bail for two of them and they were then at liberty until trial, while the third defendant could not make bail and remained in jail. At the trial they were all convicted, but the two defendants with whom the clerk was friendly were placed on parole and the third defendant served his full time.[74] This sort of situation engenders in the mind of the public a lack of respect for the administration of criminal justice.

§ 25. Uncollected Bail

The great difficulty with our bail system is that bondsmen have no fear of their bail being forfeited and collected. Of the bail which is forfeited only a small percentage is ever collected.

In a study made by the Philadelphia Criminal Justice Association, it was found that during a period of a little over two years there was over a quarter of a million dollars in forfeited bail uncollected. Our recommendation for correcting this situation will be found in section 26.

District Attorneys frequently take the position that "production is the essence of bail. Collection is a secondary matter." We feel that a vigorous effort to enforce collection will finally result in greater production in addition to providing a large and legitimate source of revenue.

There is another serious side to the problem. The status of these forfeited bail bonds means that many who have probably committed serious crimes remain at large permanently, free to commit other crimes, while the State stands so impotent that it cannot even collect the pledged bail. In connection with this condition is the fact that the impunity with which bail is forfeited is a definite brake upon the speed with which felony cases are prosecuted.[76]

A survey made in Allegheny County indicates an earnest attempt by the Courts and the District Attorney's office to collect forfeited bail, but more important, to prevent the many abuses prevalent in the business of releasing defendants charged with crime in bail.[76]

§ 26. Bail as a Lien on Real Estate

Under the existing law, no lien is imposed upon the property of any person who goes surety and he is not legally obligated to see that the accused carries out the provisions of the bail bond. Many instances have come to light where some parcels of real estate have been used as security for scores of bail bonds far exceeding in amount the value of the real estate. This produces a very serious situation, particularly in large centers of population.

If professional bondsmen fear that there may be a forfeiture of real estate bail, it is a simple thing for them to transfer their properties. One bondsman testified that when certain of his defendants had failed to appear and he feared that bail would be sued out, he simply transferred all of his properties to relatives.[77] We often find properties continually transferred from one straw party to another, apparently for the purpose of avoiding collections or judgments in bail forfeitures.

We recommend for earnest consideration an enactment which will provide that a lien be imposed upon any real estate which is the security of the bail bond,[78] and to take care of other evils which have been mentioned.

This subject has received the consideration of many crime conferences and in many of the states, similar laws have been passed or have been recommended.[79]

CHAPTER VI
PROSECUTION

§ 27. District Attorney: Preparation of Cases

We find that many criminals are discharged on demurrers to the evidence or acquitted. This situation could be improved by a more careful preparation before trial by the District Attorney's office. Moreover, in some cases important witnesses who are essential to a complete case are not subpoenaed. Such laxities give a vicious advantage to the "fixer."

In this connection, a matter which has been brought to the attention of the Commission pertains to subpoenaes sent to the Commonwealth's witnesses in cases where there is a joinder of several defendants. Often the name of one defendant is put on the subpoena together with the words et al. When the subpoena is so made out, instead of using the name of the major criminal, the name of some minor defendant is occasionally used, and the person receiving such subpoena has no real notice as to whom he is to testify against. In such a situation a police officer who may have participated in the arrest of a large gambling syndicate and would know the names of two or three important defendants, would not connect that case when the only name on his subpoena would be that of some hanger-on who was arrested at the same time.

It is recommended that it be mandatory to list the names of all defendants on the subpoena.

Another defect is the fact that in some counties no permanent record is kept of all subpoenas that are issued and served.[80] Such a system affords an excellent opportunity for the so-called "fixers." It is evident that an important witness could be intentionally omitted when the subpoenas are being prepared and there is no permanent record to show whether or not a subpoena was ever issued, or if issued, no permanent record to show that the subpoena was served.[81]

§ 28. District Attorney: Trial List

Although the preparation of trial lists, or calendars as they are sometimes called, would seem to be properly a court function, this function in criminal cases is today usually exercised by the District Attorney with practically no supervision by the court in which the cases are pending. The District Attorney generally is not only allowed to decide for himself when a defendant shall be arraigned on an indictment, and when the cause shall be tried, but in Philadelphia where four criminal courts are operating at the same time, the District Attorney also distributes the various cases to be tried among the different judges so sitting as he desires.

It is obvious that grave abuses may arise under such a system. This system provides no safeguard against the danger that indictments may be pigeon-holed for indefinite periods in the District Attorney's office.

In an investigation in New York City, it was disclosed that this method was used by a former District Attorney to favor political friends. Our investigation has shown that in a large number of District Attorney's offices throughout the State, this practice prevails.

Investigation discloses a very inefficient and slovenly procedure for the handling of cases. Bills of Indictments and Trial Lists in some District Attorney's offices.[82] Cases are postponed many times for various reasons. One case disclosed that the trial was not held until fifteen years after the arrest.[83] No plausible explanation was offered. In another, the defendant was only brought to trial because during his trial on a subsequent case the Judge happened to look at his criminal record and found a prior indictment was pending undisposed of.[84] Moreover, this man was not a fugitive, for in the interim he had been arrested several times and served several sentences. A witness testified before the Commission that a trial in which he was interested had been postponed 27 times.[85] Testimony disclosed[86] that when a clerk discovered that this Commission was checking the records in a certain case, there was a hurry-up trial. Defendant was brought in, pleaded guilty, sentence was suspended and he was discharged seven years after he had been arrested. There are other cases[87] in which, at the time of examination by the Commission, there still had been no disposition whatever, even though the arrest had taken place many months before. It is an old story, but postponements cause the prosecuting witness to become disgusted and after successive postponements, he finally gives up and fails to appear and the defendant is discharged.

The District Attorney, under the present system, lists only the cases he wants to try, but does not list the undisposed of cases on his docket. If the District Attorney does not desire to try a case it is possible for him to permanently forget it simply by not listing it for trial. Sometimes a clerk can effectively postpone a case simply by temporarily "mislaying" the Bill of Indictment. A rule of Court could take care of this defect, but it is recommended that a statute make it mandatory for the clerk and the District Attorney to prepare a complete list of all criminal cases including those ready for trial and those remaining undisposed of, the date of the return of the indictment, the charge, and the name of counsel for the State and for the defendant. This list should be posted in a public place at the beginning of each term of Court.

The District Attorney and clerk should be required to furnish the State Department of Justice with a detailed inventory of all criminal cases in his office pending and undisposed of; and an audit should be made by the State Department of Justice semi-annually.[88] If the proposed Judicial Council is created, the reports would go to the Council.

We also recommend the enactment of a statute requiring each court with criminal jurisdiction to provide for the preparation and periodical calling of its pleading and trial calendars and if it has more than one judge, for the distribution of cases among the various judges, independently of the Distict Attorney.[89] The practice should be the same, as far as practical, as that in effect in civil cases. This would harmonize the practice in civil and criminal cases.

§ 29. District Attorney: Furnishing Criminal Record

We recommend legislation making it mandatory for the District Attorney's office or Police Department to furnish to the Court prior to imposition of sentence, a complete record of the defendant showing prior arrests and convictions. Wilful withholding or suppressing such record should be a misdemeanor. Under the system now used in Allegheny County, fingerprint records of all defendants are forwarded to the Department of Justice at Washington, D. C. for checking. The entire report is then furnished to the Court.[90]

§ 30. District Attorneys: Nolle Prosse

Consideration should be given to the advisability of legislation which will forbid the granting of a nolle prosse except by the written consent of the Court as well as the District Attorney, with notice to the principal prosecuting witness. The reasons for the nolle prosse should be stated in the order granting same.[91] Investigation has shown[92] that often the order of nolle prosse by the Court is only made verbally and the clerk makes a notation thereof. This procedure, of course, opens the door wide for improper practices by clerks.[93]

§ 31. District Attorney: Uncollected Fines

We find cases[94] in which fines were imposed and were never paid and no effort was made by the District Attorneys to collect such fines.[95] A report should be made by the District Attorneys to an appropriate State Department, or the proposed Judicial Council, showing the reasons for failure to collect fines as well as reasons for the remittance of fines already imposed.[96]

[88] The Act of 1847, P. L. 172, Sec. 2, now requires that such reports be furnished by the Clerks to the Secretary of the Commonwealth. However, in a letter to this Commission, dated March 7, 1938, the Secretary of the Commonwealth states: "Replying to your inquiry of recent date, you are advised that annual reports of clerks of Criminal Courts have not been filed in this Department." § 32. District Attorney: Private Practice

One of the reasons for the laxity in the District Attorney's office in preparing cases,[97] in failures to collect fines,[98] in failure to collect forfeited bail,[99] etc., is the fact that the District Attorneys and their assistants are too busy with their private practice of law. Moreover, the situation of a public prosecutor receiving fees from private clients often leads to many improprieties. The District Attorney's office in the larger cities might function more efficiently if the number of Assistant District Attorneys were reduced and they were prohibited from engaging in any private practice whatsoever, whether civil or criminal. The Commonwealth would get more efficient service at a lower cost by reducing the personnel and giving adequate pay to those who are retained.

§ 33. District Attorney's Rail

We have received many complaints in regard to the practice of the District Attorney sitting "behind the rail" in front of the Judge, separated from the rest of the Court, giving a seemingly unfair advantage to the prosecuting official and, in addition, destroying the effect of the court being strictly impartial. In some Courts in Philadelphia the trial resembles a conspiracy between the Judge and the District Attorney against the defendant. The District Attorney should be moved out in front of the rail, on an equal basis with the defense attorney, the "trial by huddle" should be abolished, and conversations with the court should be only with the same privilege granted to the defense attorney, and under like conditions.[1] In most of the other Counties in the State, this practice has already been abolished[2] and it is non-existent anywhere else in the country.

§ 34. County Detectives

In some Counties the County Detectives function efficiently and constitute a real detective force. In others, however, the County Detectives have little or nothing to do with crime detection and all police work is left to the City Detectives. The personnel of this department should not be selected on a partisan political basis.[3] Of the present force of twenty-one in Philadelphia, eleven are elected ward Committeemen. It is impossible to expect persons interested in ward politics to act as impartial investigators of crime. In these positions political activity should be prohibited and the men be required to really investigate crime, and become what they were intended to be[4]—a super-investigative force to assist the District Attorney.

CHAPTER VII

JURIES

§ 35. Selection and Qualifications

The problem of the jury has now for some time past been confronting us. We must admit that this institution of popular justice as it functions today, has not received adequate public discussion. Opinion is divided between preserving and abolishing it wholly; but all insist upon its reform. To put an end to the scandal of excessively indulgent verdicts, and to remove what has been called "the crisis of the jury," seems to be a necessity. This

[1] This could be cured by a Rule of Court or at the request of the District Attorney.

[2] Upon reporting for duty in the Criminal Court the first Monday of February, 1936, a survey of the existing situation was immediately made by Hon. Ralph H. Smith, Presiding Judge, Allegheny County, which revealed certain facts with regard to the administration and efficiency of the court, etc., of which this was one. Attempting to meet the situation corrective measures were adopted. In his report Judge Smith said, "The District Attorney was asked to take his place outside the rail, alongside of defense counsel, so that there would no longer exist the possible misunderstanding that could come from his favored position inside the rail where his whispered conversations with the Judge might be misunderstood by the defense counsel or defendant. It was the theory that anything proper could be said in open court and anything improper had better be left unsaid." (Exhibit 2B, Page 7).

presents a problem of capital importance for the administration of justice and the suppression of crime.

The appeal to sentiment cannot solve this problem. The debate is liable to prolong itself indefinitely, unless we seek to avail ourselves of the lessons of experience, that great teacher, implacable but trustworthy. It is the experience of various states, acquired sometimes at a high cost, that will show us what alterations have been made and what remedies or reforms will be effective. We can profit from these lessons by adapting their warnings to our own vexatious problem.

No judiciary institution has varied more than this one, which provides for the direct participation of the citizenship in the processes of justice. To understand its evolution and its changes we must therefore, not lose sight of its origin and its essential nature.

Born out of the struggles of the English people against royal despotism, the jury was adopted as a democratic institutions.[5] It has rightly been a prized institution in English and American criminal procedure. It has been believed to be one of our fundamental institutions, and the peculiar bulwark of an accused in the protection of his rights.

The members of the jury, the "peers" of the accused, are drawn from the ranks of the community at large, constituting a cross section of it. They represent alike its common sense and its moral sentiment. The jury system is a timed honored one, and efforts at its reform must proceed with much circumspection.[6]

Juries in criminal cases have for the most part, a befitting sense of their responsibilities, are actuated by worthy motives, and are seeking to promote justice. But they are not without the weaknesses of human beings, and especially those who must be but occasional visitants at criminal proceedings.[7] Members sometimes are of but limited education. Few are expert or trained or fully suited for their special and temporary calling. Most have restricted understandings of the value and implications of evidence. Jurors are neither learned in the law nor skilled in the proper appraisal of testimony. They may be deceived by appearances, or taken by claptrap rhetoric. They may be swayed by sympathies or prejudices. Deliberations are likely to be controlled by dominant minds. Verdicts may be hastened by weariness of jurors or by business demands upon them. The requirement of unanimity in verdict may result in long drawn-out discussions. Possibly no unanimity can be reached, and there results a "hung" jury which is really a miscarriage of justice. If unanimity is reached, it may be at the expense of the surrender of the convictions of some. Great trouble and delay can be caused by one stubborn juror. Not infrequently juries slow up, and do not speed up justice.

A judge should have aid in the jury room in endeavring to administer justice, but he does not always receive it owning to the failure of thousands of capable and intelligent men who are either exempted or whose attendance the present system cannot secure, or who, when called, manage to evade service.

It is recognized that men of superior intelligence are required for jury service, and there should be more men of this sort who do not now serve, interspersed as it were, among all juries. This applies equally as well to women who are permitted to serve in this State. If jurors of this class served in ordinary trials, civil and criminal, the verdicts of juries would be more satisfactory and there would be fewer freed criminals. These intelligent jurors could hold others in check and bring them to a relization of their sworn duty, argue intelligently and bring to bear the wisdom gained from their education and large experience in business and worldly affairs, and restrain in some of their colleagues the human feelings of sympathy or prejudice.

The small storekeeper who is alone in business, and the wage-earner, who consider it a hardship that they must neglect their business or work, and whose minds are not free from the worry and loss that their absence from business causes them, do not make the best jurors when they look about them and realize that too large a part of our citizenry, men who could better afford to perform jury duty, escape it. Some exemptions may be proper, but why exempt holders of every public office under the United States, State or City Government and all election officers, as well as a host of other voluntary claimed exemptions, among whom are thousands of intelligent men and women qualified to act as jurors?

These exemptions and many others should be abolished. Thousands of business men who receive the protection of our laws and our jury system, who can demand a jury to pass upon their disputes in the courts of the city where they do business, cannot be compelled to serve in settling the disputes of their fellow-citizens because they reside outside the city where perhaps they are seldom called upon for jury service. Jurors possessing the qualifications prescribed by law, should be drawn from the entire community. A jury is not a representative one, a jury of one's peers, when so many thousands of intelligent and capable men are exempted, excused, or for various reasons, cannot be called.

Every man who is physically capable of performing duty, who resides or carries on a business in the City, and is otherwise qualified, should be compelled to serve, except perhaps, a limited class. Unless the entire community is drawn upon for jury service, exempting those only whose absence from their work might endanger life or health, or whose attendance to their public duties is necessary for the protection of life and property, the average intelligence of the trial jury is reduced. It cannot be successfully maintained that the present system with its thousands of excuses and claimed exemptions, represents the average intelligence and judgment of the whole community, which the verdict of the jury is supposed to represent. The banker or man with large business interests may learn to judge human nature and the character and credibility of witnesses in the jury room, from the humblest citizen and vice versa. In addition to these so-called exemptions and exceptions reducing the number of persons liable for jury duty, the present system is unfair to those who are willing to do their duty, as they must serve longer each time they are called and must be called more frequently. The courts may be relied upon to excuse those from duty when they can be spared and when proper or legal excuses are presented.[8]

All citizens competent and qualified for jury service should be interested in maintaining the high standard and efficiency that is sought to be achieved by our system of administering justice which affords them individual protection and safeguards our institutions. They should be willing and anxious to give at least one week's service for jury duty in every few years, which is probably all that would be required of them if there were fewer exemptions and exceptions. They should regard jury duty as an honor and duty and not as a hardship. They owe this duty to their country in time of peace, as much as a soldier owes his service in time of war.[9]

A recent issue of Popular Government contains a carefully considered and interesting discussion of modern juries and the mental qualifications of jurors, and also offers suggestions for improving juries. The article, under the caption Courts and Records by Dillard S. Gardner, begins by quoting Hon. Benton S. Oppenheimer on modern juries, in which he said: "We commonly strive to assemble twelve persons colossally ignorant of all practical matters, fill their vacuous heads with law which they cannot comprehend, obfuscate their seldom intellects with testimony which they are incompetent to analyze or unuable to remember, permit partisan lawyers to bewilder them with their meaningless sophistry, then lock them up until the most obstinate of their number coerce the others into submission or drive them into open revolt. The average citizen rebels at the very thought of being forced to participate in such proceedings, and regards jury duty as an irksome and humiliating task, to be avoided if possible."

The article goes on to say that a systematic study made by the jury Commission of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, disclosed that of the 5,541 jurors who served in the county in 1936, only 329 ranked as Grade A, and 897 as Grand B. Jurors, under the classification of the Commission. According to these figures, as Mr. Gardner says: "Only about two out of every five were high type jurors, or fewer than three high type jurors per jury. Actually the picture was even more alarming, as the Commission found that nearly one-fifth of the 5,541 were excused by the court, and all who are familiar with the operations of courts know that the group excused usually is composed of the highest type of jury materials."

The article concludes with suggestions offered for improvements in the functioning of the jury system. They are: "(1) Reduction in the number and scope of statutory exemptions from jury service; (2) strict limitations on the number of jurors summoned; (3) restriction of early parts of terms to trial of jury cases only; (4) care on the part of judges to excuse temporarily all jurors not to be needed immediately; (5) insistance by judges that, so far as possible under our procedure, jurors be kept busy while attending court; (6) improvement in law and procedure generally, and specifically the accommodation and treatment of jurors so as to demand the respect of intelligent jurors; (7) effective education of the citizenship to the social value and individual duty of jury service."

At the annual meeting of the American Bar Association, held in Boston in 1936, the Honorable Merrill E. Otis, United States District Judge of the Western District of Missouri had this to say of the selection of juries: "The jury in the box was what was left after sifting all citizens through three successive screens. The first, exemptions withheld most of the educated men of the community; the second, excuses accepted by the court, withheld many of the most substantial who passed through number one; the third, challenges eliminated most that was good in what was left. The juries had been selected by a machine suggesting that farm contrivance designed to blow away the chaff and save the wheat. This machine blows away the wheat and saves the chaff. * * * It is difficult to conceive of any task given to human beings requiring a higher order of intelligence than the work committed by law to juries to discover truth in a mass of testimony, tedious, conflicting, technical, obsecure; that is the jury's task."[10]

Considerable variety and a wide range in the qualifications prescribed for jurors are to be found in the statutes of the several states.[11] In the statutes of twenty-four states, it is provided that jurors must be citizens of good moral character (or that they shall possess one or more of the qualities of good moral character).

In the statutes of thirty states an intelligence standard is established for jury service ranging from a requirement that jurors shall be men "of ordinary intelligence" to a requirement that they shall be "generally reputed to be intelligent and esteemed for sound judgment." In two states (Illinois and Kansas) jurors are required to be well informed. In seven states they are required to be able to read and write the English language. In eighteen states no affirmative character or intelligence qualifications whatever are prescribed for jurors. In those states, generally speaking, any elector (usually any male elector) is declared to be qualified for jury services unless disqualified because of some criminal record. It every state various classes are declared to be exempt from jury service. Generally the exemption statutes relieve the members of the learned professions from the necessity of service on juries. In those states in which there is no affirmative statutory intelligence qualifications for jury service the necessary effect of the exemption statutes is to produce jurors whose average intelligence is below the average of the community.

Where an intelligence standard for jurors is provided by statute it is of no certain value since the application of the standard usually is entrusted to officials of limited responsibility, as to deputy jury commissioners in large cities, as to local elective officers, (e. g., town clerks in Vermont) in rural counties. It is scarcely to be expected that officers of this character will use the standard provided by law for the purpose of securing a jury panel of the most highly intelligent and best qualified citizens. The tendency is to exclude none and to include all who are entitled to the franchise, and who, through its exercise, might punish those who classified them as incompetent for jury service.[12]

In Iowa, a juror must be able to read, write and speak the English language; in Indiana, he must be a tax payer and owning real estate in that state. The following qualifications are taken from the statutes of the several states: must have all qualifications of all electors; must pay taxes; must be a taxable person; must be on assessment rolls; must not be a public official; must not be an employee of city, state or federal government in any capacity whatever; must not have previously served as juror within one year; must not be insane or idiot; must be householder or freeholder; must not have been convicted of a felony in state or federal court or of any crime involving moral turpitude; must be able to read, write and understand the English language; must not be over sixty years of age; must be a freeholder within the state or a householder.

Facts brought to light by the Commission discloses that convicted felons have been found serving on trial juries and Grand Juries,[13] and have been permitted to serve as such although that fact was known to the authorities; that verdicts in criminal cases have been reached by "flipping" a coin;[14] that jurors could not read or write and did not understand the English language; that the "fixing" or contacting of jurors was a common practice; that persons summoned as jurors would turn their summonses over to a politician who would send a substitute and this substitute would assume the name of the person summoned and serve as a juror, receiving the usual compensation therefor;[15] that the publication of the list of jurors leads to many embarrassing situations and the harassment of individual jurors.[16]

We had occasion to question the entire jury in one case and were able to ascertain their individual reactions. The footnote contains excerpts from their testimony.[17]

How did you come to that conclusion in your own mind? A. Well, just as my own opinion . . . naturally if we find . . . which she commit crime, but we can't naturally . . . if we can't bring out she commit crime sure so I just make an opinion as second degree. Q. Do you think she killed the child by hitting her? A. I didn't think that because I don't know if she did or not. Q. How did you think the child got into the water? A. That's another understanding I don't know. I wasn't there, see. Q. And you couldn't understand that from the testimony? A. No, sir. Q. What made you change from Involuntary Manslaughter to acquittal? A. Well, as I understand after we went to bed in the evening . . . After all, it's pretty hard for us here on such a case. And as us people here we never study about the law. So it's pretty hard to decide a real clear verdict so finally we went to bed. The next morning we discussed the case again, and that's the last I can say. So bring ten to two. Q. Ten for acquittal and two for what? A. I don't know exactly what was the two for. Q. What made you change your opinion? A. Well, as I understand we start talk about bringing points as they brought so many witnesses of that good character witnesses, how good girl she was from her childhood and after all she trying bring some points how good she was and all. After all she just didn't mean it hitting the child. Just what they call accidentally." (Note: And so the witness goes on showing clearly that he didn't know either what went on at the trial or during the deliberation in the jury room.)

The jury system is in need of important readjustments. But the recognized improvements cannot be fought out as John Stewart Mill said, "between ignorant change on one hand and ignorant opposition to change on the other."

One thing is certain—if names of disqualified, incompetent ignorant men go into the jury wheels—some time they will be drawn to serve. The necessary purge should be before and not after their names are drawn.[18] Therefore it is reasonable to believe that only the names of those who are competent and qualified should be selected to be placed in the jury wheel. A shorter term of service would probably be more satisfactory as it would tend to eliminate excuses for purely business reasons. It has been suggested that service of jury notices be by registered mail in order to eliminate a great deal of unnecessary labor in making personal service. Better conditions surrounding the selection and empanelling of juries has also been proposed. Complaint is made that men and women selected for this important duty object to being herded in stuffy uncomfortable quarters. This should be corrected.

This subject has received the thoughtful consideration of the Judicial Conference of Pennsylvania and at their Third Conference held in Philadelphia in 1930 definite action was taken. The Hon. Robert Von Moschzisker, then Chief Justice, acted as Chairman, and Judge James Gay Gordon, Jr., of the Court of Common Pleas, Philadelphia County, acted as Secretary. One hundred and seventeen Judges attended this conference. A committee consisting of Judge Thomas D. Finletter, Chairman, Philadelphia County; Judge William C. McLean, Jr., Luzerne County; Judge A. R. Chase, Clearfield County; Judge George W. Maxey, Lackawanna County; Judge Richard H. Koch, Schuylkill County; Judge John E. Fox, Dauphin County; Judge Frank P. Patterson, Allegheny County, recommended, and the conference approved, an act establishing a mode of selecting and drawing jurors in and for the city of Philadelphia. This act provided among other things that the Judges of the Common Pleas Court, together with the Sheriff, shall constitute a board for superintending the proper selection of jurors; that the receiver of taxes shall furnish a list of all taxables; that from that list the board shall select a sufficient number of "sober, healthy and discreet" citizens as may be required to be selected for jury service; that the said board (or through masters appointed for the purpose) make inquiries touching the qualifications of the prospective jurors; that there be four jury wheels, one for each quarter, and the names finally approved and selected to be deposited in equal proportions in the four wheels; said names to be drawn out for jury service in the presence of at least one of the Judges; if legitimate excuse is made and allowed by the court, the names so excused to be put in the wheel for the next succeeding quarter. The entire act as proposed may be found in the Appendix.[19]

We recommend however, that the very minimum of qualifications should be the ability to read, write and understand the English language, and that jurors be physically qualified so far as sight, hearing, etc., are concerned.

We believe that this proposed act together with the several suggestions heretofore made in this section should be enacted into legislation, and we so recommend.

While this act was designed for Philadelphia County, the same underlying principle can be applied to the various counties, and we so recommend.

§ 36. Voir Dire Examination of Jurors

When a person is called as a juror in an important criminal case, the attorneys often occupy an inordinate amount of time in examining him as to his ability to act impartially. The abuse of this system is well known and needs little comment as the daily press tells us of the days and sometimes weeks, needlessly consumed in selecting a trial jury. We recommend that this preliminary questioning of the prospective juror be conducted by the court, rather than by counsel, with the right given to both the prosecution and the defense to submit proper questions to the court for resubmission to the individual jurors. Perhaps the court should have the discretionary power to permit counsel to ask additional questions in unusual situations. This power would seldom be abused. This is the system used in the Federal courts with much success, and recommended by the Conference of Senior Circuit Judges of the United States Courts.[20] A resolution embodying this principle was presented to the Third Judicial Conference of Pennsylvania.[21]

§ 37. Jury Substitution

Investigation by the Commission discloses many cases of jury substitution in Philadelphia County.[22] That is, when a person is summoned as a juror, he may send another person in his place. In other cases, he may ask a politician to get him excused, and the politician sends another person in his place without the knowledge of the original juror. It might be well to consider some method of compelling the juror to identify himself when presenting himself for jury duty. One method might be to obtain a signature when the summons is served on him, and then compare same when he appears and when he signs his pay-voucher. Another method might be to insist upon the presentation of some authenticated document of identification, such as a Social Security card, driver's license,

"There was no table in the room where we deliberated. There were just the beds and the chairs that go with the beds to throw your pants over. The room was empty except for the beds." * * * "At first I felt she was guilty of Involuntary Manslaughter but I changed my mind. Q. What was the basis on which you changed your mind? A. I really don't know. Q. You have no idea? A. I have no idea." * * * "I was for Involuntary Manslaughter . . . then somebody says, 'We might as well go for acquittal. Involuntary Manslaughter she might get maybe a suspended sentence, and then she'll say, "I paid my debt to society." 'Then they said if she was let go scot free she would worry more about it and she would suffer more on the outside than on the inside. So I thought it was pretty good logic." * * * "We had nine men against three women. . . . We couldn't convince any of the men." * * * "None of us knew we could go to the Judge and get further instructions as to some things we were not clear on." * * * "Q. What did you believe when you finally voted for acquittal? A. Well, I went with the rest because they all said she would be punished more on the outside than on the inside." * * * "I didn't get enough evidence on the case. . . . I just layed in bed. I had nothing to do with the members of the jury." * * * "Q. How did you arrive at the acquittal verdict? A. Well, they were speaking of it and they said why send her up for a few years. You might as well acquit her than leave it up to the judge. The foreman said that. He said if we bring her in on Involuntary Manslaughter it's only leaving it up to the Judge again. I told him it would look hard on our side to acquit a girl like that knowing how the newspapers are. He said it would be leaving it up to the Judge, and why leave it up to the Judge, she will suffer more on the outside in the end." * * * "The foreman was very stubborn. So they all swung over to his way."

[18] The "key number system" of selecting jurors has come into use in the superior court of Los Angeles County and is accepted as a great improvement on lists made up by officials. The first step is to select semi-annually from the voters' registration lists about 22,000 names, from among which 3,000 are chosen after personal examination. Over two million names are available on the lists in 4,300 voting precincts. To spread the service over the entire body of citizens, subject to the individual tests, every fifth precinct was sampled, beginning with number one. For the second half-year every fifth precinct was taken, beginning with number two. Every tenth name on these precinct lists was taken, beginning with number one. The voters whose names are thus selected are then invited to appear at the jury commissioner's office at the rate of 392 for each of four days each week for nine or ten months in each year. The system thus far is effectual in spreading the service and providing such a surplus of jury material that only the best one-fourth need be accepted, and at the same time there is little chance that any citizen will be summoned a second time. The important feature is the selection through formal tests made by the commissioner and his assistant, who examine about 300 each day, those exempt, or clearly unavailable having been first excused. The "key number system" has been successful in Cleveland, where it originated, and in the Recorders' court in Detroit. In both these cities there was first a special statutory provision, but in Los Angeles the system was perfectly adapted to the existing statute and it was only necessary for the court to authorize its adoption. The jurors so selected in Los Angeles County serve in both civil and criminal cases.

etc. Witnesses before the Commission have testified that they were summoned and excused from jury duty. Yet their names were signed to vouchers for pay, and they have testified that the signatures are not their own, and that the vouchers were signed without their knowledge. This would mean either that there has been a substitution as before referred to, or that someone has simply pocketed this money. Committeemen have admitted that it is the general practice for them to receive summonses from their constituents and take them to the Clerk of the Court and have them marked "excused" without more ado. This is a local administrative vice which can be eliminated by alert officials.

§ 38. Embracery

Investigation by the Commission discloses that in some parts of the State, jury tampering is quite prevalent. Complaint having come to this Commission of widespread embracery in Berks County, investigation was made and hearings were held and the evidence turned over to the District Attorney, which resulted in several convictions.[23] There does not seem to be any legislation required in this connection, but is purely a matter of good law-enforcement.

However, the political method of selecting juries is a direct invitation to embracery. In many counties, names are forwarded to the jury commissioners by local committeemen at the request of the individual persons and when such persons are finally called for jury duty, they have a natural obligation to the committeemen and are easily influenced by their wishes. This situation can best be remedied by adopting a non-political method of selection of jurors.[24]

§ 39. Assessment of Costs on Public Officer

A very vicious practice has come to the attention of the Commission, that of the assessing of costs on a public officer. In several such cases, costs were assessed by a jury, sometimes the Grand Jury and sometimes a Petit Jury. Usually the Judge remits such costs and places them on the County, but in several cases which have come to the attention of the Commission, the Judge refused to remit the costs. It is impracticable to allow a Judge discretion in such matters, as unfortunately there are some Counties in which neither the Judge nor the citizens are favorably disposed to certain types of law enforcement, particularly matters involving liquor, numbers, slot machines, etc. This is grossly unfair to the enforcement officer attempting to do his duty and is a definite restraint upon him.[25] Sometimes these costs run into several hundred dollars and the practice becomes a real deterrent to efficient law enforcement when one considers the salary usually paid to such officers. Suggestion has been made that legislation provide that costs can be assessed upon a public officer only when actual malice has been shown. This would not appear to be an adequate solution of the problem. If malice is charged the officer should be entitled to a separate proceeding and an opportunity to adequately defend himself to prove that the charge is untrue, not to have the question decided as a collateral matter. If, on the other hand, the charge is true, such officer deserves a greater penalty than the assessment of costs; as a matter of fact, nothing less than a dismissal would be adequate in such a case. It is recommended that legislation be passed, as it exists in many other States, defining just how costs are to be placed when the prosecution is by a public officer.[26]

§ 40. Charge to Jury

At the Public Hearings it was pointed out[27] that some doubt exists in the minds of some of the Judges as to the function of the Court in charging the Jury.

It is suggested that it would be well to clarify the situation by suitable legislation.[28]

§ 41. Jury Verdicts by Less Than Unanimous Vote

It is recommended that consideration be given to the proposal (a Constitutional Amendment probably is necessary) that juries may return a verdict by less than a unanimous vote, preferably by a vote of ten or more, and that such verdicts shall be binding and permissible in all cases, except certain major felonies, which should be specified. This procedure has been recommended by many experts in the administration of criminal justice.[29] The Hon. Ferdinand Pecora, Judge of the Supreme Court of New York City and formerly Acting District Attorney of that City, made this significant statement at the United States Attorney General's Conference on Crime:[30]

> "This crime of jury corruption is one which is inherently difficult of legal proof, because it is consummated with the utmost stealth and circumspection. It could, however, be greatly overcome by amending the law so as to make a verdict arrived at by ten out of the twelve members of a jury decisive of the case. It would then be necessary to corrupt at least three members of a jury in order to defeat justice by venal means. It would be virtually impossible to reach out for three jurors who might be potentially corruptible without leaving behind some evidence of their attempted prostitution.
> "We accept with equanimity decisions vital to our economic and social well being when made by divided bodies. Business problems arising in our great industrial corporations are determined by a majority vote of boards of directors. Even in our judicial system, questions of vast importance to the common interest may be decided by a bare majority of the judges composing our highest courts of review. And yet, in most of our jurisdictions, we still fatuously insist upon unanimous jury verdicts upon the relatively simple questions of the guilt or innocence of the accused."

This proposal was approved at that conference.

§ 42. Grand Juries

It has been the experience of police departments and District Attorneys time and time again to be confronted by those who possess information regarding organized crime and can successfully defy the efforts of police or the prosecuting officials in their attempts at obtaining disclosures and evidence.[31] When, however, this occurs there is available the special grand jury investigation as a means to compel testimony which is soon respected and feared in the community in which it is invoked.

The power of such grand juries should be enlarged, fortified and strengthened. The law should be amended to permit such special Grand Juries to continue into succeeding terms by order of court with full power to return indictments and not make mere presentments. Courts should have the power to call such bodies either of their own volition or upon request of the District Attorney, or Attorney General in appropriate cases.[32]

We see no reason for a grand jury to consist of so large a number as twenty-three. The trial jury which determines the guilt or innocence of the accused consists of twelve and there is no convincing reason why twice that number should be required merely to establish the charge.

Reduction in size has been recommended[33]—in fact, five members as a minimum up to twelve as a maximum has been proposed as efficient and economical.[34]

[25] William B. McClenachan, District Attorney of Delaware County stated: (P. H. 194) "In my experience there never has been a prosecuting officer who brought a prosecution for a personal motive."

[26] Section 3830 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1929, Vol. 1, is as follows: "When County to Pay. When such prosecutions are commenced by a public officer whose duty it is to institute the same, and the defendant is acquitted, the County shall pay the costs; if he is convicted, and unable to pay the costs, the County shall pay all the costs, except such as were incurred on the part of the defendant."

With this reduced membership, the pay should be increased. Civic responsibility imposes a duty to serve, but in many cases, the prolonged service may make an unfair and unnecessary hardship. Judge Bok[35] commented on this subject at the Public Hearing. He stated:

> "I think we should amend our fee statute so that a special grand juror, instead of being paid three dollars a day, shall be paid five dollars a day. The reason for that is very obvious. A difference of twenty or twenty-five dollars a month is a real difference, especially to a man making seventy-five or eighty dollars a month. Where they meet for a long length of time, day after day, only excluding Sundays, I think the pay of grand jurors should be raised."

It has been proposed in New York that their special grand juries be chosen from a carefully selected special panel.[36] In connection with this proposal, Judge Bok also stated:[37]

> "The general dea of this Act is to make available a certain panel from which the Judge may choose, when faced with a situation such as mine. I mean by that, a certain number of names would be drawn, as any jury is drawn, out of the wheel. I think they provide for about two hundred names in New York out of which the grand jury of twenty-three or twenty-four members is chosen. It is very important in an investigation such as we have throughout the city now to have jurors who are intelligent. I was lucky with my grand jury. I think we have a very intelligent group. That was by chance entirely."

CHAPTER VIII

COURTS

§ 43. Reconsiderations[38]

Investigation discloses numerous cases[39] in which Philadelphia Judges have reconsidered their sentences after the term of court had expired. This practice has been declared illegal by the Appellate Courts.[40] It cannot be claimed that the Judges do this entirely through ignorance. For example, in one case[41] a Common Pleas Judge officially set aside the order of another Common Pleas Judge on the grounds that such other order was a reconsideration made after the term of court had expired.

There are numerous cases in our files[42] in which Philadelphia Judges have reconsidered their sentences within the term of court, which is technically legal. In most of these cases the reconsideration was done quietly, not in open court and with no notice whatever to the parties involved. This practice is made use of by some Judges who impose long sentences on criminals, accompanied by a verbal excoriation. After the private prosecutor and the representatives of the press have left the court room, fully satisfied that justice has been done, the Judge later endorses on the back of the Bill of Indictment "Sentence reconsidered, prisoner discharged." It might be said that even this procedure is technically illegal because our Appellate Courts have held that all judgments must be rendered in open Court,[43] but ordinarily it is impossible to tell from the record whether the reconsideration was made in open court or not.[44] A statute is recommended providing that before a sentence imposed can be changed, that there be a hearing in open court with proper notice to the District Attorney, the arresting officer, private prosecutor and that the reasons for such modification be entered of record. A time limit of ten days should be set.

§ 44. Nolo Contendere

Investigation by the Commission discloses several hundred cases[45] in which defendants pleaded nolo contendere and the Courts have adjudged them not guilty and discharged them. This is in violation of the law, since the Appellate Courts have repeatedly held that the plea of nolo contendere is in effect a plea of guilty and the Court is without authority on such plea to determine the guilt or innocence of a defendant and hears the evidence offered only as a means of determining the severity of the sentence to be imposed.[46] The absurdity made possible by such actions is best shown by a flagrant example; a defendant[47] was found guilty by a jury; later the same day the Judge granted a new trial; nevertheless the same day, defendant pleaded nolo contendere and was adjudged not guilty, and discharged. This was not only a violation of the law by the Judge, but particularly impressive since a jury had already found the defendant guilty the same day. It is suggested that the plea of nolo contendere be abolished. It serves no real purpose and only offers a foot-hold for political chicanery.

§ 45. Bonds to Keep the Peace

A practice has grown up among certain judges in Philadelphia in holding in "Bonds to Keep the Peace" defendants who have been acquitted by juries, and in some cases, persons who have not been charged with any criminal offense. The bonds are often fixed at an exhorbitant sum which such persons cannot procure and the effect is to keep men in prison for long periods of time until the judge decides to release them.

The legality of such procedure has never been directly tested in the Appellate Courts, chiefly because of the fact that the victims are not financially able to procure counsel and supply the fees and costs necessary for such procedure; or as we found in one instance,[47] because the judge voluntarily released such person when he learned that an application for a writ of Habeas Corpus was about to be filed.

However, it is the conclusion of many eminent jurists, lawyers, and scholars, that such procedure is clearly unconstitutional and a flagrant and dangerous abuse of judicial power.

It should be noted that there is a legitimate use of the "Security to Keep the Peace" in cases, for example, where threats of violence are made[48] and the bond is fixed in a reasonable sum. But in such cases a charge is preferred, the defendant is given a hearing and he is entitled to all the rights which the Constitution assures him.[49]

While there is little doubt that the practice in question is illegal, it might be well to eliminate all doubt by amending the act and adding a proviso that no such practice be permitted except under the conditions specified therein.

§ 46. Comparison of Sentences

One of the defects in our system of administering justice is the inequality of sentences meted out to offenders. There seems to be no general effort made to apply any rule of reason to determine the severity of the sentence to be imposed. Not only do the sentences imposed by different judges vary considerably for the same offense and the same types of individuals, but frequently a comparison of sentences by the same judge is inconsistent. We find many instances where on the same day the same judge, for the same crimes, gave light sentences or probation to notorious criminals and sent young boys, first offenders, to prison for several years.[51] Such a system is hardly compatible with any moral and intelligent conception of justice; and among prison inmates it creates a real problem.[52]

[45] For examples see Cases 52, 17, 19, 24, 43, 50, 67, 86, 101, 107, 111, 140, 156, 191, 256, 265, 287, 432, 499, 1601, 1608, 1611, 1614.

The Hon. Curtis Bok, President Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 6 of Philadelphia County stated in reference to this subject:[53]

> "At present the trial yields up the story of a crime rather than the story of a person, but it is a person who must be sentenced by a judge who never saw him before, knows little about him except his criminal record, and has only a very limited opportunity to become acquainted. It is now the duty of the judge to say that if a prisoner shall spend an arbitrary number of days, months or years in a certain place he will be a chastened example to others. This is about as pointless as for him to predict that Lemon Hill will become an active volcano at six o'clock tomorrow morning. Hardened criminals are experts at good behavior in prison, and a prisoner sentenced to two years may reach a point of repentance and usefulness in three months and lose it again before his two years are up, or it may take him nine years. Who can tell in advance?"

He then presents his proposal of an indeterminate sentence discussed later in this report[54] and continues:

> "Such a system would solve many questions. It would eliminate the death penalty, as there would be no need for it. It would lessen political pressure on the judges, for their job would be only to see that the accused had a fair trial; the period of incarceration would be in the hands of the prison authorities. It would certainly eliminate the disparity in sentences now caused by the different temperaments of different judges, by temporary states of public excitement over particular offenses, or by the condition of His Honor's digestion and nervous system. It would also tend to eliminate many of the artificial distinctions between crimes, for the amount of sentence would not depend, let us say, upon whether the accused broke and entered or merely entered. The sole purpose of the trial would be to determine whether or not he did what he was charged with doing—a familiar principle of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence—unmixed with the subjective considerations of hardship, first offenses or natural incompetence which unconsciously sway juries, judges and lawyers; that would be handled later. Justice would be swifter and the trial less a dramatic combat than a truth-eliciting process. The attitude of society toward released prisoners would be far less hostile and would give them more nearly an even break to succeed. The prospect of going to jail would be less like going to hell than to a clinic, and juries and lawyers would react accordingly."

Many other judges, district attorneys, legislators, and scholars are of like opinion.[55]

Our recommendations for correction this situation will be found in a later section.[56]

§ 47. Visiting Judges

Most lawyers in the larger cities are so frantically busy trying to extract an income from business quarrels that they are not interested in reform of the courts. No better illustration of this charge could be found than the continued failure of the bar to overcome legal delays.

In spite of the fact that most courts are bogged down with heavy calendars, many judges have been stretching their long summer vacations, (July and August) to include several weeks in the spring and many extra days at the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter seasons. In addition, the law recognizes many days in the year as legal holidays, when courts are closed, such as Sunday; Saturday, after 12:00 noon; New Year's Day, January 1st; Lincoln's Birthday, February 12th; Washington's Birthday, February 22nd; Good Friday; Memorial Day, May 30th; Independence Day, July 4th; Labor Day; Columbus Day, October 12th; Election Day; Armistice Day, November 11th; Christmas Day, December 25th; any day appointed or recommended by the Governor of this State, or the President of the United States for thanksgiving, religious observance, etc.; in the event of a financial crisis, any day appointed by the Governor of this State, or the President of the United States, as a bank holiday; third Tuesday of February; and the following days are designated to be observed, but are not declared to be holidays; Arbor Day, Bird Day, William Penn's Birthday and Free School Day.

Recently in Philadelphia County where there are twenty-one Common Pleas Judges and eleven Municipal Judges, it was found "necessary" to call in an up-State judge to sit in the absence of a regular judge. A local newspaper, irked by the whole proposition made a quiet survey and found that, of the Common Pleas Judges, eleven were in their chambers or on the bench, and that nine were taking southern cruises, were sunning in Florida or on other vacations.

We might add that the real burden of responsibility for making the courts operate efficiently rests upon the lawyers throughout the State, and almost without exception, they have been timid to the point of cowardice in criticizing incompetent judges and correcting inefficient practice.

[53] P. H. 327-329.

[54] Section 75.

[55] Hon. Paul N. Schaeffer, President Judge Common Pleas Court of Berks County stated: (P. H. 132-134), "I come now to a change that I have recommended for years. I do not think that any Judge or Court or Judges should say how long a man should be sent to a prison. As a member of the Committee of the Pennsylvania Prison Society, I visited one cell in an institution, finding a fellow who was from Reading and whose first name was Jim. I said, "Jim, you have been here before." He said, "Yes, this is my third term." I said, "What are you here for now?" He said "Burglary." I said, "How much did you get?" He said, "Three years." In the next cell from his there was a fellow who was sentenced by a Judge from Montgomery County for burglary for a term of ten years. Here was a man sentenced to a term of ten years, with a wife and four children, and this other fellow got three years. When the fellow who got ten years finally gets out somebody is going to pay, and when he gets out the fellow will be a far more dangerous man than he was at the time he went before the Court. I do not see how any Judge or Judges or sentencing board can tell in advance how long a man ought to stay behind the bars. This is a question to be determined at the time of the application for parole; he is ready then to go out? That is a pretty difficult job to tell then. We send them to the mental hospitals that way, and we send them to the ordinary hospitals that way. What would you say of a doctor who said, "You have the mumps and you have to stay in for six weeks?" The judges have no control over the prison. At Huntingdon they do not fix a time. Commander Pennington and his staff, his clinic, recommend to the Board when a boy should be paroled. At Muncy, Dr. Wilson does that. It works well. We in Berks County never had a girl before the Court again after she was sent there. I think the sentencing authority in a Judge should be limited to not beyond the maximum time fixed by the Legislature for the particular offense, and the local authorities there determine when in the meanwhile, if at all, that fellow should be paroled and upon what conditions. That throws the responsibility upon the institution or the State Board of Corrections to supervise that fellow afterwards.

Senator Harry Shapiro stated: (P. H. 484-485) "I came to the conclusion a long time, having had considerable experience as a District Attorney, that sentencing should be taken away from the Judges entirely. There is no opportunity for a Judge to know just what sentence to impose. The Judge is confirmed by the Act. The Ludlow Act came along and said that your minimum must be half of the maximum. If you want to give a burglar a severe sentence you can give him twenty years, but at the end of ten years he gets out automatically. The Judge doesn't know anything about the prisoner. He sentences today a man for embezzlement in 453, he may give him two years, and for the same thing in other courts he may get five years. Instead of the judge sentencing a man to a determined sentence, he should send him to a certain jail where he belongs, and he should be let out when three things happen; one, when it will be safe for the community to let him out; second, when an example has been shown; and third, whn he has been rehabilitated or can make something of himself. Nobody can tell by looking at a man when it will be safe to let him out, in addition to which, no Judge has the time to devote to determining that question."

John A. Boyle, Assistant District Attorney, Philadelphia County, stated: (P. H. 344-345). "I have had a situation in my practice where in sodomy cases, a line of them, some judges imposed a sentence of two or three years. Another Judge, in an attempt at sodomy, where the gentleman was caught a little too quickly, imposed a sentence of thirty days. There should be some uniformity of sentences. I will agree that in the mass of business that passes through the Criminal Courts in a metropolitan center there must be expedition, it cannot be permitted to pile up, but it does seem to me in the graver crimes, in the major felonies, there should be some system or method whereby there should be more uniformity of sentence. After all, when a prisoner is sentenced and sent to prison, that prisoner who has received a sentence of five years, and then about a week or so later from another court comes another prisoner who has been convicted of substantially the same crime, but who has received a sentence of one and a half to three years or two and a half to four years, there is certainly a resentment in the mind of that first prisoner who has received five years, and the result of that is the creation of a condition which is not conducive to the best discipline in the institution housing the prisoner."

[56] See Section 75.

The spectacle of a so-called "tourist" judge being called in to specially preside in cases where the regularly elected judge wishes to escape an unpleasant duty or even to have a smoking chestnut pulled from the fire without searing his own lily white hands has been too often witnessed.

There is reasonable excuse for calling in outside assistance in the less populous communities but in the main the practice has always been condemned.

We recommend that this abuse of the visiting judge privilege be greatly curtailed.[57] By reason of the increase of six additional judges in Philadelphia County, there appears to be no excuse for the calling in of an outside judge.

CHAPTER IX

PROCEDURE GENERALLY

§ 48. General Statement

The administration of justice is a composite task. To deal with any one offender the efforts of police, prosecutors and judges are necessary. The success of criminal law enforcement depends upon the proper functioning of each one of these agents and upon their harmonious cooperation. Nor is it only upon these agents and the procedures they apply that satisfactory enforcement of the law depends. As an essential branch of government activity, the enforcement of the criminal law reflects the strength and weaknesses of the governmental structure. The composite nature of the task, the interdependence of the agents, the general dependence upon the government have been brought home to us by the American surveys of criminal justice of the past decade. The blame for the breakdown in law enforcement cannot be laid at the door of police without taking into account the subsequent activities of prosecutors and courts. No matter how intelligent police work is, it can be and often has been nullified by corruption, incompetence, or indifference in the prosecuting office. Ineffective prosecution of criminal cases, on the other hand, may be less the fault of the prosecutor than of the inefficient police work or the uncooperative attitude of judges. Yet judges and juries cannot be blamed for failure to convict in a sufficient number of cases, or adequately to sentence offenders unless police and prosecutors have entirely fulfilled their duty in unearthing and presenting evidence in court. If enforcement is unsatisfactory, no assignment of responsibility is fair until it is ascertained whether the fault lies with one or another group of officials or with political interference. The party in power manipulating the machinery of criminal justice for its own ends, or powerful persons using influence for personal profit, do just as much damage in different directions.[58]

We believe that each of these departments is entitled to full cooperation from the Legislature, whose business it should be to give them the best, most modern and efficient tools with which to work. Procedure in law is to these officials, the same as tools to a mechanic or artisan. Many suggestions for improvement have come from these groups. Earnest attention should be given them.

The objection may be made that we have been paying too much attention to minor details. Our experience has shown us that it is the little things in the administration of criminal justice which makes for success or failure. We must plug the small holes and cure the minor defects in order to make major recommendations operate successfully. An illustration comes from the pages of the public press wherein it was stated that not long ago in California, a great, giant, stalwart tree came tumbling to the ground. It was four thousand years old. It was a sizable tree when Columbus landed at San Salvadore. It had been struck by lightning fourteen times. It has braved, undaunted, the storms of four thousand years. It had defied earthquake and hurricane. It had laughed in scorn at the winter's blasts and blizzards, that would have destroyed it. But in the end, the tiny little bettles killed it. They bored under the bark, dug into its heart, ate away its mighty fibre—and one day, down came the lordly king of the forests. It is the little things that make or break us.

§ 49. Records: Orders Not Signed by Judge

In many cases, orders for reconsiderations of sentence, granting of probations and similar formal orders of the Court are endorsed by the Clerk of Court and no memoranda is available to show that the order was in fact made by the Court. This is a very dangerous practice and transfers the judicial power of the Court to the Clerk. In one case there was no record at all of any fine or sentence. The notes of testimony contain a statement by the Court to the defendant "to stand over in the corner for a time while I consider the matter." After the lapse of five years, an entry was made showing final disposition. Actually, he was at liberty on a separate order discharging him from prison, signed by the Clerk. It is clear that this is an improper practice, and is bound to lead to corrupt and improper dispositions. It is suggested that all orders, especially those releasing prisoners from a penal institution, be signed personally by the Court, who has the power to so release him. If the suggested system of "minute books"[59] were in force, this would probably not be necessary.

§ 50. Records: Inaccurate Keeping of

The records kept by the Clerks of Courts are often handled in a careless manner. In many instances the record in one Docket speaks of a parole, in another of a probation on the same Court order. The orders are often so ambiguously worded as to read "Sentence reconsidered, prisoner put on parole."[60] A general elementary rule of law is that " a Court speaks through its records." An orderly, systematic, intelligent method of preparing and handling court records in some of the counties would end the present chaotic condition.

§ 51. Records: Minute Book

We find that a system has developed where most of the official records in criminal cases are made by notations somewhere on the back of the Bill of Indictment, in lieu of being entered in a Clerk's minute book and subsequently entered in the permanent record. This permits records to be changed by unauthorized persons, permits a Judge to call for the Indictment and reconsider a sentence in private, change the sentence, wipe out fines, penitentiary sentences, and generally to nullify a successful prosecution without the knowledge of the Police Department, the private prosecutor or the District Attorney's Office. The Commission recommends legislation which will make it mandatory that all proceedings in criminal cases, of whatever nature and kind, be in open Court, with a representative of the District Attorney's Office present and the record to reveal that fact; requiring the clerk to enter in a minute book all proceedings of the Court, the same to be duly recorded in a permanent record or docket book, properly indexed and available to the public, and further requiring the clerk to furnish detailed information to the State Department of Justice[61] at stated intervals, and specifically providing that no entries may be made on the back of the Indictment or privately in any book or docket as a substitute for an official record, and providing a penalty for failure to observe this law.[62]

§ 52. Records: Receipt of Subpoenas by Police

In connection with the question of the manner in which records are kept, reference is made to the matter of the issuance of subpoenas mentioned in Section 27. It was pointed out that in many counties no complete permanent record is kept as to what subpoenas are actually issued and served. Similarly when subpoenas are served on the Police Department in Philadelphia, no signed receipt is given to the issuing Clerk by the Police Clerk showing what subpoenas he has received. The existing practice is [57] A statement furnished to this Commission by the Auditor-General discloses that during the year 1936 the Commonwealth paid over $50,000 in extra compensation and expenses to visiting judges. See Exhibit No. 12.

that subpoenas for any member of the Police Department are served upon the Superintendent of Police, who then either forwards same to the District Captain or notifies him thereof. Although a clerk in the Police Department is required to enter in a book the subpoenas received, he takes what subpoenas are handed to him and takes it for granted that those are all that were issued and there is no way of ascertaining whether any subpoenas were held out or not. These subpoenas are usually transmitted to the Police Department in large numbers at a time, and it is possible for one or more to be omitted even accidentally unless some such receipt is furnished and careful check made. Our files contain cases in which Clerks insisted that subpoenas were issued, but the officers stated that they had never received same. A political "fixer" could use his efforts at several points down the line, and there would be no way of proving at what point the subpoenas were "lost."

It is suggested that it be made mandatory that some type of official record be kept, consisting of a receipt to be signed personally by as many persons as the subpoenas pass through in going from the issuing clerk down through the Police Department to the individual officer. With such a system the absence of a signed receipt anywhere down the line would be definite evidence as to how far that particular subpoena had gone.

This procedure may appear cumbersome, but it will promote long run economy when we consider the cost to the County of every prisoner apprehended, confined, and brought to trial, and then discharged owing to the absence of a material witness.

It might also be advisable to have a clerk check the names of all Commonwealth witnesses on the morning of the trial to ascertain whether or not they are present in court before a case is called. At present, in Philadelphia, there is a police clerk assigned to each criminal court room whose sole duty is to have with him the criminal records of all defendants on trial for that day in that court room, to submit to the Court in the event of a conviction. The duty of checking the presence of the witnesses might well be assigned to such officer without any additional cost to the County.

§ 53. Records: Notes of Testimony

We have at times been seriously handicapped in our investigation by the fact that in many cases no notes of testimony were taken by a court reporter. It is significant that particularly in those cases in which it was suspected that there were irregularities did we find this to be true. It is recommended that an Act of Assembly or rule of court make it mandatory that notes of testimony be taken in every criminal case, in every probabtion or parole hearing, or on every hearing for reconsideration of sentence, and that these notes shall be filed as part of the official records of the case; these notes to be transcribed upon good cause shown by order of the Court. This is particularly necessary in the larger communities.

The Commission believes that this will serve to avoid considerable improper maneuvering, and will also be of great value in the event any question is raised in reference to the handling of the same. Parole boards and officers have urged that this transcript be furnished for their use.[63]

§ 54. Clerks of Courts: Fines Paid But Marked Remitted

In connection with Section 49, referring to the practice of having decrees signed by a Clerk, orders for remission of fines are often shown only by a Clerk's notation and not signed by the Judge. This is a temptation for dishonest practices, since it is perfectly simple for a Clerk to pocket the money paid as fines and mark the docket remitted. There are some cases in our files[64] in which defendants testified before this Commission that they paid their fines and left the Court room and forgot all about the matter. Nevertheless, the record discloses that the fines were later ordered remitted and there is no evidence anywhere as to the receipt of the fine money. It would seem that someone unlawfully converted this fund. It might be well to point out here that the matter of imposition and remission of fines is a great field for political juggling. For example,[65] testimony before the Commission disclosed that a politician-committeeman arranged to have a defendant's fine remitted in return for which the defendant was to vote as the committeeman requested.

§ 55. Clerks of Courts: Certification of Conviction for Drunken Driving

Investigation by the Commission discloses that certifying to Harrisburg of convictions for driving while intoxicated, as required by law, is irregular and inefficient. There are several cases in the Commission's files in which such convictions were not certified.[66] It might be noted that in the course of this investigation, mistakes were also found to exist in the Harrisburg office. One case in particular[67] disclosed general inefficiency all around. The defendant's testimony before this Commission was to the effect that after he had been sentenced to prison, several others who had been convicted of the same offense recieved notices of revocation of their licenses, but he did not. After he had served his sentence, he returned home at the time when the license period was about to expire and found an application awaiting him for his new license. He was so surprised that he himself wrote to Harrisburg and called attention to the fact that he had been convicted and inquired as to the permissibility of obtaining a new license. He received in reply a letter stating that there had been no official notice of his conviction and he was therefore at liberty to obtain a new license.

We recommend that legislation be enacted empowering the Department of Revenue to formulate a uniform system of forms and procedure for certifying such convictions, and requiring the Clerks to adhere thereto.

§ 56. Simplification of Indictments

We are writing indictments today in the language of pre-Revolutionary times.[68] The language is archaic and confusing.[69] An indictment is in reality an information to the accused, and should be written in plain, understandable language. This could be accomplished by an Act of Assembly modifying the present law requiring them to be written in substantially the language of the statutes defining the offense. A suggested draft may be found in the Appendix.[70]

§ 57. Waiver of Indictment

Under the present law[71] the accused has the privilege of waiving an indictment only if he is willing to enter a plea of guilty. District Attorneys have stated to this Commission that they frequently are confronted with cases in which defendants do not wish to plead guilty but are willing to waive the indictment. Much as the District Attorneys would like to follow such procedure and bring the case to trial with dispatch, their hands are tied and [63] Commander John D. Pennington stated: (P. H. 84) "It would be very helpful to us at Huntingdon in working out our program and in understanding and getting a proper understanding of the boy, if we have notes of testimony in the cases. . . . I would recommend unhesitatingly that the notes of testimony in every case of a man or boy committed to a penal institution be furnished the institution." Also see P. H. 97. See statement of A. G. Fraser of the Pennsylvania Prison Society (P. H. 187), who recommends that complete stenographic records of court proceedings be taken in all cases of felony.

they are compelled to wait until the matter can be presented to a Grand Jury. We recommend that the law be amended so as to allow a waiver of indictment irrespective of whether the accused pleads guilty or not guilty. Such an amendment deprives no one of any rights yet allows the defendant an opportunity to have his case disposed of expeditiously. With the law so amended, a defendant could also waive a jury trial[72] should he so desire, and have his case heard and disposed of by a judge within, perhaps, a day or two after his arrest.

§ 58. Advance Specifications of Defense (Alibi, Insanity, etc.)

In a criminal case the pleadings tell nothing, and at the appropriate moment the defendant with a perjured defense has his choice of a crops of insanity experts, alibi witnesses who will testify that he was in another locality at the time of the offense, friends who will assert he acted in self-defense, was entrapped into committing the crime, that he labored under mistake or ignorance of law or fact, that he was an infant, coerced, intoxicated, immune from prosecution, or otherwise justified. The prosecution flounders in the dark. There is a last minute futile attempt to collect rebuttal evidence. Reasonable doubt has been raised. An acquittal follows, and the books on trial tactics have another illustration on how to "beat the case" through surprise.[73]

Why should not a defendant be required either to state his defense in writing at the time of arraignment in clear and concise language, or what would seem more practicable in most cases, present an oral titular designation of such defense, either as a special plea or as a specification under the plea of "not guilty?"[74]

Eight jurisdictions[75] require the defendant to give advance notice of an insanity defense; at least two jurisdictions[76] make the same requirement with reference to alibi, while Scottish law[77] extends the requirement to alibi, insanity, that defendant was asleep and that the crime was committed by another person named.

Several years ago the Michigan Crime Commission waged a successful campaign for the adoption of a statute requiring the defendant who proposed to offer alibi evidence, to give notice of that intention, and his whereabouts, at least four days before trial, to the prosecuting attorney.[78] Many defense lawyers, both before and after its passage, bitterly opposed the measure which has since survived attack and been at least inferentially sustained by the Michigan Supreme Court.[79] Says Harry S. Toy, Prosecuting Attorney of Wayne County (Detroit):[80]

> "The great increase in convictions where alibis have been offered since the passage of the act is attributed by police and prosecuting officials to the statutory notice given them, which permits an inquiry into the alleged facts of the alibi prior to trial and the refutation and destruction of a false alibi."

As the Michigan law now operates, prejury has been materially checked:

> "Instances have arisen where an alibi has been offered as a defense after notice given under the Alibi Act and the police and prosecuting officials have been able to prove that the alibi witnesses committed perjury. Several perjury convictions have resulted on that score in Detroit . . . Prosecuting and police officials of this County are firmly convinced that the present Michigan Alibi and Insanity Defense Law is a step in the right direction and that it prevents many miscarriages of justice."[81]

The Criminal Law Committee of the Ohio State Bar Association drafted an alibi defense statute containing virtually the same language as the Michigan statute, and secured its enactment.[82] Previously there had been many abuses of the alibi defense.[83]

The extent to which some defendants will go with a prejured defense is illustrated by the case of Hymie Martin a notorious gunman who when arrested in Pittsburgh for a murder committed in Cleveland secured a writ of habeas corpus and at the hearing produced alibi witnesses who testified that he was in Pittsburgh on the night in question. Disbelieving the witnesses the court refused to release the suspect and he was extradited to Ohio where he was indicted. He served notice required by the Ohio alibi law in which, to the amazement of all, he stated that on the night of the murder he was in Akron, Ohio.[84]

Under the Ohio law, the popularity of the alibi defense waned. Criminals found that an alibi defense refuted in open court was worse than no defense at all. The requirement of advance notice robbed this defense of its most valuable quality, i. e., the surprise element. All this was apparent two months after the enactment of the law, according to Miss Leona Marie Esch, Operating Director of the Cleveland Association for Criminal Justice.[85]

The Ohio Supreme Court, in a case not directly presenting constitutional questions,[86] upheld the lower court which had refused to admit evidence of alibi in the absence of an advance specification.[87]

The Attorney General's office has recommended to the federal Congress the adoption of such a statute.

Under both the Michigan and Ohio statutes, alibi is not raised by a separate plea, but by specification under the general issue. Both statutes provide that in the event defendant fails to submit advance notice, the court may in its discretion exclude alibi evidence. This grant of discretion seems a wise insertion both from the standpoint of the prosecution and the accused. Without such a penalty the requirement of the special plea would be a most ineffective gesture.[88] While the cases will be rare in which the court should permit proof of an unannounced alibi, occasionally a defendant will be called upon in a tardy prosecution, to recall and substantiate his presence at a given place on a night some years previous. When such a case arises the discretion may be exercised so as not to penalize a defendant who has not had time to refresh his memory.[89]

With such unsolved fundamental problems in the insanity field as the basis for criminal responsibility, the inadequacy of insanity tests, the need for the creation of agencies for pre-trial psychiatric examinations, and the ultimate disposition of the mentally unsound, only the most superficial surface-scratching can be accomplished by tinkering with such purely mechanical innovations as the special plea of insanity. Our contribution is rendered all the more slight when it is realized that, contrary to popular opinion, the insanity defense is raised in comparatively few cases.[90]

However, by requiring advance notice of intention to present an insanity defense, some of the surprise element will be eliminated and feigned insanity may be discouraged. California statistics indcate that such a requirement will not necessarily result in fewer such pleas[91] although that has apparently been the result in Michigan.[92]

In Alabama,[93] California,[94] Ohio,[95] Washington,[96] Wisconsin,[97] and Indiana,[98] the defense of insanity at the time of the offense must be raised by a special plea, and unless it is so raised, no evidence of insanity may be presented at the trial. Louisiana had a similar statute, but in 1932 the section of the Code containing the provision for a special plea was amended and re-enacted omitting any reference to such a plea.[99]

In Colorado[1] and Michigan[2] insanity must be raised by a specification under the general issue. Unless so raised it cannot be shown under "not guilty" in the former state, and may be excluded by the judge in the latter.

In New York[3] and Nebraska[4] the defendant may make a special plea of insanity, but evidence of insanity is nevertheless admissible under the general issue,[5] a rather impotent provision, it would seem.

While three other states, Maine,[6] Maryland,[7] and New Hampshire,[8] make no requirement with reference to special pleas in insanity cases, their statutes appear to contemplate such pleas, and such pleas would not be rejected as they have been in other states.[9]

The Code of Criminal Procedure of the American Law Institute contains a provision, similar to that in Michigan and Colorado requiring a specification in advance of trial.[10] And the Missouri Crime Survey[11] and the Wickersham Commission[12] contain recommendations approving such a statute.

§ 59. Comment on Failure of Defendant to Testify

The Pennsylvania Bar Association[13] recommends that the rules of procedure be amended, permitting both Court and counsel to comment to the jury on the failure of the defendant in a criminal case to testify in his own behalf. This recommendation is considered the better procedure by many experts in the field of criminal administration.[14] We recommend this for your consideration.

§ 60. Proof of Prior Convictions to Affect Credibility

Most States allow evidence of prior convictions to be introduced to impeach the credibility of any witness or of the defendant in the event that he sees fit to take the witness stand in his own behalf. It is recommended that the law on this subject be clarified so that no doubt will exist as to the rule involved.[15]

§ 61. Segregation of Witnesses

In many states, by statute, or rule of court, and in others by the common law, witnesses may be withdrawn from a court room during the trial. It is not always conducive to honest testimony for one witness to hear the testimony of witnesses who precede him. The power to segregate witnesses should be discretionary with the Judge on his own motion and a matter of right on the application of either party. This is a matter which could be cured by Rule of Court.[16]

§ 62. Impeachment of Witnesses

It is recommended that the law of evidence relating to the matter of impeachment of witnesses be modified by expanding the right of both the prosecution and defense to impeach their own witnesses for giving testimony which is inconsistent with previous statements. This recommendation received a general discussion and approval during the Attorney General's Crime Conference in Washington. It has also been approved by the American Bar Association and is the law in most states.

§ 63. Retention of Evidence

There should be a definite rule as to who should be the custodian of all physical evidence obtained before the trial of a case. Many discrepancies were found in this matter. In one case, the committing Magistrate retained possession of documentary evidence. In another case a Judge retained possession of certain firearms. Sometimes the evidence is held by the District Attorney's office and sometimes by the police officers or the local enforcement agency, whichever it may be. It is recommended that provisions be made that a definite person conducted with the District Attorney's office receive all such evidence, who shall give a receipt therefor, and who shall catalog, index and be responsible for all such property. In this connection it might be well to consider legislation specifically on the question of firearms and providing that after such firearms have been used in evidence and the case is in final judgment, and the firearms have no further use as evidence, that they should be destroyed. The Commission has been informed by police officers that there are cases, to their knowledge, where, after a homicide trial, they dis-

[90] "The Illinois Crime Survey, page 213, states that the number of defendants found insane by juries in the various municipalities and counties covered by the survey vary from less than 1 per 1000 cases to 1.5; and that 'the insanity defense has great publicity in a few homicide cases and creates the impression that a large number escape in that way.' On page 757 there are more detailed statistics of Cook County, showing in four years a total of only 11 findings of insanity in murder cases and 40 in all cases. . . . The California . . . report discloses (page 37) that in 8,336 cases there were 98 pleas of insanity, or a little over one per cent, and that of these 98 only 13 were successful, and in a majority of these the district attorney either stipulated that the defendant was insane or the experts called by the state testified that the defendant was insane." covered that other persons have subsequently been killed by the same weapon.

§ 64. Compulsory Process by District Attorney

District Attorneys have complained to the Commission[17] of their difficulty in properly preparing their cases when Commonwealth witnesses fail to appear in their offices prior to the trial.

Consideration should be given to the advisability of legislation which will give the District Attorney compulsory process to bring in Commonwealth witnesses for questioning prior to trial.[18]

§ 65. Expert Testimony

It has been suggested that the whole system whereby a defendant employs and pays for medical opinion in the courts is wrong and should be abolished; that a defendant should have no more right to pick his medical expert than he has to pick the policeman who arrests him or the judge who presides at his trial;[19] and that it is an absurdity, on the question of the sanity of the defendant to have a jury of laymen unassisted by disinterested witnesses, decide beyond a reasonable doubt, a dispute between doctors.[20]

The idea of having disinterested qualified experts appointed by the court to decide this question was approved by the American Bar Association many years ago.[21]

Many states have recognized the value of this suggestion and have passed various acts to bring this about.[22]

We recommend some similar provision in our basic law. We believe, however, that both the defense and Commonwealth should retain their right to call additional expert witnesses.[23]

§ 66. Verdicts to be in Writing

It is recommended that verdicts in criminal cases should be reduced to writing, signed by the foreman of the jury and filed as part of the record in the case.

§ 67. Jurisdiction in Bastardy Cases

District Attorneys have recommended to the Commission that the law be amended in reference to the venue in cases where the fornication occurrs in one County and a child is born in another. Under the present law, each matter must be separately disposed of in the particular County in which it takes place.

We recommend for consideration the enactment of legislation which will give either County jurisdiction as to both matters.[24]

§ 68. Dying Declarations in Abortion Cases

District Attorneys have complained to the Commission of the difficulty of obtaining convictions on the strength of dying declarations in abortion cases because of the decision in 82 Superior Court, 355, interpreting Act of 1895, P. L. 367.

We recommend for serious consideration the broadening of the term "corroboration" in this respect.[25]

CHAPTER X

PROBATION

§ 69. General Statement

In some of our counties, separate probation service has been provided for different courts. A consolidated probation department in each of such counties would unquestionably be better. From it would come more uniformity, higher standards of work, greater economy and more effective administration. We recommend legislation enabling any county to consolidate its probation service into one unit.

In Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wisconsin, and several other states,[26] probation is regarded as a state function and paid for out of state funds. In New York State, the only responsibility for probation that the state has assumed is through the activities of the State Department of Probation with a professional staff of five and the State Probation Commission, an unpaid Commission with seven members. That staff has attempted to persuade local authorities to establish local probation service, has made studies of existing services, and has tried to raise the standards by conducting training courses for probation officers as well as in many other ways.

We were interested in improving the Probation administration in this Commonwealth and invited the Hon. Charles L. Chute, Executive Director of the National Probation Association to appear at the Public Hearings[27] and suggest a plan for Pennsylvania. He stated there were three general probation plans in practice at this time:[28] (1) The Local Plan, the system now in use in this State; (2) The State Plan, is entirely state-administered and controlled; (3) The Mixed Plan, is where the state government, through a board of commissioners or a department, supervises and to some extent directs the work of the personnel and methods of probation in the local courts.

He further stated:

> "But in States where the system has developed on the other basis, as a local function in the courts, where the courts have been given the power to appoint a board of probation officers and where the county and city authorities are given the power to fix the salaries to be paid for that work, we have recommended the mixed plan, with a State supervisory plan. That is a plan that I think is adapted to Pennsylvania, not attempting to take probation entirely out of the courts' hands and have it administered by a State board or a State staff, as is done in Rhode Island, Wisconsin and in the Middle West in seven states which have adopted that system—seven Middle West States adopted that system last year to 1937. The tendency has been in that direction. But in the States where the probation is already established as a local function, I would leave it there. I would establish a small State division or bureau or board of probation to supervise the work of probation and set up standards and rules, and to have control over the probation officers.
> "Now, that, gentlemen, would be the thing that you would be most concerned with. That is the plan and that is the method which would be the best one for developing probation and improving it in the State of Pennsylvania."

Probation is everywhere accepted as a necessary and proper part of our system of criminal justice; it is here to stay.[29] With improved administration it is destined to play a much larger part in the correctional system of tomorrow.

Better facilities for the administration of probation and parole are being developed more rapidly than for many years.[30] In state after state the realization is become manifest that good probation and parole service is worth paying for, and must be paid for to make it worth having. The only ambitious attempt to organize volunteer service has been that of Texas where the men's service clubs, at the request of the Governor, enlisted committees of three to ten men in the larger counties to supervise parolees.

But after a year's experience these committees, though they had been able to accomplish much in securing employment for parolees, have concluded that full time paid officers are necessary, and they are supporting legislative proposals to that end.

In the states studied by the National Probation Association[31] it seems to be the nearly unanimous opinion that adequate probation service can be provided only through the participation of the state government. In several of them provision has been made during the past year for such participation. In most of these states it has seemed best to combine parole service with probation, setting up a combination state department of adult probation and parole. Such a service has been set up in Kentucky in the State Welfare Department, with a state director of probation and parole and a probation-parole officer for each of the thirty-seven judicial districts, appointed under an examination system and paid by the State. In Utah the State Board of Corrections has been authorized to establish a department of adult probation and parole with a director and field staff selected by competitive examination. In Arkansas lack of funds prevented the establishment of an entirely separate staff, but a state director of adult probation and parole has been appointed by the State Penal Board, and one of the state police force in each judicial circuit is to be designated as the probation-parole officer, under the supervision of the state director. In Vermont a greatly increased appropriation has been made for the probation and parole work of the State Welfare Department; a director and six full time officers are to be employed. Similar state services are being organized in Tennessee and are under consideration in Oregon. In North Carolina, also, a state not included in the PIRA surveys, there is now being established a department of adult probation with a director and staff to be appointed and paid by the state.

§ 70. Probation by Courts

Some of our courts overlook the fact that there is a statute specifically defining the conditions under which a Court is permitted to grant probation.[32] This Act provides that probation shall not be allowed to any defendant convicted of certain specified crimes of a more serious nature.[33] We find many cases in which this prohibition is disregarded.[34] The Act further provides that probation is not permitted when the defendant has previously been in prison for crime either in this State or elsewhere. But many Courts also ignore this provision.[35] The Act further provides that probation is to be granted only where the "Court believes that the character of the defendant and the circumstances of the case such that he or she is not likely again to engage in an offensive course of conduct, and that the public good does not demand or require that the defendant should serve the penalty imposed by law." This provision is also ignored by many Judges. We find that in a large number of cases notorious criminals with serious records are arrested time and time again and are continually placed on probation.[36] As an illustration, we cite one case where the defendant had a long record of arrests, which repeatedly resulted in probations and discharges and while at liberty on the last probation, he murdered a police officer.[37] It should be noted that the granting of probation, is probation in name only. There is no regular supervision whatever over those who receive suspended sentences and are placed on probation. Frequently defendants who are at liberty on probation are again arrested and convicted of other crimes, and no effort is made to revoke their previous probation.[38] As a matter of fact, there seems to be no regular check made to determine whether or not the defendant was on probation at the time of his subsequent arrest. This is largely due to lack of personnel in the Probation offices. It is ridiculous to expect any one person to attempt supervision of this character over two hundred to a thousand probationers. This is what they are now expected to do in some of the large communities.

The violations referred to in this Section are not based so much upon the inadequacy of the law as upon the acts of individual judges in disregarding the law. In some instances Judges do this for what appears to be an entirely proper purpose. It is recommended, however, that the Probation Act be amended to forbid the discharge of prisoners on probation in all cases in which there has been a prior conviction for any crime.

Fingerprinting of all persons convicted would enable the Court to ascertain their true record before granting probation. This should be a mandatory part of the procedure.

In Allegheny County the Courts have inaugurated a splendid system of handling probation cases. They require the fingerprint records to be forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington for the purpose of checking.[39]

§ 71. Behavior Clinic.

Every court called upon to pass sentence upon defendants and then to deprive them of their liberty or restrain them in the exercise of it has been confronted with the lack of sufficient facts regarding the various individuals to enable a proper discharge of that responsibility.[40]

It has been the opinion of many Judges,[41] District Attorneys and many others, experienced in this field, that the administration of criminal law has been out of line with the general scientific advancement in medicine, psychology, psychiatry and other fields of scientific endeavor.[42]

It was with this idea in mind that many of the larger cities in the United States have sought the medical and psychiatric approach to a solution of the crime problem.[43] These methods have been called "Behavior Clinics," "Classification Clinics," "Medical Clinics," "Guidance Institutes" and other similar names and have been established and operated with excellent results in New York, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Pittsburgh,[44] Reading and other large cities. The experience of these clinics may well be used as a guide in considering the subject from a legislative standpoint.

Pennsylvania's first clinic was established by the Hon. Paul N. Schaeffer, President Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Berks County.

Judge Schaeffer appeared before the Commission at a session of its public hearings.[45] Summarized, he stated that the "Guidance Institute," as it is called, was established ten years ago; at first with a psychologist, case workers, and stenographers; some help from the psychiatrist at the Wernersville State Hospital; finally their own psychiatrists. The doctor and probation officers were appointed merely under the Act authorizing the courts to name the probation officers and directing their duties.

Prior to 1938 the annual cost was fifteen hundred dol-

Under this law every defendant who has been indicted by the grand jury for a capital offense or arrested more than once for the same offense or who has been convicted of a felony, must be examined by the department of mental diseases. If he is found insane, he is sent to an institution. If he is found not insane, and is put on trial, the prosecution may call as witnesses the examiners of the department who examined the defendant. It is interesting to note that about 20% of all persons examined were found insane. "Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry," Vol. 34, No 2, "Society Transactions," Philadelphia Psychiatric Society.

lars; this year the court increased the budget to twenty-five hundred dollars. The Institute is now staffed by a trained psychiatrist, by psychologists, by trained psychiatric social workers and a stenographer, and two young college graduates with two years of social case work. This institution continually aids the court and is constantly working on cases.

As to the duties imposed upon this institute, and results obtained, he further stated:[46]

> "We have a parole system with a special staff in our county of four adult parole officers . . . dealing with adults exclusively. We hold a Sentence Court twice a month. Before we impose sentence we insist upon receiving a report from the parole officer, upon the defendant's prior criminal history, his employment record, his full social record, meaning his psychiatric record, the family record and other records, with a statement of the offense itself. We find there are officers who cannot make more than two such investigations a day. It is a big job to do that. He must see the defendant's side of the story, he must see the parents, he must see the employer, he must get the school record and often contact the minister. That is handed up in typewritten form to us, given to us about twenty-four hours before court so that we judges may have a chance to look over it. . . . I think the system is effective, and I think it has great value. I think it has paid for itself many times over."

After Judge Ralph H. Smith of the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County had presided over the criminal court of that County for several months, he realized the need of such a clinic whose findings would be available to the sentencing judge. On April 30, 1936, he appointed some twenty-six outstanding lawyers, physicians, psychiatrists and educators as a committee to determine the advisability of establishing such a clinic. In due time the committee reported favorably with definite recommendations. Public approval was instantaneous. Orders were then made by the court to carry out the recommendations. The Allegheny County Behavior Clinic is now in successful operation and all under the existing law. Apparently it has found favor with all of the judges of that court.

The complete story of its organization and operation was related to the Commission at Public Hearings conducted in Pittsburgh.[47] Judge Smith and many others who assisted in creating this clinic appeared and testified. A number of statements, letters and charts were furnished and offered as exhibits for our record.[48]

A similar clinical procedure has been established in the Pennsylvania Industrial School with Dr. Arthur Phillips as Senior Psychologist and Director.[49]

The Municipal Court in Philadelphia which has a limited criminal jurisdiction (murder, manslaughter, treason, burglary, etc., excepted) [50] has established a medical department, with an unpaid medical advisory board consisting of seven physicians and psychiatrists.[51] This board was created for the purpose of supervising the medical department and passing upon applicants for appointment. The medical director is employed full time with one specialist in children's disaeses, one ophthalmologist, and four women physicians, one a specialist in laboratory work and in charge of the court's laboratory, and three doing special and gynecological work. The work of the physicians is aided by thirteen full-time nurses.[52]

This medical department is used almost exclusively for the juvenile, domestic relations and women's misdemeanants divisions.

William Drayton, Jr., M.D., psychiatrist of this department states:

> "Of late, a few of the judges in the criminal courts of Philadelphia, have asked for psychiatric examinations of men and women who have pleaded or have been found guilty before imposing sentence. The judges realizing that something was peculiar in the character make-up of the individuals, have been anxious to find out just what was wrong and have asked advice as to the appropriate type of sentence."[53]

Dr. Drayton also expressed the opinion that if a similar clinic be established in Philadelphia County that it should be added to the already established clinic in the Municipal Court, which would be a great saving in expense. He stated:[54]

> "If we had more psychiatrists, more psychologists and more investigators, I do not think the thing could be done any better elsewhere. I think that one or two psychiatrists should be added, one or two psychologists, and perhaps five or ten investigators. Then if the Criminal Courts find this is a good plan, that it should be gradually increased until we have a large central clinic for all of the Courts in the City of Philadelphia."

On October 6, 1937, the House of Delegates of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania adopted a resolution advocating the establishment of psychiatric services to assist Criminal Courts in the disposition of offenders. We deem it of sufficient importance to set it out in full in the footnotes.[55]

A number of physicians and psychiatrists appeared before the Commission at the Public Hearings[56] and expressed their views on the subject.

Shippen Lewis, Esq., of the Philadelphia Bar and Chairman of the Committee on Criminal Justice of the Philadelphia Bar Association stated that while the plan seemed good, the Bar Association as yet had taken no definite action; that his committee felt, ". . . it is a worthwhile experiment to start in a small way, and if it goes well to extend it. . . . You cannot force it on the Judges, you can persuade them to try it. It is very much better to have the Judges want it than to force it on them."[57]

While we have given the local clinics considerable attention we believe the basic principle may well be carried out on a more comprehensive plan in the state correctional institutions. If the prison administration has a sufficient staff of experts, such as psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and a vocational teacher, it can give to the parole board a systematic analysis of each man and can interpret the findings of the board, which then can make an intelligent decision regarding present or future parole.[58]

We believe that the scientific approach to the problem of crime has received general favorable comment and has been obtaining excellent results in the various jurisdictions where established. While the clinics in this state connected with the criminal courts have been created under the existing law, controversies have already arisen. Ample authority appears to exist for the creation and maintenance of these clinics under the present law.[59] Nevertheless, we recommend a clarification of the situation, so that clinics may be established in the larger centers of population if the courts in those communities desire to avail themselves of its advisory function.

Most certainly no prisoner in a state penal institution should be released until the paroling power has had the benefit of the report of these experts.[60]

We further recommend legislation which will permit smaller counties to use the service of the clinic attached to the state penal institutions, or to permit these counties to consolidate their efforts in a district clinic to be maintained by the counties joining in such consolidation.

Since these clinics at the outset will not be sufficiently large to examine all cases, we are of the opinion that the following classes of cases should be given preference:

1. First Offenders.
2. Obviously Mental Cases.
3. Defendants in Sex Offenses.[61]
4. Alcoholic and Narcotic Cases.

We are convinced that many persons make their first appearance in the criminal court because of some mental defect or disorder, which, if scientifically detected, may be properly treated and corrected. As a result, the individual may be saved from a career of crime. Thus society will have restored to it as a law-abiding citizen, an individual who might otherwise have become a burden and a charge upon the community.

Sex crimes invariably result from some mental aberration. Such cases call for special scientific consideration, not only to attempt to reclaim the individual, if possible, but also to prevent him becoming a contaminating influence to society.[62]

CHAPTER XI

PAROLE

§ 72. Parole by Courts

In the matter of granting paroles, some of the Judges pay as little attention to the law as do the recipients of their paroles. The Act of Assembly states clearly and definitely under what circumstances a judge may grant parole. In many instances this law is disregarded entirely. We find numerous cases in which a parole was granted and no parole petition was filed,[63] no notice was given to the District Attorney's Office,[64] no notice was given to the private prosecutor,[65] no definite date was set for a hearing,[66] the ten-day rule was disregarded,[67] no proof of service was presented.[68]

In addition, the Rules of Quarter Sessions Court (Philadelphia) specify additional requirements which are ignored. We find numerous cases in which a parole was granted and the petition did not include the prisoner's criminal record and other details required by the Rules of Court;[69] there was no hearing in open Court,[70] the hearing was held by one Judge instead of two, no notice was given to the Director of Public Safety, no notice was posted a tthe District Attorneq's Office, no notes of testimony were taken.[71]

There are several cases in which all the requirements are violated.[72] An example is the "mail order" parole.[73] A visiting Judge imposed a sentence and returned to his home county. There he received a letter from the defendant's lawyer requesting a parole. The Judge then wrote to the Parole Officer stating that he had forgotten the facts in the case but "if you think he should be paroled, do so, and sign my name to the parole order." The Parole Officer wrote an order on the back of the Bill of Indictment, mailed it to the Judge, who signed it and mailed it back.

There is no attempt made to maintain any regular supervision over paroled criminals. This situation becomes even more absurd in cases in which the defendants are subsequently arrested for crimes committed while on parole and are re-sentenced and very frequently put on probation, or granted parole without any attempt being made to revoke the prior parole and very often without any knowledge whatever of such prior parole.

The basic theory underlying the principle of parole is the belief that the defendant has been sufficiently punished, has learned a salutary lesson and that he will not again engage in a course of criminal conduct. That this idea is wholly disregarded is evident from the fact that many Courts continually parole notorious criminals. As an example, we find a case[74] in which the defendant was paroled on his thirtieth arrest. This man's record finally ended with the murder of a police officer.

§ 73. Notice to the District Attorney

In a number of cases[75] in which paroles were granted, notations appear on the Bills if Indictments, or other records, which read "Ten Days' Notice Waived" and signed by one of the Assistant District Attorneys. This clearly indicates that the District Attorney's Office is fully cognizant of the rule. Moreover, the ten days' notice is only waived in those cases where there is not a full ten days before the hearing and even though the District Attorney were permitted to waive his ten days' notice he certainly has no authority to prejudice the rights of the private prosecutor who is, under the same statute, entitled to the full ten days.

§ 74. Local Parole Board

In order to eliminate many of these evils, and to eliminate as far as possible any charge of political chicanery in the granting of paroles from local institutions, it is suggested that in the larger counties the power of parole be taken away from the individual Judge and given exclusively to a local Parole Board. We feel that a large majority of the Judges would be pleased to be relieved of this burdensome duty. On this Board there should be a representation of Judges, a representative of the District Attorney, possibly a representative of the Superintendent of the County Prison and such other persons as shall be deemed advisable; or perhaps a board composed entirely of laymen with a representation of medical experts. It should be mandatory that all petitions for parole be submitted to this Board, that the hearings and proceedings of the Board should be public, and held in a certain designated place at stated times, and stenographic notes should be taken and transcribed of all the proceedings. The law creating such a Board should specify over what types of crimes the Board shall have jurisdiction, should provide for proper notice to the parties interested, for such other matters in connection therewith which may be considered convenient and proper.[76]

§ 75. State Parole

Throughout the country the public conscience has revolted at the crimes committed by felons with a parole or pardon in one hand and a smoking pistol in the other.[77] This has tended to throw the parole system, indeed even the theory of parole, into public disrepute. It is only too true that one crime committed by a pardoned or paroled convict can do more to prejudice the public mind than the perfect record of five hundred exemplary parolees can do to arouse favor for the institution of parole.[78]

This condition has resulted in building up two schools of public thought—one represented by many respected and sincere public officials and citizens who feel that probation and parole should not be granted under any circumstances; the other by many other prominent men and women, as well as law-enforcement officials and judges throughout the country who believe in the theory or principle that the object of punishment is not only to suppress crime by incarceration behind prison walls, but to reform the offender as well, and if possible, to suppress crime by making an investment in humanity.

The confusion existing in the minds of the public and representatives of the press regarding probation and parole and their failure to distinguish the difference between the two methods of treating offenders convicted of a violation of the law, have resulted in instances in which parole is charged with failures that properly belong to the probation system.

Probation, like parole, is an effective method of treating selected types of offenders. No attempt is made to defend parole by minimizing the effectiveness of probation. The press and the public, however, should be acquainted with the fact that probation and parole are not synonymous terms, but that they represent two separate and distinct systems for treating delinquents and criminals.[79]

Probation is the method of supervising in the community, convicted offenders instead of incarcerating them in penal or corrective institutions. If individuals placed on probation violate the conditions of probation, they may be committed to a correctional institution.[80]

Parole is the supervision in the community of a convicted offender after he has served part of the sentence imposed by the court in a reformatory or a state prison or a county penal institution. In this Comminwealth parole may be granted by the sentencing court to those offenders sentenced to county penal institutions.

The administration of probation is a local matter. The number of probation officers serving in the courts of a county or city, depends upon the local fiscal authorities. Individuals who have been convicted of crime are placed on probation by local judges who make the decision that the individual should be given an opportunity to readjust in the community under supervision, instead of being incarcerated in a correctional institution. The responsibility for the administration of probation and of parolees from county institutions under the present system belongs to the local judge.

While we have no mandate to investigate the State Parole System, and Your Excellency has appointed a special body to study this subject, we feel we should make available for consideration the material gathered during the scope of our work which inevitably led to the paroling of persons convicted of crime and allied subjects.[81] The Commission does wish, however, to record its opinion that these suggestions be considered in any changes or reforms of our present parole system.

One of the glaring defects of the entire parole situation today is that of inadequate personnel. The vast majority of states do not have a sufficient staff with which to maintain a well-balanced parole system. Analyzing the findings of the Prison Association[82] it is revealed that 191 parole officers supervise 46,613 parolees, or that on an average, each officer has a case load of slightly over 244 persons.

A report[83] submitted by the Senior Field Agent of District No. 1 of the Pennsylvania State Parole Department which district includes the counties of Berks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton and Philadelphia, disclosed that ten agents supervised 1589 parolees and in addition to their Pennsylvania cases, supervised 217 parolees from other states with which Pennsylvania has reciprocal agreements. This situation is also true in the other districts. The report also indicates that the case load per agent at the end of 1937 would be 200. This does not permit effective work. Influencing human behavior is a difficult and time-consuming process. To do the job right, there must be a sufficient number of properly trained parole officers. We recommend adequate personnel.

The three subjects of Parole, Penal Institutions and Sentencing Power are so closely allied that they should receive joint consideration.

The effectiveness of our penal institutions as instruments of crime control is very materially affected by the method of sentencing.[84] The validity of the indeterminate sentence in principle is well established. The exact date on which any given offender should be released from confinement, with due regard for the protection of society and the increase of the prospects of his rehabilitation, is actually indeterminate. It cannot be determined accurately by even the wisest persons, five, ten or more years in advance. It is on this fact that the principle of the indeterminate sentence is based with a lower and an upper limit. Within these limits, on the basis of a more complete study[85] of the individual rather than can be made at the time of trial and in the light of the institution record and current attitude of the offender, the proper release data can be determined with more accuracy than is possible at the time of conviction and sentence.

Many states have enacted indeterminate sentence laws and have credited full-time boards of parole to consider the facts surrounding each individual as a basis for release.[86]

We recommend for your consideration that sentences to county jails be limited to a maximum of two years, and that all others to be incarcerated be sent direct to state institutions, without any minimum or maximum time specified except, of course, that the maximum cannot be greater than that provided for in the Act defining the crime; that a board of prison terms and paroles be created of perhaps five members who would serve full time with adequate compensation and their appointment made by the Governor, and so staggered, so that at least one would be appointed by the succeeding Governor.[87] It is our suggestion that the general procedure be similar to that now used at the Pennsylvania Industrial School.

It would probably be necessary to amend the Ludlow Act to conform to the principles herein expressed.

We believe an indeterminate sentence law should be enacted which would give such parole board the power to fix and determine and redetermine what length of time persons sentenced to be imprisoned in a state institution should be imprisoned and to allow, suspend, revoke, forfeit and again allow prisoners to go upon parole outside the prison buildings and enclosures.

We believe that parole officers should be selected because of definite qualifications as to character, ability and primarily with regard for their capacity and ability for influencing human behavior; that they should be men and women likely to exercise a strong and helpful influence upon persons placed under their supervision.[88]

We believe that this system with adequate personnel for parole supervision, and increased clinical study of the individual will enable society to more effectively restrain the recidivist and sex moron and at the same time permit rehabilitation in those who are worthy.[89]

CHAPTER XII

PENAL INSTITUTIONS

§ 76. Penal Institutions Generally

In the fight to control crime, penal and correctional institutions should have two functions; one is to hold in safe custody persons who are a menace to society when free, the other is to bring about the reclamation to law-abiding life of the largest possible percentage of the delinquents and criminals committed to their charge. Practically all of those now serving sentences in our institutions will be free again in less than ten years. A majority in five years or less. It is, therefore, not enough that our jails, prisons and reformatories be merely secure cages for those who break the law. It is axiomatic that they must somehow accomplish the reformation or rehabilitation of a substantial number of their prisoners, if they are to give society anything but temporary protection.

This Commonwealth has made a huge investment in its penal and correctional institutions and their maintenance places a heavy annual burden on the taxpayer. Every effort should be made to attack crime effectively at its roots. By spending a dollar for crime prevention we may eventually save one hundred dollars for prison costs. A wise and carefully controlled extension of probation and parole will save human lives as well as tax-dollars. But however effectively we may work to prevent crime or to deal with delinquents outside of prison walls, we shall presumably always require institutions for a large number of offenders. It therefore behooves us to operate them efficiently and effectively, so that we shall get from our investment the highest possible returns in criminals diverted from further criminal acts.

We were not empowered to act in reference to penal institutions. However, since the penal system is an integral part of the criminal justice administration, we invited several experts who have conducted extended research and surveys in this field to present their findings and recommendations to the Commission. Their testimony will be found at length in the record of the public hearings.

The Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs conducted an extensive survey and study of the Eastern State Penitentiary and the Philadelphia County Prisons, covering a period of ten years. Studies of probation and parole by county courts were made in eleven counties, and studies of county prisons were made in thirteen counties.

Many charts and graphs were prepared, showing the present organization of state correctional services and statistical data, valuable and necessary for study of this subject.[90]

Leon T. Stern, Esq., Secretary of that Committee, appeared before this Commission and outlined their findings of fact together with their specific recommendations based thereon.[91] Those recommendations were as follows:

A. DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS.

The creation of a State Department of Correction, with a Secretary as member of the Governor's Cabinet, is reccommended to administer all the prisons and the investigation and supervision of parolees, to control standards of county jails and probation services in the counties, to develop training courses for prison, probation and parole personnel, and to certify qualified persons for appointment in the prison, probation and parole services.

1. The Department should administer:
   (a) state prisons
   (b) state reformatories
   (c) regional state prison farms
   (d) prison and reformatory prison labor systems
   (e) educational systems in the institutions.
2. The Department should conduct investigations of prospective parolees for the proposed State Parole Board, and supervise all parolees to whom parole has been granted by the State Parole Board.
3. The Department should control standards of:
   (a) county probation service
   (b) county jails
4. The Department should certify prospective personnel who have been tested and qualified for positions in the county probation service, local prisons, state prison and parole services and professional personnel employed in the department of correction, state prisons, probation and parole services.
5. The Department should conduct training courses and institutes for employees in the prisons, reformatories, parole and probation services.

B. PRISONS AND REFORMATORIES.

1. Sentence all offenders serving maximum sentences of two years and minimum sentences of one year to the State prisons.
2. Establish regional prison farms for misdemeanants and short term offenders. They should be completely under State control and they should not be farms operated by a county or a combination of counties.
3. Turn the county jails into places of detention for those awaiting trial.[92] No convicted offenders should be sent to the county jails.
4. The State should pay for all prisoners who should be committed to the State prison or who are committed to the State regional prison farm.
5. If long term offenders are sentenced to the county prison due to overcrowding of the State prisons or for any other reason, the State should pay for their care and control standards of care.
6. Combine the Allegheny County Workhouse and the Allegheny County prison under one administration.
7. Combine the House of Correction and the Philadelphia County Prison under one administration.

C. SERVICES IN PRISONS AND REFORMATORIES.

1. Require each prison or reformatory to have a psychiatrist.
2. Case work service in the institutions should be maintained and strengthened. It should be directly related to prison treatment, parole and all forms of discharge.

D. TRAINING COURSES.

1. Conduct training courses and institutes for employees in the prisons, reformatories, parole and probation services.

A. G. Frazer, Esq., Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Prison Society also appeared before the Commission and presented recommendations made following a study made by that Society.[93] That Society is committed to the following recommendations:[94]

I. The adoption of Commander Pennington's Ten-Year Program in full, including:

[88] See Exhibit 53, page 16, Ch. 824, Laws N. Y., 1930, Sec. 117.
[89] See Section 71. Also see P. H. 188, 290, 359, 377, 425, 483, 489.
[90] Exhibits 44A, 44B, 44C, and 44D.
[91] P. H. 206-229.
[92] Philadelphia should have a separate house of detention (See Section 77.)
[93] P. H. 174-189.
[94] Exhibit 43.

1. The creation of a State Department of Correction to embrace all the correctional services. This would provide:
   (a) Unified control and an integration of the various treatment services, particularly that of prison and parole.
   (b) Supervision of parole services preferably through a commission or board attached to the Department; parole selection to be the responsibility of the institution management with the advice of the clinic and subject to approval by the board or commission.
   (c) Some supervisory power over probation for purposes of establishing uniform standards.
1. Classification clinics in all state institutions.
   3. Adoption of the indeterminate sentence.
   4. Adoption of a merit system of appointment and an in-service training program in all correctional services.
   5. Abolition of the county jail and the substitution of state regional farms.

II. The establishment of a separate house of detention in Philadelphia.[95]

III. Removal of the power of parole from the courts and vesting it under the authority of the State in the institution to which the offender is committed.

IV. Abolition of the county jail and substitution of state regional farms. As this cannot be achieved at once there should be legislation enacted making all sentences of one year or more to penal institutions state prison offenses. This would at once make the clinical service already established in the state institutions available for classification and parole planning purposes.

V. Legislation making the state financially responsible for all state prisoners.

VI. Further extension and development of the state's plan for classification by institutions. This includes the plan for the new industrial school at Cumberland Valley, for an institution for delinquents at Huntingdon, and a possible extension at Muncy to accommodate the female prisoners now confined in the county jails.

VII. To relieve present prison congestion the state should establish mobile prison camps for minimum security types of prisoners. These prisoners could be employed in state reforestation projects and similar enterprises.

VIII. Extension of prison labor so that all prisoners may be employed. We believe this may be accomplished through a limited extension of trade training facilities, organizing the so-called housekeeping services of the institutions on a training basis, and by development of farm colonies and prison camps.

IX. Philadelphia County Prisons. In order to promote efficiency and eliminate duplication of services, there should be consolidation of the Philadelphia County Prisons and the House of Correction. and the establishment of a classification and case work unit to the end that all three institutions may provide differentiated service and that there may be adequate parole planning.

Commander John D. Pennington, former Secretary of Welfare of Pennsylvania and now General Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon, likewise appeared before the Commission and presented his recommendations based upon his experience:[96]

"To recapitulate, I am urging as prime requisites for a comprehensive penal program for the Commonwealth: First, Centralized Control of State-owned penal institutions. Against the positive arguments already developed, there is only one objection that has been raised that merits consideration. It is argued by many that centralized control is undemocratic and that it destroys local rule. This argument overlooks completely that penal institutions are state institutions. They are not local institutions. They are supported by the taxpayers of the entire state and are a part of the state-wide penal system. Management and control of spearate state institutions to be coordinated with a statewide system and be effective, should not be under the control of local boards of Trustees. The fact that the local communities where they are placed do profit economically by their location should never be construed to mean that they are subject to the attitudes and sentiments of the locality that are likely to be provincial.

"Furthermore, this objection is based upon a misunderstanding of American democracy. Our democracy began, it is true, with the New England Town Meeting, but as the system showed its weakness in the clash of local interests, American democracy became representative democracy. It stands for government by chosen representatives. It cannot be gainsaid that that the Governor of the Commonwealth is more responsive to the collective judgment of state-wide sentiment and opinion than any other individual in the state. Placing the penal institutions under the control and management of the Secretary of Welfare in direct line with the Governor of the Commonwealth truly conforms with representative democracy. Such a system would be more responsive to the sentiment of the Commonwealth than control of separate institutions by locally minded Boards of Trustees.

"Like sentiment could be secured and its value conserved if Boards of Trustees were placed by Boards of Visitors with authority to make the fullest investigations at all times and report their findings to the Governor of the Commonwealth.

"Second, Coordination of Prison and Parole Services under One Agency of the State. This suggestion is so obviously demanded for the safety and the security of the people of the Commonwealth that it is difficult to see how its adoption can be longer delayed. The break in the treatment of prisoners—the division of responsibility between two state agencies each of which has authority at different points in the program cannot be justified by anyone who takes an objective point of view, seeing the situation without prejudice.

"Third, A Centralized Classification Clinic. This would provide the Department of Welfare with an instrumentality for the execution of the entire program in a scientific, careful manner. These prisoners are humans and humans differ. Proper classification will not only expedite the entire program, but will prove economical in that prisoners will receive the type and degree of training for which they are adapted and the treatment that their specific personality problems require.

"Fourth, The Extension of the Indeterminate Sentence. Sentences should be indeterminately short and indeterminately long. A prisoner should be submitted to parole only if and when he is prepared for an adequately controlled adjustment effort. Some few, should never be paroled. Others receive irreparable damage by retention in prison when the time for conditional release has arrived.

"Release should never be granted on 'the pound of flesh' principle, but solely on the ground of successful rehabilitation effort on the part of the prisoner. The convicted man is punished enough only when he is no longer a menace to the safety and security of the law abiding. Precisely when this moment arrives cannot be determined in advance of treatment and training, and the individual's response. The duration of punishment should be adjusted and adjustable to the prisoner's progress and development in social attitudes and ideals.

"The theory of making 'the punishment fit the crime' has resulted in fine distinctions as to degree of guilt and punishment, and opened the way for arrested individuals to bargain for the degree of the crime to which they are willing to plead guilty. It is conservatively estimated that 70% of all men received in 1931 at the penal institutions of the state of New York were not convicted by juries, but accepted pleas of guilty to lesser offenses than that for which they were indicted. Inequalities in sentences for the same crime result. The clever criminal who is wise to the loop-holes of the law profits most. Such injustices and inequalities will be defeated by the indeterminate sentence when duration of custody is determined not by the lesser plea, nor even by the crime, but by the criminal himself and his preparedness for a life of relative freedom.

[95] See Section 77.
[96] P. H. 74-98.

"Fifth, The Merit System and the Training School. No penal system, in the last analysis, is stronger or more effective than the men who manage and direct its program and those who execute it, both professional and custodial personnel, whether serving in the institution or aiding prisoners to adjust to free society when paroled. No machine can be more effective than the men who run it. Those familiar with the merit system and its workings in other states are unanimously in its favor. They declare that the one argument used against it, i. e., the inability to remove ineffective individuals, is specious and false.

"Sixth, the Coordination of County and State Penal Institutions in a Unified System. The county jail system should be displaced by regional industrial farms. Prisoners are placed in county jails for short terms who should be sent to the state penal institutions for longer periods of treatment and training. County jails have no facilities for classification, segregation, training and treatment or controlled adjustment to society upon release. A comprehensive penal program demands that the entire prison population of the state should be submitted to rehabilitative influences."[97]

The Hon. Paul N. Schaeffer, President Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Berks County, testified:[98] "We need an intelligent prison program. . . . I emphatically endorse Commander Pennington's program. . . . We need a Department of Correction . . . I like the Classification Board. I would not have a State Classification Board. I think it should be connected with the institutions. . . . Have a Department of Correction with a Board of Control in office for eight years, one appointed each year. There should be a fulltime scientific board."

Dr. Samuel B. Hadden, a member of the Philadelphia County Medical Committee, said:[99] ". . . I will heartily endorse . . . the need of more intermediate types of institutions for the criminal who is criminal because of a mental defect, yet is not sufficiently mentally ill to be confined in a hospital for the criminal insane."

Dr. Frederick S. Baldi, Director of the Medical Department of the Philadelphia County Prison Board, said:[1] ". . . We do not possess in this state what I always wanted, a model institution for mental defectives, for the want of a better name. . . ."

At the request of the Commission, the Hon. Curtis Bok, President Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 6 of Philadelphia, appeared and testified at the Public Hearings in reference to this subject as follows:[2]

"My program in brief is this: . . . The adoption of Commander Pennington's recommendations, looking to a unified state penal system of maximum, medium and minimum institutions. I would modify the Commander's thought only as to their underlying character. He believes that they should be penal, whereas I am convinced they should be educational. The diagnostic depots mentioned in his plan should have the discretionary power to release outright or on parole, certain classes of prisoners—that is, those convicted of a stated group of minor offenses, or those who because of youth, first offenses or extenuating circumstances, do not require prison observation and treatment. The prisons should be widely equipped to discover and develop each prisoner's ability, to teach him a trade and to maintain such contacts with the outside world as to provide him with a job when he is discharged. Each prisoner should be observed by a group or board representing physical, psychiatric and social points of view and released only when in their opinion he is fit to take his place in society. The discipline of the prisons should be exacting but not deadening, so that he may lead there as nearly a normal life as possible.

"The creation of the indeterminate sentence in order to allow the prisons to carry out the treatment above outlined and in order to place the prisoner's liberty in the hands of those who are in the best rather than the worst position to observe and pass upon his development. In short, it would be the province of the courts to determine whether he committed the crime. It would be the province of the prisons to determine why he committed it and to correct him.

"I see nothing in this plan which is not capable of realization within five or ten years at most. It should be introduced as a whole. If, however, public opinion is not prepared for the indeterminate sentence, Commander Pennington's system of prisons could be established under the present method of sentencing. I believe it would soon prove that the other is a proper and necessary part of the whole problem of handling crime and criminals. If the present method of sentencing is to be retained, the criminal courts should certainly be equipped with a staff of physicians, psychiatrists and social workers competent to give the judge in each guilty case an intelligent idea of the person he is sentencing and of his background and psychological motives for committing the crime. The Voluntary Defender provides a good example of this in the cases he handles. The Behavior Clinic which has been urged in Pittsburgh is another example of an intelligent effort to make the judge something more than a trapshooter firing in the dark.

"This is perhaps a long-term method and costly process. It is one that cannot be established overnight, but it is something I think we can grow to."

We submit these opinions for your consideration. That a general overhauling of our present penal system is needed is evidenced by the unusual interest in this entire subject shown by those who participated in the Public Hearings.

§ 77. HOUSE OF DETENTION (PHILADELPHIA COUNTY)

Sound penology requires, and an increasingly well informed public opinion is demanding, the segregation of first offenders from the time of their commitment pending trial until the time of their final release. This is in accord with sound psychological practice and would do much toward furthering the cause of rehabilitation among this class of offenders.[3]

In both Allegheny County and Philadelphia County[4] this has been a major problem for many years. This subject is discussed at length in a preceding section.

In Philadelphia County, Moyamensing Prison is used as a House of Detention. In it you will find the drunks, the disorderly characters, Federal prisoners, long-term offenders, short termers, the convicted, the untried, the sex criminals, the recidivists, and worst of all the youths of tender age who have been sentenced to the Industrial School at Huntingdon.[5]

[5] Leon T. Stern, Esq., of the Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs testified as follows: (P. H. 223-225). "The story in back of it is that in 1917 the State Legislature provided for a separate House of Detention in Philadelphia. The funds were earmarked at various times, but this money was used for other purposes,—I mean legitimately. * * * * Council decided to use it for other purposes. * * * * Moyamensing Prison, the House of Detention,—it has the drunks, the disorderly characters, young fellows waiting to go to Huntingdon. It is a melting pot. It has Federal prisoners. It has long term offenders. But for some reason or other they do not go to Holmesburg. It has people there to keep the peace for immaterial matters. It has short termers It has the untried. It is a double system, with convicts on one side, and when you get crowded on one side you put them on the other side, so that the convicts are pushed over to the untried department. You have the situation of three men in a cell. The colored prisoners are ones that suffer the most . If you are convicted of a crime you are likely to get a little better treatment. Captain Mills is making every effort to make the lot of those people as good as it can be.

A survey of this latter group through the courtesy of Commander John D. Pennington, Superintendent of the Industrial School, reveals the fact that large numbers of bodys between the ages of fifteen and twenty-three are kept there for periods of from one to three months or more both before and after trial.[6] They mix and mingle with the older, more experienced criminal classes as well as with moral degenerates of various kinds. It provides a school for crime with many receiving post-graduate courses.

The Pennsylvania Prison Society first made its protest against this system in 1798 and A. G. Fraser, Esq., Secretary of that Society, at the Public Hearings, commented:[7] ". . . and we are still looking for some kind of a house of detention in Philadelphia. That was more than a hundred and thirty years ago. . . ."

We wish to call this vital subject to your attention so that it may be given proper treatment under the general revision of laws relating to penal institutions.

CHAPTER XIII

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

§ 78. Creation of

We believe the most important recommendation this Commission can make is the creation of a judicial council.

The legal publications and the press contain many articles describing and commending the work of these councils in the various states[8] and we are confident Your Excellency is acquainted with the history and development of this important branch of administrative law.

A revised list of the various states having such councils and the dates of their creation follows:[9]

1. Ohio,	1923	14. Idaho,	1929
2. Massachusetts,	1924	15. Texas,	1929
3. Washington,	1925	16. New Jersey,	1930
4. California,	1926	17. Utah,	1931
5. Virginia,	1926	18. Oklahoma,	1933
6. Kansas,	1927	19. South Dakota,	1933
7. Connecticut,	1927	20. Missouri,	1934
8. North Dakota,	1927	21. New Mexico,	1934
9. Wisconsin,	1929	22. New York,	1934
10. Michigan	1929	23. West Virginia,	1934
11. Kentucky,	1929	24. Indiana,	1935
12. Maryland,	1929	25. Arizona,	1936
13. Illinois,	1929

We recommend for Pennsylvania, the creation of a Judicial Council which shall consist of four members of the Bar from different parts of the Commonwealth, and two citizens of the Commonwealth at large to be appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate,[10] the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, President Judge of the Superior Court, the Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate, the ranking minority member of the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate, the Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives, the ranking minority member on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives, the head of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and the Attorney General, who shall by virtue of their respective offices, be members of such Judicial Council. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall have authority to designate another judge of said court to act in his stead for a stated time. This privilege should also be given to the President Judge of the Superior Court. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court should be the Chairman of the Council with the privilege of said Justice to name any member of his court to act as such Chairman. Provision should be included which would permit the appointment of persons qualified for legal research, investigating and statistical work as may be deemed necessary to enable the Council to perform its duties and administer its affairs. The Council should be permitted to make and modify rules and regulations for the conduct of its proceedings and the exercise of its powers. The Council should be permitted to appoint regular and special committees of its members in any number, to investigate and report upon any matter relating to the duties imposed upon the Council. The Council should serve without compensation, but be allowed actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

The important phase of this recommendation is the powers and duties to be conferred upon such Council. Briebly summarized, these powers and duties should be: (a) To make a continuous survey and study of the organization, jurisdiction, procedure, practice, rules and methods of administration and operation of each and all the courts of the Commonwealth, including both courts of record and courts not of record, the volume and condition of business in said courts, the work accomplished and the results obtained; (b) To collect, compile, analyze and publish the judicial statistics of the Commonwealth; (c) To receive, consider, and in its discretion, investigate criticism and suggestions from any source pertaining to the administration of justice and to make recommendations in reference thereto; (d) To keep advised concerning the decisions of the courts relating to the procedure and practice therein and concerning legislation affecting the organization, jurisdiction, procedure and practice of the courts; (e) To recommend from time to time to the legislature any changes in the organization, jurisdiction, operation, procedure and methods of conducting the business in the courts which can be put into effect only by legislative action and to recommend to any court or to any body vested with the rule making power for any court, any changes in the rules and practice of said courts or the methods of administering judicial business therein which, in the judgment of the council, would simplify and expedite or otherwise improve the administration of justice

Everybody works against tremendous odds. If we have a place for the untried it does not mean that the tough birds who have committed some crimes should necessarily be in there. With proper correlation, with the use of records at City Hall, in the Identification Bureau, you could keep them in a separate part of the prison."

[6] See Exhibit 13. This chart shows the time spent in County jails by juvenile offenders before transfer to the Pennsylvania Industrial School and their confinement in cells with adult criminals while in the County Prisons. Analyzing this chart, Commander Pennington testified: (P. H. 91) "I can picture in my mind no more devastating influence on a young individual convicted of crime or awaiting trial than to be thrown into an institution housed with unclassified prisoners of the type that we have in county jails. Therefore, I have, with the approval of your Counsel, prepared a card showing exactly where each boy has spent his time, how much time he spent before the trial, how long he spent after trial, before he reached Huntingdon Take Philadelphia, for instance; the number of days the defendant was confined to prison before trial. Before trial thirty-four defendants of five days or less; eighty defendants six to ten days; eighty-one defendants eleven to fifteen days;fifty-nine defendants sixteen to twenty-nine days; forty-four defendants thirty to fifty-nine days; eight defendants sixty to ninety days before trial; eight defendants ninety days or more before trial. Then the number of days confined in prison after trial before being transferred * * * * * Eighty-one defendants five days or less; forty-five defendants six to ten days; fifty-seven defendants eleven to fifteen days; sixty-eight defendants sixteen to twenty-nine days; fifty-four defendants thirty to fifty-nine days; six from sixty to ninety days; and three over ninety days, after sentence to Huntingdon before they were transferred. * * * * Eight were housed by themselves; forty-six were housed with one other; one hundred and seventy-two had two in the cell with them; seventy-two had three in the cell with them; sixteen had four or more in the cell with them. In many instances much older men were in the same cell with them. A boy of sixteen years of age came in from Philadelphia County and told me he had been in the one cell that seemed to be the place where all the drunks were thrown as they came in, one after another, and he had spent the entire evening fighting for his life. It was too awful for words. These were unclassified prisoners, they were not prisoners of like age, and not like offenders, not like characteristics. These are the ages of the group that I just read, this all being from Philadelphia County: Seventy-eight were between fifteen and sixteen; seventy-seven were seventeen; fifty-eight were eighteen; fifty-four were nineteen; and twenty were twenty; fourteen were twenty-one; five were twenty-two; four were twenty-three; four not given."

Considering the relative size of Allegheny County, the situation is substantially the same with the important difference, however, that in that county each defendant was housed in a cell by himself. Also see Exhibit 92.

therein; (f) To adopt and from time to time to amend and promulgate rules and regulations not inconsistent with any statute with respect to the manner of keeping records of the business of any court, either of record or not of record.

The clerk of each court of the Commonwealth and each judge or justice of a court not of record which has no clerk, and each official referee, as well as the district attorney, parole and probation officers of each county, should be required to make to the Council such reports on such matters and in such detail and form as the Council may direct.

The Council and any committee of the Council empowered by it, should be authorized to make an investigation and to hold public or private hearings with respect to any matter relating to its powers and duties, with the right of subpoena to compel the attendance of witnesses, and require the production of books and papers, and to take and hear testimony.

The Council should be required, at stated intervals, to make a report to the Legislature, if in session, and to the Governor when not in session, which reports should be made public. A suggested draft of this proposed law will be found in the Appendix.[11]

A step in the right direction was made when the enabling act was passed conferring broad powers in respect to rule making by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. However, this enabling act does not confer the power of investigation, public hearings, subpoenaing of witnesses, etc., and it is intended to operate exclusively on the civil side of the administration of justice. We believe it should also include the criminal as well. In the past, particularly since the middle of the last century, the duty of making judicial procedure responsive to the needs of a rapidly changing society has rested upon the shoulders of our legislators. In recent years, many persons have come to realize that the Legislature, by its very nature, is not equipped to deal adequately with such a technical subject.[12]

This conception that control of procedure is the function of the Legislature has been effective in warning courts off the field of procedural reform, but it has not resulted in the Legislature occupying it.[13] The Legislature is a hard worked body without the interest, experience or technical knowledge necessary to keep legal procedure up to date.

Nevertheless, if courts are to perform their function, it is imperative that this be done, especially in a period of change like that since the Civil War, a period which has seen the growth of great centers of population and the profound alteration of our ways of life by electric light, the automobile, the airplane, radio and other products of modern science.[14]

But in spite of all the difficulties and the failures of the past, we feel convinced that the hope of reform lies in the judges. The initiative should often come from the Bar and the public through the Judicial Council. But the judges' attitude should be one of active interest and cooperation in all efforts looking to improvement. The problem is two-fold: to create among our judges a sense of responsibility for the administration of justice, and to devise some method for initiating and pressing suggestions upon them.

It will be noted that the proposed Council would include the entire administration of justice set-up including civil and criminal.

Many of the recommendatons which will be found in this Report could be referred to this Council for action. If there is to be a revision of the State laws, it could be handled under the superintending control of this Council. A codification of the criminal laws, deemed by so many practitioners to be essential in Pennsylvania, could be planned and effectuated by this Council.

We recommend the creation of a Judicial Council based upon the thoughts herein expressed.[15]

CHAPTER XIV

CODIFICATION OF CRIMINAL LAW AND PROCEDURE

§ 79. Code of Procedural Laws

A review of the many attempts to reform the criminal procedure in this Commonwealth and codify the criminal law would serve no useful purpose. Scholars, lawyers and judges have been striving for this goal many years.[16] The failure to receive legislative approval is based upon many contributing factors. We do not believe our system of administering criminal justice is fundamentally defective, and such experience as we have had individually with the difficulties of obtaining united support for any legislation of this character leads us to the conclusion that we can do better by attacking the problem in detail by numbers of separate curative measures, each limited in its scope, instead of attempting a fundamental upheaval at one fell swoop. In one of his messages to Congress, a former President[17] expressed the opinion that, "Reform in judicial procedure is, for many reasons, a slow process. It is not to be brought about by any single measure. It can best be accomplished by dealing with the subject step by step, the sum of which in the course of time, will result in definite improvement."

Turing to some of the broader problems in this field, it appears that there is too big a gap between research and recommendation on the one hand and practical results in the form of concrete legislation on the other. We have ample data on which to formulate measures of reform. Our libraries are crowded with volumes of investigations, reports of committees and commissions, and general conclusions. Our difficulty seems to be in seizing hold of this material and drafting concrete and practical measures which have a chance of enactment.

It may be that those who are skilled in research are not always endowed with the training, or sense of proportion, or practical experience with legislative bodies, which enables them to translate their general conclusions into a statute, and that the members of the profession, who are active in its practice or on the bench, are the ones who must take hold of these problems where our institutes, foundations for research, or commissions leave them, and carry them on to practical achievement.

In this connection it is interesting to note that in the 1937 session of our Legislature, two bills were introduced[18] which would have given Pennsylvania a criminal code and code of criminal procedure. They were not reported out of the Judiciary Committee. These bills were drafted by eminent authorities[19] on this subject at the request of the Attorney General.[20] [19] William E Mikell, former Dean, and Edwin R. Keedy, Professor of Law, at the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

[20] Professor Keedy, in discussing the code of criminal procedure, stated: "The occasion of the introduction of this Bill in the Pennsylvania Legislature was this: The Attorney General, Mr. Margiotti, said to me during the November preceding the sitting of the Legislature that he desired to introduce the Institute Code in the Pennsylvania Legislature, and he requested me to do two things, first, to remove from the Code any provisions that would be clearly unconstitutional in Pennsylvania. He said he did not desire to raise constitutional questions. There were in the Code a number of things that were thought desirable and would be constitutional in other States, but would not be in Pennsylvania. One of the most notable of those was prosecution by information as well as by indictment. The second thing he asked me to do was wherever the Code involved any function of an official that I should be sure that it conformed to the system in this State. You see, when we were drafting it, we were drafting something that could not of itself be introduced in any particular State. For example, we spoke of a prosecuting attorney. No state has an official called the prosecuting attorney. In this State it is the District Attorney.

In commenting on the advisability of attempting to again secure the passage of the bill providing for a complete revision of criminal procedure laws, Professor Keedy said, "I am convinced at the present time it would not be wise to reintroduce the entire code. I do not think it is wise in any State to say to the Legislature, 'Now, repeal all of the procedure and substitute this.' It is too momentous a step. I have never proposed that in any other State where the matter has come up. The wisest method, it seems to me, and practice has shown it, is in each State as occasion demands, select the provisions that seem best fitted to meet the particular situation. It was drafted with that idea. Each topic, as far as possible, was self-contained. There were as few cross-references as possible, with the idea that any particular provision could be removed from the Bill from the entire Code, and made the subject of an independent Bill. I am convinced that if it is introduced again in this form it will not get any further than it did before. The Judges are opposed, most of them, to the enactment of a complete Code, and I feel sure that if it were introduced again, they would oppose it as a Code.

"There are, however, specific provisions that I think might be introduced as individual Bills and would be met with a reasonable possibility of success, or that might be enacted." [21]

We have deemed this course a wise one to follow and therefore have selected certain of the proposed changes and considered them under their appropriate subject headings.[22] We submit as one of the first considerations of the proposed Judicial Council, a study of this drafted code of procedural law, to the end that we may in the not too far distant future have the benefit of its provisions in legislative enactments.

§ 80. Code of Penal Laws

The same objections and comments, however, do not apply to a revision of the Code of Criminal law. In fact, there is no "code" as the law now exists. Penal statutes are scattered throughout the various titles, subdivisions and chapters, with no attempt at codification or of consistency.

William E. Mikell, Esq., appeared before the Commission for the purpose of discussing this subject. He was a member of a previous Commission appointed for the specific purpose of revising the criminal laws. As an author, lecturer, and scholar, Dean Mikell has gained an international reputation. His discussion of this subject is interesting and informative. He states ". . . The Legislautre of Pennsylvania in 1917, appointed a Commission of which I was a member, to revise the existing penal laws. I worked for some five years on it, spent not an inconsiderable amount of public funds and presented a report for a complete revision of the Criminal Code. That was considered by the Association of District Attorneys, and approved. It was then introduced in the the Legislature, referred to a Committee, and the Committee had an open hearing, at which there were practically no criticisms of the work. Then it slept. The Committee was continued for two years more to also draft a Code of Criminal procedure, to accompany this one. That was done. That was introduced in the Legislature, referred to the Judiciary General Committee, and slept. The last I heard of it, some years ago, it had finally been referred to the Committee on Railways and Canals. There it still either sleeps or floats. I don't know which. But that is the history of the efforts of that Commission.

"I might say that last fall, I was asked to do the work which was done then, and I can say with all modesty, I had done the drafting of that for the Commission, bringing it up to date, that is, to collate, put into and reconcile with that, the penal statutes which had been passed since the Code was submitted, which I did. That, I understand, was printed, and brought out. Nothing further has been done about it. I take it the question is this, as to wehther any such work as that is needed, because the work has been done." [23]

As to the need of this revision he cites hundreds of oddities, inconsistencies, and contradictions in the existing laws. We have quoted examples in the notes to make the point clear.[24]

In the adjoining State of Maryland, it is State's Attorney. So, it was necessary to make certain concessions of that sort to fit the particular administrative set-up in Pennsylvania That was practically all that was done.

"I want to make it clear that no effort was made under my commission from the Attorney General to codify in this Code the existing law in Pennsylvania. His desire was to have introduced into the Legislature with the changes I have suggested, the Code as it has been adopted by the American Law Institute. After it was introduced there was some confusion, the idea being that it did not conform to the existing practice in Pennsylvania in certain particulars. It was never intended to do that.

"There was one unfortunate thing in connection with the introduction. When the Attorney General spoke to me the plan was that after I had made the indicated revisions, that his office would print the draft, and then send it for discussion to the Judges and District Attorneys, the leaders of the Bar, as well as members of the Legislature, before it was introduced as a Bill. That would be a very desirable, if not necessary, precedent to its introduction. There would have been then opportunity for discussion as to certain provisions insofar as they correspond or not with the existing practice, but after the draft had been prepared, the Attorney General's office discovered they had no money to print the Bill. So, after some delay, they said, 'Well, the only way to get it printed is to introduce it as a Bill, have it printed as a Bill.' Of course, that deprived anyone who desired to make suggestions, of the opportunity to do so. It deprived all of us who were interested in it of the opportunity for discussion and criticism before it was introduced. There had been some discussion of the general proposed Bill. There was no opportunity for discussion of the specific draft." (P. H. 432-434).

[23] P. H. 456-457.

[24] "* * * * * In our system of the law, the term felony has been always applied to serious crimes, and the term misdemeanor to less serious crimes. I mean in what we call the Code of 1860 and subsequent enactments. If we make a study of our Criminal Code today there is no relation between the two. For instance, bigamy is a misdemeanor, while embezzlement by a servant is a felony. For a clerk or agent to embezzle is a felony. For a banker, trustee or guardian to embezzle is only a misdemeanor. Assault and Battery with intent to rape is a misdemeanor only, with intent to rob is a felony. An attempt to rape is a misdemeanor, while the attempt to burn a stable or a mill is a felony. Administering a narcotic with intent to commit larceny is a felony. Assault and battery endangering the life of an infant, is a misdemeanor. Blackmailing, which is one of the worst crimes, is only a misdemeanor, while receiving stolen goods is a felony. If one in the heat of a fight, intending to disable or maim his antagonist, should cut him ever so slightly, he is guilty of a felony, but if he, 'on purpose and of malice aforethought, by lying in wait, shall unlawfully cut out the tongue, put out an eye, cut off the nose, or cut off any limb,' of his victim he commits only a misdemeanor. Also, if he voluntarily, maliciously and of purpose bite off the limb or member of another, he is guilty of a misdemeanor. The lack of any principle in this classification of crimes as felonies and misdemeanors is still more strikingly shown when we consider them in relation to the punishment prescribed. The attempt to commit abortion is a felony, while forgery is only a misdemeanor, but the felony is punished only by a fine of $500, and three years' imprisonment, while the misdemeanor is punished with a fine of $1000—twice the fine—and ten years' imprisonment, more than three times the imprisonment provided for a felony. Malicious burning of a warehouse is only a misdemeanor, but it is punishable by a fine of $2000 and ten years' imprisonment; while assault and battery with explosives is a felony, but punishable by only $500—one-fourth the fine for burning—and three years' imprisonment, one-third of that prescribed for the misdemeanor. * * * * Should it be a graver offense to exhibit indecent, lewd or obscene pictures, or to have such pictures in possession with intent to exhibit them? The Legislature of 1887 considered that the exhibition of such pictures should be punished with a fine of $300 and no imprisonment, while the possession of them with intent to exhibit, should be punished by a fine of $500 and one year's imprisonment * * * * * By section 161 of the Act of 1860, having in possession tools for the counterfeiting of copper coin is punished by six years' imprisonment, while by the next section the punishment for actually making counterfeit copper coin is only three years, though it cannot be made without the tools to make it. * * * * * I can, knowing that A intends to murder B, and with intent to enable B to commit such murder, permit or allow A to kill B without being guilty of a criminal offense, but if I allowed B to drink the knockout drops that I know have been placed for him, with intent to enable A to steal B's watch, I get ten years' imprisonment. * * * * A curious light is thrown on the safeguarding of children by the Act of 1860. Section 98 of the Act provides that any one who inflicts 'any grevious bodily harm' on any other person shall pay a fine of $1000 and suffer imprisonment not exceeding three years; while section 90 of the same Act provides that if any master of an apprentice or any one having the legal care or control of an infant shall 'maliciously assault such infant or apprentice whereby his life shall be endangered or his health shall have been or shall be likely to be permanently injured,' such master or person shall pay a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment not exceeding two years. * * * * As to the relation of fine to imprisonment. In the case of almost every crime denounced by the code, fine and imprisonment are associated. In most cases the penalty provided is fine and imprisonment; in some it is fine or imprisonment. In a few cases imprisonment alone, without a fine, is prescribed, and in a few others it is a fine alone without imprisonment. We seek in vain for any principle on which the fine is omitted, where

We therefore recommend the adoption of a comprehensive criminal code embodying the various penal statutes and eliminating the many inconsistencies and disparities in the existing laws. Any carefully prepared code will accomplish this purpose. However, it might be well to point out that the bill drafted by Dean Mikell and presented at the last session of the Legislature satisfactorily accomplishes the purpose.

This matter appears to the Commission to be one of the major objectives to be attained, and we therefore recommend this subject for your consideration.

CHAPTER XV

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE GENERALLY

§ 81. Gun Permits

We find that the present method of obtaining permits to carry firearms is apparently of more value to the criminal than to the honest citizen. A reputable person who has a legitimate reason for requiring a permit, is compelled to go through considerable red tape and submit to all the regulations imposed. Sometimes it is even necessary to furnish gratuities to various persons to obtain such a permit. On the other hand, hardened criminals have obtained permits to carry a gun with very little effort. We find one notorious criminal applied for and received a permit by the simple subterfuge of using "A. John Doe" instead of "Andrew J. Doe" as it appeared on his criminal record.

It is recommended that the existing aw be amended so as to add the following requirements: that an application for such a permit be presented to a Court of Common Pleas; signed and sworn to by applicant; that such information be furnished as the Legislature shall see fit to prescribe which should include statements that the applicant has never used any other name, or if he has, a list of all such names together with the reasons for using same; that he has never been convicted of any crime; a list of his arrests and the circumstances and records concerning them; shall contain the description, make, size and serial number of the firearm or firearms to be carried, the name of the prospective seller, if the gun is about to be purchased; and there should be attached thereto a photograph of the applicant and his fingerprints. On the fingerprint card there should be a certificate from a responsible member of the Police Department that he has personally taken said fingerprints and that the fingerprints and photograph are of the same individual. Attached to the petition there shall also be a certificate by the head of the local Police Department, or State Police, that said fingerprints have been forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the report from said Bureau should be attached thereto. Said permit should be issued for only one year, but may be renewed by the holder by petition to the Court, to which should be attached the written consent of a responsible official of the local Police Department. The law should require that said permit be not transferable and should be issued only to a resident of that County, who has been a resident for a specified length of time, preferably six months or a year. Appropriate penalties should be imposed for false statements made in the application.

§ 82. Indigent Defendants

The poor prisoners in the Magistrate's Court in Philadelphia County do not have any free lawyers to defend them, because the Voluntary Defender Association of that city does not have enough money to provide lawyers for these courts. The society can afford to defend only the felony cases in the Quarter Sessions Courts. A poor man who is arraigned in a Magistrate's Court is sometimes asked by the judge: "Do you wish to have counsel?" If he replies that he has no money, it means that he can have no counsel. Even if he is charged with a serious crime he must go through these preliminary stages without the help of a lawyer. If he tries desperately to raise money for a lawyer, he is more than likely to fall into the hands of a bail-bond racketeer who works in partnership with a shyster lawyer. A resume of the splendid work of the Voluntary Defender Association for the year of 1937 is shown in Exhibit 83.

The establishment of an office of Public Defender for those unable to hire a lawyer would be a great forward step in all the criminal courts. Justice will be mockery for the poor as long as they must depend upon the vagaries of private charity for legal defense. A Public Defender with assistants for every branch of every criminal court would go far to eliminate the worst type of injustice as well as chicanery.

§ 83. Criminal Statistics

Administering criminal justice without statistics is almost as bad as running a factory without books of account. The absence of such statistics is only to be explained, as many other defects in governmental administration, by our inability as a people to apply to our political agencies the principles that we have so skillfully applied to our industrial agencies.[25]

There should be created in the Department of Justice a Bureau of Criminal Statistics whose duty it will be to compile statistics from reports of State and local police, Judges, Sheriffs, probation and parole officers, clerks of court, District Attorneys, Magistrates and other law en-

it is omitted; or for any principle on which it is inflicted in addition to imprisonment in some cases and as an alternative to imprisonment in others. * * * * * Some curious results may be obtained by studying some of these offenses. If a man gives a narcotic to a woman with an attempt to render her unconscious, so that he may ravish her, he is guilty of a felony, punishable by a fine of $5000 and ten years' imprisonment, even though he does not administer enough of the drug to have any effect on her; but if he knocks her down with a club and so renders her unconscious, with the same intent to ravish her, he is guilty only of a misdemeanor and can be punished only by a fine of $1000 and imprisonment for five years. It pays to use the club. If he turns the latch of a door and enters her house with intent to rape her, he is guilty of a felony, punishable by a fine of $1000 and imprisonment for ten years, though he proceeds only an inch beyond the threshold; but if he is lucky enough to find the door unlocked, enters and knocks her down with the same intent, he is only guilty of a misdemeanor, for which the penalty is $1000 and five years. If, finding her asleep, he administers a whiff of chloroform to her with the intent to render her temporarily unconscious while he rifles the bureau, he may be punished with ten years' imprisonment, but if he strikes her with a black-jack, intending not merely to render her unconscious, but to kill her, he can be sentenced to only seven years. * * * * * Two strikers separately determine to wreck a passenger train; one removes a rail from the road over which a train is scheduled to pass; anothr cuts the telegraph wires to prevent the train dispatcher from stopping the train from running into a wreck. The first striker would come within the terms of section 7 of the Act of 1911, and could be sentenced to pay a fine of $10,000 and suffer imprisonment for ten years; the second would come within the term of section 147 of the Act of 1860, and could not be fined more than $500 or imprisoned more than twelve months * * * * * If the driver of a public 'coachee,' by 'wanton and furious driving or racing,' unintentionally breaks a chicken's leg, he may be punished by five years' imprisonment, the same punishment provided for attempted rape, for mayhem, for counterfeiting, and for robbery, but if the driver of a taxicab is guilty of the same assault on a member of the feathered tribe, he is not even indictable. If the driver of this 'coachee,' while so driving, should accidently inflict the slightest personal injury on another, he would be liable to a greater punishment than if he deliberately stabbed that other with intent to maim him, or wilfully and maliciously exploded dynamite under him, thus doing him serious bodily harm. This violates one of the cardinal principles of criminal jurisprudence, viz.: that crimes of negligence are not so grave as crimes done with deliberate intent; a principle recognized in other parts of our code in providing for murder and involuntary manslaughter. * * * * * Three men enter the house of a president of a bank. One forcibly takes the key of the banker's vault from him, the other rapes the banker's wife. Both are arrested on emerging from the house. On conviction both are given the maximum punishment provided by the code. The man who committed rape could be sentenced to pay a fine of $1000 and to undergo imprisonment for fifteen years, the man who took the key could be fined $10,000 and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment. * * * * * If you have been so wronged by another that you feel impelled to obtain satisfaction vi et armis, first ascertain if your intended victim is a voter, and then wait until you catch him, in the words of section 9 of the Act of 1870, 'at or near any election poll during the holding of any election.' If you assault him there and 'unlawfully strike, wound or commit any assault and battery' on him, while your act may be called a 'high' misdemeanor, you can be fined only $500 and be imprisoned only three months; while if you select a non-voter, or commit your assault and battery elswhere than 'at or near any election poll,' you may have to pay a fine of $1000 and go to prison for a length of time varying from one to sevel years." forcement officials, and it should be mandatory on such officials to file such reports.[26]

If the Judicial Council is created as recommended herein[27] the duty to collect and compile such statistics will be imposed upon that body.

§ 84. Coroner's Office

In the opinion of some[28] the utility of the office of Coroner has been questioned. Since this is not directly within our jurisdiction, we recommend that a careful study of the Coroner's office be made.[29]

§ 85. Rewards by Governor

Several states have statutes empowering the Governor to offer a reward for the return of an escaped felon. This is frequently a valuable aid to law enforcement. We recommend this to your consideration.[30]

§ 86. Public Enemy Law

We recommend the enactment of a Public Enemy Law which will make it unlawful for any person to be found in this state who is here for an unlawful purpose or who is engaged in an illegal occupation or who consorts with known criminals and cannot give a good account of himself. Such laws have been adopted in several states.[31]

§ 87. General Penalty Statute

There are crimes under the common law which have not been reduced to statutory form and, of course, no statutory penalty has been provided. There is a need of a "catch-all" statute to provide for this deficiency.

To clarify this situation we recommend a general statute which will specify the penalty for such crimes.

§ 88. Statute of Limitations

It has been called to our attention that under the present law our several statutes of limitations are inconsistent. Some serious crimes are barred in a short time and less serious ones in a longer period.

It is recommended that legislation be enacted which will provide for a reasonable and sensible distinction as to the several crimes.[32]

§ 89. Alien Criminals

It should be made mandatory for all law enforcement officials or agencies to notify the proper Federal authorities whenever an alien criminal appears before them for a deportable offense.[33]

§ 90. Obstructing Justice

We have found many situations in which various persons by devious methods have interfered with the proper administration of justice with impunity, since there is no statute by which such activities were made unlawful. The only pertinent statute in Pennsylvania[34] is one which is limited to the service of process, the rescuing from legal custody and the refusal to assist in preventing a breach of the peace. We suggest the enactment of a statute broad enough to cover all forms of obstructing justice.[35]

[26] It is suggested that the system used by the Federal Department of Justice be considered. Uniform Crime Reports should be consulted.

[35] The Federal statute is as follows: (18 U. S. C. A. 393) "Whoever corruptly, or by threats or force, or by any threatening letter or communication, shall endeavor to influence, intimidate, or impede any witness, in any court of the United States or before any United States commissioner or officer acting as such commissioner, or any grand or petit juror, or officer in or of any court of the United States, or officer who may be serving at any examination or other proceeding before any United States commissioner or officer acting as such commissioner, in the discharge of his duty, or who corruptly or by threats of force, or by any threatening letter or communication, shall influence, obstruct, or impede, or endeavor to influence, obstruct, or impede the due administration of justice therein, shall be fined not more than $1,000, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both."

§ 91. Other Suggestions Submitted to the Commission

In addition to the other matters contained in our Report, the following suggestions have come to us from various sources, which we pass on to you for your consideration without approval or disapproval.

RESUME OF RECOMMENDATIONS

§ 92. Resume of Recommendations

Many recommendations have been made in this Report under their respective subject headings. In order to translate these into legislative enactments we suggest that Your Excellency designate an appropriate Bureau or group of qualified persons to draft suitable acts for submission at the opening of the next session of the Legislature.

In some instances we have included in the notes or in the appendix, copies of acts enacted in other jurisdictions as well as our own tentative drafts. These are submitted merely for convenience as suggestions for discussion.

A majority of the specific minor recommendations would be disposed of by consideration of several subjects of major importance. These subjects may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. Creation of a Crime Prevention Bureau.[37]
2. Creation of a Judicial Council.[38]

"Section 9. That the said sheriff shall preserve the said [wheel] wheels secure from all interference by others; and if the said board, on any examination the members thereof may institute into the condition of the said [wheel and its] wheels and their contents, shall discover that any names have been surreptitiously introduced or withdrawn therefrom, it shall be evidence of misdemeanor committed by the said sheriff; and thereupon it shall be the duty of any member of the said board to bind him over to answer at the next court of quarter sessions, for the said misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof he shall be punished by fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court; the said fine to be not less than two hundred dollars, and the imprisonment, if any, not less than three months in the county jail."

(i) Whether applicant has ever been arrested, charged or convicted of any violation of law together with details, including the dates, places, and offenses.

Said application shall be verified by the aath of the applicant. Any wilfully false statements made in said application shall cause the said board to deny said application and shall constitute the offense of making a false affidavit.

Section 8. Said application shall not be acted upon by said board until ten (10) full days shall have elapsed since the filling thereof and the posting of said fact upon the bulletin board as herein provided.

Section 9. It shall be the duty of said board to cause to be posted upon a bulletin board to be erected outside of and adjacent to the offices of the District Attorney, at least ten days before the date of hearing, a complete list of all applications for parole; and further to cause to be posted upon said bulletin board upon the day following such hearing, a full and complete list of all applications heard and considered as well as the action taken thereon.

Section 10. It shall be the duty of said board to cause a notice of said application for parole, together with the place and date set for hearing said application, to be sent by registered mail to the last known address of the prosecuting witness, or injured party; and to deliver a copy of said notice to the Superintendent of Police of said city, at least ten (10) days before the date set for said hearing.

Section 11. It shall be the duty of said board to terminate any parole granted under the provisions of this act, under the following conditions:

(Here Insert Proper Conditions)

Section 12. When any person shall be paroled under the provisions of this act, said board may terminate said parole at any time by a majority vote thereof without notice to such person, by merely directing the Clerk of the Court to make out and deliver to the Sheriff or other proper officer, a certified copy of the sentence, together with a certificate that such person has been paroled and his parole has been by said board terminated, and it shall be the duty of such officer upon receipt of such certified copy of sentence and certificate to immediately arrest such person and transport and deliver him to the Warden of the proper penal institution in the same manner as if no parole had been granted, and the time such person shall have been at large on parole shall not be counted as a part of the term of his sentence, but the time of his sentence shall count from the day of his delivery to the Warden of the proper penal institution.

Section 13. It shall be the duty of any person paroled under the provisions of this act to appear before said board or its secretary at any time, upon receiving notice to that effect or as provided by the regular rules adopted as aforesaid.

Section 14. It shall be the duty of any person paroled under the provisions of this act to furnish at his own expense proof to the satisfaction of said board that he has, since the granting of his parole, or since the last date on which such proof has been furnished, complied with all the conditions of such parole and conducted himself as a sober, peaceable and law-abiding citizen.

Section 15. When any person who has been paroled under the provisions of this act shall have been at large under such parole for the minimum term prescribed by Section 16 of this act and the majority of said board shall be satisfied that the reformation of such person is complete. and that he will not again violate the law, such board may in its discretion, by order in its records, grant his absolute discharge. Such order of discharge shall recite the fact that such person had earned his discharge by good behavior, and such order shall operate as a complete satisfaction of the original charge by which the fine or jail sentence or imprisonment in the penitentiary was imposed; Provided, that said discharge was not obtained by wilfully false statements or by fraud.

Section 16. No person paroled under the provisions of this act shall be granted absolute discharge at an earlier period than six months after the date of his parole, nor shall such parole be continued for a period longer than the maximum sentence of said defendant; Provided, that if no absolute discharge be granted nor the parole terminated within the time in this section limited, it shall be the duty of the board at the first regular meeting after the expiration of such time to either grant an absolute discharge or terminate the parole and order the judgment or sentence to be complied with, but if the said board shall fail to take any action at such time, such a failure to act shall operate as a discharge of the persons paroled.

Section 17. It shall be the duty of the said board granting the parole to require the person paroled to pay or give security for the payment of all costs that may have accrued in the cause, unless the person paroled shall be insolvent and unable to either pay said costs or furnish security for the same. In the latter case, the costs shall be paid by the Commonwealth or County as in other cases, without such persons being required to serve any time in jail for non-payment of fine or costs. Such payment of costs by the Commonwealth or County shall not relieve such person from liability for the same, but if at any time, before his final discharge, he shall become able to pay said costs, it shall be the duty of the said board to require said costs to be paid before granting his discharge, and said costs when so paid shall be paid to the Clerk of the Court and accounted for by said Clerk as required by law.

Section 18. Any person who shall commit any offense while at large under parole may be arrested and tried in the same manner as if he had not previously been convicted or paroled.

Section 19. Any person who shall receive his final discharge under the provisions of this act shall be restored to all the rights and privileges of citizenship.

Section 20. No parole shall be granted in any case while an appeal is pending nor shall the action of the board in granting or terminating a parole be subject to review in any proceedings by any Appellate Court.

Section 21. If any person shall fraudulently make a false entry in, or erase, alter, secrete, remove, carry away or destroy any paper, report, application, minute or any other record, or any part thereof, of said board, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not more than twelve months and to pay a fine of not more than one thousand dollars.

REAL ESTATE BAIL

Section 1 Definitions. (a) Bail. Bail is security required and given for the release of a person who is in the custody of the law, that he will appear before any court in which his appearance may be required, and that he will do or refrain from doing, such things as are stipulated in the bail bond or recognizance.

(b) Taking Bail. The taking of bail is the acceptance of bail by an authorized court or official.

Section 2. Real Estate Bail to be Recorded as a Lien. (a) When the bail furnished is real estate, the defendant and surety shall execute an additional copy of said bond or recognizance.

(b) It shall be the duty of the person taking bail to file said additional copy immediately with the Recorder of Deeds[1] of said county for recording.

(c) Every bond or recognizance so filed with the Recorder of Deeds shall be a lien for the amount of the undertaking upon all real property listed or described therein from the time when the recognizance or bond is filed in the office of the Recorder of Deeds, subject to any prior lien or liens.

Section 3. Duration of Lien. The lien of the bond or recognizance shall cease at the expiration of three years from the date when it became a lien unless the lien shall be sooner terminated in the manner provided by law, or unless the bond or recognizance shall be forfeited within the three-year period; and in case of forfeiture within the three-year period, the lien shall not terminate during the pendency of any proceedings at law or in equity under the provisions of this act.

Section 4. Termination of Lien. When the accused shall be surrendered in accordance with the law, said lien shall automatically terminate. A certified copy of the docket entries disclosing this fact shall be sufficient authority to the Recorder of Deeds to mark the lien terminated.

Section 5. Forfeiture of Bond or Recognizance. When any person accused of a criminal offense, shall give bail for his appearance, and thereafter fail to appear in accordance with the terms of the bond or recognizance, the court shall declare the bond or recognizance to be forfeited, and the District Attorney shall issue a scire facias against the person and his sureties returnable on a designated return day, not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the date of the forfeiture, to show cause why judgment should not be rendered against the accused and his sureties for the amount of the bond or recognizance. The scire facias shall be served at least five days before the day on which the same is returnable. In case the persons aforesaid cannot be found by the sheriff, he shall make return of that fact to the court. After the scire facias is thus returned, the court shall enter judgment by default against the defendants for the amount of the bond or recognizance unless the defendants shall appear and defend the cause. If the defendants shall appear and interpose a defense, then the cause shall be tried in the same manner as other causes of a like nature. Every judgment entered in such proceeding shall have the same force and effect, be enforceable in the same manner, be and become a lien in the same manner and for the same period as that pertaining to mortgages.

Section 6. Court May Set Aside Forfeiture. Before any proceeding shall have been instituted on any forfeited bond or recognizance, the court may in its discretion, set aside the forfeiture with or without costs, as the court may deem equitable upon motion and a proper showing that there has been no wilful default of the party, and that a trial can, notwithstanding, be had in the cause, or that accused has died, and that public justice does not otherwise require that the forfeiture be enforced; provided, however, that if any costs or expenses have accrued by reason of apprehending the accused, said forfeiture shall not be set aside unless and until such costs and expenses have been paid.

Section 7. Determination of the Validity of a Lien. In any case, where it is claimed that a lien upon any certain lands or an interest therein, has been created by virtue of this act, and there is also outstanding against the same premises, any trust deed, mortgage, judgment, money decree, mechanic's or other lien, or where any peron who claims to be the owner of any premises denies the validity of any lien thereon claimed to have been created by virtue of this act, any interested person, whether or not he be in possession of any property appearing to be subject to the lien, may institute a suit in equity in the county in which the premises are located, to determine the validity or in validity of the lien so claimed to have been created by virtue of this act, and to find whether it is senior or junior to any other lien or liens against the premises, if it is found that the lien exists. Where it is found that no lien exists, it shall be the duty of the court by final decree to remove and set aside the evidence of the alleged lien as a cloud upon the title of said premises. The District Attorney of the county wherein the judgment was rendered and all other persons claiming to have any right, title, or interest in the premises and any persons claiming a lien thereon shall be made defendants as in other cases.

Section 8. Foreclosure of Lien. Whenever a bond or recognizance shall have created a lien upon real estate under this act, it shall be the duty of the District Attorney, if the court shall have declared a forfeiture thereon, to foreclose the lien as in cases of mortgage foreclosure and to obtain a decree for any deficiency. In the foreclosure proceedings, the court may appoint a receiver with power to collect the rents, issues and profits. The rents, issues and profits when so collected, shall be applied toward the payment of the indebtedness upon the forfeited bond or recognizance, and upon costs of the foreclosure proceedings, and for this purpose every bond or recognizance, the filing or recording of which in accordance with this act constitutes a lien upon real estate, shall, subject to prior rights, be an assignment of rents, issues and profits from the real estate therein scheduled and shall constitute a waiver of all exemptions.

Section 9. Execution. It shall be the duty of the District Attorney in and for the county wherein the judgment was rendered, to sue out an execution on the judgment for said deficiency and cause the sheriff to levy on any other real or personal property owned by any of the judgment debtors.
